CULLEN'S REASSIGNMENT OF MAYOR'S CHAUFFEUR BECOMES A BOOMERANG

Orders Him Away, but He Comes Right Back With Instructions to "Stay Put" Issued at Command of Police Chief Jennings.

As acting mayor authority to... orders of the real mayor? This question was brought to the attention of Mayor Ed Cullen in ordering McCarthy, police officer No. 10, to duty as a regular patrolman... McCarthy, consulting with Cullen, reported to Police Chief Jennings for "assignment to duty." Chief Jennings instructed him to report to the mayor's office. McCarthy has been working as a chauffeur for the mayor. Cullen said he ordered McCarthy back to general duty because he...

MAYOR'S OFFICIAL CHAUFFEUR

PATROLMAN JOHN MCCARTHY
Patrolman John McCarthy, chauffeur for Mayor Mery, also has the ability and experience to serve as a bodyguard for the chief executive, if necessity requires. McCarthy, as a member of the United States navy, served with a group of sailors who were on personal escorts to Secre-

State Texas in his trip to American countries. McCarthy blossomed forth as a manly ability under the name of Mack. As a mascot for the...

Chief Jennings explained his action by saying that McCarthy is assigned to the mayor's office, under orders of Mayor Brough, who is head of the police department and that he, as chief, has no authority to disregard the orders of his superior, Mayor Brough.

With Mayor Brough on his way to California, and Acting Mayor Cullen professing no need for a chauffeur, indications are that McCarthy will spend the next few weeks putting in time in the mayor's office, unless a change is rendered on Cullen's part to change the order.

McCarthy's time will not be lost, however, as his instructions from the mayor, in Police Sergeant Henry Frisch, custodian of the mayor's office.

Frisch plans to exert his authority during the next few weeks, while Mayor Brough is absent, and doubtless will keep McCarthy busy with legitimate assignments.

Yesterday afternoon he was assigned to drive members of the Toledo Port Commission on an inspection trip.

Suspect Arrested As Counterfeiter

Authorities believe they forged another link in the case against a counterfeit ring which has been operating in Ohio cities and in Detroit, with the arrest late Friday of a man who gave his name as Billie Nichopalis.

Nichopalis was arrested in the Ohio Savings Bank and Trust Co. when he is said by police to have requested a teller there to give him a $100 bill in exchange for ten $10 bills. One of the bills, when examined by the teller who had become suspicious, proved to be a counterfeit copy of the notes issued by the Cleveland Federal Reserve bank.

This is the type of note which has been copied by counterfeiters of late who operated in Wapakoneta, Toledo, and other cities. Mrs. Marcella Skrunol was indicted by a grand jury in Toledo Friday, charged with passing bills similar to that which Nichopalis attempted to turn over.

It is believed by federal officers that Nichopalis, who gave his address as a railroad camp, may be the man who escaped from the Locust street house in which Mrs. Skrunol was arrested a few days ago, by jumping unhurt from a second story bathroom window.

Nichopalis was arrested by Detectives Jack Connors, William Carver and Patrolman McCarthy.

Patrolman John McCarthy, Mayor Brough's chauffeur, is getting ready for his fall and winter exercise. McCarthy trains with a circus troupe during the cold months.

Two Held In Probe Of Stolen Car Recovered

Seems a stolen car Sunday a Huron and Bush streets, Patrolman John McCarthy gave chase. He recovered the machine in Summit street and crowded it to the curb. The occupants were two boys. One escaped by jumping out of the car. The other was taken to the Safety building and turned over to juvenile authorities.

STEALS AUTOS FOR JOY-RIDES

A 19-year-old joy rider, giving a Hudson street address, confessed to police Monday that he and his companions stole several automobiles in Toledo recently for the purpose of taking their girl friends riding. He was arrested Sunday by Detective John McCarthy while driving a machine stolen from Huron and Beech streets. The boy said that a companion acted as a lookout while he took the automobile and escaped.

Theft of a machine Oct. 2 at Jackson and St. Clair streets and of another Oct. 9 from Summit street and Jefferson avenue was admitted by the youth. He and two companions used the machines to take girls riding and then abandoned them, he said. The boy is being held for juvenile authorities.

Police Say Youth, 16, Confessed Auto Thefts

Police are holding a 16 year old boy for juvenile auto thefts after he is said to have confessed to numerous automobile thefts Monday.

The youth, giving a Hudson street address, said that the cars were stolen with the aid of companions who used the cars to take girls riding. The cars were then abandoned. He was arrested by Detective John McCarthy Sunday while driving a car stolen from Huron and Beech streets. He confessed to taking a machine from Jackson and St. Clair on Oct. 2, and another on Oct. 9, from Summit street and Jefferson avenue, police say.

28 Arrested Here In Vice Roundup

Twenty eight men were arrested Saturday night by police in raids over the city. Nineteen were arrested on charges of gambling, seven on charges of disorderly assembly and two were charged with being keepers of gambling houses.

When Detectives Ford and McBride and Patrolman McCarthy raided a place at 854 West Central avenue, fifteen men were charged with gambling, seven with disorderly assembly and a man giving his name to police as H. C. Smith, 31 of 1831 Adams street, was charged with keeping a gambling house. Smith was released under $100 bail and the others under $25 bail.

In a raid at 640 Main street five men were arrested. A man giving his name to police as G. D. McElroy, 640 Main street, was charged with being the keeper of a gambling house and the other four men were charged with gambling. McElroy was released under $100 bail and the others under $25 bail.

All Arrested Are Released on Bond Ranging From $25 to $100

Fifty-five men arrested in six raids by police early Sunday were released on bond or unlawful assembly in police court Monday.

Detectives James Ford and Earl McBride and Patrolman George McCarthy made 38 of the arrests, while Detectives William Rogers, Arthur Droyer, George Kerwin, William Lucas and Patrolman Fred Moss accounted for the remainder.

Sherman Coleman, 27, colored, was arrested and charged with keeping a disorderly house and having gambling paraphernalia in his possession at 618 Lafayette street.

An assistant, James Holmes, 37, colored, of 610 E. Woodruff avenue, was charged with keeping gaming devices and unlawful assembly. Eight others were arrested in the place and charged with unlawful assembly.

The arrest was Coleman's second in three weeks.

At 854 W. Central avenue, Detectives Ford, McBride and McCarthy arrested H. C. Smith, 31, of 1831 Adams street, charged with keeping a gambling house. Twenty-three others arrested in the place were charged with gambling.

At 640 Main street, G. D. McElroy, 37, of that address, was charged with keeping a gambling house. Four others were charged with gambling.

A raid at 1939 Canton street resulted in the arrest of seven colored men on a charge of gambling, the arrest of Steve Harris, 51, of 527 E. Woodruff avenue, on a charge of keeping.

Aid at 394 Indiana avenue resulted in charges of keeping a gambling house against Romie Gillip, 43, of 368 Indiana avenue, and charges of gambling being placed against eight patrons.

All arrested in the series of raids were released on bail, keepers posting $100 for appearance patrons $25.

STOLEN CAR FOUND

Policeman Sees Auto Reported Gone Seizes Boy Driver.

Patrolman John McCarthy, driving in Huron street late Sunday, noticed a car bearing a license number reported stolen proceeding ahead of him. Forcing the car to the curb he captured a 15-year-old youth who was driving the machine. A companion leaped from the running board and made his escape.

MAYOR FRED J. MERY announced Thursday that he has requested Patrolman John McCarthy, his former chauffeur, to report again as his driver as soon as the mayor's new automobile, recently authorized by council, is delivered. The mayor said it probably will be available next week. McCarthy was relieved early last summer, when the mayor decided to drive his own private car and had been driving as a patrolman.

"DOLL BURGLAR" SUSPECT IS HELD

Police Believe One of Captured Trio May Be West Toledo's Notorious Robber

That one of three men held in the Safety building Wednesday is Toledo's much sought and "Doll Burglar" was expected by police. The trio was captured Tuesday night at Alameda and Sylvania avenue, following an auto chase in which police fired several shots to halt the suspects.

The three men said they just had been in Toledo.

They gave Fremont, O., addresses. The third said he was from Toledo, O. A car in which the trio was believed to be a stolen one was being checked by the owner's police scout crew was put on the street of late last week.

The report reached headquarters when the men were attempting to enter the building at Sylvania and Upton avenues.

The car containing Patrolmen George McCarthy, Clarence Meroce, Walter Harmon and Joseph Stine was dispatched to the corner. As they approached a car standing at the corner was driven away at high speed.

The police car pursued and stopped the fleeing auto at Alameda drive with a volley of shots.

Inspection of the auto revealed an oil container and several quart cans of oil which police said had been stolen in Elmore, O., and a suit of clothes.

The three were held on charges of suspicion for further questioning Wednesday in connection with the robbery of a score of homes in Toledo's West End.

One of the men answered the questions of a man who last week reported five homes, taking jewelry and money totaling $400.

Three Arrested As Suspicious Persons

Three men were arrested Tuesday night by Patrolmen McCarthy, Stein, Harmon and Meroce after several shots were fired after the speeding car of the suspects on Sylvania near Upton avenue.

Police received a complaint of suspicious persons in that neighborhood and the officers were sent out in a speed car. They saw a machine standing at the curb on the corner, and as they arrived the machine left the corner. They called the driver to halt, and when he failed to stop, shots were fired. In the car, it is claimed, were a suit of clothes and a container similar to those used in filling stations for filling oil. There were four quart cans of oil in it.

The men arrested on a charge of suspicion were R. C. Vogan, 22, and Fred Crockett, 22, both of Fremont, and Glenn Morris, 19, Lindsey, Ohio.

COP TO DRIVE NEW CAR

McCarthy Is Chosen as Chauffeur of Mayor's Auto.

Patrolman John McCarthy, former chauffeur for Mayor Fred J. Mery and the late Mayor Bernard F. Brough, has been chosen to drive the new car which is to be purchased for the mayor's office this month. It has been announced at the city hall.

McCarthy was relieved of his duties in the mayor's office several months ago when Mayor Mery decided to use his private car.

PAIR GETS $100 IN TWO HOLDUPS

Confectionery, Filling Station Robbed; Woman Escapes.

Two bandits who committed three holdups Monday night are sought by Toledo police.

The pair, riding in a roadster, first held up the confectionery store of E. J. Ross, 1603 West Central avenue. Miss Elizabeth Miller, 1605 West Central avenue, told police the bandits took $20 and escaped in an automobile. Both were young, she said.

A gasoline station owned by the Cameron Co., at Central avenue and Cherry street, was the next stop. They drove close to the door of the station and ordered two gallons of gasoline from Case Caverly, 523 Lagrange street, attendant.

While Mr. Caverly was putting the gasoline in the tank one man left the machine and entered the station. He gave the attendant 50 cents in payment and when the cash register was opened, pushed his gun against Mr. Caverly.

After taking $53 from the register and $12 from the attendant the men drove away.

Irene Ludwig, 205 North Erie street, reported to police that a young man answering the description of one of the bandits attempted to hold her up. No money was taken.

Later the car used by the two men was found by Patrolmen McCarthy and Stein at Phillips and Vermaas avenues. It is believed to have been stolen.

POLICE QUESTION WEST END SUSPECT

Man Unable To Explain Presence Held by Cops.

Arrested late Sunday night, he was unable to explain his presence in a West End neighborhood man was being questioned at Safety building Monday in connection with a series of recent robberies.

The man was arrested by patrolmen Harry Stein and John McCarthy at Georgia avenue and Jackson road. Stein and McCarthy, patrolling Upton avenue, heard a noise in the rear of the Great Atlantic and Pacific grocery store at 3140 Upton avenue. Investigating, they found two men who fled. The policemen fired several shots at the men when they ignored their commands to halt.

Circling the neighborhood Stein and McCarthy met the man whom they arrested when he failed to answer their questions satisfactorily.

Mayor to Have Chauffeur Again.

Patrolman John McCarthy, former chauffeur for Mayor Mery, has been asked to again report on the job as soon as the mayor's car, recently purchased, is delivered. Mr. McCarthy was relieved of his duties some time ago, when the mayor decided to act as his own chauffeur.

Robbery Suspect Jailed

Patrolmen McCarthy and Stine, assigned to the DeVeaux park district as the result of a series of robberies reported there recently, arrested a 31-year-old suspect at Sylvania avenue and Bellevue road Wednesday night.

HOLDUPS LAID TO YOUNG PAIR

Abandon Stolen Car After Series of Thefts in Business Places

Two youths who abandoned a stolen car which they used to commit three holdups Monday night, were sought by police Tuesday.

Two women and a man were victims of the pair, said to have been courteous, altho curt of speech. Neither youth was masked.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, 1605 W. Central avenue, their first victim, told police they obtained $20 when they held her up in the E. J. Cox grocery store at 1603 W. Central avenue, where she is employed. The bandits fled in a small roadster.

The pair, who appeared to be about 20 years old, according to their victims, then drove to the Cameron gas station at Cherry street and Central avenue.

They ordered gasoline, and the attendant, Casey Caverly, 523 Lagrange street, filled the tank.

One youth followed him into the station, Caverly said, while the other remained in the car. The robber handed the attendant money to pay for the gasoline, and Caverly turned to the cash register to make change.

As he faced about he looked into the muzzle of a revolver held in the hands of his pseudo-customer.

"Stand back and be quiet," the robber ordered. Keeping the attendant covered with the revolver, the youth rifled the cash register, obtaining $68, and then robbed Caverly of $12.

The bandit then joined his companion in the auto, and they sped away.

Miss Irene Ludwig, proprietor of a cigar store at 218 S. Erie street, reported to police a youth answering the description of one of the pair attempted to rob her Monday night in the store, but failed to obtain anything.

Patrolman John McCarthy and Martin Stein later recovered a stolen car at Phillips and Vermaas avenues which they believe was the one used by the youthful highwaymen.

Mrs. Minnie Phillips of 1130 Huron street reported to police the theft of her purse, containing $15 and a fountain pen, while shopping in a downtown store. She said she saw it was taken while she was making a purchase.

"No, you are wrong," and what's more, it isn't a hoop but a tire."

So they stopped the tire-roller, and in the course of the conversation with him, M. E. Mathias, 1713 Tremainsville road, appeared.

"That's my tire," said he. When Mr. Mathias explained that the tire had been stolen from his car, the roller was locked up for investigation.

Tire Thief Given 10 Days in Jail

L. H. Hartman, arrested Tuesday night when Patrolmen McCarthy and Stein saw him rolling a stolen tire at Sylvania avenue and Jackson road, was sentenced to 10 days in the workhouse Thursday by Judge Lemmon in police court. He was charged with petit larceny.

JOHN MCCARTHY, chauffeur to Mayor Brough keeps well posted on municipal matters and never misses an opportunity to tell of the accomplishments of the Brough administration. He attends all council meetings.

Two Held In Probe Of Lottery Ticket Sales

Two men were arrested Monday afternoon at Adams and Huron streets by Patrolman McCarthy on a technical charge of suspicion when they are said to have failed to give a good account of their employment.

Police are holding them for investigation as confidence men, as Patrolman McCarthy reported that the men had attempted to sell an employee of the Toledo Edison Co. tickets to a lottery. They gave their names and addresses to police as Henry Engleman, 26, and Jack Friedman, 28, both of Ashland avenue and Fulton street.

CAUGHT WITH TIRE

Suspect Says It's His; Another Claims It.

Police Wednesday were holding a man who was picked up by Patrolmen John McCarthy and Harry Stein at Sylvania avenue and Jackson road Tuesday night when he was rolling a tire down the street.

When questioned, the man said the tire belonged to him. A few moments later M. E. Mathias, 1713 Tremainsville road, saw the tire and identified it as one stolen from his auto.

Ex-Convict Seized As Auto Looter

A 38-year-old ex-convict was captured in an alley in the 400 block of Fourteenth street early today by Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak who said he had been pilfering from parked cars in that vicinity. Joseph Sullivan, of the Karo apartments, Jackson and Fourteenth streets, fired one shot at the man but missed, police said.

Two Youths Escape After Three Holdups

2 Women, 1 Man Are Victims Of Pair In Roadster.

Police Monday night were looking for two youths who they say used a light roadster in committing three holdups.
Miss Elizabeth Miller, 1605 West Central avenue, said by police to have been the first victim to the holdup pair, reported that $20 was taken from her when the youths entered the store of E. J. Cox, 1600 West Central avenue.
The two next stopped, police say, at the Cameron Gas station, Central avenue and Cherry street, where one of them left the car and held up Casey Caverly, attendant, 523 La-grange street, taking $60 from the cash drawer and $12 from Caverly.
Later in the night the car was abandoned at Phillips and Vermaas avenue, where it was recovered by Patrolmen McCarthy and Stein, police say.
A young man, answering the description of one of the pair, held up Irene Ludwig, 208 North Erie street, but obtained nothing, police were told.

ROBBER TRAPPED

Youth Surrenders When Police Enter A. & P. Store

"I give up," shouted an 18-year-old youth when Patrolmen John McCarthy and Martin Stein entered an Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. store at Monroe street and Central avenue early Monday.
The officers had found the rear door of the building unlocked in the course of their morning inspection tour.

TIRE ROLLER GIVEN 10 DAYS

Man's Weakness Frowned on by Judge After Owner Finds Patch on "Hoop"

L. H. Hartman, no permanent address, has retired from the tire business for as long as it takes to "lay out" a sentence of 10 days and costs.
Hartman was rolling an auto tire down the sidewalk at Sylvania avenue and Jackman road late Tuesday when accosted by Patrolmen John McCarthy and Charles Stein.
"Whatsa idea?" the policeman inquired.
"I'm playing hoop," Hartman replied. "That's my weakness now."
"But is it your tire?"
As Hartman was rplying with a vigorous affirmative, up dashed M. E. Mathis, 1735 Tremainsville road. He announced the tire was stolen from his shop and could be identified by a patch. Search disclosed the patch.
So, to make a short story not too long, Municipal Judge Charles Harmon found Hartman guilty of petit larceny Thursday morning in police court and ordered him to rusticate for 10 days at the "workus" and pay court costs.

Thomas Jackson, 18, of Fernwood avenue, was held at the Safety building Monday on a charge of suspicion following his arrest by Patrolman McCarthy and Stein who say they found him in an A. & P. store at Central avenue and Monroe street.
The officers had found the rear door of the store kicked in. Stein was stationed at the rear while McCarthy entered. The man surrendered without a protest. McCarthy said.

Woman Charged As 'Lookout' Is Held

Pair Held In Connection With Attempted Store Holdup.

Lucille Evans, 20 of 1428 Fernwood avenue, who, police charge, functioned as "lookout" in connection with the attempted robbery of an A. & P. store at Central avenue and Monroe street Sunday night, was held at the Safety building Tuesday on a charge of burglary.
The woman and Thomas Jackson, 1428 Fernwood avenue, who was arrested on the same charge by Patrolmen Stein and McCarthy when they caught the man in the store, will be arraigned in police court Wednesday.
A half dozen nozzles for acetylene torches, a pair of handcuffs, a micro-meter and a gauge which police say is used to determine the strength and thickness of metals, were found by Detectives Ford and McBride when they arrested the Evans woman. The tools, police say, will be used as evidence against the couple in court.
Police say the woman admitted she was with Jackson the night of the attempted robbery, but said that she knew nothing of it, having fallen asleep in an automobile.
Jackson was released from the Safety building Tuesday night on $5,000 bail.

THREE YOUTHS HELD

for Elmore Theft

Three youths wanted in Elmore for the theft of oil from a garage, are held for investigation by Toledo police following their arrest Tuesday night.
Patrolmen Stein, Merce, Harmon and McCarthy, receiving a complaint that a store was being broken into at Sylvania and Upton avenues saw the men drive away in an auto mobile as the officers approached.
After a short chase, they captured the suspects and found some of the stolen oil in the car. All of the youths live outside of Toledo.

Police Nab Robbery Suspect in Store

Patrolmen McCarthy and Stein early Monday arrested a man who had broken into an A. & P. grocery at Central avenue and Monroe street. The officers were investigating after finding the rear door of the store kicked in when a voice said:
"I give up."
"Come out with your hands in the air," the officers ordered, and Thomas Jackson, 15, of Fernwood avenue, surrendered.

Grocery Robbers Dodge Police Shot

Two men lurking in weeds behind an A. & P. grocery, 3140 Upton avenue, fled early Monday when Patrolmen Stein and McCarthy accosted them.
McCarthy fired one shot, but the men escaped, leaving burglar tools. Later the officers arrested a 20-year-old suspect at Georgia avenue and Jackman road.

OFFICIALS HOLD MAN ON MOLESTING CHARGE

Suspect Accused of Annoying Children on Barrows Street.
A middle-aged man, suspected of molesting several children in the 2000 block on Barrows street, was held at the Safety building Monday on a technical charge of suspicion.
The suspect was arrested early Monday at his home by Patrolmen John McCarthy and M. E. Stein.
Several residents in the block complained to police Sunday their children had been accosted by a man who was described as middle-aged.
One father told the officers the man seized his daughter and attempted to carry her away, but was frustrated by the girl's screams which attracted the attention of neighbors.
The molester dropper the girl and fled, residents said.

Driver Arrested

Velmar Yeager, Monroe, Mich., truck driver, was arrested yesterday on charges of malicious destruction of property after Patrolmen John McCarthy and Clifford Blinn reported he drove on a sidewalk in the 2800 block of Stickney avenue, where paving is in progress, breaking 51 feet of concrete to the extent of $200 damage.

It was typical of the girl that the idea of calling Ruth had not occurred to her.

She was grateful for Dan's casual greeting.

"If you know how I love the unexpected," he said, following her to the living room. . . Already he brooding, ugly, ghosts had retreated into distant corners. They would jump at her again but she was safe for the moment. . . And realizing this, it seemed easy to smile and answer: "I was lonely. No place to go and nothing to do."

"Do you know when you called I had the idea that something had happened?"

"Happened to me? How ally?" "Wasn't it?" agreed Dan, lighting a cigaret. "I imagined you were all up in the air."

"Worried for fear you wouldn't accept my invitation," she retorted. It seemed reassuring to swing into her customary line. It made her feel as if everything were normal. Although she did add, "I wanted so see you because I'm going away."

"Going where?" he demanded. "Oh, New York."

"For how long, Mona?" "I don't know. Several weeks anyway. Perhaps all winter."

Dan frowned delightedly. "Why the haste?"

"Because I'm bored with Minneapolis. Absolutely fed up!"

Dan came over to her chair, sitting heavily upon its padded arm.

"Take me along. I'm fed up too. Gosh, but I'd like to be in New York city with you."

"Would you, Dan? Why?"

"Think of the things we could do. The freedom we'd have."

Mona swung one foot idly.

"It isn't exactly freedom I've been lacking here."

"What I'm afraid is that you're that he has some . . . friends."

"All right, you've succeeded in getting your idea across to me. My ranking as a first class entertainer would not be so high in New York as it is in Minneapolis."

"I didn't say that. If you want to come while I'm there of course I'll be glad to see you."

"Will you, Mona? Is that a promise?"

The reason for her going was sweeping over her with renewed bitterness, yet she chatted and smiled. If Bruce could have seen her he would have been convinced of her shallowness. But it was the only method Mona knew for staying in the city. . . . And whether it was despicable or courageous she didn't know. Nor did she care.

TWO SUSPECTS ARE QUIZZED IN CAIRL SHOOTING

Detective Wounded in Gun Battle With Young Bandits Is Recovering

While detectives were grilling two youthful gunmen suspects Friday, Emmert Cairl, veteran captain of detectives, was recovering in St. Vincent's hospital from bullet wounds received late Wednesday night when he resisted the efforts of bandits to hold him up.

Capt. Cairl was said at the hospital to have had a comfortable night and confidence in his recovery was expressed. One of the gunmen's bullets penetrated his left shoulder and lodged near the arm-pit. It is believed to have been a flesh wound. The bullet was to be removed Friday. A second bullet grazed the captain's right hand, in which he held his revolver.

The two young suspects were captured in Mayfair park addition by Patrolmen Martin Stein and John McCarthy. As the policemen drew alongside the car in which the suspects were riding, one of the youths leaped out and attempted to escape afoot. He was caught by Patrolman Stein after a short chase. The other youth surrendered without resistance.

Capt. Cairl was shot in front of the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Kuntz, 4441 Asbury drive, where he and Mrs. Cairl and two sons, James, 10, and John, 14, had stopped a moment to ask Mr and Mrs. Kuntz to a family reunion at the Cairl home on the holiday.

The captain and the two boys had remained in the car while Mrs. Cairl went in to extend the invitation. When suddenly an auto, in which were four young men, pulled up in front of Cairl's car. Mrs. Cairl was in the doorway of the house talking to her daughter. Three of the bandits, with handkerchiefs over their faces drew revolvers and approached the detective captain's auto.

At their command to get out and throw up his hands, Cairl leaped from the car, drawing his weapon at the same time. He tore the neck of one of the gunmen. As he fired, the bandit fired.

After Family Row

Police Saturday arrested a man on suspicion after they were told Friday night that he was going to shoot his wife, but lost his nerve.

Patrolman McCarthy was sent to a home in the 1900 block in Spielbusch avenue to investigate the report that a man was going to shoot his wife. Upon arrival he was handed a revolver by a man who said he had been given the gun by the husband, who said he did not have the nerve to shoot his wife.

Captain Cairl and the boys went to the machine to wait for Mrs. Cairl. The boys sat in the tonneau and the captain was dozing behind the steering wheel when a Whipper pulled alongside and three jumped out. All wore handkerchiefs over their faces. They drove about the left front wheel, threw their guns into the street. "Don't get a word or we'll kill you!" Captain Cairl ordered with a shove and the car moved away from the curb. The man slipped the mask

CONTESTANTS IN NATIONAL SHOOTING MATCHES

"Squeeze the trigger, don't jerk it," army officers keep telling the participants in the rifle and pistol school at Camp Perry. And squeezing the trigger just right is going to mean much to this group of contestants in the national matches. Ten-year-old Margaret Tupper, the youngest competitor in camp, is shown at the top of the layout. Margaret, the daughter of a Fort Benning, Ga., infantry captain, has been shooting for two years. Emory Thiervechter, Toledo youth, one of the contestants in the junior matches, also is shown. Norman Hauger of the Blade camera staff, snapped some of Toledo's best police shots getting a lesson in pistol construction from Capt. Lloyd S. Spooner of the Fourth infantry. The Toledoans are Frank Baumgartner, Alex Pozniak, Clifford McClusky, J. Lovett, George Eckerman, Charles Dolloy, John McCarthy, Carl Wiener and Owen Green. The two Chicago girls in the lower picture are experts. Blonde Mary Ward, 18, got 50 bullseyes in 50 shots in an R. O. T. C. match. Dorothy Spickler, 19, a former rifle team mate of Mary, is shooting with her.

Three of the Moffat bandits, with handkerchiefs over their faces drew revolvers and approached the detective captain's auto. At their command to get out and throw up his hands, Cairl leaped from the car, drawing his weapon at the same time. He saw the man from one of the gunmen. As he fired, the bandit fired. O'Dell, H. Burglar Leaves Money for Loot

A burglar who obtained four packages of cigars from an A. & P. store in 3140 Upton avenue early Sunday paid for them, police learned.

Patrolmen McCarthy and Stein discovered a rear window of the store had been removed by the thief. In taking the cigars, however, he is believed to have been frightened and to have jumped from the window. Just inside the window, the officers found 40 cents which had dropped out of the burglar's pocket in the leap.

Toledo Man Dies After Auto Crash

Orris F. Armantrout, 37, of 2345 Broadway, died Wednesday night in a hospital at Kokomo, Ind., of injuries received earlier in the day when his automobile overturned seven miles north of Kokomo. Mr. Armantrout was on his way to Toledo. He was a field representative of the Monarch Accident Insurance Co., Springfield, Mass.

Mr. Armantrout is survived by his widow and one-year-old son, William, both of Toledo; a sister, Mrs. O. S. Clark Cincinnati, and his father, W. O. Armantrout Wichita, Kas. His father is on his way to Kokomo. The body will be taken to Wichita for burial. Mr. and Mrs. Armantrout came to Toledo in October.

Runaway Horse Three Autos in

The courage of a city patrolman and leap late Friday ended the made course of a runaway horse which, dragging a wagon behind it had crashed into three autos and menaced the lives of several persons.

The patrolman, John McCarthy, left his traffic post at Lawrence and Central avenue to run to the careering runaway seize it by the bridle and eventually bring it to a halt before it could do further damage.

One of the cars into which the horse crashed in its frantic course was that of W. S. Knudsen, president of the Chevrolet Motor Co. of Detroit, who was visiting the Toledo Chevrolet plant.

The horse had been tethered by its driver, M. W. Lay, at Delaware and Detroit avenue, while Lay delivered bread to a nearby store.

When he came out of the store, he saw the horse running down Detroit avenue, dragging the wagon. The weight by which the animal theoretically had been anchored was bobbing merrily along.

Lay commandeered a passing auto animal.

OFFICER, FIRED ON, IMPROVED

Suspects in Shooting of Captain Cairl Deny Part in Gunfight.

Detective Captain Emmet E. Cairl, 370 South avenue, was reported improving in St. Vincent's hospital Friday from a wound received in a gun fight with a gang of bandits in front of the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Kuntz, 4441 Asbury drive, Wednesday night.

Two suspects picked up by Patrolmen Stein and McCarthy in Mayfair park near the scene of the shooting shortly after Captain Cairl was injured were grilled by police but denied taking part in the affair.

Wounded Man Sought

Police concentrated their efforts on a search for a wounded man Friday as it is believed one of the bullets fired by Captain Cairl struck one of his assailants who was reported to have been seen running through yards and fields toward Fairview drive.

When the shooting started the officer was sitting in his automobile with his two sons, James, 10, and John, 14, in front of the Kuntz home. His wife was in the house. An automobile, believed stolen, stopped near the Cairl machine and three men with handkerchiefs covering their faces jumped out.

It was reported also that another man walked up to the automobile of Captain Cairl and opened fire. The two boys ducked down in the tonneau of the machine and their father stepped outside, using the car as a shield as he exchanged shots with the gunman.

Continues to Fire

Captain Cairl was struck by a bullet under the left armpit.

He was not knocked off his feet and continued to fire as the gunman's car was driven toward Sylvia avenue. It is believed the machine changed its course and picked up the man who fled on foot.

Detectives made a thorough search of the neighborhood but found no trace of the gunman. They expressed the opinion that a gang of bandits who have been working here recently surrounded the captain's machine, not knowing who was in it with the intention of staging a holdup.

Unmasks Assailant

Captain Cairl jerked the mask from one man as he staggered out.

The mad galloping horse ran into an auto driven by G. W. Ball, 2849 Detroit avenue. Ball had swerved his car, but was unable to avoid the collision. Ball ducked in his seat in time to escape injury.

At this point McCarthy, from his post of traffic duty, saw the runaway and ran toward the horse. He was unable to reach it, however, before it had crashed into Knudsen's machine, which was parked near the corner of Central and Lawrence avenues.

The crash broke the windshield and a fender on Knudsen's car.

Witnesses Gun Duel

James Cairl

James Cairl, 10, shown in the accompanying picture, crouched in the tonneau of the automobile of his father, Captain Emmet E. Cairl, 370 South avenue, while the police officer engaged in a gun duel with a gang of assailants in Asbury drive Wednesday night.

He was struck before leaving the car. When the officer opened fire his assailants fled hastily. Two of them tumbled into their machine and another ran.

Police believe the machine used in the shooting was stolen earlier in the evening. Captain Cairl had visited the Kuntz home to invite his daughter to a Thanksgiving day dinner.

He was struck before leaving the car.

A rabbit punch landed squarely on the rear fender of the automobile being driven by S. W. Ball, employe of Leonard Howe Co., gave her the second tally and put her in the mood to enter the main bout of the afternoon's card.

At Central avenue riding in an automobile, was W. S. Knudsen, president of the Chevrolet Co. of the General Motors Co. of Detroit. Belinda dashed out of Lawrence avenue and crashed into her final victim breaking the windshield and smashing the fender of Mr. Knudsen's car.

He had just left the local Chevrolet plant which he had been visiting and had not properly prepared himself for such a bout.

The mare's holiday came to an abrupt termination when Patrolman John McCarthy, who was directing traffic at the corner, managed to soothe the animal with a piece of water taffy.

No one was injured in the crash.

Frightened Horse Crashes Auto Following Mad Dash Through Streets.

W. S. Knudson, president of the Chevrolet Motor Car Co., Detroit, and his chauffeur, escaped injury Friday afternoon when a runaway horse, pulling a wagon, crashed into the Knudson automobile at Lawrence and Central avenues.

Patrolman John McCarthy, who was directing traffic at the intersection, got out in pursuit of the horse, which previously had collided with two other automobiles, and caught it after a short chase.

The horse in its flight from Delaware and Detroit avenues, collided with the automobile of W. R. Hutz, 3035 1/2 Monroe street, parked in the 3000 block in Lawrence avenue, and the moving vehicle of S. W. Ball, an employe of the Leonard-Hove Co., at Lawrence avenue near Central avenue. Both machines were damaged badly, while the windshield, several windows and a fender were broken in Mr. Knudson's machine.

M. W. Lay, who said the Whitehall Baking Co. was the owner of the horse and wagon, was the driver. He said a passing machine frightened the horse while he was in a home delivering bread.

A heavy anchor, attached to a rope leading from the halter, was dragged by the horse in its flight. Mr. Knudson said that he had visited the local plant of the firm he heads, but was not in the car when the crash came.

Meanest Dog Is Better Than His Poisoner

By MRS. WALTER FERGUSON.

The little boy next door had a dog. Last night somebody poisoned him. When it came to looks, this dog was far from beautiful, and if we measure things entirely with the utility yardstick, he was of no earthly account.

Sometimes he was even a nuisance. He loved to bark at passing autos, to put his dirty paws on spotless clothes, and his idea of a regular good time was to chase chickens.

From a practical standpoint, no doubt the family will be better off without him, and sensible people probably will insist that it is an excellent riddance of bad rubbish. For he was just a frisky, noisy, ugly Airedale. The only thing he was good at was loving.

He always was delighted to see a member of the family, and when they came home he welcomed all the children of the neighborhood with a friendly acclaim. And he loved the little boy next door with a devotion that was beautiful to see.

His whole heart always was affixed with affection, and the look in his eyes when his boy-god noticed him was soft with utter adoration. His small heaven was the circle of two freckled arms. He would gladly have gone to his death to serve the lad who was all the world to him. It is not that he is dead today

FORCE SHAKEN UP

Members of the police department who have not donned uniforms for years, most of them favored special clerical or office jobs are going back to "pavement pounding."

John McCarthy former chauffeur of the mayor's auto, was the first to feel the effects of the order. Acting upon the request of Mayor Jackson, Cowell has ordered McCarthy to regular patrol duty. In the meantime the expense which has been assigned to the mayor's office will rest except when Jackson drive it himself. Other special duty will be reassigned to patrol duty as adjustments can be made.

Good Morning

HARRY HOUDINI, the famous escape artist, appeared in police court yesterday, charged by John McCarthy, commissioner of patrolman private chauffeur to Mayor Mery. Houdini's luck dealt with the newly appointed mayor, watching the local Houdini, who is a dangerous character. He was released, as McCarthy explained, through his influence.

On Thursday night, while on duty, McCarthy was arrested by a patrolman near 129 Southward. The patrolman acted upon seeing McCarthy, who was seen to 'stick' 'em up. When the patrolman's duty was completed with McCarthy, he pulled a .41-caliber revolver.

$3,900 Sedan Delivered To Mayor
 Mayor-Elect William T. Jackson will have a seven-passenger Cadillac sedan at his service after Jan. 1, when he takes office. The new machine, authorized recently by council, was delivered Tuesday to Mayor Fred J. Mery. It cost $3,900 and will be known as the chief executive's official car. The mayor has assigned Patrolman John McCarthy to drive the new car. Mery will use it until the first of the year.

City Buys Sedan for Use of Mayor
 The city of Toledo Tuesday bought a $3,900 seven-passenger Cadillac sedan for the use of the chief executive.
 Mayor Mery will use it until the last of the month, when it will be turned over to Mayor-elect William T. Jackson. Patrolman John McCarthy has been designated by Mayor Mery as the car's chauffeur.

Mayor Mery's Chauffeur Sent Back To Police Duty
 Patrolman John McCarthy, who acted as chauffeur for the late Mayor Brough during his four years as Toledo's chief executive, and who also served as chauffeur for Mayor Mery during most of his administration, was ordered to report for police duty to Chief Hase by Mayor William T. Jackson Tuesday.
 The new mayor said that he has not yet selected a new driver for the expensive mayor's automobile that was purchased during the closing days of the Mery administration, and which McCarthy had been driving for Mery, until his term expired Saturday midnight.

JACKSON SEEKS PAYROLL SLASH
 City Jobs May Be Cut Down After Survey by Directors.

Mayor William T. Jackson plans a survey among the various city departments to determine if any employees may be eliminated without decreasing the department's efficiency.
 Department heads are to make the investigation and report back to the mayor. It is his belief that there are a good many more men employed in the streets and water divisions than are necessary.
 One of Mayor Jackson's hobbies when service director was seeing to it that economy was practiced in his division in the employment of men. He plans to follow the rule in all departments.
Studies Budget.
 Mayor Jackson began Tuesday afternoon to study the annual budget, which, as referred to him, runs $800,000 over the anticipated receipts. He and the members of his cabinet will try to pare the total down to make the budget balance, and the cutting

'Bingo,' Stray Canine Fed By Housewife Three Years Ago, Repays Debt Of Gratitude.
 "Bingo," a stray mongrel dog which begged a meal three years ago from Mrs. Earl Gibson, 35, of 2623 Marlboro street, and remained as her children's pet, repaid her Monday afternoon by saving her life.
 The woman's husband chanced to return home when he had finished some work in the South End and while he was in the garage he heard the dog leaping frantically against the windows in the house.
 Thinking the dog had gone mad, he rushed into the house and detected the odor of escaping gas.
 He called to his wife and when he received no reply he ran through the Gibson had been taught the proper method of resuscitation in his work with the Toledo Edison Co. and he immediately started to give her aid. All the while the faithful dog nuzzled nearby. Mrs. Gibson's attempt to bring her arrival home, before his neighbors.

Attracted the attention of Gibson and they called police. Detective Halstead and Patrolmen McCarthy and Misenofski sped to the home with an inhalator and they were able to bring her back to consciousness. They credited the husband's heroic work before their arrival with saving her life.
 Fumes were escaping from a gas stove in the basement where Mrs. Gibson had been washing clothes. Following her recovery she said that she began to feel faint soon after going to the basement Monday morning and that she crawled up the steps on her hands and knees in a futile attempt to summon aid.
 Her four children had gone to school and it was not until Mr. Gibson returned some four hours after she had been overcome that he heard "Bingo" leaping against the window and investigated.

The lace curtains in the parlor of the home were torn by the many frantic attempts the dog had made to summon aid. All the while the escaping gas grew stronger in the house.
 It was just by mere chance that the husband went to the home during the afternoon, he said. He said he felt that there was something he had forgotten at the house or that something was wrong and so went out of his way about two blocks while on the way back to the city.
 A daughter, Genevieve, 11, got out of school early and arrived at the house while attempts were being made to revive her mother. The other three children, Ethel, 16, Earl, 14 and Richard, 9, arrived home from school to find their mother ill in bed from her narrow escape from death.
 Late Monday night she still was unable to sit up, but physicians said she would be able to be about in a few days.

Curiosity Of Boy Leads To Huge Stills

These 100 Gallon Stills And Large Quantity Of Whisky Is Seized In Twining Street House.

Arrests Expected

Vats Six Feet Deep And Ten Feet Wide Require Electric Pump To Move Their Contents.

A boy's curiosity and desire for a taste of forbidden concoctions led police and state officers to one of the largest illicit liquor stills ever discovered in Toledo or Lucas county since the advent of prohibition.
 The boy, Clifford Wagle, 13, of 755 Redwood avenue, was found suffering from poison in a vacant lot on Stickney avenue Sunday. He was taken to County Hospital where it was discovered that he had been poisoned from liquor.
 He then told police how he had lowered a galvanized bucket with a rope through a basement window and scooped up a bucket full of rye whisky mash. He consumed a portion of his find and nearly died.
 Armed with the information given them by the boy, Captain Dan Wolfe, Sergeant Lyman Dear, seven patrolmen and two state officers raided a vacant house at 8621 Twining street, Monday night and seized three 100 gallon stills and nearly 100,000 gallons of whisky mash in four large concrete vats built in the basement floor and 400 gallons of illicit whisky.
 Plant Equipped Completely.
 Arrest of the operators of the large liquor plant is expected to be made soon, as the officers say they have information which will lead to their apprehension.
 The vats were six feet deep and ten feet wide and their contents are so great that an electric pump will have to be used to drain them, officers say.
 Twenty gallons of kerosene were put into the mash Monday night to make it unfit for use pending the big job of pumping it from the vats.
 The plant was completely equipped and police believe it to have been the source of a large supply of moonshine whisky which has been sold in Toledo and vicinity.
 The small amount of the finished product confiscated is believed due to the fact that the operators had just completed a run and disposed of the most of it.
 The vats were filled with mash in the working for another big run, the officers said.
 Captain Wolfe and Sergeant Dear were assisted in the raid by Patrolmen Majchszak, Varner, Crane, McCarthy, Konalewski, Rudes and Bowman and State Officers White and Callan.

Too Much Revelry Lands Five in Jail

TWO 17-year-old Maumee girls and three young men, all under 21, were in the Safety building Monday tasting the penalty for making too much whoopee. They were arrested at 4:30 a. m. by Patrolmen John McCarthy and Martin Stein while giving vent to an exuberance of good cheer in the 300 block on Phillips avenue. The policemen say that between the hours of 3 a. m. and the time of the arrest they had warned the young men and women twice, but they had remained on the scene in an auto and continued the revelry. Police are investigating an alleged bootlegging establishment in the neighborhood.

Prisoner Recaptured After Liberty Leap

Leaves Jail By Window; Returns Through Door.

Conrad Sampson, 22, whose daring leap from a second-story window at the Safety building at 4 a. m. Monday morning gave him his liberty, was captured at 1:30 p. m. Monday in his home at 525 Mills street, where Detective Fielding and Patrolmen Houser and McCarthy found him asleep in bed. He had been arrested on a statutory charge.

He was first arrested with three other men and a woman at Walbridge park early Monday. The five suspects were taken to the Safety building, where they were questioned. While Detective Hartung questioned one of the men, the other three were locked in the detectives' assembly room. Several minutes later one of the men walked to the door of the room where Detective Callahan was making out a report and called to him. He told the detective that one of the men had just jumped out of the window. Callahan ran to the window to find he had disappeared. Sampson had leaped from the window and landed in a flower bed, the soft earth breaking the force of the 25-foot leap.

One of the other men held on suspicion at the Safety building has been identified as the man who held up a driver for the Birmingham dairy at 4 a. m. Monday at Consaul and Magyar streets, police say. This was one of the many robberies among the milk wagon drivers. Kenneth Kason, a driver for the Ohio Clover Leaf Dairy Co., was held up in Spring Grove early Sunday; Arnold Brandt, a driver for the Village Farm Dairy, was held up in Steel street; John Zam, driver for the People's Dairy Co., was robbed on Consaul street.

Suspect Fled Safety Building by 25-Foot Leap From Window

Conrad Sampson, 22, whose daring leap from a second-floor window at the Safety building at dawn Monday carried him to liberty, again was under police guard Monday afternoon after nine hours of freedom. Sampson leaped 25 feet to freedom while detectives were preparing to question him in connection with a series of holdups here and also on a statutory charge.

FOUND ASLEEP.

He was re-arrested at 1:30 p. m. Monday at his home at 725 Mills street, where Patrolman Paul Houser, Motorcycle Patrolman John McCarthy and Detective Robert Fielding found him asleep in bed. He offered no resistance.

The young man first was arrested with three other men and a woman near Walbridge park, early Monday. The five suspects were taken to the safety building for questioning.

While Detective Carl Hartung questioned one of the men, the other three suspects were locked in the detectives' assembly room, which has windows facing on Ontario street.

In another office a few feet away Detective John Callaghan was typing an office report, and in an adjacent office Willard Rydman, captain of detectives, was phoning.

ESCAPES IN LEAP.

A few minutes after the suspects had been led to the assembly room, one of the men walked to the door of the room where Callaghan sat, and called him.

"The big fellow just jumped out of a window," he said.

The detective ran to the window. In a flower bed directly beneath the window he saw deep footprints. The soft earth had broken the force of the 25-foot leap. Detectives could not find the escaped prisoner.

The other men are held on technical charges of suspicion, and the woman is held as complaining witness.

frantic attempts the dog had made to summon aid. All the while the escaping gas grew stronger in the house.

It was just by mere chance that the husband went to the home during the afternoon, he said. He said he felt that there was something he had forgotten at the house or that something was wrong and so went out of his way about two blocks while on the way back to the city.

A daughter Genevieve, 11, got out of school early and arrived at the house while attempts were being made to revive her mother. The other three children, Ethel, 16, Earl, 14 and Richard, 9, arrived home from school to find their mother ill in bed from her narrow escape from death.

Late Monday night she still was unable to sit up, but physicians said she would be able to be about in a few days.

BANDIT IS WOUNDED BY POLICE IN CHASE

Toledo hospitals were being visited by police Tuesday in the belief that one of three filling station bandits was wounded when the car was pursued by police late Monday night.

The bandits kidnaped a motorist, held up a filling station—all with an unloaded shotgun—then escaped after the car had been wrecked on Brussels street by a shot with a police crew.

WEAPON FOUND.

The shotgun, the only weapon used during the kidnaping or robbery, was found in the abandoned car, it was unloaded.

Rupp, 2042 Southmoor drive, manager of an A. & P. store at South avenue and Spencer street, had left his wife when he was approached by the bandits.

The man forced Rupp to sit in the rear seat while the other two drove toward Maumee. A mile east of Maumee the bandits ordered Rupp to turn back toward Toledo.

HAILS MOTORIST.

Rupp hailed a motorist and was taken to Maumee, where he reported the kidnaping and robbery to Marshal John Dohr.

While Marshal Dohr was notifying detectives in Toledo a complaint was registered with another detective that three men had held up Woodrow Streeter, attendant at a Hi-Speed station at Upton avenue and Marlowe road, and robbed him of $41.

Five minutes later Patrolmen John McCarthy and Walter Harmon sighted an auto at Jackman road and Sylvania avenue which corresponded to that used by the bandits and the one stolen from Rupp.

The patrolmen pursued the bandits to Brussels street and over the rough paving on Brussels street toward Upton avenue. Patrolman Harmon fired six shots during the chase.

One bullet penetrated the rear of the fugitive auto. In front of the home of Arthur Mohr, 2044 Brussels street, the bandit car skidded over the curb and crashed into a tree.

MEN FLEE AFOOT.

The bandits fled, and the patrolmen followed.

Near Munz's coal yard at Detroit and Sylvania avenues, Harmon fired at one of the fugitives. The man wavered and fell to his knees, but quickly leaped to his feet and continued across the coal yard.

An hour later police again picked up the trail of the bandits when Mrs. H. C. Bordelt, 2051 Eastbrook drive, notified them a man whose face was covered with blood had tried to enter her home.

Mrs. Bordelt was awakened and saw the man on the porch. He fled. A trail of blood in the snow revealed the route taken by the wounded man, but it was lost in the slush.

Shooting Stirs Collingwood

Burglar Suspect Caught By Police But Aid Escapes.

A burglar suspect was captured and another escaped amid shots from a policeman's pistol during a chase in the West End Saturday night.

Patrolmen John McCarthy and Walter Harmon were dispatched on a complaint to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Longfellow, 3131 Collingwood avenue.

Officer McCarthy went to the rear of the house while Harmon guarded in front. McCarthy had no sooner jumped a fence in the rear when he heard the crash of breaking glass and a man ran towards him. The officer flashed his gun and caught the suspect, while another man ran around the house towards the front.

McCarthy called his partner and Harmon gave chase down Collingwood avenue, firing three shots at the suspect as he dodged between automobiles on the street. The suspect escaped between two houses near Flower hospital.

The arrested man was held on a charge of suspicion. Officers believe that he may have been responsible for the recent numerous West End burglaries. Mr. and Mrs. Longfellow had retired for the night when the attempt at burglary was made, officers said.

PROWLER HELD AFTER CAPTURE

Accomplice Flees Under Fire When Surprised by Police.

One prowler was captured and another escaped under fire from a policeman's pistol in a wild chase which followed an attempt to break into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Longfellow 3131 Collingwood avenue, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Longfellow had retired for the night when they heard someone tampering with a window in the rear of their home. Mr. Longfellow summoned police and Patrolmen John McCarthy and William Harmon responded.

Cutting Glass

As Patrolman McCarthy went to the rear of the house he surprised one of the prowlers in the act of cutting the glass in the window. He flashed his gun and the man surrendered. An accomplice fled, however, and the officer called to Patrolman Harmon, who was stationed in front of the residence.

The suspect brushed past the officer and darted across Central avenue. As he disappeared between two houses, Patrolman Harmon fired two shots. Both went wild. After a chase of several blocks, the burglar suspect disappeared between two houses near Flower hospital.

Knife Held as Evidence

The man arrested is held in the Safety building on suspicion. Officers believe he may have been responsible for a number of recent home burglaries in the West End.

A case knife used in the attempt to unlock the window in the Longfellow home is held as evidence.

THUGS KIDNAP, ROB TOLEDOAN, STEAL AUTO

One of Trio of Shotgun Bandits Believed Hurt During Chase by Officers.

One of three shotgun bandits who escaped after kidnaping a Toledoan and holding up a filling station Monday night is believed to have been wounded in a volley of shots fired by police.

Shortly after the gunplay in West Toledo a man with a bloody face is reported to have attempted to enter the home of Mrs. H. C. Borgelt, 2051 Eastbrook drive.

Police were called, but the man escaped before they arrived. Hospitals and physicians' offices are being watched Tuesday in the belief that he might seek medical treatment.

The robbers first accosted Elmer Rupp, 47, of 2042 Southmoor drive, as he was driving his automobile into his garage. Mrs. Rupp, who had driven up with her husband, had alighted in the driveway and gone into the house.

"Back into the car," the thugs ordered Mr. Rupp, menacing him with a sawed-off shotgun. "We're going for a ride."

They drove into the country, where they robbed him of a small sum, warned him to keep silent, and said they intended to use his car to commit some holdups.

Forced out in Salisbury road, near Maumee, Mr. Rupp notified Marshal Willard Rydman, captain of detectives, was taking the report, the trio held up T. Streeter, 3440 Upton avenue, attendant at the Hi-Speed station at Upton avenue and Marlowe road, robbed him of $41 and locked him in a washroom. After a general alarm had been broadcast, Patrolmen John McCarthy and Walter Harmon sighted the bandits at Sylvania avenue and Jackman road. They gave chase, and Harmon fired several times, a bullet piercing the rear of the machine.

One of the bandits fled from the home of Arthur Mohr, 2044 Brussels street, the bandit car struck a tree. The occupants separated and fled, escaping in a fog.

Harmon, however, said one of the bandits fell to his knees as though wounded, but was able to continue on his way. The shotgun, unloaded, was found in the abandoned

Robbers Flee Police Shots

Gunmen Kidnap Toledoan, Rob Filling Stations, Escape.

A kidnaping, two robberies and a running gun battle with police were the features of a crime drama staged here Monday night by three youths.

Elmer Rupp, 47, of 2042 Southmoor drive, drove into his driveway Monday night and after he had left his wife out of his car proceeded to put it in the garage. As he was closing the garage doors three young men, one of them carrying a sawed-off shotgun, appeared around the corner of the garage and ordered him to get into his car. One of the men drove the car out of the driveway and proceeded toward Maumee. About two miles south of Maumee, after the men robbed Rupp of a small amount of money, they ordered him out of his car. This took place on Salisbury road near Heatherdown boulevard.

Before Rupp was ordered from his car the men informed him they expected to use the car for a series of robberies in Toledo and if he would not notify the police they would call him when they had completed the robberies and inform him where they had abandoned the auto.

After being forced from the car, Rupp called Marshal John Dohr at Maumee and Dohr in turn notified the Toledo police department of the affair.

Shortly after the report of the auto theft had been made police received a report of a holdup of a Hi-Speed gasoline station at Upton avenue and Marlowe road. T. Streeter, 3440 Upton avenue, attendant at the station, was robbed of $41 and one of the men carried a sawed-off shotgun.

When Streeter heard the car driving from the station he rushed out of the wash room, into which the robbers had ordered him, and obtained the license number.

Patrolmen John McCarthy and Walter Harmon, riding in a police car, were notified of the holdup and sighted a car at Sylvania avenue and Jackman road that answered the description of the one carrying the three men. They ordered the car to pull up to the curb, but it sped away. The police then chased the car about seven blocks out Jackman road to Brussels street and then down Brussels street. During the chase Patrolman Harmon fired seven shots at the car. One of the shots struck the body of the car but did not enter the inside.

The small sedan veered off the street into a yard in the 2000 block of Brussels street and barely missed a tree. One front fender was damaged by the tree. Three men escaped on foot. In the car the police found a sawed-off shotgun and a cap.

West End Burglar Caught, Police Say

The West End burglar for whom every policeman in Toledo has been on the look-out for many months was lodged in the Safety building Tuesday night in the opinion of officials of the detective bureau.

To back their claim they stated that a quantity of household articles including a radio, a pair of valuable German binoculars, a leather brief case and shaving kit, a shot gun, and outboard motor and several nickel plated mirrors had been found in the Chestnut street home of the man.

The articles were found at the burglar suspect's home Monday following his arrest when he unsuccessfully sought to elude two patrolmen in the West End Saturday night, but the information was withheld by police officials until last night.

Fashionable residents of the West End whose homes have been robbed in the last six months will be asked to visit the Safety building Wednesday in an effort to identify the articles which police say they found.

The suspect was arrested by Patrolmen William Harmon and John McCarthy, who had gone to the home of Leo I. Longfellow, 3131 Collingwood avenue, in answer to a complaint that someone was prowling about the place. The officers saw a man trying to pry open a window. Several shots were fired by the officers before the man was captured.

When questioned at the Safety building by detectives the suspect said he had been forced to attempt burglary because of lack of food and unusual expenses at home. It was his first attempt, he said. Police report that the man has a penitentiary record.

The man was thought to have had a companion Saturday night. He escaped while Patrolmen McCarthy and Harmon were making their arrest, it is believed. Detectives who have been grilling the suspect for the last few days are understood to have obtained information that may lead to the apprehension of his companion.

Misdirecting The Police

TOLEDO'S police force finds itself in a difficult position on every occasion a major crime is committed. Headed by an officer of long experience, intelligence and honor in the routine affairs that pile end on end as time passes, the department is virtually shorn of its professional leader and given an untrained substitute every time a major crime is perpetrated within the city.

Probably not another city in the nation has a more capable or efficient police chief than Toledo, nor a better rank or file in its force. Trained in long years of service as a patrolman, detective and as a leader of various groups, his alert mind has grasped virtually all there is to know about his business.

However, in the emergencies when the department should call most forcefully upon such a man, he is set aside as if he were capable of only the routine matters of police business. Safety Director Cowell takes charge in such cases.

Not being a police genius and not having had experience as a policeman or detective, Director Cowell does exactly what any other average citizen would do in such a situation in a business requiring highly specialized training. He muddles it or forgets it in his efforts to conceal it from the press.

If a question of vice control arises, Mayor Jackson takes over the reins of police. As a police leader, Mr. Jackson is a prototype of Mr. Cowell.

Why these men, one a brush maker, the other a house builder, persist in taking over the work of a man who knows policing when there is a serious problem in policing, is inexplicable to the average citizen.

Toledo can expect efficient work in police emergencies and on vice when Mayor Jackson and Director Cowell are finally convinced, by their own abortive efforts, that they are not policemen. Then, or when these gentlemen leave the City Hall.

Fire Comes to Police; They Handle Task

Patrolmen John Michalsk and John McCarthy consider the job of being a fireman a cinch.

They were parked at Adams and Fourteenth streets late Saturday when flames burst from under the hood of a passing auto. The patrolmen subdued the flames with a hand extinguisher. The motorist was Robert Richards of the Empire apartments, Fourteenth and Jackson streets. Damage to the auto was negligible, the patrolmen reported.

Man Will Face Charges Here Before Being Taken to Monroe.

Frank Trychel, 31, of Chestnut street, was arrested for the second time in a week Friday night when he was booked at the Safety building as a fugitive from justice.

He was arrested last Saturday night in a sensational chase by Patrolmen Harmon and McCarthy, who found him attempting to enter the home of Leo I. Longfellow, 3131 Collingwood avenue. The man stopped after the officers had fired several shots. A companion escaped.

When officers searched his home they found a radio, outdoor motor, binoculars, shotgun, shaving sets and mirrors. Trychel was charged with burglary and was released on bond of $2,500, Wednesday night.

Friday police announced they had traced some of the recovered stolen property to a Monroe, Mich., home which had been propped. A warrant was issued by Monroe authorities for the man's arrest and he was picked up by Harmon and McCarthy again Friday night. He will face charges here before being taken to Monroe.

Chase After Bandits in West End

One of the Gang Believed to Have Been Wounded

One of the bandits that had robbed H. R. Smith, of 1838 Talbot street, on Monday night, is believed to have been wounded in a hot chase down Sylvania avenue on Monday night.

Three robbers accosted Elmer Rupp, of Southmoor drive, and told him to get into his car that they would take him for a ride. Forced out of the car at Maumee, Ohio, Rupp notified the police, who set out a general alarm to look out for the robbers.

While the report was coming to the police station in Toledo, robbers were holding up a gas station at 1440 Upton avenue on Marlow road, robbing him of $41.

Messrs. John McCartney and Walter Harmon received the alarm and sighted the bandits' car at Jackman and Sylvania avenues. They gave chase, Officer Harmon piercing several times one bullet through the rear of the auto of the bandit's car.

At 2044 Brussels street bandit's car struck a tree, and bandits fled.

Shortly after the shooting, a man with blood on his face appeared at the home of Mrs. H. C. Borgel, 2051 Eastbrook drive. Police called, but the man left the neighborhood before the arrival of police.

H. B. Smith, a driver of a car was engaged by two men on Park avenue to take them to Manhattan Boulevard. When they arrived there they struck him, knocking him unconscious. He lay snow for about thirty minutes before he gained his senses and gave the alarm.

OPEN DOOR LEADS TO ARREST OF BURGLAR

Police Find Youth Hidden Beneath Counter in Store.

A 24-year-old youth was captured early Wednesday after he had entered an A. & P. store at 3140 Upton avenue.

Patrolmen John McCarthy and Martin Stein were patrolling the district at 2:30 a. m. when they noticed the rear door of the store open. They entered and searched the room and found a youth hiding behind a counter.

The policemen found a screw driver and a flashlight in his possession. He was unarmed and offered no resistance. The officers took him to the Safety building, where he was held on a technical charge of suspicion.

Last August the same patrolmen found two men at the rear of the store. They were sentenced on charges of being s

Man Arrested in Store Here

Found hiding behind a counter in an A. & P. store at 3140 Upton avenue, a 24-year-old burglar suspect was arrested early Wednesday by Patrolmen McCarthy and Klein.

The officers were scouting in the store when they noticed a rear door of the store open. The suspect had a screw driver and flashlight. Last August the same officers arrested two men on suspicion who were lurking behind the same store.

Motorcycle Squad Increased to 16

Spring was ushered in officially by the police department Tuesday when seven men were added to the motorcycle squad to curb speeders, who are increasing because of the warm weather.

The seven will make a total of 16 motorcycle officers. The new men are: Tom Case, John McCarthy, Charles Wawrzyniak, Patrolman West, school duty. Patrolman West was transferred to the treasurer's office to replace Patrolman Co-Ed Escapes Auto Fine by Keeping Quiet.

BECAUSE Ruth Tallman, Maumee, co-ed at the University of Toledo, didn't attempt to talk herself out of an arrest for speeding, she escaped a fine in police court Saturday.

Patrolman John McCarthy, who arrested Miss Tallman for driving 45 miles an hour in Broadway, told Judge Homer Ramey.

"She's the first representative of the feminine sex who hasn't tried to talk me out of arresting her."

Judge Ramey said "Case dismissed."

Another university student, Morse Thompson, Holland, charged with operating an auto with an open muffler, was sentenced to "three hours of study each night." Judge Ramey also ordered him to repair the

Gives No Lip, Gets No Fine

WHEN RUTH TALLMAN of Maumee, O., a student at the University of Toledo, pleaded guilty Saturday before Police Judge Homer Ramey on a charge of speeding, she did it just like that.

She simply said "Guilty." Patrolman John McCarthy, who made the arrest on Broadway, said

"She was doing 45, your honor."

JUDGE RAMEY cognated the penalty.

Miss Tallman waited. Then McCarthy, leaning over the rail, said

"I'll say this, your honor, Miss Tallman is the first woman speeder whom I ever arrested who didn't give me any lip."

Sternness disappeared from the judicial brow.

"Defendant discharged," he said.

SPEEDERS FINED IN POLICE COURT

Judge Ira Cole told James Aitel, 2200 Scottwood avenue, in police court Wednesday that he would rather stand on a street corner and let a man take a shot at him with a gun than to allow a motorist to speed on the public highway.

"The man with the gun," he explained, "represents less of a risk."

Aitel was arrested by Patrolman John McCarthy for traveling 60 miles an hour on the River road. Judge Cole imposed a fine of $50 and cost. Aitel was restrained from driving for 60 days.

Mrs. Albert Fair, 2015 Mt. Vernon avenue, received five days sentence and a fine of $5 and costs for speeding on Monroe street. The sentence and fine were suspended.

H. W. McClelland, 215 Prescott street, was given a suspended sentence of 10 days in the workhouse and was fined $25 and costs and ordered off the highways for 60 days for driving while intoxicated.

Judge Cole ordered 40 bench warrants to be issued Wednesday and 30 Tuesday for traffic violators who refused to answer court summons.

Bench Warrant Out for Speeding

A bench warrant for the arrest of Luetta Spitzer, Eagle Point colony, accused of speeding, was ordered by Police Judge Ira R. Cole Monday. Hearing of charges of speeding against Jay Secor, 18, of Perrysburg and Virginia Tracy, Maumee, were continued to July 23.

The three were arrested by Patrolman John McCarthy Thursday night. Mr. Secor was speeding in the River road and the young women were driving 40 miles an hour at Walbridge park, Patrolman McCarthy said.

Bench warrants for the arrest of Mr. Secor and Miss Tracy were ordered issued when they did not respond when their cases were called Monday. Attorneys appeared for these defendants later and asked for continuances, which were granted. Mr. Secor and Miss Spitzer were to return to Toledo from the Secor camp on the Au Sable river Monday. Miss Tracy is out of the city.

SOCIETY GIRLS' ARREST ORDERED

Warrants Issued for Luetta Spitzer, Virginia Tracy; Jay Secor Sought, Too

Bench warrants were issued by Judge Ira Cole in municipal court Monday for the arrest of three members of Toledo's younger society set who had failed to appear in court to answer charges of speeding.

The warrants bore the names of Miss Luetta Spitzer, 443 W. Woodruff avenue, daughter of Lyman Spitzer, president of the Spitzer Paper Box Co., and treasurer of the Spitzer Building Co.; Miss Virginia Tracy, Maumee, daughter of Pratt E. Tracy, president of the Air-Way Electric Appliance corporation, and Jay Secor, 18, son of Mrs. J. K. Secor of Perrysburg.

Miss Tracy was reported to be out of the city on a vacation.

Patrolman John McCarthy, who arrested the trio last Thursday on the River road, left the courtroom with the warrants and instructions to bring the offenders into court.

In the case of young Secor, who, McCarthy said, became abusive after he had been arrested, bond was fixed at $250. Secor was charged also with driving with an open muffler. Following his arrest, he was taken in a patrol wagon from the city limits on Broadway to the Safety building.

MISS SPITZER IS FINED IN COURT

Miss Luetta Spitzer, Eagle Point Colony, Toledo society girl, was fined $25 and costs in police court late Wednesday after she pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding.

Judge Frank O'Connell suspended the fine and she paid only the costs.

Miss Spitzer was arrested on Broadway by Patrolman John McCarthy. She was to have appeared in court Monday, but failed to, and a bench warrant was issued for her appearance Wednesday. She explained that she had been absent from the city Monday.

Warrants Issued in Speeding Cases

Bench warrants were issued Friday by Judge Ira Cole for the arrest of Lewis C. Miller, 23, and his sister, Pauline Miller, 23, both of 2211 River road, when they failed to appear in traffic court to face charges of speeding.

Motorcycle Patrolman McCarthy reported that he arrested the brother Monday in front of Walbridge park for speeding 40 miles an hour and Thursday arrested the sister at the same place for making the same speed.

VICTIMS FOR

Two Employees and Two Customers Are Forced To Lie on Floor While Thugs Scoop Up Available Cash

Four victims of three bandits who held up the Dorr-Collingwood branch of the Ohio Savings Bank & Trust Co. at 12:40 p. m. Wednesday and escaped with $7500 in cash were viewing Bertillon photos of known Toledo police characters late Wednesday in an effort to identify the bandits.

The victims were: Eugene L. Moses of 1271 Fernwood avenue, teller of the branch bank, Felix Flalkowski, 21, of 416 Mettler street, bookkeeper, and Alvin Jones of 912 Pinewood avenue and William Ward of 397 Avondale avenue, customers of the bank.

Jones and Ward told police they were positive they could identify the bandits if they saw photos of them.

The bandits escaped without gunplay in a small roadster bearing West Virginia license plates. The car had been reported to Toledo police Wednesday morning as having been stolen from West Virginia, and detectives here had been on the lookout for the machine.

The bandits apparently had made good their escape. They drove rapidly south on Collingwood avenue. Motorcycle Patrolman John McCarthy followed their trail a few minutes after the holdup, but could not catch up with them.

FOUR IN BANK FORCED TO FLOOR.

Officials of the bank first estimated the loot at $15,000 immediately following the holdup, but a recheck by auditors from the main office of the bank revealed the loss was $7500, mostly in currency.

The four victims were compelled to line up with their faces to the rear wall of the bank, then lie down on the floor while the bandits fled from the bank with the cash.

The holdup was staged so quietly that persons near the bank did not know a robbery was in progress.

One man, however, was slugged when he started to enter the bank, ignorant of the holdup as the bandits fled. He was David Hampton, 511 Dorr street, on his way to deposit $15 he carried in his hand.

As the bandits ran from the bank, Hampton met them in the doorway. With an oath, one of the bandits struck him on the chin and Hampton was knocked to the sidewalk. When he arose, the bandits had escaped.

Moses and Flalkowski were in their cages when the bandits entered. Jones was standing at a desk in the bank, writing a check.

Two of the bandits went directly to the cages. One drew a $5 bill from his pocket and showed it to Moses.

"Please change this," he said.

As Moses started to comply, the stranger drew a revolver from beneath his coat and covered the teller.

"Now you get back up against that wall," he said.

RAPS ON WINDOW TO DRAW ATTENTION.

Simultaneously, the second bandit, who had attracted Flalkowski's attention by rapping on the glass window of the cage with his knuckles, covered the bookkeeper and ordered him to line up against the wall with Moses.

When the bookkeeper answered the summons, the bandit covered him with a revolver.

Meanwhile the third bandit walked over to Jones and ordered him to throw up his hands.

The first two bandits marshaled the teller and bookkeeper thru the swinging door leading from the cages to the rear of the bank, while the third marched Jones to the rear, to join the employees.

FOUR LINED UP AT REAR FACING WALL.

As they were assembling their victims, the bandits turned around to see Ward enter the bank. The third bandit met Ward and forced him to join the other three.

The four men were lined up against the rear wall of the bank, their faces pressed close to the wall.

Then, while two of the bandits covered the quartet, the third bandit went quickly from cage to cage, scooping up all available cash from tills and counters. He stuffed the loot into two canvas sacks he carried.

"Now," said one of the bandits guarding the victims, "I want all of you fellows to go quietly into the vault and stay there while we lock the door and get away from here."

The four victims were led to the vault and placed in it. Then the bandits found the levers of the door were thrown and the door could not be shut.

"All right," said one of the bandits, "you'll have to lie down on the floor."

Moses and Flalkowski were compelled to lie on the floor at the rear of the bank, while Jones and Ward were taken toward the front of the bank and made to lie down there.

Toledo Girl Given Fine for Speeding

Miss Virginia Tracy, daughter of Pratt Tracy, River road, was assessed a suspended fine of $10 and costs by Police Judge Frank O'Connell in police court Friday. McCarthy, charged with speeding in roadway July 3, was arrested by patrolman John McCarthy.

MISS LUETTE SPITZER FINED FOR SPEEDING

Miss Luetze Spitzer of Eagle Point colony was fined $25 and court costs by Judge Frank O'Connell when she pleaded guilty in police court late Wednesday on a charge of speeding. Judge O'Connell suspended the fine and ordered Miss Spitzer to pay court costs. Miss Spitzer apologized for not appearing in court July 5, the date originally set for her trial, and explained she had been out of the city. She was arrested by Patrolman John McCarthy on Broadway.

Toledoan Sentenced on Speeding Charge

Harry Jennings, 19, Freeman street, was sentenced to five days in the workhouse and assessed costs in police court Monday on the charge of speeding. Motorcycle Patrolman McCarthy accused Jennings of driving 55 miles an hour in South Detroit avenue.

JAY SECOR BARRED FROM CITY STREETS

Jay Secor, Perrysburg, Monday was ordered not to drive an auto on Toledo streets for 60 days when he appeared before Judge Frank O'Connell on charges of speeding and driving with an open muffler.

Secor also was sentenced to 10 days in the workhouse and fined court costs. The workhouse sentence was suspended on condition he appear before Traffic Inspector Thomas O'Reilly once a week for 30 days.

He was arrested July 3 by Motorcycle Patrolman John McCarthy, who charged he was driving 50 miles an hour on the River road. McCarthy ordered Secor taken to the Safety building in a patrol wagon when arrested.

Jay Secor Denied for 60 Days

Jay Secor, Perrysburg, was denied the privilege of driving an automobile for 60 days when he was arraigned before Judge Frank O'Connell Monday on the charge of speeding.

He also received a 10-day workhouse sentence, which was suspended, and paid costs of $5.10. Judge O'Connell placed young Secor on parole to Traffic Inspector Thomas O'Reilly, to whom he must report once a week for 30 days.

The arrest was made July 3 in the River road by Patrolman John McCarthy who said the youth was traveling 60 miles an hour with the muffler on his machine open.

BANDIT ELUDES PURSUIT AFTER TOLEDO HOLDUP

A lone bandit who held up a Kroger store at Berdan avenue and Jackson road Thursday afternoon and escaped with $75 after eluding a number of citizens who pursued him in autos, lost $15 of his loot while making a clean get-away in Willy park.

Driving a red Chevrolet sedan, the police believe was a stolen car, the bandit fled to a lonely spot in the park.

BOYS 'BASED BY MAN.

They he stopped the auto and started to flee thru the park. Three boys were attracted by the man's peculiar actions. He showed them a way with threats of violence. As he fled west, the man dropped the $15 and was recovered by the boys.

The boys gave Motorcycle Patrolman John McCarthy the money. They were Charles Hart, 11, of 4019 North Haven drive; Paul Orwig, 12, of 3533 Willy parkway, and William Folger, 9, of 2017 Shenandoah drive.

AUTOISTS PURSUE.

Adolph Walker, 2015 W. Park street butcher in the store, was talking to a friend when the bandit entered. He walked directly to them, drawing a revolver.

After ordering Walker and the other man to raise their hands, the bandit scooped $75 from the cash registers and ran to his sedan.

He swung the car into Berdan avenue. Walker gave the robbery alarm to motorists waiting at the corner traffic light to change.

POLICE SAVE DETROIT RACKETEER FROM MOB

Demand for "Protection Money" Causes Near Riot.

A Detroit racketeer was held on suspicion at the Safety building Wednesday, following an unsuccessful attempt to intimidate the proprietor and several customers of a Toledo resort.

Patrolman John McCarthy said he found the Detroit racketeer at Short and St. Clair streets facing an angry mob of men who declared that the racketeer had gone into the resort, flashed a police badge and demanded $10 for "protection money."

McCarthy saved the pseudo policeman from the hands of the mob.

Gunman Gives Up Car, Drops Loot In Chase

A gunman held up three men in a Kroger store at Jackson road and Berdan avenue, took $80 from a cash register, abandoned his car and dropped a part of his loot in his hurry to elude police in Willy park Thursday afternoon.

Parking a bright red sedan in front of the store, the robber waited until the store was cleared of customers before he fled and backed P. R. Wood, 1225 Upper avenue store manager, Harry Showler, 4325 North Locust avenue clerk, and Rudolph Walker, 115 West Park street butcher, up against the wall until he emptied the cash register.

A few minutes later a police speed crew and Motorcycle Patrolman John McCarthy arrived. McCarthy, armed with a description of the robber and his car and informed of the direction in which he had fled, gave chase.

In Willy park he found the red sedan. Three boys had found three five dollar bills near the car.

The boys, Charles Hart, 11, of 4019 North Haven avenue, Billy Folger, 9, of 2017 Shenandoah road and Paul Orwig, 12, of 3533 Willy parkway, turned the money over to McCarthy.

The robber had disappeared into the park. Two speed car loads of detectives searched the park in an attempt to find the robber.

The car and money were taken to the Safety building. The owner of the machine was sought by members of the auto squad.

TWO FIREMEN HURT FIGHTING BLAZE HERE

Third Business District Fire in Three Days Sweeps Huron Building.

Two firemen were hurt, others suffered from inhaling smoke and $8,000 loss was caused Wednesday evening by the third fire to hit the business district in three days.

The blaze originated in the basement of the Grand store, dealers in radio supplies, accessories and general household goods, and threatened to destroy the Huron building, Huron and Jackson streets.

Richard Lawler, district fire chief, and Melvin Schroeder, 1118 Woodland avenue, suffered cuts on the hands while fighting the flames. After police administered first aid the two resumed their duties.

Monday night wholesale clothing houses in the 100 block in South St. Clair street were damaged to the extent of $20,000 by fire and Tuesday night the building at 232-4 Superior street was swept by flames with a loss of $150,000.

Wednesday's fire was confined to the basement of the Grand store and provided firemen with a stubborn battle. Dense smoke forced firemen from the building several times. Smoke masks used failed to provide protection and were discarded. Bars on doors and windows also hampered fire fighters.

Mrs. Theresa Richards, Rosford, who was working in an office on the fifth floor, smelled smoke and notified another occupant of the building. Motorcycle Patrolman John McCarthy, while riding in Huron street, was attracted by the fire and turned in an alarm at 6:20 P. M.

Chief Fred J. Myers, with District Chiefs Schultz and Lawler, responded and directed activities of the firemen. Flames were shooting through an elevator shaft and the building was shrouded in a smoke screen.

"Vice Crusader" Held as Suspect

Introducing himself as a vice crusading officer, a young man who blustered into a South Eleventh street resort Tuesday afternoon demanded "protection" money from the proprietor.

Men who chased him to Market and South Superior streets handled him roughly until Patrolman John McCarthy interfered. The captive had two police badges, a pistol, shells and several blank checks. Held on suspicion he said he came here from Anderson, Ind.

REAL COP SAVES FAKE ONE FROM ANGRY MOB

Detroit Man Attempts Extortion by Flashing Badge.

A Detroit man who came to grief in a Toledo resort on 11th street late Tuesday after he had flashed a fake policeman's badge was saved by Patrolman John McCarthy from a severe drubbing.

The suspect was placed under arrest and was found to have a revolver and two police badges.

McCarthy arrested the man after he had saved him from a gang at Short and St. Clair streets. The man in the gang told McCarthy the man had entered a place on 11th street, showed a badge and demanded $10.

Society Girl Ordered To Appear in Court

On protest of the police court prosecutor, Benjamin Moses, Judge Ira Cole ruled yesterday that Betty Beckwith, Toledo society girl, arrested on a charge of speeding Friday, must make a personal appearance in court Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Beckwith had sent her chauffeur to court to represent her. She was arrested by Motorcycle Patrolman John McCarthy near Webster bridge.

SIX ARE HELD ON MANN

Officers Say Toledo Is Used as Center for White Slave Traffic.

War on the white slave traffic in Toledo is indicated in the arrest here Thursday afternoon of two men and two women as the result of an investigation by Lee N. Muslin, United States attorney, and agents of the department of justice.

The officers say that enough evidence has been procured to show that Toledo has been used as a distributing depot by violators of the Mann act and that women and young girls held here are sent to Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago and other cities.

Two men who pleaded guilty in federal court Wednesday to the transportation of a Toledo bride of two weeks to Monroe, Mich., are now awaiting sentence by Federal Judge George P. Kahn.

Those arrested Thursday in a New Year's eve party house and charged with Mann act violation are John George, Harold Thompson and Pauline Thomas. They pleaded not guilty before John C. Budd, United States commissioner, and are held under $3,000 bond each for the federal grand jury.

Under bond as material witnesses are Harry Church, Dolores Smith and Charles Thompson, said to have been brought here from Parkersburg, W. Va. Other arrests are expected. The information upon which the warrant for the arrests was signed by Patrolman member of the

Threatener Given 30-Day Jail Term

John Harrington Price, 24, of Wauseon, O., today was sentenced to 30 days in County Jail and was fined costs by Municipal Judge Edgar Norris on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon in a menacing manner.

Detective John McCarthy said Price threatened him with a knife when he sought to question the man and two companions at Michigan Street and Jefferson Avenue Feb. 1. Price was bound over to the grand jury in $200 bond on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Vincent Knupp, 24, of Detroit, arrested at the same time on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon, today was given a suspended sentence of 30 days, fined costs and was advised by Judge Norris to leave the city. A third man arrested when police arrested Price Knupp.

TWO ARE SENTENCED ON CHARGE BY GIRL

Says She Was Kept Prisoner Two Weeks in Vice Resort.

Charges of an 18-year-old Parrisburg girl that she had been placed in a vice resort against her wishes and kept there almost two weeks Thursday resulted in jail sentences of almost three years for a man and woman, both middle-aged, in Judge Ira Cole's court.

The defendants were Jennie LaVere, 51, of 37 Vance street, in whose house the girl was found by vice squad raiders and who Friday will face a charge of keeping a disorderly house, and John Weir, 43, of 123 1-2 Superior street. Weir was given two sentences of 11 months and 28 days. The LaVere woman was given one sentence of the same duration.

Patrolmen John McCarthy and Claire Bailey raided the Vance street place Oct. 15. There they arrested the defendants, the 18-year-old girl, who was charged with visiting, and another girl, who was accused of soliciting.

60 MEN JAILED IN ARONOFF RAID

Other Gaming Resorts Closed; Prisoners Freed on Bond

Sixty men were arrested in a raid on Henry Aronoff's Buckeye cigarette rendezvous for race horse bettors, 237 Superior street, while the streets of the downtown district were crowded during the rush hour late yesterday afternoon.

It was understood that other gambling houses in the city were closed yesterday with the exception of Aronoff's place. The Aronoff store has been the scene of several previous raids.

Seven police wagons were called to transport the prisoners to the Safety building.

Two of the men, Jack Miltap, 23, of 222 East Woodruff avenue and Jack Swartz, 24, of 284 East Woodruff avenue, were charged with operating a gambling game.

Police confiscated cards and $140.25 as evidence.

Charges of unlawful assembly were placed against the other 58 men. All were released on bond for appearance in police court today.

The raid was made upon orders of Detective George Timiney by Patrolmen John McCarthy, Kenneth Larson, Fred Nowicki and Claire Bailey of the vice and liquor squad.

Policeman Beaten; Three Are Held

Patrolman Earl Champion was beaten severely and injured by two men who slugged him off duty when he answered a disturbance call in a house in the 340 block of Nebraska avenue early Friday. A 21-year-old Toledo youth and two women are held.

QUIZ SUSPECTED DOPE PEDDLERS

Dec. 2, 1934

29 Are Rounded Up by Police; Questioned by Federal Agents.

Twenty-nine dope peddling suspects rounded up by Patrolmen John McCarthy, Claire Bailey and Grover Howe of the police vice squad Sunday were questioned by federal narcotic agents in the postoffice building, Madison avenue and Thirteenth street. Seven were placed under arrest.

Ralph Oyer, Detroit, head of the narcotic force in this district, examined the suspects, 16 of whom were women. Maurice Helbrand, Toledo narcotic agent, is testifying in a government case in Florida. Two of the suspects, police said, attempted to escape from the postoffice.

One man held was reported to have earned $100 a day although he was supported by the city welfare department. All of the women questioned were released.

TOLEDO MAN KILLED

Orris F. Armantrout, 27, of 2846 Broadway, died late Wednesday in Kokomo, Ind., of injuries received in an auto accident. He was field representative of the Monarch Accident Insurance Co. He leaves his mother and one son, William, one year old.

THREE JAILED IN EXTORTIONS

Man, Bride Charged With Terrorizing Two Merchants

Two extortion plots went amiss here with the arrest yesterday of three suspects, two of them a young married couple accused of terrorizing two South End merchants by demands for $6,000.

The third suspect, a 19-year-old youth who is said to have boasted that he was the driver of the car in which Jimmy Leahy was slain recently, was arrested in connection with the attempted extortion of $150 from Mrs. Rachel Bodinus, 21, of 241 Van Buren street.

The woman suspect, a 19-year-old wife, was nabbed by four detectives and a patrolman just after she had handed George Bruss, operator of a grocery at South avenue and Broadway and one of the intended victims, a note identifying herself as the person to whom $1,000 should be paid.

Mr. Bruss, who had that amount of money in his possession, had started back for his store after waiting for several minutes at Frank street and South avenue, the designated meeting place, when the young woman appeared before him.

Detectives John Mullen, George Timiney, Ray Scheets and William Lucas and Patrolman John McCarthy, who were hiding nearby, arrested the woman.

She is said to have confessed immediately to police, implicating her husband, who was arrested shortly afterward in his home on Oliver street.

The woman is said also to have admitted sending the note to Bud

Unlawful Display of Goods Charged

Affidavits were filed against eight commission houses Saturday by Patrolman John McCarthy for unlawful display of goods on the sidewalk, in violation of an ordinance adopted by city council last July.

The merchants were notified to appear in court Monday. It is understood the charges grew out of the recent arrest of a commission merchant, who felt that the law should apply to everyone.

THREE ARE JAILED IN MONEY PLOTS

Four of the owners of the Bud & Luke barbecue stand at Broadway and Knorr street, demanding $5,000 from him under threat of blowing up his place.

Mr. Fowler, fearing for the safety of his family, went to the children and parents to Kokomo, Ind., as a result of the extortion letters.

He received three notes from the extortionists since April 6 in which demands for $5,000 were made with instructions to leave the money at the rear of the English Lutheran in the 1800 block of Broadway. Money, padded with paper, at the designated place each time no one appeared.

TWO HELD FOR DRUGS

Face Reassignment After Police Found They Have Narcotics

A woman and a man were re-assigned in police court Thursday as suspicious persons because police found narcotics in their possession Wednesday night.

Stella Moore 33, colored, of 235 John R street, attempted to throw away four cubes of morphine when Patrolmen Claire Bailey and John McCarthy of the police vice squad arrested her at S. 15th and John R streets.

Michael O'Leary 33, of 1821 Adams street, was arrested in his home when police found a needle and drugs in his possession.

OUTLAWED IN PLACE

Vice Charges Faced by Seven

Seven persons will face vice charges in police court Friday after being arrested Thursday night.

Ann Dalton 22 of North Erie street was charged with keeping a disorderedly house, one woman with soliciting and two women and a man with soliciting when the place was raided by Patrolmen McCarthy, Fowler and a woman, and a man were arrested in North Twelfth street for soliciting.

POLICE ARREST FIVE IN ARONOFF'S PLACE

Pack of Cards and $63 Taken Friday Afternoon

During the crime and vice cleanup ordered by Mayor Add Thatcher, police late Friday raided Ben Aronoff's Buckeye cigar store, on Superior street, arrested five men and seized a pack of cards and $63 which they say had played an important part in a game of blackjack.

Joe Engle 27, of 1325 E. Bancroft street, was booked at the Safety building as a gambling house keeper. The four others were charged with gambling. Bondsmen were waiting when they arrived at the warden's office.

Five women and two men were arrested Thursday night in two vice raids led by Patrolman John McCarthy, former member of the vice squad, and Patrolman John Weed.

Patrolman Injured In Traffic Mishap

John McCarthy, motorcycle patrolman, was treated in a doctor's office yesterday afternoon after he had suffered leg injuries when his motorcycle struck a hole in the 2500 block of Broadway, throwing him to the pavement.

Two suspected dop-ers were held for federal authorities following their capture at Vermont avenue and Jackson street early Monday by Patrolmen John McCarthy and Claire Bailey and Federal Officer Flynn.

Convicted Man Is Rearrested

As Fred Fredericks, 30, of Fifteenth street, walked from the courtroom in the Safety building after being found guilty of being a suspicious person Friday, he was arrested on a warrant charging him with perjury.

The warrant, signed by Patrolman John McCarthy, charged Fredericks with giving false information in writing in his application for a motor vehicle registration Dec. 31, 1931.

Fredericks was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse and fined $50 on the suspicious person charge in a hearing before Judge Homer Ramey after being arrested in Superior street by Detectives Ford and Jankle. Bond was set at $2,500 pending motion for a new trial.

BUSINESS MEN PROTEST LIMIT ON TRUCK LOAD

Enforcement of Ban on Over-weight Cars Brings Flood of Complaints

A storm of protest against the enforcement of the city ordinance forbidding trucks of a gross weight of more than five tons to travel on certain streets in Toledo was received at the police traffic bureau today from merchants throughout the city.

In protesting against enforcement of the ordinance, business men declared it would cause them great inconvenience in transporting products and raw materials to and from their factories and shops and would impair their businesses.

One Driver Acquitted.

Three truck drivers, arrested yesterday when their vehicles were found to exceed the five-ton limit, were arraigned before Judge Frank O'Connell this morning in police court.

George Davies, 2557 Sylvania avenue, driver for the Spicer Manufacturing Co., pleaded guilty and was fined the costs. J. B. Baker, 961 Western avenue, driver for the Standard Oil Co., was discharged when the evidence showed he was making a delivery on Franklin avenue when arrested. The ordinance states that trucks weighing over five tons may be driven on a restricted street if a delivery is to be made on that street.

State Law To Be Enforced.

The case of Alfred Bueschaber, 438 Pearl street, driver for the Fellbach Co., was continued until March 3.

The arrests were made by Motorcycle Patrolman John McCarthy, who is equipped with a special device for weighing the trucks.

The state law limiting trucks to a gross weight of 12 tons will be enforced on streets where there are no special restrictions. Traffic Inspector Thomas O'Reilly said.

PROTESTS HELD GIVEN TO UNEMPLOYED

To the Editor:
I get more fun out of the newspapers than many people do from the movies. For instance, "Thacher leases boat for needy." Who are the needy? We have them in our neighborhood. They have more than we who work and pay taxes. They have to go out to the water and swim while I must sit at home and sweater. Must pay our taxes, so are not able to run our car.

The women folks can have their permanent waves while I must wear mine "skinned" straight back. They can have their parties until 2, 3 and 4 o'clock in the mornings and all due to the big-heartedness of Thacher and Rowsey.

It would have looked better to have read "Thacher leases Tiedtke's or Sears-Roebuck for city firemen and police," so that they may live as they should. But no, he would rather keep these people in idleness than to help those who are helping him.

I know many of these people don't look for a job for fear they will find one. Why should they work? They have their eats handed to them and when they earn a few dollars they can go to shows and buy gas for their cars instead of buying groceries.

Now, Mr. Thacher, why don't you play square and pay the boys what they have coming? I know a family that has known nothing but doctor bills. The little mother has had at least six operations. The oldest boy was taken to the hospital last winter for an operation, so all they know is doctor bills. But how can they pay them with the "sample" that Thacher dishes out every two and one-half or three weeks? It is rent out of every pay they get and a grocery bill for a family of six and their gas and lights, as you see where they are. They are only one family out of the many. But, come on and give the boys "break" and not a "brick".
I am not a city employe, than my stars.—Mrs. M. E.

City motor officers are watching speeders on the outskirts . . . Executive secretary to the mayor, Virgil Sheppard, is to have an office all his own . . . Patrolman John McCarthy, who was Mayor Brough's chauffeur, is doing motorcycle duty . . . The river side of Walbeidee park gives an entrancing view these early autumn days . . . Police to Sponsor Relief Fund Events

The sub-relief board of the Toledo Police Department will sponsor a dance in the Trianon Ballroom, Nov. 14, and a wrestling and boxing show in the City Auditorium, Nov. 21, to raise $5,000 for widows and orphans of policemen.
The board members, who all are on the committee for the affairs, include Edward A. DeAngelo, Safety Director; Inspector Clarence Fauble, Sergt. L. Z. Kolster, Detective James Ford and Patrolmen John McCarthy and Howell Tice. Ticket sales for both events will start soon.

Bonds vs. Salaries

IN THE administration of city finance since the first of the year, there has arisen with the receipt of each dollar of tax money into the city treasury this question: To the bondholder or to the city employe? So far, the answer has been pretty one-sided. It has been to the bondholder.

How long can such a situation continue? The city is a full two months behind in its pay rolls, something like a half million dollars. The gap between the money due and the money paid has been widening over a period of many months. City employes now are down to a point where they are pledging future pay checks, signing away their rights to whatever the next pay may hold for them.

Business people, generous for a year in this matter, have of late restricted their credit facilities where city firemen and policemen have been concerned. They are willing to do all they can but they explain they must have money to operate their business. Rent, grocery and other bills are far ahead of dozens of these civil servants.

THE claim has been made that some city employes are little better off for being employes, some of them public servants many years, than if they were on the relief rolls. There is some exaggeration here, but we have heard more illogical contentions.

Yet what is being done to alleviate this condition? So far, apparently very little.

State law, foreseeing that some such emergency as the present might occur, eases the matter of delinquencies in funds for debt service, or bond retirement. A refund, of course, is possible here.

But when there is a delinquency in operating expenses? State law so far has offered only inadequate answers.

The News-Bee believes city employes deserve to be given greater consideration in this matter than they have been given in the past. Morale and loyalty cannot be maintained in such an atmosphere. It breeds dissatisfaction and incites resentment.

There is only hollow glory in a boast that the city has kept its bond indebtedness record clean when the city owes a half million dollars to the men who come back, day after day, to a job which offers little but indefinite, nebulous promises.

At best, it is robbing Peter to pay Paul. And, to most Toledo citizens, isn't Peter just a little closer home?

Is the equity of the bondholder who invests his money greater than that of the public servant who invests, so to speak, his very life?

THE NEWS-BEE does not advocate bond default and does not believe that such thought or suggestion should be given even a minute's consideration.

But this newspaper does believe that a more far-sighted policy in regard to bond refunding should have been adopted by the city months even a year ago. The trend was downward and was continuing so. Men competent in finance pointed out certain alternative steps which could have been taken to avoid, in a measure at least, the difficulties in which the city now finds itself. If the city chose to ignore advice, it

In Heavy Harness

THE wife of a Toledo policeman writes a letter to the Blade suggesting that summer regulation uniforms of the office should be of lighter weight and less cumbersome.

The police uniform weighs nearly fifteen pounds—breeches two pounds, a three and one-half pounds, shirt, one pound and a half; cap, ten ounces, tight-fitting gings, 24 ounces, harness and gun, five pounds and ten ounces. These are the principal items.

The duty of most policemen requires physical exertion and exposure to hot sunshine. While the general effect of the form is excellent, it is on occasion exceedingly uncomfortable. It is not at all impossible to do something about it. Cleveland and other cities already have shown the way.

Cleveland recently celebrated its progress toward economic recovery. A huge Eagle flag was floated at the public square. A great parade was held in which the policemen and firemen, in pith sun helmets and newly designed uniforms, participated.

The new police uniforms are lighter in weight and have a military distinction about them. They are carried conspicuously, here the officers can get at them instantly for at least equal chance against armed gangsters. The new uniforms are more comfortable for wearers and are well calculated to inspire higher respect on the part of the public official authority.

Cleveland will have a great field day to raise money to pay for the uniforms. Cannot Toledo and possibly other cities take Cleveland's fine example in furtherance of the wellbeing and efficiency of its police guardians?

Lighter Shirts Sought for Police

A petition seeking authority for policemen to wear shirts of lighter material during the summer months was being circulated among members of the department by Motorcycle Patrolman John McCarthy Tuesday.

The present uniform shirt is of winter weight and the officers desire a weight of material similar to that worn by mail carriers in the summer.

Heat Relief Sought

Inspector Joseph Delchaunty, style arbiter for policemen, was handed a petition Saturday afternoon signed by 105 members of the force asking permission to wear lighter shirts during the hot weather. The present regalia compares favorably with that worn by icemen.

Summer Uniforms

Even though the heat wave has been broken by a crackling thunderstorm, it is not optimistic to forecast that the thermometer will soar again into the distress area before the summer is over.

Because of the respite there is no occasion to pigeonhole the petition circulated last week among members of the police department asking that officers be allowed to wear lighter shirts as part of their summer uniforms.

Police department regulations now require a dark blue, heavy, unwashable shirt, with button collar and necktie. While business men doffed coats and ties, donned washable slacks and went bare-throated last week, the officers sweltered in heavy wooden garments.

Inspector Delehaunty may well give earnest consideration to the officers' plea and at the same time contribute to the efficiency of the department by allowing them to wear more comfortable garments.

2 'Wire Bandits' Plead Guilty in Robberies

Two of Toledo's "wire bandits" pleaded guilty to robbery charges before Common Pleas Judge John M. McCabe, today. They were Ernest Dye, 28, of 320 14th Street, and George Gilmore, 21, of 332 14th Street.

Judge McCabe said he would pronounce sentence next Saturday.

Dye and Gilmore were charged with robbing two filling station attendants and leaving them bound with wire the night of Jan. 8. They admitted taking $32.50 from Robert Gottschalk, 3627 Detroit Avenue, and $26.99 from George Spaulding, 303 Chapin Street.

John Cherry, 29, arrested as a third accomplice in the robberies, has pleaded not guilty. He will be tried later.

Patrolman John McCarthy, working on his own time, caught the trio after, according to police, they had conducted a minor reign of terror in gas stations in the Toledo area.

PRaise FOR McCARTHY

To the Editor:

IT WAS KIND of your paper to find space in your editorial column praising Patrolman John McCarthy which he truly merits and deserves.

I cannot seem to understand why he does not get the reward in promotion which he should be entitled to.

If Johnny McCarthy could do so much in his spare time what would he do if he could devote all his time? It seems ridiculous to have Johnny McCarthy sitting in a scout car all day long watching a few pickets when he could do some real work if given the opportunity.—Louis Abramovitz.

Edy, Czelusta in Clash Over McCarthy Inquiry any information, or satisfaction from the manager's office.

The city manager challenged Mr. Czelusta's statement and explained that most of Mr. Czelusta's inquiries were about individual relief which Mr. Edy said he had to investigate personally.

"I also asked about the cost of paving alleys and got no satisfaction," Mr. Czelusta declared.

Mr. Edy said he had asked the city engineer to get the information for Mr. Czelusta, but that the engineer has been busy with the city's huge WPA program, trying to find projects to provide 120,000 men-months of work.

Mr. Edy said he had no time to make individual reports on every individual request and that if such procedure was followed one council member could tie up the city manager's office for a year.

Edy Commends McCarthy, Ford For Good Work

City Manager John N. Edy yesterday sent a letter to Police Chief Ray Allen yesterday asking the chief to extend Mr. Edy's personal appreciation to Patrolman John McCarthy and Detectives James Ford for their work in capturing the three "wire bandits" last week.

"I should like to have you express to Officer McCarthy and Detective Ford my personal appreciation of the capture of the three men who have confessed to the filling station robberies and other felonies," Mr. Edy said in a letter to the chief.

"I understand these men were apprehended as a result of Officer McCarthy's persistent and intelligent work on the case while off duty, and I feel that he and those who assisted him at any time should be commended for this outstanding piece of police service."

Actress Reports Bag, Gems Stolen

Marcey, chorus girl in the city's musical revue, "Boys and Girls Together," complained last night that a suitcase containing jewelry, and clothing valued at $650, had disappeared from her downtown hotel.

The suitcase and makeup kit were taken from the lobby when she returned Sunday night, Miss Marcey said. Detective John McCarthy is now playing in the musical.

TWO SUSPECTS HELD IN RACKET

Believed Attempting to Organize Dice and Card Games.

Two out-of-town gamblers arrested in a downtown hotel last night are suspected of a racket attempt to organize neighborhood dice and card games in Toledo.

An associate of the old Licavoli gang is involved with the men. They are brothers.

Detectives John Michalak and John McCarthy said they had been watching the men since they arrived in Toledo four months ago and struck up a close association with the local hoodlum.

Taken before Edward A. DeAngelo, safety director, the men said they have had no work since their arrival in Toledo. One said he had been given a trial job as dice game dealer in the Club Devon, Benore Road gambling place.

The detectives said they had heard repeated rumors that muscle tactics were being used to persuade local poolroom and cigar shop proprietors to open small gambling rooms backed by the suspects.

A search of the men's hotel room revealed an automatic pistol and shells, dice and letters from out-of-town gamblers, the officers said.

Union Denounces City Government

The Toledo Typographical Union yesterday declared its opposition to John N. Edy, City Manager, taking the unusual action of placing Mr. Edy and the city administration on the unfair list.

Members of the union, meeting in the Roi Davis Building, voted unanimously in denunciation of the city manager. The action was described by members as the "culmination of many affronts to union labor" in Toledo and prompted particularly by the recent award of a $5,000 city printing job to a non-union firm.

The union adopted a resolution asking the state legislators to enact legislation requiring all state, county and city buildings to use coal mined in Ohio. The action was taken to aid employment in Ohio.

Two Men Arrested In Downtown Chase

Two men reported to have left the Fort Meigs Hotel recently without paying a $48 bill, were arrested after a chase through the downtown district last night by Detective John McCarthy.

McCarthy sighted the men in an automobile while he was walking at St. Clair Street and Jefferson Avenue. He commanded the automobile of Fire Lieut. William Malone and Fireman Edward Clougher, he said, and overtook the suspects after a short chase.

Deaf-Mutes Robbed Of Jobless Aid Fund

A deaf-mute couple was robbed of $11—their unemployment compensation with which they had planned to pay rent—by a young purse thief in the 3800 block of Canada Southern avenue last night.

Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak reported through conversing by notes with the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leffel, 4129 Peak avenue, they learned the thief sneaked behind them, seized Mrs. Leffel's purse and ran across the New York Central railroad tracks.

In addition to the $11, the purse contained papers, the patrolmen said they were told. 6-18-41

NOVEMBER 9, 1940 — Suspect in White Slavery Arrested

A 35-year-old Thirteenth Street man was arrested last night by Edward DeAngelo, safety director. Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak, and federal agents on suspicion of being implicated in white slave activities in Toledo. He will be questioned today.

Several women were questioned by Mr. DeAngelo and the officers last night after the arrest.

Caton Loses Voice During Broadcast

Earl Caton, business agent for the American Federation of State, Municipal and County Employees, and a former councilman, suddenly lost the use of his voice during a broadcast from WSPD at 6 p. m. yesterday.

Listeners at first believed Mr. Caton had become ill, but it was learned today that the speaker merely underwent a vocal constriction. Connie Desmond, staff announcer, read the remainder of Mr. Caton's prepared speech on "Municipal Facts."

Jails Check Suspect

Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak yesterday arrested a 32-year-old man suspected of passing a number of bad checks on merchants and beer parlor proprietors here during the past month. Sylvio Petrecca, who operates a cafe at 628 South St. Clair street, and Nathan Karp, proprietor of a clothing store at 1404 Dorr street, complained that the man had passed several checks in their places of business.

TOLEDO LIBRARIAN, STUDENT FOUND MAROONED ON ISLAND

TOLEDO STUDENT, GIRL MISSING; RIVER ISLANDS SEARCHED

Couple Leaves Boat House Sunday Night in Canoe; May Be Marooned, Is Belief.

Channels, backwaters and islands of the Maumee river were being searched Monday for Eleanor DeMars, 23, of 1366 Prospect avenue, a city librarian, and her escort, Edwin M. Reid, 23, of 2020 Waite avenue, University of Toledo senior, who have been missing since 9 P. M. Sunday when they set out from Ott's boat house, Walbridge park, for a canoe ride on the river.

JONES SHOOTS 69 FOR LEAD

Finley Sub-Par Round Puts Triple Champ Ahead of Field.

Walter Crickler Club, Ardmore, Pa., started his final battle to sweep the golf boards for 1930. Jones shot a brilliant 69, one under par, to take the lead in the first 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying play for the national amateur championship Monday.

Jones took the lead away from 19-year-old Sidney W. Noyes, Yale freshman, who carded 73-72—70, two par.

The triple champion was in fine form and experienced trouble only on four holes. Twice he was in traps and twice in the rough but recovered occasionally. He was over par on only one hole, the 375-yard 11th, where his drive found deep rough and he failed to find the green with his second. He offset this with birdies on the 10th and 13th, sinking putts of 24 and 12 feet respectively.

On five other greens Jones lipped the cup with long putts. Otherwise he would have administered a fine beating to old man par.

Two searching parties Monday morning found no signs of the missing pair, nor of their boat.

Two probabilities are being exploited by the searchers. One is that Miss DeMars and Mr. Reid were drowned when their boat overturned in the dark river. The second is that they are marooned on a river island.

May Be on Island

The second theory receives impetus in the discovery that charcoal is missing from Mr. Reid's locker in the boat house. It is thought that Mr. Reid and his companion may have gone to an island for a marshmallow or steak roast, and that their boat may have broken away from its moorings.

A rumor that a drifting boat had been seen "down the river," could not be checked.

Patrolman John McCarthy, directing a police speedboat searching party, swept the lower river from the Fassett street bridge to the Terminal bridge without finding a trace of the missing pair.

Leave Dinner Party

Mr. Reid and Miss DeMars were last seen Sunday night when they left a dinner party in Miss DeMars' home. Shortly before 9 P. M., Mr. Reid drove to his home and collected some letters to be posted. Miss DeMars did not come into the house.

E. W. Ott, proprietor of the boat house, was the last person who spoke with Mr. Reid.

Mr. Ott told the police that...

At 9 P. M. Mr. Reid was at work in the boat house. He heard footsteps, and, upon calling out, received the answer, "This is Reid."

Brother Owns Boat

Mr. Ott said that Mr. Reid asked when the boathouse was to be torn down for the season. He replied that the work would be done Monday. Mr. Reid then replied that he would be ready to store his canoe by then.

The boat, originally owned by a brother, Harold Reid, now of New York city, has been in the family 10 years.

The canoe was equipped with three cushions of the type which can be used as life preservers in an emergency. These are missing with the canoe.

The discovery Monday of Mr. Reid's automobile, still standing on the bank near the boathouse, resulted in an appeal to the police to institute a search.

Was Good Swimmer

Mrs. William Reid, Edwin's mother, said that her son was a good swimmer, while Miss DeMars was helpless in the water.

Arthur DeMars, the missing girl's brother, began an independent search with a friend, Arthur Westgate, 1072 1/2 Grand avenue. They were joined by Herbert McKechnie, 2146 Shenandoah road, and Frank Crowell, 2115 Upton avenue, uncles of Mr. Reid.

Mr. Reid had planned to register Monday at the University of Toledo, where he was taking an accountant's course. He had operated an inde-

Patrolmen Rescue Eleanore De Mars, Edwin Reid, Who Were Feared Drowned

Miss Eleanore DeMars, 23-year-old children's librarian at the Kent branch library, and Edwin Reid, senior at Toledo university were found marooned on an island in the Maumee river near Delaware creek Monday afternoon after they had been missing since Sunday night.

Reid said the couple had ridden in his canoe to the island and that the canoe was beached by the receding tide of the river. When they tried to lift the canoe from the mud into the river, several feet away, the boat became imbedded in the bog and they were unable to move it.

The couple spent the night and morning trying to attract the attention of persons on shore and when found by Patrolman John McCarthy and Edward Ott in a motorboat, Miss DeMars and Reid were in the boat waiting for the tide to move it and trying in the meantime to attract attention of persons on the other side of the river.

Their absence had caused much anxiety among relatives and friends, who had spent the morning searching the river and islands for the couple. It had been feared they had been drowned.

Miss DeMars, 23, of 1366 Prospect avenue, a city librarian, and her escort, Edwin M. Reid, 23, of 2020 Waite avenue, University of Toledo senior, who have been missing since 9 P. M. Sunday when they set out from Ott's boat house, Walbridge park, for a canoe ride on the river.

Runaway Has Lark In Police Patrol

An 8-year-old boy who told firemen at No. 1 Engine House, Bush and Erie Streets, that he was lost and hungry today had breakfast at the expense of two policemen, and a long scout car ride before he revealed he had run away from the Miami Children's Home.

Patrolman John McCarthy and Clifford Blinn took the boy in their scout car after he told them he lived in Point Place. A cruise through that suburb, however, failed to reveal a house which the boy recognized, and finally, he admitted he had run away from the children's home last night to seek his mother, who lives "somewhere in Point Place." The child was taken to the Child Study Institute.

JAIL 2 IN SH

BATTLE FOLLOWED BY PAIR'S ARREST

Third Man Sought by Police as Missing Occupant of Skirmish Auto

Two suspects were jailed last night in what police offered as a solution to the wild gun battle staged on Sylvania avenue near the "Point" Wednesday night when more than a hundred West Toledo citizens were imperiled by the exchange of shots on the busy thoroughfare.

Bullets raked the sidewalks and buried themselves in the store fronts during the busiest hour along the heavy traffic artery.

The men, who gave their names as Michael Rizzo, 26, and George Bono, 22, both of Monroe, Mich., are said to have been the occupants of a Cadillac automobile who opened fire on a Buick machine, occupied by Jimmy Lahy and Paul Lambert, at Sylvania and Lewis avenues.

TOLEDOAN ARRESTED ON MANN ACT CHARGE

Martin LeWand To Be Taken to Detroit for Trial.

Martin LeWand, 20, of 2308 Vermont avenue, will be turned over to United States department of justice officials in Detroit Saturday, where he is wanted for violation of the Mann act.

LeWand was arrested early Saturday in his home by Patrolmen John McCarthy, Claire Bailey and Arthur Brown, members of the police vice squad, an hour after Detroit officials called here requesting the man's arrest.

He is charged with taking to Detroit for immoral purposes Dolores Gilbert, 21-year-old Columbus girl, who attempted to commit suicide here Oct. 15 by jumping from the Cherry street bridge. Two unidentified men prevented her from taking her life.

SEEK THIRD MAN

Bono and Rizzo were arrested by City Detective George Timiney and Patrolman John McCarthy. A third man, who was said to have been with them in the car, is being sought.

Admission that he and Lambert were the occupants of the Buick sedan which featured in the shooting was made yesterday by Lahy to Detective Inspector Emmett Carl. Lahy, who was arrested two years ago for shooting John Slowinski, appeared voluntarily at the Safety building yesterday to make his statement. He said that he did not know the men who shot at him, or why they attacked him, but presumed that he was being "put on the spot."

ATTACKED IN MICHIGAN

Lahy was released after making his statement.

He said that he and Lambert, who is said to be a Michigan resident, were driving through LaSalle, Mich., Wednesday afternoon when a Cadillac car tried to force them to the side of the road. They fled. Eight shots were fired and the Toledo shooting followed later.

Lahy denied there was a third man in his car. Witnesses said one man, pistol in hand, fled through Meinert's branch store.

TWO MEN HELD IN 'GANG WAR' SHOOTING QUIZ

Outbreak Dwindles to Mere Squabble as Prisoners Face Light Charges

Toledo's much publicized gang war and the shooting Wednesday night at Sylvania and Lewis avenues had dwindled Saturday to what police believe was a mere bootleggers' squabble.

Moreover, the gangsters, so-called, who participated in the shooting, were revealed as men whose aim was exceedingly poor. At first police ridiculed their shooting efforts when the firing at the West Toledo "Point" had been bad, and the ridicule grew to scorn when it became known a good part of an afternoon had been spent with the shooting efforts and still no one had been shot.

TWO MEN HELD.

Two Monroe, Mich., men were arrested Friday night on charges of shooting within the city limits in connection with the gun battle.

Two men in an auto, bearing the license number of the car in which the men fled from the shooting were trailed by Motorcycle Patrolman John McCarthy after the auto had passed McCarthy in Walbridge park.

The car proved to be the right one, but the men were not the men police were seeking in connection with the shooting. When Detective George Timiney saw the car, however, he knew the owner. This led to the arrest of the two men held.

TELLS OF SHOOTING.

The arrest followed a statement made by Jimmie Lahy, 27, to Detective Inspector Emmett Carl in connection with the shooting. Lahy said he and Paul Lambert of Michigan were in the Buick sedan flung upon by two gunmen in a Cadillac coupe at the "Point" Wednesday.

Lahy figured in the newspaper here two years ago when he shot John Slowinski in a gun battle the Lagrange street district. Slowinski recovered.

TELLS OF GUN PLAY.

Lahy told Inspector Carl he and Lambert were in LaSalle, Mich., when the two gunmen in the Cadillac first fired at him. Lahy said he sped away but that three bullets penetrated the rear window of the Buick.

The Buick was parked on Sylvania avenue an hour later, with Lahy standing nearby on the curb, talking to Lahy, when the Cadillac drove up and the two occupants once more released a volley of bullets. Lambert leaped in the car and they fled again. Lahy said

THIRD ARREST EXPECTED.

There was no third man in the Buick, Lahy said and he denied knowledge of the man who fled thru Meinert's confectionery store after the shooting.

Lahy said he did not know he should be the target for the shooting, according to Inspector Carl.

Inspector Carl expected the arrest of a third man in the Buick Saturday. The two now in custody gave their names as Michael Rizzo, 26 and George Bono, 22, of Monroe.

TWO MEN HELD IN GUNPLAY IN WEST TOLEDO

Target of Attack Says
Monroe, Mich., Suspects Tried to "Put Him on Spot."

Two Monroe, Mich., men were arrested Friday night on charges of shooting wit in the city limits in connection with gunplay which menaced citizens at Sylvania and Lewis avenues Wednesday evening.

The men, Michael Rizzo, 26, and George Bono, 22, were captured by Police George Timiney and Patrolman John McCarthy on information furnished by Kenneth Cairl, inspector of detectives.

Lahy is a voluntary state. Friday afternoon told police the shooting was an attempt to put Paul Lambert "on the spot." He and Lambert were riding through Lamelle, Mich. in a Buick sedan when two men in a Cadillac coupe fired eight shots at them after trying to force them to the side of the road, he said.

Tells of Shooting

After apparently outdistancing the gunmen, Lahy said he and Lambert were parked at West Toledo's busy "point" when the Cadillac again swept past, its occupants opening fire a second time.

Lahy denied there was a third man in his car and could not explain a report that a man armed with a pistol dashed through the Meinert branch store during the shooting.

Lahy said he knew of no reason why he should be "on the spot." He was not held. Two years ago he shot John Slowinski five times after Slowinski had slapped a girl in an automobile parked in Lagrange street.

Clash in Cigar Store

Detectives Mullen and Culver in a report to Inspector Cairl said another shooting at midnight Tuesday in the Buckeye cigar store, 237 Superior street, resulted from a quarrel between Mulchy Levine and Freddie Fredericks.

The trouble started originally, the detectives said when Fredericks either threw or threatened to throw a "pineapple" at Levine's home. The quarrel was renewed in a rummy game in the cigar store, the detectives said, and Levine is said to have fired a shot through his overcoat at Fredericks Joe Aronoff, brother of Ben Aronoff, proprietor of the cigar store, separated the men.

Suspect Arrested In Burglary Here

A burglar was arrested on suspicion at 4:30 a. m. today when police received a report of a robbery in Urban's Restaurant, 3270 Avenue.

Patrolmen Clifford Blinn, John McCarthy, Fred Moss and Martin said the suspect had forced a window and was ransacking a small machine when they arrested him. An automatic pistol, pin-point slugs and a screw driver were found as evidence.

ESCORTED TO SAFETY BUILDING

WITH anything but a "Merry Christmas" smile on his face, we met Howard Lewis, walking nonchalantly, as only Howard can walk, accompanied by that "ogre" of the River road, Officer McCarthy. We didn't find out what it was all about, as Howard was not in a talkative mood, but probably they were just hunting a cozy coffee shoppe.

SAYS MOTOR SQUAD MOST USEFUL

Editor Toledo Blade: I noticed in your paper a few nights ago that Councilman Lee recommended that the city purchase some light cars and trade in their motorcycle equipment and I just wondered whether he realized what a motorcycle officer means to any city and think that he was misinformed when he stated that other cities were using light cars for this work, as just recently Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati, O., have increased their traffic forces with more motorcycles as the moral effect alone of having an officer on a motorcycle will curb speeding and reckless driving.

Scores of police departments with reduced budgets are turning to motorcycles as the ideal equipment to replace more costly and far less efficient police transportation. They cost less to buy and far less to operate and a motorcycle squad is the one division of a well managed police department that nearly always earns more than the investment in equipment and salaries.

Motorcycle mounted officers have proven the best method of preventing traffic deaths, and show me a city where they have an efficient motorcycle squad, I will show you where the same department has decreased their death rate, as a man killed in an accident is as dead as a man murdered.

A mounted officer by his appearance on the street exerts a tremendous influence for orderly, safe conduct of traffic and because of its mobility a motorcycle safety patrol of adequate size can cover many times the territory at less expense and in less time than any other force of officers. Besides, the many duties that the mounted officer performs in addition to traffic, is seldom realized and is capable of saving the community many times his small cost in many different ways.

WEINER LEADS POLICE TEST

Grade of 91.1 Per Cent Is Made
By Prospective Sergeant,
Woman Rank High

A grade of 91.1 per cent, made by Carl Weiner in the civil service examinations for sergeants in the Toledo police department, was the highest in the recent tests. Fred N. Gosman, secretary of the commission announced yesterday.

In an examination for a lieutenant's grade, Margaret Slater, head of the woman's bureau, had a grade of 84.6.

Capt. Ray Allen, acting inspector, obtained a grade of 89.9. Capt. Dan Wolfe, 83.7; Capt. Clarence Mead, 85.3; and Capt. William Schultz, 83.5.

In the examination for police captains, these lieutenants received the following grades: Charles Hennessy, 88.9; Robert E. Ansell, 88.4; Harvey Klalber, 87.9; Arthur B. and Edward Hoffman.

The ten patrolmen who took the examination for lieutenants and their grades were: Leo R. Ecker, 90.6; Sam J. 87.7; Clarence Paul, 86.5; El Irwin, 86.1; J. M. Underwood, 85.7; Charles Roth, 84.2; Chris Popper, 80.7; L. Z. Keister, 79.9; Ryan Dear, 73.9; Carl Kropp, 73.5; Vincent Kwapich, 71.9; and M. P. Mutschler, 70.7.

The ten patrolmen who led the list in the examinations for sergeants were: Carl Weiner, 91.1; James H. Lovins, 90.2; John McCarthy, 88.8; Cliff McCloskey, 88.4; George Eckelmann, 88.3; Fred Gockel, 87.4; Glen Betrus, 87.3; Fred Benson, 87.1; Charles Dolter, 85.7; and John Russell, 86.1.

TRUCK DRIVERS TO FACE COURT

Three Get Summonses for Operating Overloaded Vehicles.

Three truck drivers were to appear in police court Saturday to answer charges of operating overloaded trucks in city streets. The drivers were given summonses Friday by Patrolman John McCarthy who reported that one truck was 2,500 pounds overweight, one 2,400 pounds overweight and a third, 1,100 pounds overweight.

A city ordinance was passed recently barring heavy trucks from city streets.

Martin S. Dodd, representing the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co., told Otto Hohl, service director, Friday that the continued operations of the plant requires the hauling of glass sand to the plant. He said that the factory employing 500 men may have to shut down if they cannot obtain raw materials.

Mr. Dodd said that if no change is made in the present regulations of truck traffic the plant may be forced to move out of the city. The factory is located in East Broadway a half mile beyond Oakdale avenue.

CITY LICENSE OFFICE REVENUE INCREASED

1932 Results Exceed 1931 By More Than $3300, Report Shows.

The city license office under the direction of Paul Cromley, acting commissioner of licenses and assessments, produced $31,211.88 in revenues in 1932, an increase of $3328.38 over the previous year. Mr. Cromley's annual report, issued today, showed his office issued 7492 licenses in 1932, a gain of 329 over 1931.

The largest increase was in theater licenses, totaling 38 last year against nine in 1931; foot peddlers totaling 288 against 183 in 1931; taxi drivers 863 to 757 in 1931, barber shops 521 to 345 in 1931, and beauty shops 278 to 179 in 1931.

Case Postponed For Fourth Time

The case of Fred Fredericks, 30, a reputed Toledo racketeer, charged with perjury, was continued for the fourth time yesterday by Municipal Judge Homer A. Ramey. It was continued until 2 p. m. Friday.

Fredericks did not appear in court but his attorney, Councilman Ira Bame, said Fredericks was on his way to Toledo from Florida where he had been visiting his ill mother.

Fredericks is charged by Patrolman John McCarthy with obtaining license plates for his auto by giving a fictitious address. He was arrested last January after leaving police court where he was discharged on a suspicious person charge.

PERJURY CASE IS CONTINUED

Trial of Fred Fredericks Deferred On Account of Illness of Mother

The case of Fred Fredericks, alleged henchman of Thomas (Yonnie) Licavoli, charged with perjury, was continued yesterday by Police Judge Homer A. Ramey pending the outcome of the illness of Fredericks' mother in New York city.

The defendant asked for a continuance stating that his mother was seriously ill and that he wished to visit her. He is charged with obtaining an auto license by giving a fictitious address. The warrant was signed by Patrolman John McCarthy.

Fredericks was found guilty on a suspicious person charge last week and was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse by Judge Ramey and placed under bond of $2,500.

FREDERICKS' TRIAL IS AGAIN POSTPONED

Alleged Licavoli Henchman Has Not Returned From Florida.

Trial of Freddie Fredericks, alleged Licavoli henchman, on a charge of perjury, was postponed in municipal court for the fourth time late yesterday when Judge Homer Ramey granted Attorney Ira Bame's request for a continuance on the ground that his client's auto had broken down en route from Florida.

The case was set for 2 p. m. Friday. Patrolman John McCarthy, who brought charges against Fredericks, objected strenuously to the postponement and asked for forfeiture of Fredericks' bond.

He said one witness comes here from out of town each time the trial is set and is put to a cost of $11 each time. The perjury charge arose out of alleged irregularities in Fredericks' application for auto licenses.

ENGLISH ACCUSED PROMISED REWARD, DEFENSE CHARGES

Vigorous Attack on Eye Evidence in Murder Trial Promised

By CARL ADAMSHICK
 Testimony of Harry Craig, 25, of 221 E. Delaware avenue, naming Joe (Wop) English as one of the slayers of Jack Kennedy, bootlegger, in Point Place July 7, will be subjected to a vigorous attack in common pleas court Tuesday on the ground that the identification was induced by a promise of reward.

Defense attorneys claim they can prove that Craig and a companion Robert Schwaite, who also will identify English, have been given promises of jobs and other considerations if "English goes to the electric chair."

An open charge to this effect was made in the court room of Judge Roy Stuart Monday afternoon when Craig was being cross examined by Defense Attorney DeWitt Fisher.

"Isn't it true that you will get a job with the county if English goes to the chair?" Mr. Fisher asked the witness.

"Maybe So, Maybe Not."
 "Maybe I will and maybe not," Craig replied. Schwaite, he said, already has a job with the county.

When pressed for a reason why might be expecting a possible job in the county, Craig said: "Well, I saw in the paper that 7000 men would be given work right away."

Craig's positive identification of English as one of the killers was the most damaging testimony the state has obtained in the trial which enters its seventh day Tuesday.

He told how he and Schwaite were sitting on the running board of Craig's auto at 135th street and Edgewater drive, on the evening of July 7, when the Kennedy murder occurred.

"While we were sitting there, Kennedy and his girl, Audrey Ralls, strolled by, arm in arm," the witness said, pointing out the location on a chart of the vicinity which is one of the exhibits in the court room.

Placed Something in Pocket.
 "A short time later a car pulled up directly opposite the place where

SECOND EYE WITNESS

Robert Schwaite, Point Place youth, will be the state's second star witness in the English murder trial Tuesday. He will name Joe (Wop) English as one of the slayers of Jack Kennedy, bootlegger.

 intersection when the two men who were afoot overtook Kennedy and Miss Ralls at the intersection.
 "One of them shoved Miss Ralls aside and then they began shooting."

English Pointed Out.
 "Is either of the gunmen in the court room?" the witness was asked.
 "Yes, he's over there seated between those two attorneys," the witness said pointing at English.
 English never moved a muscle and his face showed no sign of disturbance.

The witness pointed to English again when he was asked which of the gunmen it was who pushed Miss Ralls aside before the shooting.
 After the shooting Craig said the driver of the gunmen's auto tried to turn around in the narrow street. He had to back up to do it. Craig said, and while he did so the gunmen jumped into the car.

Boys Almost Run Over.
 "Schwaite and I were in the path of the retreating auto. The driver almost ran over us and I had to jump a fence to get out of his path." Craig said.

After the shooting, Craig testified, he and Schwaite remained at the scene for the greater part of three hours. He said he left the scene for a short time to go to the home of friends nearby but returned later.

He admitted on cross examination that he did not offer his eye witness story to any of the officers at the scene or to anyone for some time.

The reason for this, Craig said, was that he "did not want to get mixed up in it."
 Craig said he described the gunman to his mother when he returned home that night as being a short man with a thin face.

Saw Picture in Paper.

He said he did not know English at the time and that he did not know the man who he said was English until he saw his picture in the paper several days later.

The witness admitted he failed to pick English from a lineup of prisoners at the Safety building, explaining again as his reason that he "did not want to get mixed up in the affair."

He said it was some time later that he told Prosecuting Attorney Frazier Reams and the "Clarke brothers," special detectives, in Mr. Reams' private office in the Board of Trade building that it was English who did the killing.

Craig said he could not describe the clothing English wore on the night of the shooting, except that he had on a soft straw hat.

English Adjusted Hat.

He admitted on cross examination that he got only a "fleeting glance of the face of the gunman whom he identified as English as he stepped from the auto. He said he did not see the face again until he saw English in the lineup at the Safety building where he failed to identify him.

"English adjusted his hat, as he stepped from the auto, and I saw his face then," Craig said. "I also saw him here in the courthouse last week."

The witness said he has been staying at the Lorraine hotel for the last several days with City Patrolman John McCarthy and Schwaite. He said he has been visited at the hotel by Detective Captain George Timiney and Detective Chris Brennan.

Figured Best To Testify.

He said McCarthy, the Clark brothers and Brennan had changed his original intention not to testify against English.

"They told me how English has been acting and what he had done and I figured it would be best to testify," Craig said.

Craig said he could not tell the color of the auto used by the gunmen or license numbers which it bore.

An attempt by defense attorneys to obtain information on conversations between Craig and prosecuting attorneys, started a legal argument, which caused Judge Stuart to excuse the jury ahead of time Monday. Prosecutors contend this conversa-

SECOND YOUTH IDENTIFIES 'WOP' ENGLISH AT HEARING AS MURDERER OF KENNEDY

Youth Admits He Was Afraid To Talk

THURSDAY, MARCH 16, 1934

Common understanding makes Toledo a great city for industry and labor.

The Edy-Czelusta Clash

Tuesday night's hotly debated issue as to whether the city council would investigate the policies of the police department brought to the surface again the strength and leadership of City Manager John N. Edy.

It is not to be implied that Mr. Edy is a governmental god who makes no errors, whose every thought and action is letter-perfect. Indeed, Mr. Edy does make all of the mistakes other human beings make, but in each instance, and with admirable courage, he is willing to shoulder the blame for each misstep.

The question was one which arose from the swift current of human emotion. Patrolman John McCarthy has a fine record as a fearless enforcement officer and was invaluable to the citizens of Toledo when he worked with Captain George Timiney on the hard-hitting hoodlum squad which freed the city in a remarkably short time of undesirable characters.

A few weeks ago Patrolman McCarthy did an ingenious piece of detective work. He arrested the "wire bandits" who had preyed on filling station operators and small store owners. He conducted the investigation when off duty and did the whole job almost lone-handed. For this Toledoans were grateful.

Councilman Ollie Czelusta charged that jealousy in the department had caused Patrolman McCarthy to be questioned about the arrest in view of getting "something on him." This, of course, was interpretive.

Mr. Edy asked no quarter when the issue arose. He said he knew all about it and that it had been done with his consent. He was not interested in "getting something on" anyone. But he was interested in maintaining the discipline in the department.

The police department has too big a job for one man to try to do it all. There are specialists in every line of crime available for the solution of criminal problems. This is how Mr. Edy wants it to work. Teamwork, rather than individual effort, is desired. And every business executive knows that in this he is correct.

Such incidents are bound to occur when men of widely varying viewpoints are thrown together. In a municipal council issues are sure to arise. But they can be discussed in a friendly way, always focussing the thought on the question, rather than personalities.

Council and the city manager would get along much better if a little more good humor were evidenced in the council meetings. There are few governmental issues worthy of raising the fighting temper of individuals.

If every councilman, along with the city manager, will strive for friendly understanding, there will be no more such scenes as took place in the council chamber Tuesday night. Surely they have a tendency to mar the reputation of the good government of which Toledo is so proud.

After Seeing Cold-Blooded Execution of Victim at Point Place

ence were police officers," Craig said in answer to a question.
"With all these police officers around you, were you afraid to identify him?"
"Yes, I was afraid, because I saw him work."
"Do you believe in the enforcement of criminal law?"
"Yes," Craig replied.

Youth Remains Silent.
"Do you believe you should be required to support your minor child?"
The witness did not answer.
"Were you ever arrested for non-support?"
"Yes," was the reply.

The witness said he had been married five years and has a son four years old, that his wife's name is Fern Barnes and that he doesn't remember the exact date of their marriage.

"Were you ever arrested by juvenile authorities?"
"Oh, I object to that," Arnold Bunge, assistant prosecutor, shouted. "Lots of people are arrested who are innocent."

Talked With Officers.
Attorney Fisher tried to introduce into evidence a snapshot photo, but the judge overruled it and the nature of the picture was not disclosed.

Craig said he never was convicted of nonsupport, that he never was in court on the charge and never pleaded guilty to the charge. He said his auto is in his mother's name for "reasons of our own."

Monday night, the witness said, he stayed with Schwaite with patrolman John McCarthy at the Lorraine hotel. He admitted that the three of them talked over their testimony in the case. Tuesday morning, he said, Detective George Timiney met him at the hotel and brought him to the courthouse.

Craig smiled as he said this and Attorney Fisher shouted.
"Are you smiling because you think this man's life is just a joke?"
The witness did not answer.

Story Is Unchanged.
"I suppose you think you are a hero here," Mr. Fisher said.
"No, I don't, but he done it."
"You'll get your job, I suppose, for giving this testimony," the attorney flashed.

The state objected and the objection was sustained.
Mr. Fisher then took the witness over the story of the shooting again, but he did not succeed in changing his original story.

On the redirect examination, Craig described the manner in which he said English adjusted his hat as he stepped out of the car. He also described the manner in which he had selected English's picture from a group of 30 in the prosecutor's office. He said that a woman and her small daughter were the first persons at the scene of the killing after it occurred.

Girl Covers Eyes With Hands.
On cross-examination, Schwaite said that he is now an employe of the state highway department and that Prosecutor Reams obtained his job for him. He said he went to work for the state Aug. 21, five days after he had visited Reams in his office and told him it was English who did the shooting.

Schwaite, reviewing the murder, said Sidney Ralls had her hand over her eyes while the shooting was going on and that the two gunmen were in two sides of Kennedy, both of them at him.

He said:
"A fellow came running across the street and arrived at the scene just after the gunmen left."
He did not identify this man.
"Didn't you see a lady and her daughter come running up about that time?"
"No, I didn't."

Talked It Over With Craig.
"Have you talked this matter over with Craig?"
"Yes, I have."
"When did you first tell Craig the manner in which the defendant was dressed?"
"I don't remember," the witness said, "maybe it was sometime in July."

"Did you tell the prosecutor's office about English's clothing?"
"Yes, I did."
The witness said he had visited the prosecutor twice in Mr. Reams' office in the Board of Trade building and four times at the courthouse. He said he last came to the courthouse last Tuesday with Detective Timiney.

"Before that, the last time I saw Mr. Reams," Schwaite said, "was here in the courthouse in August."
"What kind of work are you doing for the state?" he was asked.

Gets $15.75 a Week.
"I am working on roads, digging ditches."
"Didn't you refuse to testify until Reams got you a job?"
"No."
"How much do you get a week?"
"Fifteen dollars and seventy-five cents."

"When did you first identify the witness?"
"I don't know," the witness said.

"No, we didn't."
"Did you talk to a newspaper reporter there that night?"
"Yes, I did, but I don't know who he was."
"Did you tell the reporter, the coroner, or the sheriff that you saw the shooting?"
"No, I didn't."
"Who is Donald McLeary?"
"He is a friend of mine."

Attorney Fisher then showed the witness a newspaper story in which he and Donald McLeary were described as eyewitnesses.
Fisher then said:
"Did you ever try to correct that story if it's not true?"
"No, I didn't," Schwaite said.

Gives Hat Demonstration.
Attorney Fisher then handed Schwaite a soft hat and told him to adjust it in the manner he said English had done as English got out of the car. The witness lifted the hat to his head and then pulled it down hard in front and in back.

"Tell the jury just how English looked to you," Mr. Fisher instructed the witness.
"He was not very tall, full of face and baldheaded."
"With what police officers have you discussed this testimony?"
"With Patrolman John McCarthy, Detective Chris Brennan and Capt. Timiney."

"What kind of a car was it that English was in?"
"A maroon-colored Ford V-8."
Knew Jack Was On Spot.
"What was the license number of the car?"
"I didn't get it."
"Why did you follow the car?"
"Because we knew of the Mirabella fight and the Louise Bell murder and we knew Jack was on the spot. We suspected these fellows were going to bump him off."

"Do you mean to tell us," Mr. Fisher asked "that you knew a murder was going to occur and you didn't get the license number of the car?"
"No," replied Schwaite, "I didn't get the license number."
The cross-examination of Schwaite was resumed by Attorney Fisher following the noon recess.

"Did you ever talk with Craig about him getting a job with the state?"
"No," answered the witness.

Queries Witness on Suit.
"Where did you get that suit of clothes you have on?" asked Mr. Fisher pointing at the witness.
"I bought it at Mickey's at Woodruff and Franklin."
"Who paid for it?"
"I paid for it myself."
"How much did it cost?"

The prosecutors rose in a body to object to the question but Judge Stuart instructed the witness to answer.
"It cost $15," Schwaite answered.
"Did you ever have a job before you worked for the state?"

Worked on Farm.
"I worked on a farm in Marshall, Mich., in 1932."
"Did you work this year before July?"
"No," said Schwaite, lowering his voice.

"Was it customary for Craig to visit you at Point Place?"
"Yes, he came out often."
"What did you do when he came out?"
"Oh, we sat around and talked. Sometimes we went for a ride."

Tells Movements.
"Did you know Craig was married?"
"No, not until a week ago."
"Where have you been since Friday night?"
"At the Lorraine hotel."
"Who was there with you?"
"Craig and Patrolman McCarthy."
"Did you three talk about the case?" Mr. Fisher asked, taking a step toward the witness chair.
"No."
"What did you do Saturday night?"
"We went to a show," Schwaite said.

Attended Princess.
"What show did you go to?"
"The Princess," was the answer.
"What was the name of the picture?" Mr. Fisher asked.
"I'm No Angel."
The crowd laughed.
"What did you do Sunday?" the defense attorney continued.
"Went to a football game."

Resumes Direct Quiz.
Mr. Bunge then resumed direct examination of the witness. Schwaite said he never had discussed the identity of English with other friends in Point Place. He said he came to Frazier Reams' office once to identify a picture of Ralph Carsetto as a man he had seen in Point Place.

"Did your getting a job have any effect on your testimony here?" the assistant prosecutor asked.
"No," he answered. "I got the job after I made the identification. Nothing was said to me before then."

McCarthy Joins Hoodlum Squad

Patrolman John McCarthy, who has been assigned to the city license clerk's office, was promoted to the police hoodlum squad by Chief Dan Wolfe today.

McCarthy, who acted as chauffeur to former Mayor Fred Mery, will fill the vacancy caused by the assignment of Detective Frank Baumgartner to the newly created vice squad. He will be paired with Detectives Arthur Brown and John Michalak. The change is effective Sunday.

JOHN MCCARTHY, long-time patrolman, has been given what is described as a promotion to Dan Wolfe, police chief. John now a member of the hoodlum squad. Knowing John pretty well, it is given as free advice that you will do better if you don't turn hoodlum, with McCarthy on the squad.

Fire Leads Police To Whisky Stills

Discovery Is Made at Vance Street Blaze

Fire in a house in the rear of 530 Vance street yesterday led to the discovery of two whisky stills. A gas stove, used in the operation of one of the stills, ignited the flooring which burned through to the basement. The two stills, one a 100-gallon capacity and the other of 50-gallon capacity, were dismantled and confiscated by Detectives John McCarthy, Arthur Brown and John Michalak, of the police crime prevention bureau. A 500-gallon vat, 23 mash barrels and coils also were confiscated. Police said the stills were used to manufacture an inferior grade of whisky. Operators of the plant escaped. Chief George Ehman estimated the damage to the house at $30.

Suspect Jailed As Girl Killer And Identified

Six Women Say Prisoner Attacked Them; Police Feel Solution Is Near in Toledo Club Murders

Police believe Toledo's club murders which terrorized the city some years ago may be solved as the result of the arrest late yesterday of a suspect in the murder of Ethel Young, 28, whose body was found Monday near Monroe, Mich.

The suspect is believed to be a degenerate similar to the murderer who attacked and killed young women in the West End.

Following his arrest he was taken to the Safety building where six women identified him as the man who had picked them up on downtown streets and driven them near the place where the murdered girl was found, and there attacked them.

Woman Marks Car
One woman told police that she marked his car when she got out by kicking it with her heel. Police went to the Safety building garage where the car is impounded and found the heel mark on the side of the car as the woman had described it.

A woman, seized at the same time and said by police to be an intimate friend of the suspect, was released. The arrest was made shortly after 2 p. m. yesterday when a large squad of police surrounded the suspect's house in 11th and 12th avenues. He refused to admit the officers at first, and many police were dispatched, armed with assault and battery weapons, sworn out by two of the women who subsequently identified the suspect. The man finally opened the door and surrendered without opposing police.

The woman was walking up and down in front of the house and displayed such nervousness that police also took her to the Safety building. No charge was placed against her.

Rydman Leads Raid
The raid was conducted by Captain Willard Rydman and Detectives Owen Green, Ray Sheets, Harry Clark, Bennett Cairl and members of the hoodlum squad including Detectives John McCarthy, Arthur Brown and John Michalak. The attacks for which the suspect is believed responsible have occurred during the last year. The assailant's practice, police said, was to pick up a girl on a downtown street, drive usually into Michigan street, and threaten the girl with death if she refused to submit.

Captain Joe Fruchey said yesterday.

Police Seize Purse Snatching Suspect

Colored Man Identified in One Robbery

A colored purse snatcher, suspected by police in a dozen thefts since the first of the year, was captured last night after he was alleged to have knocked down a woman and robbed her of her pocketbook.

The theft victim, Mrs. Marie Morant, 316 Irving street, was returning home from the postoffice with Arlene Kinch, of the same address, when a colored man appeared behind her and grabbed her purse on Madison avenue near Eighteenth street. The thief fled with the purse after knocking down Mrs. Morant.

Detectives John McCarthy and Arthur Brown who heard a police broadcast of the theft, sighted a colored man at Fifteenth street and Jefferson avenue a few minutes later. They turned their car around to see the man peering into a purse. The suspect threw the purse over a hedge, but was captured by the officers. The purse was recovered, including its contents, which were two diamond rings valued at $300, a wedding ring, $5 and other articles.

The suspect, who gave his name as James Jones, 43, of Canton street, was identified by Mrs. Morant and charged with robbery, police said. Police said he answered the description of a thief who had stolen 12 purses on city streets since Jan. 1. The suspect, police said, admitted being released last November from the Mansfield reformatory where he served time for purse snatching.

Four Questionable Characters Jailed

Crime Prevention Squad Opens Drive

The police crime prevention bureau launched a drive against questionable characters over the week-end and arrested four men on suspicion.

Two of the suspects were arrested Saturday night when Detectives John McCarthy, Arthur Brown and John Michalak found them loafing in an Adams street pool room. The detectives said the men were unable to give a satisfactory explanation of their means of earning a livelihood.

Shooting Suspects Caught After Chase

A 24-year-old man, captured yesterday by Detectives John McCarthy and John Michalak after a two-mile auto chase in the downtown section in which the detectives fired five shots, is held with a 30-year-old colored woman on suspicion at the Safety building.

They are held for questioning in the holdup of Harry Kelley, 1326 1/2 Palmwood avenue, who told police he was robbed of $14 by a colored man and woman and another man while he was walking in Monroe street, near Tenth street.

The detectives captured the man at Market and Huron streets. The woman escaped during the chase but was picked up later at a Washington street address.

Held to Grand Jury

Emma Moorhead, 39, of Main street, charged with possession of narcotics, was held to the federal grand jury under bond of $2,000 Tuesday when she waived a preliminary hearing before John C. Budd, United States commissioner. She was arrested Monday night by Detectives John McCarthy, John Michalak and Arthur Brown.

DETECTIVES SEIZE SUSPECT IN CHASE

Fugitive Captured, Identified by Holdup Victim

A 30-mile-an-hour chase thru downtown streets early Saturday with members of the police hoodlum squad shooting at the tires of the fugitive car ended with the arrest of a Negro, later identified as a bandit.

Harry Kelley, 1326 1-2 Palmwood avenue, told police the suspect, Alexander Weston, 24, of 419 Washington street, was the bandit who slugged him at Washington and 10th streets early Saturday. A woman with the suspect took $14 from his pockets Kelley said.

Detectives John Michalak and John McCarthy took Kelley with them to hunt the bandit after he reported the robbery at the Safety building. They sighted the bandit's auto at Michigan and Monroe streets and followed for two miles.

As they slowed down at one corner for a turn, a woman leaped out of the bandit's auto and ran, the detectives said. Weston was captured when the brakes locked on his auto at Huron and Market streets. Kelley identified him, police said.

New Hat and Cane Cause Man's Arrest

New articles of haberdashery, namely a hat and a cane, led to the arrest early today of a suspect whose appearance tallies with the description of a burglar, who was surprised Sunday in an attempted safe robbery at the Toledo Hardware and Supply Co., 201 Vance street.

The man was arrested by Detectives John McCarthy, John Michalak, Arthur Brown and Claire Powers at Lagrange and Austin streets. Police believe that he is one of two men who fled from the Hardware Co. offices leaving burglar tools, and a hat and cane.

Scared Woman Makes No Hits, No Runs, One Error

Confronted with a crudely written unsigned extortion note: "We want money or your husband will pay," Detectives John McCarthy and Arthur Brown plied their calling successfully Thursday.

The note was found attached to the front door of the home of John Northcott, advertising salesman, 2371 Fulton Street.

"Madam, will you kindly copy the note for us?" the sleuths asked Mrs. Northcott. She complied. Noting similarity in the handwriting on the two notes, the officers questioned her.

"Yes, I wrote the original note," Mrs. Northcott reported to have said. Police said she admitted fear of being alone and her husband worked at night and wrote the note while in a nervous state. She was released.

knew and had seen around Toledo. The next witness was Detective John McCarthy.

John McCarthy, detective attached to the police racketeer squad, said he had seen Sulkin driving to Licavoli at Michigan and Monroe streets, and also said he had seen him driving Ernest Lassalle's automobile, accompanied by Lassalle. Detective McCarthy said he also had seen Sulkin driving about the city with John Rose.

Recalls Seeing Sulkin With Gang

Sulkin was active around the Safety building whenever any member of the Licavoli gang was in custody, the detective said. He recalled that he had seen Sulkin talking to Licavoli, Ralph Carrello, John Rai, John Mirabella, Joe (Wop) English and others at the Safety building.

The detective reiterated previous testimony regarding the raid on the Showboat night club, quoting Sulkin as telling him, "I won't have these coppers run me out of business. I'm going to see about it."

Licavoli, Detective McCarthy said, spoke to Sulkin and Sulkin walked away at one time during the raid, the witness said.

An amusing exchange between the detective and Mr. Schreiber during cross examination evoked outbursts of laughter from the audience. Judge McCabe rapped for order several times.

"You're a pretty smart young man," Mr. Schreiber said as he opened the cross examination. "I want you to tell me how many bootleggers were running in Toledo during prohibition."

"Plenty," the detective said. "A lot of them were running."

"It was a pretty thirsty town, wasn't it?" Mr. Schreiber agreed. "You ought to know," the witness smiled.

"Well," Mr. Schreiber protested, "but I'm asking you."

"I don't drink myself, Mr. Schreiber," the detective countered. The detective shook hands with Sulkin as he left the witness stand.

FIRETOP IS BRANDED AS LICAVOLI'S AID BY NEW WITNESS

Former Gambling Device Operator Tells Jury Murder Defendant Helped Gang Lord Make Deal Which Took Over 135 Machines

Jacob (Firetop) Sulkin was described as one of the chief aids of Thomas (Yonnie) Licavoli by a state's witness today in Sulkin's murder conspiracy trial in Common Pleas Court.

The witness, William Poulos, 1584 Eleanor Avenue, said Sulkin played an important role in transactions between himself and Licavoli in 1933 which resulted in the loss of Poulos' 135 slot machines.

KINGFISH GOES ON AIR TONIGHT

Capital and Johnson. Awaits Ex-Congressman's Talk

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The House of Representatives was ready to vote on the Kingfish bill today. The bill, which would strip the title of ex-congressman from the subject, was expected to pass. The bill was introduced by Representative Clegg of Ohio. It would strip the title of ex-congressman from the subject, who was a member of the House from 1913 to 1915. The bill was expected to pass by a vote of 215 to 175. The bill was introduced by Representative Clegg of Ohio. It would strip the title of ex-congressman from the subject, who was a member of the House from 1913 to 1915. The bill was expected to pass by a vote of 215 to 175.

"I had been setting up machines with the Fretti brothers, using stamps of the Acme Sales Co. to identify them," Poulos said. "I paid men to place the machines and repair them and split 50-50 with the Frettis."

"I had been losing machines. Licavoli sent word if I would come in with him I wouldn't lose any more. In 1933 Burns and Mor Shapiro took me out to see him. Licavoli told me that if I wanted to run I'd have to take in Buster Lupica as a partner, and split 50-50."

Compelled To Move.

"I was compelled to move over to the State Service Co. on Milburn Avenue. I didn't get a fair split. I was lucky to get $20 a week. I went to Licavoli's home to complain, but he seldom was there. Whenever I did see him Sulkin always was with him."

Sulkin was with him on the day when Licavoli told me he had decided to take over the business altogether and would pay me $1500 for my 135 machines. He took the machines but never paid me. There was about $600 in the safe. I took that. That's all I ever got."

Tells of Sulkin Habits

"Sulkin used to spend a lot of time in the State Service office. When he left usually he'd say he was going out to Yonnie's home. Sulkin, Yonnie and Wop English played golf together much of the time."

"They even stole my truck and kept it two months. I had to go to the police and complain before they returned it."

Poulos said he was in the slot machine racket here for about 10 years and that he quit and moved to Detroit when Prosecutor Reams issued his edict banning the machines in Lucas County.

Ordered To Buy Car.

"Licavoli and Lupica told me one time I'd have to buy John Mirabella a new car. I told them I couldn't. That $20 a week was all they were letting me take from the earnings of my 135 machines."

"I went to see Mirabella and he told me to buy him a new car. He said he didn't care how I did it but that I'd better do it. So I went to a finance company and arranged the purchase. The gang gave me an old car to use as a trade-in."

When Paul Ragan co-defense counsel, started cross-examination, he moved that all of Poulos' testimony be stricken from the record. Judge John M. McCabe promptly overruled the motion. Poulos told his story under oath.

7 DRUG STORES RAIDED HERE BY CO.

Eleven Men, 5 Women Arrested in Drive by State, City Officers.

D, OHIO

State liquor inspectors accompanied by city police raided seven drug stores along with several other places in the city Friday. Eleven men and five women were arrested and booked at the Safety building on charges of selling and possessing liquor.

Among the drug stores raided were the Barry Drug Co., 1724 Madison avenue, where 61 quarts of whisky and seven and one-half gallons of alcohol were seized; William Balliet Drug Co., 1620 Washington street, where 43 pints of liquor and 23 pints of gin were confiscated; Corbett Drug Co., 1601 Madison avenue, where raiders found 10 cases of whisky and eight gallons of alcohol; the Dangier Drug Co., 901 Jefferson avenue, where three quarts of alcohol were discovered; Meyer Drug Co., 1531 Broadway, where agents found three gallons of alcohol.

Ordered to Appear

The proprietors of the raided stores, according to officers were ordered to appear at the Safety building today to answer charges of violating the state liquor law.

Eleven men and five women were arrested on charges of sale and possession of liquor without a license, and manufacturing liquor. Clerks in two drug stores were included among those arrested. They are Fred Haase, 19, who was seized in the Bert L. Hammon tree drug store, 1320 Monroe street, and Norris Kindell, 20, Batavia street, who was arrested in the Ashland Drug Co., 2128 Ashland avenue. Both are charged with the sale and possession of liquor without a license.

Others Arrested

Others arrested are Douglas Slavin, 36, and John Stevanoff, 50, Platt street; John Gallagher, 43, St. Clair street; Tony Marollo, 39, Washington street; Joe Maroni, 24, arrested in the restaurant of Rocco Marconi, 404 Monroe street; Thomas J. Cook, 43, South 22nd street; Claude C. Phelps, 42, Summit street; Alce Brobe, 35, Erie street; Mary Howard, alias Curry, 40, Erie street; Clarice Spears, 32, alias Blackmore, Indiana avenue; Orley Bessinger, 28 Michigan street, and Mrs. C. Kline, 65, of Bay street. All were charged with the illegal sale and possession of liquor.

Glenn Blankenecker, 35, Carlton street, was charged with operating a still after agents found a 50-gallon still, 125 gallons of mash, and a small quantity of whisky. His mother, Nevada, 60, was charged with the sale of liquor.

Affidavits were signed by C. R. Finegan and R. T. Henning, state liquor agents, who said they purchased liquor from each of the suspects. Agents who made the arrests are J. P. Finch, L. L. Lemian, R. N. Parks and Donald White. Members of the hoodlum squad assisting were Detectives John Michalak, John McCarthy and Arthur Brown.

Two of the cases were disposed of today by Police Judge Edgar Norris. Mr. Cook, who pleaded guilty, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse.

On recommendation of the state officers, Mrs. Kline, who also pleaded guilty, was probated to Mrs. Marie Snell, probation officer. All other cases were continued until June 12.

COUNTERFEITING PLANT AND PRISONERS

PLANT BIGGEST IN HISTORY OF CITY

U. S. AGENTS LEAD RAID

Four Arrested

The largest counterfeiting plant uncovered in the history of the city was raided by a squad of federal agents at 607 Huron street early today.

Complete equipment for printing counterfeit bills and $26,000 in bogus $1, $5 and $10 bills were seized by the agents and three members of the police department.

The officers said they arrested four men.

LEAD 9 AGENTS

William G. Harper, head of the U. S. secret service division in Cleveland, who with Bert C. Brown, head of the Detroit division led a force of nine federal agents, said the plant was undoubtedly the source of most of the counterfeit bills that have been passed recently in the Toledo area.

Mr. Harper estimated that about $150,000 in fake bills had been printed at the place and most of it passed.

Assisting the federal agents in the raid which completely surprised the occupants of the second floor in the building, next door to the First Westminster Presbyterian church, were Detectives John McCarthy, John Michalak and Arthur Brown.

RAID SPEEDY

The federal agents said the counterfeiters had succeeded in printing excellent reproduction of U. S. bills and had been highly successful in the distribution of the bills.

The raid climaxed a long investigation in which members of the Cleveland and Detroit divisions had participated.

The raid, conducted near the heart of the business district, was staged with speed and precision and the occupants were completely surprised.

The plant had been in operation more than a year, agents said.

FIGHT FOR CUSTODY OF MANUEL DROPPED

Police Disinterested; Rhinefort May Ask Extradition

Toledo police will not fight a battle of extradition with Frank Enpectato, alias Rough Manuel, to bring him here from Monroe, Mich., on a secret grand jury indictment charging assault with intent to kill.

This was indicated Tuesday by Detective Captain George Timiney and Detective John McCarthy, who went to Monroe for the former Licavoli agent after he had been arrested Monday.

Monroe authorities had said that Manuel would waive extradition, but he apparently changed his mind when the Toledo detectives arrived.

Joel T. Rhinefort, assistant county prosecutor, is eager to question Manuel in making its preparations for the trial of Jacob (Firetop) Sulkin, however, and has intimated that Michigan's governor may be asked to sign extradition papers releasing the prisoner to Ohio.

LICAVOLI GETS LIFE AS JURORS FIND HIM GUILTY

Earlier in the session, Defense Attorney Cornell Schreiber had launched an attack on the Detroit detectives, to employ third degree methods in extracting sworn statements from state's witnesses.

The deposed underworld "czar," nattily attired, sat at the trial table, obviously in much better spirits than he was Wednesday when he heard attorneys for the state reconstruct, step by step, the chain of evidence with which they linked him with the killings.

"The prosecutors," Mr. Schreiber told the jury, "have woven for you a web of circumstance around this defendant. I say it was a web of powerful imagination, woven of strands of sand without the glue of truth to hold it together."

Cites Official Corruption.

"Now, I want to weave for you another web of circumstances, and I want to tell you that I, myself, don't believe in it. Perhaps you will. Perhaps I am being short-sighted."

Mr. Schreiber then detailed the wave of official corruption which swept the country after the advent of prohibition. He told how liquor agents broke into homes without warrants, shot and abused women and children and shot down men on the high seas.

"During this period there were officials who were not unwilling to make use of their positions to take a part in the illicit liquor traffic and to levy a tribute on bootleggers."

"Now for the web. On the first day that Licavoli returned to Toledo, he was stopped by this dapper young police officer whom you heard on the stand. This officer must have joined the police force as a child. He still hasn't outgrown his childishness."

"This young officer arrested him without warrant and took him to the police station, where he was discharged. Was that a hint to Licavoli or an invitation?"

"Then the Golden Rose was opened. There appears there another officer as—he says—a guest. Was that a hint or an invitation?"

"Then the Show Boat opened. On the opening night, before anything at all had been done, a certain police officer says to Mr. Licavoli: 'It looks as if you're not going to run this place.' Was that a hint?"

"There you have a web of conspiracy. A web of circumstances, against Licavoli. Why? Because he perhaps failed to take the hint, the suggestion, the invitation and therefore he did not belong to the select few who were not molested."

The attorney dwelt at length on the responsibility the jurors face in deciding the defendant's guilt or innocence.

"The pages of history," he said, "are black with deaths that have been inflicted because people in positions of power have been

SEVEN ARE HELD ON VICE CHARGE

Traveling White Slavery Gang Believed Uncovered by Detectives

With the arrest Sunday of two men and a woman, police believe they have broken up a traveling white slave gang that has been making its headquarters in Toledo for the past few weeks.

Four other members of the gang, two men and two women, who reputedly travel from state to state, were arrested Friday in a downtown hotel by Detectives John McCarthy, John Michalak and Robert Fielding.

All seven of the prisoners are held in the Safety Building pending an investigation by federal authorities. They are expected to be charged with violation of the Mann act.

When arrested Friday, one of the men stated that he was a strike-breaker who had come here from Pittsburgh seeking employment with the Toledo Edison Co.

The two men and woman arrested yesterday in a downtown apartment said they came here from Detroit. Police said that one of the men was recently released from jail in Detroit, where he had been held for investigation.

Detectives stated that all of the women arrested worked in the same Toledo vice resort until last Wednesday.

Two of the couples claimed to be married, but upon presentation of the licenses, detectives discovered that they were not legal.

Four men and three women, arrested in downtown hotels June 14 and 16 as suspicious persons, and held for possible prosecution by the federal government on Mann act charges, were sentenced to 20 days in the workhouse and costs in municipal court today by Judge Edgar Norris when they pleaded guilty.

They are John Vallard, 27, Brooklyn; Alphonso Capa, 24, Pittsburgh; Artemio Rodriguez, 26, and Manuel Patino, 26, both of New York and Tampa, Fla.; Ida Zurl, 18, Pittsburgh; Mary Siga, 20, Pittsburgh; and Marge Rodriguez, 23, West Virginia. A 32-year-old Vermont Avenue woman was attacked by a prowler in her home at 4 a. m. today while she was sleeping. Her husband and sister heard her calls for help, she said, but the attacker fled through the front door. He had entered the house by removing a screen from an open kitchen window, the officers reported.

Toledoan Arrested On Liquor Charge

The first arrest in a long time for selling home-brew was made last night when Perry Copass, 31, of 1811 Clinton street, was jailed on a charge of selling intoxicants without a license.

Four hundred and fifty quarts of home-brew were confiscated, police said. A five cent slot machine also was taken and 15 persons were ordered from the place, police said. The raid was made by the hoodlum squad consisting of Arthur Brown, John McCarthy and John Michalak.

Judge George P. Hahn previously freed Brown's co-defendants, his father, Sherman Brown, his brother, Louis Brown, and Julian Doolin. He declared the government's case against the three was too weak to merit consideration by the jury.

SEVEN SEIZED IN DOPE RING

16-Year-Old Girl and Six Men Held; $200,000 Narcotics Nabbed.

After two months of investigation, U. S. narcotic agents in Toledo and Detroit closed in on a dope ring Sunday, arresting seven persons and seizing more than $200,000 worth of contraband narcotics.

The roundup began with the arrest of Joe Callas, 45, alias Threo Yanakes, and a 16-year-old girl named Kathryn Hrisides, as they awaited a Toledo bound bus in Detroit. They said that they were from Toledo. Agents said that Callas had 75 ounces of heroin and $1295 in cash in his possession.

Callas, officers said, led them to a house where they found a cutting plant and more than 400 ounces of narcotics. Arthur Gallo was arrested and, according to Ralph Oyler, district supervisor of the narcotic division, admitted purchasing pure heroin from New York and cutting it for distribution in Detroit and Toledo. Louis Simons and Dave Feldman were arrested later in Detroit and were said to have possession of dope prepared in the cutting plant.

While the arrests were being made in Detroit, Frank Bialorucki of Campbell street, and Gertrude Rutledge, alias Neuman, 42, of Superior street, were picked up here on suspicion for United States authorities. Seventeen ounces of heroin were seized at the home of Mrs. Rutledge and an ounce was found in possession of Bialorucki, officers said. The woman today told Margaret Slater, police sergeant, that she became addicted to morphine here 27 years ago while recovering from an operation.

The local arrests were made by T. J. Walker, federal narcotic inspector, and Detectives John McCarthy, John Michalak and Robert Fielding. Inspector Walker said that heroin was passed wholesale at about $35 an ounce and sold for as high as $100 an ounce after being adulterated by dope peddlers.

Chauffeur Held

A 24-year-old chauffeur, brought to Toledo yesterday from Detroit by Detectives John McCarthy and Robert Fielding, is held in the Safety building on the charge of suspicion. The suspect is believed by detectives as involved in the recent thefts of cases of cigarettes from trucks of the Interstate Motor Freight Co.

WHITE SLAVE ROY SUSPECTS HELD

Seven Are Arrested on Suspicion for U. S. Authorities.

Seven persons are held on suspicion for federal authorities at the Safety building for investigation of what police believe is an itinerant white slave ring which has operated for several weeks here.

Two men and a woman were arrested Sunday in a Jackson street apartment house after Detectives John McCarthy, John Michalak and Robert Fielding probed the stories of four other suspects, who were apprehended in a hotel in Tenth street Friday. Two of the three women held showed marriage licenses and said that they were wives of two of the men suspects.

Investigation by members of the crime prevention bureau revealed that these women had all been employed recently in local disorderly houses, and that they came to this city from Pittsburgh.

According to Detective McCarthy, charges of violating the Mann act will be placed against the suspects today. One suspect told police that he came to this city to work as a strike breaker when he heard of the strike at the Toledo Edison Co. He said that he had formerly been employed in several strikes in Pittsburgh.

HOODLUM SQUAD SEIZES ARONOFF

Branis Aronoff, familiar figure in the gambling squad's crusade against horse race betting and other games of chance, was seized on a warrant late this afternoon in his Buckeye cigar store, 229 Superior street.

The warrant charging Aronoff with keeping a place used for gambling was sworn out by Detective John McCarthy and served by him with Detectives Michalak and Fielding, members of Capt. George Timinay's hoodlum squad.

A week ago this evening, police with axes invaded the Buckeye and hacked away at Aronoff's gambling equipment.

The didn't find John but they did find 10 pounds of marijuana, which they said he grew near his home. John disappeared until today when Detectives John McCarthy, John Michalak and Robert Fielding found him working on a WPA project at Wabash and Eleventh streets. This time he had only two marijuana cigarettes in his possession, the officers said. They booked him on the old peace bond hearing and for possession of the marijuana.

GUNS SEIZED, JAIL BREAK PLOT NIPPED

Detectives Take Loaded Pistols From Two Prisoners

A jail break plot was nipped Wednesday when detectives took loaded pistols from two prisoners while they were waiting in a Safety Building cell to appear in Municipal Court.

Gilbert Champlin, 19-year-old youth and a 16-year-old companion were arrested at 1 a. m. by Detective Captain Willard Rydman, Detective Orla Gonia and V. B. Reed, a special officer. The arrest followed the burglary of a Sohio filling station at 2826 Monroe Street.

Officers searched Champlin but found nothing. He was taken to a police sub-station, where he was searched again. He was searched for the third time by Safety Building turnkeys and placed in a cell. Later, while in a large cell with several other prisoners, the youth gave one of them a pistol. This prisoner informed Detectives John McCarthy, Robert Fielding and John Michalak who searched Champlin and found another pistol.

3 ARRESTED; Narcotics Seized

WOMAN, TWO MEN HELD

A narcotic ring was believed by police to have been broken last night with the arrest of a man in the downtown district and a woman and another man in the 300 block of Broadway.

A man who gave his name as William Lewis, 41, of the 300 block of Broadway, was arrested at a downtown street corner by Detective John McCarthy. Police reported finding 14 capsules containing narcotics in the man's possession.

Detective McCarthy went to the man's apartment and arrested a woman who gave her name as Marie Lewis, 35, and a man who gave his name as Carl Newman, 47, of Eleventh street. Detective McCarthy reported finding several capsules in their possession and approximately an ounce of narcotics in the apartment.

3 Are Jailed In Dope Raid

A drug addicts' haunt, believed by police to have been frequented by youths and young girls, was closed this afternoon for at least a month as a result of a police raid. Patrolmen John McCarthy, John Michalak and Robert Fielding of the hoodlum squad, raided the comfortably furnished apartment in a downtown apartment hotel, arrested two girls and a man and seized a quantity of heroin. Police Judge Frank O'Connell sentenced each of the trio to 30 days in the workhouse and assessed them fines of $50 and costs each on suspicious person charges. The prisoners are G. G. Wagner, 29, Thelma Gray, 23, and Marjorie Rider, 28. The raid was reported by the police.

COUNTY TO DEMAND MANUEL

Licavoli Agent Arrested in Monroe

DELIVERY FAILS

Steps to extradite Rough Manuel, former agent of "Yonnie" Licavoli gang, was arrested yesterday in Monroe, Mich., will be taken by the county prosecutor's office, it was indicated last night by Joel T. Rhinehart, assistant prosecutor.

Manuel refused to waive extradition and so notified Detective Captain George Timiney and Detective James McCarthy who went to Monroe to get him.

A recent indictment against him was returned by the Lucas county grand jury following an incident on Oct. 2, 1935, when he is alleged to have attacked Albert H. Elsner, 1824 Woodfield road and James Francis, 334 Toronto avenue, during an argument after an auto accident at Erie and Adams streets. The grand jury charges assault with intent to kill.

Several hours after he was arrested in his home, two of his associates exchanged shots with Monroe deputies and police in a running gun battle. The men escaped.

Later police raided a house in Monroe, found an alcohol cutting plant in a garage, arrested a Toledo man and three Michigan men. A charge has been placed against the man.

Woman, Man Held in Narcotics Raid

A 35-year-old woman and a man, 31, were held on suspicion at the police building after they were arrested early today by Detectives John Mackall, Robert Fielding and John Mihalak of the police machine squad in a raid on an apartment in the 800 block of Washington street.

A small quantity of heroin and a quantity of cocaine for smoking the drug for sale purposes were confiscated by the squad after the suspects threw down a story as the officers looked in the door of the apartment the squad reported. The woman will be turned over to U.S. authorities today.

Should Orchid: One to Patrolman John McCarthy, who helped his superiors, and helped the morale of the police division through his capture of a man of words last week. Yesterday he was bound over to the grand jury under bond of $20,000. McCarthy built up his case in the mind you. He got a line and followed through. Not only the others, but some other men ought to band this fellow around with something more lasting than a flower tied to it.

Six Are Arrested in Narcotic Raid

A raid by T. J. Walker, federal narcotics inspector, and Detectives John McCarthy and John Mihalak led to the arrest of three men and three women and the seizure of a small quantity of dope in an apartment in the 1100 block of Adams street Tuesday night. At the Safety building, the men were booked on charges of violating the Harrison drug act, and held for federal authorities. They gave their names as William Duck, 39, Adams street; Phil Mercurio, 32, Perth street, and William Duffy, 30, Monroe street. The women were held in safe keeping for examination by federal agents today.

Gaming Fixtures Smashed by Police in Aronoff Raid

106 Men Are Arrested as Vice Squad, Armed With Axes, Destroys Valuable Equipment; Prisoners Freed on Bond.

Costly gambling equipment was smashed to splinters by members of the vice and gambling squad under Captain George Timiney in a surprise visit to the Buckeye Sports Center, operated by Ben Aronoff at 229 Superior street late Saturday afternoon.

Eleven trips were made by patrol wagons in transporting 106 men to the Safety building where they were charged with being suspicious persons. Detectives said the men were in the place when they entered. Several of the group attempted to escape down a rear stairs.

McCarthy and Fielding asked for a continuance of the cases. The court announced that he will confer with Morris Britz, police court prosecutor, at 4 P. M. to discuss the cases and will set a time for trial after that time.

At 5:30 P. M., Detectives McCarthy and John Michalak appeared at the front of the Buckeye and asked for admittance. They were met at the door, they said, by Aronoff who said he could not admit them because he himself could not get in the place. The officers said that they had been refused admittance by guards since last Wednesday night.

Tables Destroyed

Three dice tables, each valued at $175, and black jack and stud card tables and chuck-o-luck cages were destroyed by Detectives John McCarthy, Chris Brennan and Robert Fielding who were delegated to swing the axes.

The prisoners were taken directly to the detective bureau on arrival at the Safety building and several were questioned before being booked. These records, Captain Timiney said, will be brought into court for evidence. It took nearly five hours to book all the prisoners.

The prisoners were released a short time later on a blanket bond furnished by the Wittenberg-Jacobs-Berenson Bonding company. Bond was set at $100 in each case. William Osterman, deputy court clerk, said.

In police court today, Detectives

Officers Admitted

While the two officers engaged Aronoff in conversation, Captain Timiney alighted from a squad car with the rest of the officers armed with axes. When Aronoff saw the axes he signalled for the place upstairs to close up and then admitted the officers, it was reported.

Besides breaking up the furniture the officers tore out six complete buzzer sets which they also will enter as evidence in court. The boards on which the names of horses were posted were not disturbed.

The charge of being a suspicious person requires a much higher bond than charges of loitering or gambling usually placed against prisoners taken in gambling raids.

Other officers who took part in the raid are Detective James Tafelski and Patrolmen Martin Stein and Fred Moss.

HELD IN ATTACK ON PATROLMAN

2 Seized After Michalak, Trying to Halt Fight, Is Knocked Out.

Two men were arrested early today following an attack on Patrolman John Michalak when he attempted to prevent a fight in the Wilson Club restaurant, 3034 La-grange street.

Frank Szych, 23, of 3012 Hartman street and Stanley Turski, 23, of 3009 Hartman street, were charged with being drunk and disorderly, assault and battery and resisting an officer, in connection with the attack on Patrolman Michalak.

Today in police court they were fined the costs by Judge Frank O'Connell on the first charge, and were sentenced to 30 days each in the workhouse and fined the costs on each of the other two charges.

Officer Michalak said that he was knocked unconscious as he attempted to break up a group of men about to engage in a brawl. Other patrons of the restaurant aided the policeman to his feet, and he called for help from a nearby police box.

Motorcycle Patrolmen John McCarthy and Don Carper and Detectives Arthur Ness and Henry Bricker were first to come to their fellow officer's assistance and were supplemented a moment later by Lieut. Charles Roth and Patrolman Anthony Bosch.

When he attempted to break up the fight between two men, who were found hiding in his home, Patrolman Michalak identified them as the men who attacked him.

Frank Szych, 23, of 3012 Hartman street and Stanley Turski, 23, of 3009 Hartman street, were charged with being drunk and disorderly, assault and battery and resisting an officer, in connection with the attack on Patrolman Michalak.

Today in police court they were fined the costs by Judge Frank O'Connell on the first charge, and were sentenced to 30 days each in the workhouse and fined the costs on each of the other two charges.

Broadcloth Shirts for Police

During the last week no one has deserved so much sympathy as the members of the police department, sweltering in their heavy serge shirts, buttoned tightly about the neck.

The deep blue absorbs heat, soaks in the sun's rays, and makes Toledo policemen the most uncomfortable of any outside workers in the city.

Is there any reason why patrolmen cannot wear a more sensible broadcloth during the summer? The police would vote unanimously for such pleasant relief.

They would be pleased, too, because the broadcloth shirts are cheaper.

This is a kindly suggestion which we pass on to a thoughtful council and a considerate city manager who will remember that there are no electric fans nor air conditioning on the downtown streets.

A Ready-Made Witness

Periodically Toledo newspapers print little items about men or their wives suing gambling houses and owners of the premises for the recovery of gambling losses.

There is no beating about the bush. The petitions seeking the recovery of money lost in gambling are brazenly explicit, listing names and addresses of gambling places.

These cases seldom come to court although there are instances in which they have. Usually, however, the gambling house owners are wise enough not to want their names and addresses kicked around on the witness stand. They can never tell what someone is likely to say about them in court nor how many people might believe it. They settle out of court for a small percentage of the amount asked.

It seems odd that the police, in their continuous pursuit of the gamblers, sit by and let the names of gamblers or the gambling places and self-confessed patrons be paraded before the public without doing anything about it.

If the police honestly wish to stop gambling, there is nothing to prevent them from grabbing one of the howling victims who has gone to court to get his money back and making a state's witness of him. If he is willing to say he gambled in a certain place and he saw certain men in charge of the place in a civil court action why then cannot the police get him to say the same things in criminal court?

It is one of those riddles the citizens are not supposed to ask of any self-respecting police department. The fact is the police do know they can do this but they hold their breath and hope no one else will figure it out. Another fact is that the police in Toledo do not want to obliterate gambling and they are not trying to.

It has been the policy of all municipal administrations for many years back to allow limited gambling. All the city fathers ever have asked is that the gamblers announce themselves, tell where they are operating and run their games without muss nor fuss, which means without embarrassment to the administration in power.

Captain George Timiney apparently had the right idea about gambling when he was the city's official watchdog for racketeers. He allowed only the town talent to flirt with the gambling laws. And he did this to bait ambitious outside racketeers.

Captain Timiney knows today that, with the bootleg business gone, that gambling is about the only big-money business open to racketeers. After he and his squad of jaw-punchers ran the hoodlums out he kept close watch on the reported gambling spots for strange faces. Whenever any of the out-of-town boys began nibbling at his gambling traps his hoodlum squad would apply its own special treatment to the case.

Everyone whose processes of logic are functioning properly knows there is some kind of an understanding between gambling and vice operators. There is now and there always has been. So long as the professional games run, the resorts are wide open and the pin-ball slot machines are clogging the entrances of restaurants, cigar and drug stores be convinced that they exist only with police consent.

The fact that someone in authority wants the Toledo owned gambling places to run probably accounts for the sublime indifference of police to the ready-made witness who admits he was gambling, tells where and when, in his civil suit to recover his money.

What Do YOU Think?

TODAY'S QUESTION

"Should autos be permitted to be parked in Toledo at night without lights, as they are in Detroit and other cities?"

Submitted by Duke Duffy, 951 Pinewood Avenue.

Edward Bodette, 171 Princeton Drive, Lineman: "No, they shouldn't. That's much too dangerous a practice to have in a large city. I worked in Detroit for three years, and I know how it works out up there. I don't think that Toledo should adopt the idea. On Detroit's wide streets it is far less dangerous than it would be here in Toledo. On well-lighted 'white way' streets it's all right to park without lights, but on all other streets motorists should be compelled to leave their lights on when they park."

Guy Blackwood, 136 21st Street, cab driver: "Decidedly not. It's too hard to see on dimly-lighted streets even now when there is nothing but a dim tail-light to watch for and especially when the lights of another auto hit you in the face. If the parked cars had no lights at all, there would be triple the number of accidents caused by drivers running into cars standing at the curb."

C. J. McMahon, 1843 Wychwood Street, bus driver: "I believe they should. If drivers watch the road carefully, unlighted cars aren't dangerous. Of course, some of these people who drive along without watching where they are going might pile themselves up. But driving rules should be more strict to weed out drivers like that. Parking without lights works okay in Detroit, and our streets are a lot brighter than Detroit's."

Miss Evelyn Gray, 1010 Heston Street: "I can't see any reason why they should. It's impossible to see parked, lightless cars on a dark street, and they would become a traffic hazard bound to add to the total of ac-

McCarthy Returns To Morals Squad

Police Chief Ray Allen has returned Patrolman John McCarthy to the morals squad. He has been a motorcycle officer.

Patrolman McCarthy is the last of the old squad, headed by Capt. George Timiney, to be returned to squad duty.

Woman Arrested

After pummeling Patrolman John McCarthy, Mrs. Gay Kelley, 41, of 46 Staro street, was arrested on the charges of disturbance, assault and battery and resisting an officer last night. Patrolman McCarthy was called to the address by neighbors, who complained of a disturbance.

Allen Shifts Two to Morals Squad

Two changes were made yesterday in the police morals squad on orders of Chief Ray Allen.

Patrolman John McCarthy and Donald McGregor were added to the squad, taking the places of Patrolmen Roy Havens and Leonard Mills.

Patrolman McCarthy has served in the last few months as a motorcycle officer. He is the last of the old squad headed by Capt. George Timiney to be returned to plain clothes duty.

Number Winners Are Out Funds as Police Seize Slips

A collector said by police to be working for the Buckeye numbers racket was minus 134 of his slips last night as police and county officials continued to harass gambling joints.

Slips were seized from the collector on Lagrange street by Detectives John Michalak and John McCarthy of the police morals squad.

Several reported winners were among the seized slips, the officers said.

Deputies continued their periodic visits to alleged gambling places in the county but reported "everything quiet."

Police officers said they found places in the city quiet, with dice tables covered and race boards blank.

3 Officers Are Changed

Police Morals Squad Members Suffer

Two of the three members of the police morals squad who were returned to uniform duty by Chief Ray E. Allen yesterday, learned of their transfer a few minutes after seizing a slot machine and a pin-ball machine at 741 Wolcott boulevard.

The two, John McCarthy and John Michalak, have brought about numerous arrests and increased the police pension fund considerably with money removed from gambling devices following conviction of their operators in municipal court. Patrolman James Tafelski, who staged a one-man raid on Benny Aronoff's Buckeye Social club recently, was the third member of the squad transferred.

Chief Allen said there was no reason for the change in the squad's personnel.

"Just a matter of routine," he declared. "We switch about like that often."

Patrolmen Pete Ruble, William Hauden and William Tripp are the new members of the squad.

Sisters, in Jail for 24 Days, Are Freed By Court

For 24 days the sisters, Marie Jaworski, 19, and Jean Zigo, 20, at 1925 Vermont Avenue, suffered the endurance vile of a jail cell—since a New York jockey appeared in Toledo calling them thieves who stole his $50 and a suit of clothes. Officers John Michalak and John McCarthy arrested the sisters on suspicion and held them for investigation by New York authorities. Their case was continued Jan. 9 to 10, Jan 19 to 20, and from Saturday to Monday.

"No charges," said Officer McCarthy to Judge Edgar Norris in Municipal Court Monday. "New York doesn't seem to have anything against them."

So Judge Norris freed the sisters. There must have been some mistake.

Accident Causes Explained

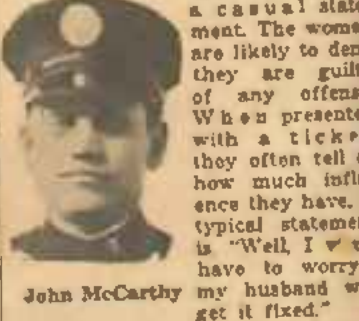

By Traffic Officers

Editor's Note: The Sunday Times has asked city traffic policemen, who can speak with the authority of experience, to write on traffic conditions in Toledo. This is the eleventh of a series.

By JOHN McCARTHY
Motorcycle Patrolman

Women drivers are usually more disagreeable than men when stopped for traffic offenses. I have found.

During the five years I have worked on a motorcycle, I have averaged 1,000 arrests per year, so this is not merely a casual statement. The women are likely to deny they are guilty of any offense. When presented with a ticket, they often tell of how much influence they have. A typical statement is "Well, I've got to have to worry—my husband will get it fixed."

In order to curb the increasing accident rate I believe the speed should be lowered to a maximum of 25 miles per hour in residential districts and 15 miles an hour in downtown sections.

Set Poor Example

The drunken driver, in my estimation, is just as much a criminal as the man with a gun and has no more regard for life or property. The best way to deal with him, I think, is to take him to the Safety building and photograph and fingerprint him.

If motorists knew the drunken driver would have a full criminal record placed in the police files they would avoid being drunk while at the wheel.

It is extremely important to drill principles of safety in children at these principles are likely to stick with them in adult years. Parents are apt to set their children a poor example and few of them try very hard to teach them safety.

It would be a good idea, I believe for the Toledo Safety council meet with the Parent-Teachers association and plan to allot about minutes per week to safety talk in the schools. Such an educational program would have more effect on the child than anything else.

Selfish Individual

The driver who double parks avoid walking a few steps is a selfish individual. If people would walk two blocks to their destination instead of parking directly front near the middle of the street they would be in better health as well as saving others trouble.

The commonest offenses committed by motorists I have found are speeding, going through lights and turning on the left side of street cars. One driver of every 50, I would say, used proper signals when turning or stopping. Quite a few accidents are caused by four riding in a seat, obscuring the driver's vision.

A final way to check traffic accidents is by having a more complete record of traffic law violations which will enable the arresting officer to testify in court against offender with complete facts of past offenses.

On the whole, I have found majority of motorists to be courteous when stopped by a motorcycle policeman.

POLICE QUIT STATE TO RECOVER AUTO

12-Mile Chase Ends Over Line in Michigan.

Although they went out of the state to do it, Motorcycle Patrolmen Kenneth Larson and John McCarthy recovered a stolen automobile in the Dixie highway, a mile and a half above the Michigan line early today, after a 12-mile chase. The motorcycle crew sighted the machine at Lasalle and Summit sts. and recognized it as one that had been stolen from the Roth Motor Sales Co., 1310 Cherry st., earlier in the evening. The car, occupied by three youths, sped out North Erie st. to Suder ave. and from Suder ave. to the Dixie highway. Patrolmen McCarthy and Larsen saw the state line whiz by in a blur as they passed it at 78 miles an hour. Half a mile ahead of them they saw the machine swerve from the road into the yard of Cletus Corrin, Route 2, box 328, Erie, Mich., where the three thieves left it and fled through fields. Monros county deputies, sheriffs and Michigan state police were notified.

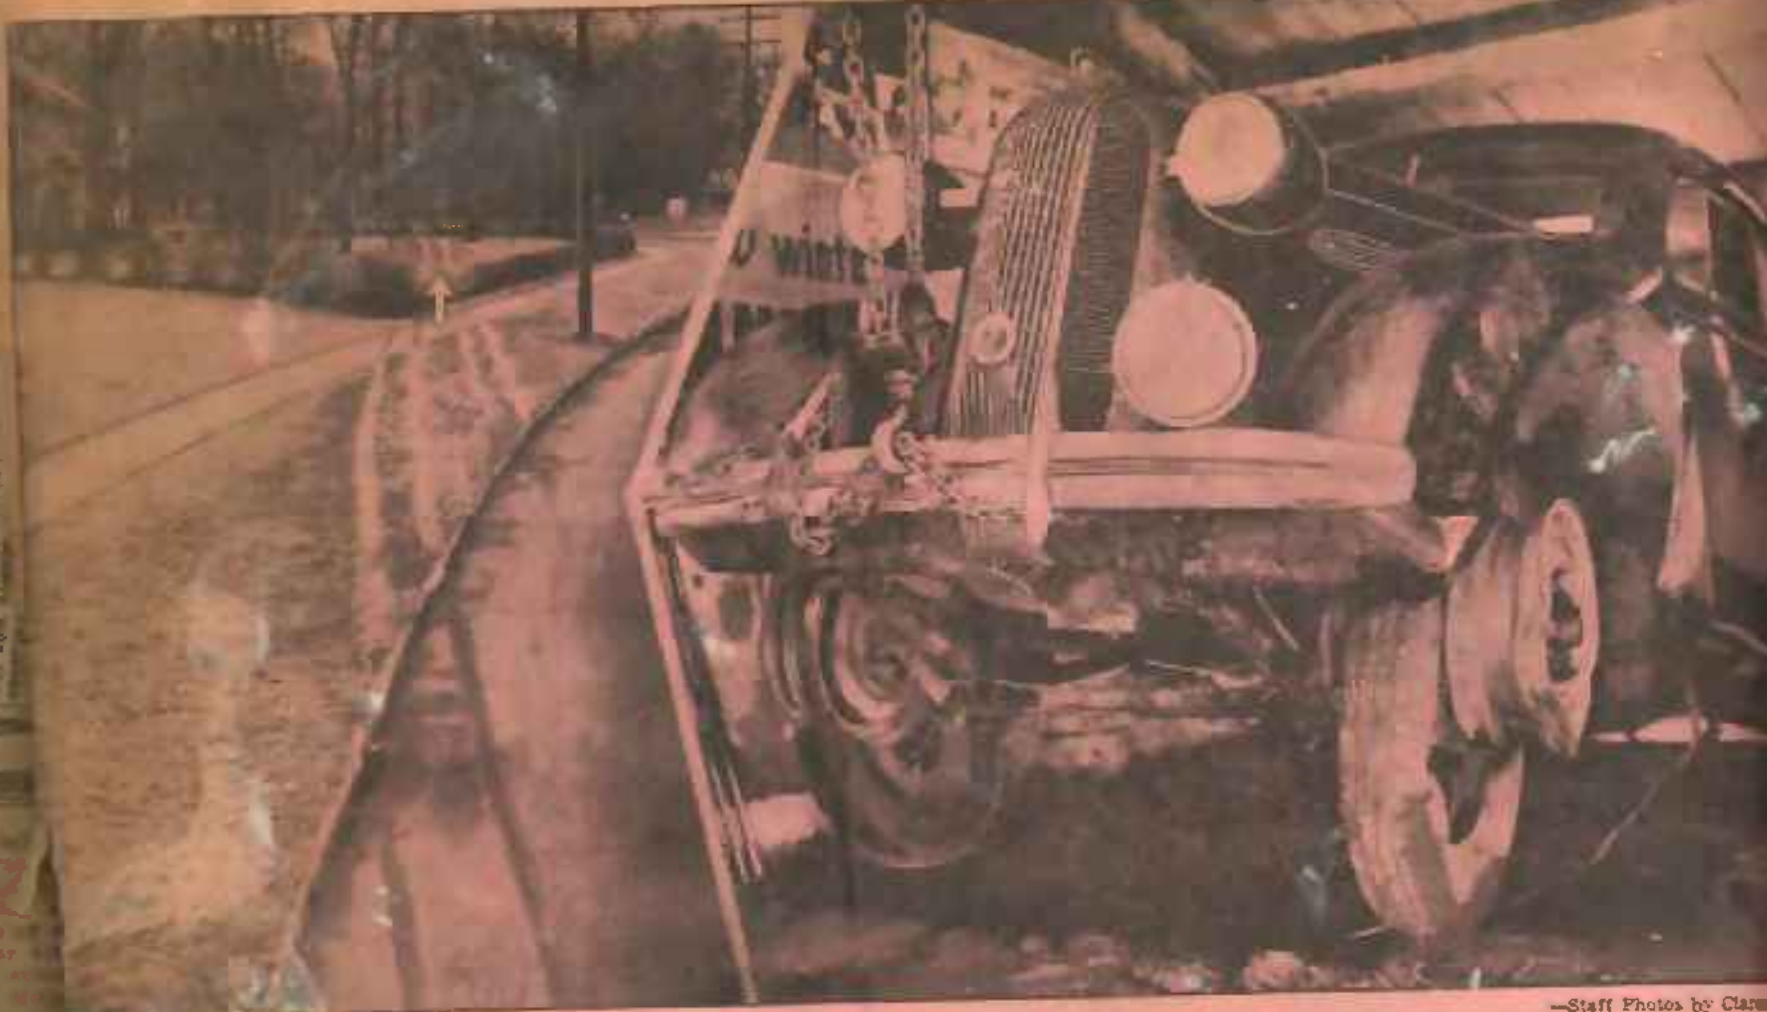

Man Is Arrested Twice in 2 Hours

Manuel S. Cavender, 41, of 327 ... Place, a former city policeman, was arrested twice within two hours yesterday. At 1:30 p. m. Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak arrested Cavender on the charge of assault and battery on the complaint of the man's wife, Marie. Cavender was released on his own recognizance, but was re-arrested at 3:30 p. m. by Patrolmen Chester Wawrzyniak and George Orzechowski on the charge of being drunk and disorderly following a disturbance in his home. Police Judge Harvey A. Straub ordered the ex-policeman held without bond following the second arrest.

THIEVES ESCAPE AS CAR CRASHES

Wild Chase Ends With Wreck; Two Fight Off Deputy Sheriffs

Continued From Page 1. Boulevard and cut through the wooded lawn of the B. R. Baker home, sideswiping trees and continuing into a wooded section adjoining the Country Club.

The fugitives leaped from the wrecked auto and fired at the deputies. Deputy Harmon replied with four revolver shots.

After the exchange of shots, the deputies and marshals lost the two thieves in the darkness.

Patrolmen John McCarthy and Emil Pozniak of Toledo were sent to the scene and aided in searching the vicinity.

It was learned that the wrecked car was owned by Dr. W. C. Sutter, who had parked it in front of his office in Waterville.

Blamed for Second Theft.

The same thieves are believed to have stolen an auto owned by Nora Johnson, 1935 Calumet Avenue, Toledo, from in front of 1937 Parkdale Avenue earlier in the evening.

The Johnson auto was found abandoned on Route 24, near Maumee, on the road to Waterville. It had been damaged in a collision with a bridge.

Deputies believe the pair stole the Johnson car, drove to Waterville where they stole Dr. Sutter's car, and then started back to Toledo, abandoning the first auto after it collided with the bridge.

The deputies said the thieves may be drug addicts as two medical bags in the physician's car had been rifled and a dashboard compartment had been broken open.

Two Women Fighters Turn On 3 Officers

Two women, fighting over possession of a key while police trailed them from the 300 block of John R street to Belmont avenue and Fifteenth street, turned on three policemen who arrested them yesterday on disturbance charges.

The pair was arrested by Patrolmen John McCarthy, Clifford Blinn and Theodore Brassfield. While waiting for a patrol wagon to transport them to the Safety building, the women bit, kicked and fought the trio until the patrol wagon arrived it was reported.

The women were booked as Mrs. Grace Mae Lankford, 21, of Belmont avenue, and Miss Mattie West, 22, of Forest avenue.

2 BOYS HELD IN ROBBERIES

Confessions Made, Police Say

With the arrest of two 13-year-old boys last night, police believe they have cleared up several East Toledo burglaries and robberies.

Two 17-year-old youths, arrested several weeks ago, also were believed responsible for some of the thefts, police said.

Detective James Ford and Patrolman Johnny McCarthy arrested the juveniles last night; one at Washington and Twenty-first streets, where Patrolman McCarthy caught him after a chase through alleys near the boy's home, and the other at the west end of Anthony Wayne bridge.

Police said the boys admitted twice burglarizing Navarre park concessions and also the home of Tony Metroff at 112 Reed street. With the older youths they also are thought responsible for thefts of purses from five women during the last month in the vicinity of Starr avenue and White street, police said. They are held for juvenile authorities.

Boy Driver Surpasses Reporter in Auto Test

Years of Age, Has Mark of 15 for 28-Year-Old Newsmen

By RICHARD LEAHY

12-year-old Toledo "strong boy," who has a mark of 15, passed his driver's license test last week. He is 4 feet 2 inches tall, and weighs 87 pounds. He stood 4 feet 1 inch, weighed 87 pounds, and had a mark of 15 for 28-year-old newsmen.

Only a few adults—Patrolman

McCarthy estimates about 10—have taken the test, which is compulsory for all under 18, and for all drivers who have not driven a car for one year.

The Ohio test is not difficult, and there have been few failures.

Inspector T. E. O'Reilly, under whose supervision they are given, says: "Anyone who passes this test is competent to drive. Most of the kids who take it know more about driving than many adults who have been driving for years."

The test consists of 10 questions on Ohio laws on driving; a short driving test, an eye test, in which the candidate is shown cards bearing facsimiles, road signs, and must identify the sign and its meaning. There is also a test for color-blindness.

Licenses must be renewed before Oct. 1 of every year. They may be suspended when the driver is found guilty of serious traffic violations, such as driving under the influence of liquor or narcotics.

She a Country Maiden, He a 'G-Man'

Truck Driving "Special Operator" in Jail Now

SHE was a country maiden. He looked like a bakery truck driver, but he was really a G-man in one of his many disguises—he told her.

He explained to the 17-year-old girl that he couldn't tell much about himself. It would be a good idea for her not to try to find out anything about him, either.

When he took her to crime movies and masterfully explained to her how wrong the detectives were, she no longer doubted him.

He knew all the Toledo policemen, too, but he couldn't speak to them on the streets because of his secret missions. She noticed, though, how he smiled at them when he walked past, didn't she?

ONE particular patrolman on the Morals Squad was his buddy, he said. If she ever got in trouble she should go to him, and he'd fix it up.

Yesterday the 19-year-old girl—for it had been two years since she first met the man as he was delivering groceries at her home near Sylvania—decided she needed the help of the policeman.

She was to have a child and her secret operator had become so secret she hadn't seen him for two and a half weeks.

When she stopped Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak and asked them to take her to the Morals Squad officer, they took her to Police Sergeant Margaret Slater.

POLICEWOMEN, who found that the 41-year-old man has a wife and four children in his Toledo home, told the girl that he was a truck driver after all.

And his acquaintance with police just began yesterday afternoon when he was jailed.

Fires Through Door of Bedroom When Enraged Mate Tries to Force It Open; Husband Is in Serious Condition With Wound in Chest.

Jesse Lara, 29, of 909 1/2 Walbridge avenue, is in a serious condition in County hospital suffering from a bullet wound in the chest received when he was struck by one of two pistol shots which his wife, Susana, 18, fired through a door in their home.

Mrs. Lara admitted the shooting in a statement to Detectives Fred Tank and Archie Best after she was arrested by Patrolmen John McCarthy and Emil Pozniak, and said that she fired the weapon twice into the door as her husband tried to force it open.

She said Lara had come home apparently intoxicated and that she had locked herself in the bedroom after he had beaten her with a pancake turner.

Mrs. Lara explained in her statement that she had gone to the home of a friend in the 200 block of Oliver street yesterday to act as an interpreter for another friend, who is unable to speak English, and had returned home late.

She said her husband had accused her of being untrue to him and left the house without eating his supper. He returned about 9:15 p. m. and ordered her out of the house. In an argument which followed Lara struck her with kitchen implements, she told police.

"I got away from him and ran into the back bedroom, where I locked the door and took a gun that belonged to my husband from a dresser drawer," Mrs. Lara's statement to police said.

Mrs. Lara said she was born in Mexico Aug. 11, 1918, and that she has lived in Toledo since her parents brought her here when she was a year old.

He tried to force the door and threatened to shoot him. He told me to go ahead and shoot. It looked to me as if he was going to force the door in so I shot twice through the door, and heard him fall to the floor and cry that he had been shot.

"When I came out of the bedroom I found my husband lying on the kitchen floor. I ran to the house of Dr. Theodore Saupter, 913 Walbridge avenue, and told him that I had shot my husband. The doctor took care of him until the police came and took him to the hospital."

Mrs. Lara said she was born in Mexico Aug. 11, 1918, and that she has lived in Toledo since her parents brought her here when she was a year old.

ALLEN TO RID DISTRICT OF ALL HOODLUMS

Business Men Complain of Loiterers Where 3 Battled Police.

FIGHT TWO HOURS

13 Patrolmen Required to Subdue Youth Trio in Lagrange Area.

Aroused by complaints of Lagrange st. business men and an attack last night on Detective Adam Dlugewicz in the 3200 block of that street, Police Chief Ray Allen today announced he has given orders to police to clear the district of hoodlums and loiterers.

Chief Allen's step is not based entirely on the fight last night during which 13 policemen were engaged at one time in a battle with three youths, but also upon the complaints of the Lagrange st. business men. Last Tuesday a group of these business men conferred with Chief Allen and asked him to rid the neighborhood of hoodlums and minor gangsters.

"There may be a few stretcher cases but we intend driving those hoodlums off the street corners," said Chief Allen.

The three youths who started the battle royal last night were taken to the Safety building in a badly battered condition. The fight began at midnight and lasted nearly two hours.

Round one of the battle started when Detective Dlugewicz, who was on his way to his home at 2920 Elm st., stopped to quell a disturbance in the Speedway inn and was attacked by the three youths.

When the youths were taken to the Safety building, they were in a badly battered condition. The fight began at midnight and lasted nearly two hours.

Merchant Testifies To Installing Carpets

AIR CONDITIONED

Ben Aronoff, on trial yesterday in Police Judge Homer A. Ramey's court on a charge of keeping a house for gambling at 224 Superior street, was acquitted by a jury of six men and six women, which deliberated 18 minutes and returned one ballot.

The verdict brought to an end a trial which lasted two days.

As yesterday, Prosecutor Harry Straub called several witnesses testify as to the appearance of premises at 224 Superior street known as the Buckeye Social club in an effort to reveal their resemblance to a house for gambling. Carpets Installed

Edward L. Morse, representing the R. T. Radcliffe Co., 220 Superior street, testified his company had installed linoleum and carpet in the building.

Lewis Bentley, contractor and one time treasurer of V.K.A. Inc., said he had installed an air conditioning system at 224 Superior street, when it was known as the 224 Superior Street Co.

Reluctantly, each witness described in detail the work done. Vice Squad Officers Edward Kline, John McCarthy, Peter De William Tripp and Walter Ham were called by the state to describe their various visits to the building. Although none was able to identify Aronoff as the proprietor of the establishment, the majority testified he accepted and read all search warrants.

Trial Follows Raid

The trial resulted from a raid on the Buckeye Feb. 15 at which Patrolman Jack Weed, Ben Aronoff, the morals squad, entered and confiscated money and John Bare, an employee, was arrested on a charge of keeping a gambling house and five men were arrested on loitering charges.

The next day Aronoff was arrested on a warrant, charged with keeping a room for gambling. The trial was delayed at the request of Judge Edgar Norris to allow the wheel to the American Legion for use in their performance of "The Night of Jan. 18" in the university of Toledo. The trial had not been completed when the wheel was covered the wheel was removed it was necessary to delay the case.

Just a year ago yesterday Aronoff was acquitted by a jury on a similar charge. The trial, however, was on the same day of the year as this year.

Police Save Soaked Soak, Fully Clothed, From Creek

John McHugh, From All Over, Rescued From Drink at 3 a. m., Offers to Whip Patrolman for Remark About Fishing.

From the turgid depths of Swan creek near the Monroe st. bridge in the Middle Grounds, police and the fire department rescue squad rescued an inebriated citizen whose reasons for bathing fully clad at 3 a. m. today could not be explained.

Neither John McHugh, 56, of all over, whose case police dismissed under the embracing charge of being drunk and disorderly, nor any of the many spectators who watched his rescue, could tell how he got in the water. He was first found there by William Reeder, 1809 Lawrence ave., New York Central railroad detective, who called police.

Lieut. John Mahony and Fireman Robert Osberger of the rescue squad, Motorcycle Patrolmen Jack Wead, Ken Larson and Roger Peters descended a piling to which the man was clinging and fastened a rope about him. Patrolmen John McCarthy, Henry Bricker, Fred Nowicki and Anthony Bosch pulled him to the bank.

Police were hampered in their efforts by the soaked soak's passion for clinging tenaciously to the piling and his inability to aid himself in climbing the pole, and his tendency to shout out meaningless phrases.

Once safely ashore he offered to whip one of the officers while waiting for the patrol wagon which hauled him to the Safety building, because he resented the police-side of law and order was Det. Dlugewicz, who suffered cuts and bruises about the face and knuckles.

One of the prisoners was arrested last April and sentenced to 30 days on charges of assault and battery, resisting an officer, and being drunk and disorderly after he and another man had slugged Patrolman John Michalak in a Lagrange st. cafe. A similar fight resulted when police reinforcements sought to arrest the pair on this occasion.

Police and Firemen Aid Destitute Man

Provide Food and Fuel for Victim's Wife and Four Children

Under the uniforms of Toledo policemen and firemen beat many a kindly heart, a South End family learned last night.

A man came to No. 5 engine house, Broadway and Logan street, with an appeal for quarters for his wife and four sons, 5 to 12 years old. He said a relief check had failed to arrive and he was without food or fuel.

"I don't care for myself," the man told Patrolmen John Michalak and John McCarthy. "I'll manage. But it's tough on the wife and kids without a warm place to sleep."

Story Verified

The officers went to the man's house to verify his story. They reported finding the mother and her boys huddled around a small stove which gave little heat and whose fuel supply was exhausted.

Back in the engine house, a collection was taken up by the officers and Lieut. Dennis Murphy. The money given the man, it was estimated, would purchase enough groceries and coal to last several days. And the officers said they think they obtained a job in a local factory for the man.

Given new hope, the man thanked his benefactor almost tearfully. Then he hurried home to inform his wife and be of his fortune.

12 Hurt Here in Week-End Traffic, 10 Drivers Arrested

John Simpkins, 9, Injured Seriously When Dragged Beneath Car; Playmate Narrowly Misses Being Struck in Rescue Effort.

Twelve persons were injured, one seriously and 10 motorists were arrested for traffic violations in week-end motor mishaps here.

John Simpkins, 9, of 704 Vinton street, was injured seriously Saturday night when he was struck by an automobile driven by John Hummell, 23, of 71 Harrison street who was backing the machine out of his garage.

The boy was taken to County hospital. He received laceration of the brain and severe head lacerations. He later was removed to St. Vincent's hospital.

John and several other boys, including Elmer Scott, 10, of 938 Emerald avenue, were playing tag. When John ran into the rear of the machine, Elmer in attempt to save his playmate was nearly run over. Patrolman John McCarthy said Mr. Hummell was unaware he had struck the youth who was dragged several feet by the machine.

Truck Driver Hurt

Glen Bernius, 35, of 1218 Evesham avenue, an Ohio-Cloverleaf dairy truck driver, received head cuts late Saturday when he stopped his truck suddenly at South St. Clair and Logan streets. Another truck driven by John Jackson, 30, of 702 South St. Clair street, smashed into the rear of Mr. Bernius' truck causing milk cases to fall against his head.

Helen Annarino, 37, of 3262 Upton avenue, received bruises Saturday night when the automobile he was driving at Sylvania avenue and Jackman road was struck by

PROTEST ON THE POLICE SERVICE
RESERVATION of the Police Department picking on the numbers game appears to be just one of Chief Allen's smoke screens for leadership. Some time ago, he mentioned the fact that the crime wave, holdups of gas stations, etc., was the work of amateurs but Patrolman McCarthy proved this statement false. Now, as a taxpayer, what has become of Mac? Is he riding a scout car or placed on the outskirts of the city? As a matter of fact, I would like to nominate McCarthy for promotion on ability and not to sit in a swivel chair and make shtbs as Allen and Mr. Edy seem to be getting away with. Two Truckers Report "Advice" to "Insure" Their Business.
Police are investigating a possible "protection" racket here, aimed at small moving and trucking concerns.
Detectives John Michalak and John McCarthy were assigned to the investigation yesterday after proprietors of two concerns complained to police they had received phone calls urging them to "insure" for their business.
The complaints were referred from William Andres, 531 In Avenue, and George Maranz, S. Hawley Street.

TRUCK OVERTURNED IN CRASH HERE

Traffic was badly snarled yesterday when an automobile and a truck-trailer collided at Broadway and Clayton street. Harold Wescott, 22, Chicago, truck driver, and Carl Haase, 25, of 1121 Camden street, driver of the automobile, were not hurt. The overturned truck is shown here.

CRASH TANGLES BRIDGE TRAFFIC

Truck, Trailer Overturn After Collision; Two Drivers Arrested.

Traffic was jammed for several hours late yesterday at the west approach of the Anthony Wayne bridge after a truck and trailer had overturned, knocking down a traffic light standard, following a collision with an automobile.

Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak said a Jack H. Jenkins Transit Co., Chicago, truck and trailer driven by Harold Wescott, 22, of Chicago, and an automobile driven by Carl Haase, 25, of 1121 Camden street, collided. The truck overturned smashing into the light standard. Neither driver was hurt.

Patrolman McCarthy said the traffic lights on the pole continued working. The gasoline tank on the truck was punctured. McCarthy turned off the ignitions switch that operates the light at a nearby control box to prevent the fuel from igniting.

Both drivers were arrested on the charge of reckless driving on the complaint of the other. Both were released on their own recognizance by Judge Frank O'Connell. The patrolmen said Wescott was driving west on the bridge and Haase was traveling south in Broadway. Each accused the other of driving on the amber light. Patrolman McCarthy said.

The trailer was loaded with three tons of general merchandise and was consigned to Chicago. Employees of the Red Arrow garage, 340 Summit street, unloaded the truck and with a wreck truck righted the truck and trailer after several hours work.

Last of 'Junior Fagin' Boy Burglars Nabbed

Two 13-Year-Olds Held as Members of East Side Gang; Loot Found in Swan Creek Cavern

Rounding up a gang of boy burglars active for weeks on the East Side was completed last night with the arrest of two 13-year-old youngsters.

They were members, police say, of a gang led by two 17-year-old "junior Fagins," who were arrested 10 days earlier. Loot from five burglaries attributed to the gang was found in an abandoned beer-aging cavern sunk in the bank of Swan Creek near the 200 block of South St. Clair Street.

One of the lads arrested last night was captured after a five-block chase through alleys, back yards and vacant lots. As Detective James H. Ford went to the front door of the youngster's home in Brookwood Avenue, the lad darted out the back door, eluding Patrolman John McCarthy, who was standing guard there.

Patrolman McCarthy took after the boy on foot, finally collaring him at Washington and 21st Streets.

The other lad was taken into custody when the officers noticed him standing at the west end of the Anthony Wayne Bridge as they were driving the first boy to the Safety Building. The boys were locked up in the Juvenile Detention Home, where their older companions already were being held.

Police say that members of the gang are responsible for at least five East Side burglaries, one of which was the home of an uncle of one of the boys. They suspect the lads also of five purse-snatch-

Squad Revives Fumes' Victim Officers Break Door To Reach Woman

Mrs. Mabel Hassenfeldt, 66, was found unconscious on the floor of her home, 505 Indiana avenue, by police yesterday.

Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak, who broke down a door to enter the home, said she apparently was the victim of coal gas fumes.

The patrolmen summoned the rescue squad, commanded by Lt. William Reichard. The squad revived Mrs. Hassenfeldt after administering oxygen 10 minutes with an inhalator.

After treatment by a physician, Mrs. Hassenfeldt was taken in a Worth Clegg ambulance to the home of her brother, Samuel Gil, 960 West Delaware avenue.

The patrolmen said they could not determine when Mrs. Hassenfeldt was overcome by the fumes but believed she lay on the floor several hours before they discovered her plight.

Burglary Suspect Returned to City

Theodore B. Hartman, 41, of 271 Twelfth Street, was returned from Detroit at 5 p. m. yesterday by Detectives Earl McBride and Walter Bielefeldt as a suspect in the burglary of the safe of the Walton Baking Co., 802 Dorr Street, May 18.

Hartman was arrested in Detroit after Detective John McCarthy overheard Hartman's wife mention that her husband was involved in the crime. The suspect was identified by Henry Shaw, a baker, who surprised the two safe-crackers as they were looting the safe of more than $300, according to Detective McCarthy.

BLAST JOLTS SOUTH SIDE; TWO BURNED

One Victim Is Injured Critically in Coke Oven Explosion.

POLICE ANGERED

Probe Starts as Officials of Jennison-Wright Co. Refuse Explanation.

An explosion in a coke oven in the Jennison-Wright Co yards, 2483 Broadway, at 7:15 last night shook scores of homes in the South Side and injured two employees, one critically.

Police and fire department officials, angered because company officers refused to give the names of the victims or any explanation of the blast, that may take the life of one of the employees, said they would recommend that Chief Inspector Earl Walterschied of the fire prevention bureau and William S. Harget, deputy state fire marshal, make an immediate investigation.

The injured men, Almo King, 36, of 353 Tecumseh street, and Homer Calvin, 53, of 430 Second street, were taken to County hospital for first aid and later removed to Toledo hospital in H. H. Birkenkamp's ambulance. Attendants at Toledo hospital said King received third degree burns on his entire body. Calvin suffered minor body burns, they said. Both are colored.

Patrolmen Hear Blast

Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak said they heard the explosion as they were in the 2100 block of Broadway, and saw the flames from the oven shoot into the air. They drove to the yards and saw the two men running blindly about, their clothing in flames. While Patrolman Michalak rolled Calvin on the ground and smothered the flames in his garments, Patrolman McCarthy chased the other man and threw him to the ground, beat out the flames in his clothing and tore it from his body.

Patrolman Michalak telephoned the police dispatcher for two ambulances and when they were slow in arriving put the injured men in the police scout car and drove to County hospital.

"The pump would not pull the vacuum for the coke still so we shut it off and the still blew up. We ran outside with our clothing aflame," Calvin told Patrolman Michalak as he was being taken to the hospital.

Two Alarms Turned In

Harry Webb, 44, of 203 Charles street, colored, said he was firing a boiler in an engine room about 500 feet from the oven when he heard the blast, which shook the engine room. He said he ran from the building and heard the men's screams and saw the flames. He immediately turned in a fire alarm.

Capt. Fred Wechsel, Lieut. Ross Casper and Fireman Charles "Scotty" Schneyer, fire operators, said the first alarm came in at 7:15 p. m. when an excited resident of Spencer street who heard the explosion pulled a fire alarm box at Ingomar avenue and Spencer street. Another alarm was turned in three minutes later at Broadway and Lorain street.

Captain Wechsel said when he learned from residents of the neighborhood that it was an explosion he dispatched the rescue squad. Firemen at No. 9 engine house, Broadway and Orchard street, said they felt the blast a few minutes before they received the alarm.

The oven that blew up was used to make coke and for the treatment of creosote. It stood about 50 feet high and had a capacity of seven tons of coke. The explosion was of such force it blew a large trap door weighing nearly a ton off its hinges.

Damage $1,800

George Hasemeyer, district fire chief, estimated damage at $800 on the coke oven and $1,000 on the contents. Firemen kept the fire under control and saved hundreds of thousands of gallons of creosote and other by-products in large storage tanks in the company's yards. The yards cover about five square miles of property bounded by the Nickel Plate railroad, Marlboro drive and Broadway.

Robert 10, and Patrick Harrison, 17, both of 2549 Marlboro drive, brothers, and Jack Hudson 19, of 130 University boulevard said they heard the blast that shook windows in their homes. They ran to the

A cop's-eye view of Toledo's motorists was afforded the Reporter as he stood at the corner of Main and Front streets the other day talking to Johnny McCarthy, motorcycle patrolman.

Said Patrolman McCarthy, "most people don't know how to make a left hand turn."

"What do you mean?" the Reporter asked.

"Well," he replied, "most people who want to turn left and are facing a long line of traffic from the other direction just wait at the intersection line for the oncoming line to pass."

"What should they do?" he was asked.

"They should pull out into the intersection past the halfway mark and wait," he answered, "when they do that, they allow the fellow behind, who wants to go straight ahead, room to get around him and go on. Otherwise he will keep a line behind held up until it is too late for them to make the light."

"Yes, and it would be a darn sight quieter and easier on the nerves," he remarked, as a would-be left turner held up several cars while he waited at the intersection for his path to clear and a howl of horns set up behind him.

Police, Firemen To Carry Salary Fight To Council

Groups Defy Edy in Battle for Higher Pay; Firemen Vote to Continue 8-Hour, 3-Platoon System.

Toledo's policemen and firemen will carry their fight for increased wages and better working conditions directly to city council in open defiance of the edicts of John N. Edy, city manager and acting safety director.

This was indicated today following a meeting yesterday of the wage committee of the Toledo chapter of the Fraternal Order of Police with Mr. Edy and another session of firemen who voted overwhelmingly to continue with the eight-hour-day, three platoon system instead of a proposed 24-hour-on, 48-hour-off schedule.

The wide-spread dissatisfaction in the fire and police departments over the terms of the reclassification ordinance as it applies to these departments is likely to result in an open break in city council when the matter comes to a head Tuesday, observers said.

May Change Plan

It is probable that reconsideration of the ordinance in-so-far as the fire and police divisions are concerned will be the principal matter before the council when it convenes Tuesday.

Both firemen and policemen have complained to Mr. Edy because, while superior officers of the departments were given salary increases under the ordinance, no pay boosts were forthcoming to privates.

The fact that garbage collectors, classified as skilled workers, get $1,975 a year while firemen and policemen draw only the intermediate salary of $1,800 under the reclassification, has caused discontent among the firemen and policemen.

In two meetings yesterday which were attended by 297 firemen, 206 voted secretly to maintain the eight-hour-day schedule.

Vote Opposes Chief

The vote against adoption of a platoon system on the basis of houses on duty and 48 hours off duty obviously indicated the trend of the department members against a plan which was proposed earlier to Fred Schlorf, fire chief, and Mr. Edy, who were in favor of the plan because they believed it would result in increased efficiency in the department.

Twenty-four members of the department called the meeting because they believed the 24-hour plan was more feasible than the present eight-hour day plan.

Otto Brach, executive secretary of the Toledo Central Labor union, conferred with a committee of the firemen before the meeting and advised them to adhere to the eight-hour day plan. He said if they discarded it they would be acting counterwise to universal attempts of organized labor to obtain an eight-hour working day.

Ballots in the firemen's voting session were counted by George Richardson, Washington, D. C., international secretary of the Fire Fighters' union who earlier had cautioned the firemen against vetoing their present system of working. He explained that the trend throughout the country is for the eight-hour day.

The proposed system, it was explained, would result in the equivalent of adding 54 men to the department and would result in 17 additional working days a year.

Parade Rejected

The firemen also rejected a proposal that they participate in the Labor day parade on the ground that city officials previously had enacted legislation which exempts them from such activity.

Officers of the police organization are expected to return from an out-of-town conference today and a special meeting of the group may be called immediately to discuss future action.

The order has already engaged the services of Cornell Schreiber, attorney. Mr. Schreiber was a former mayor and former law director.

The question of whether Mr. Schreiber will be asked to come before council at its Tuesday meeting will be decided at the special meeting of the police organization. It is reported that Mr. Schreiber already has questioned the validity of the ordinance which granted wage increases to many of the commanding officers in the police and fire divisions, but none to the privates in either department.

Meet With Edy

Immediately after the police committee conference with Mr. Edy, Councilmen Edward A. DeAngelo and Philip Murphy met with the

Mr. DeAngelo admitted he had heard widespread dissatisfaction with the reclassification ordinance among police officers. He declared that some of this dissatisfaction quite apparently was the result of the granting of salary increases of some of the commanding officers and none to the privates.

One other member of council has discussed the advisability of extensive alterations to the salary reclassification ordinance.

Another objection which the police organization raised to the ordinance was the provision which sets up minimum, intermediate and maximum salaries for each city position. Committee members raised the same point brought out by a group of firemen recently that favoritism on the part of the appointing authority might result in one fireman or policeman receiving a higher salary than the man working with him.

Finances Awaited

The ordinance fails to fix a maximum salary for firemen or policemen but council had announced its intention of fixing this maximum rate as soon as the city's financial status can be definitely ascertained.

Mr. Edy pointed out to the police-

The ordinance fails to fix a maximum salary for firemen or policemen, but council had announced its intention of fixing this maximum rate as soon as the city's financial status can be definitely ascertained.

Mr. Edy pointed out to the policemen as he did to the firemen that a code of regulations would be issued after conferences with the men to govern recommendations for increases within the existing wage levels.

When informed by the police committee yesterday that the group has employed an attorney, Mr. Edy said he had preferred to deal directly with the men.

Although Mr. Edy made no comment it was learned that the city manager at first attempted to refuse to permit the police group having an attorney appear before council to plead its case. It was further learned that he later changed this refusal to a request that the group take no such action.

Receive $1,800

Firemen and policemen who had more than one year's experience are now paid $1,800 a year. This is the intermediate salary set for these posts in the ordinance.

Although neither side would admit it, it was definitely known that the question of why one police sergeant received an increase under the new ordinance while all but a motorcycle sergeant remained at their old rate, was raised at the meeting yesterday.

The payrolls also show that while all police officials from captains up received increases, only two sergeants received raises in pay, no lieutenants and no privates.

The police committee at the meeting included Lieut. Harvey Klaiber, Sergeants Clark Underwood and Glen Berning, Detective James Ford and Patrolmen John McCarthy, Jay Maguire, Howell Tice and Harold Pollock.

Firemen kept the fire under control and saved hundreds of thousands of gallons of creosote and other by-products in large storage tanks in the company's yards. The yards cover about five square miles of property bounded by the Nickel Plate railroad, Marlboro drive and Broadway.

Robert, 19 and Patrick Harrison, 17, both of 2349 Marlboro drive brothers, and Jack Hudson, 19 of 130 University boulevard, said they heard the blast that shook windows in their homes. They ran to the yards and aided firemen with hose lines.

Harry Barnes of the fire department's rescue squad and Inspector Uekert Sperber of the fire prevention bureau were off duty but were attracted to the scene by the explosion and fire and police sirens. E. R. Samsay, secretary to John N. Edy, city manager and safety director, walked into the Safety building a few minutes after the fire alarm. Sergt. A. W. Bernhagen told him of the blast and he went to the scene to offer assistance.

Several thousand residents and motorists attracted to the scene caused traffic jams and hampered firemen in their work. Police under Capt. Charles Hennessy and Lieutenant Russell rerouted traffic.

Company officials forbade employees to talk to police, firemen and newspapermen. One employe, who refused to give his name, said the two men burned were the only ones working on the oven. A third man came to work at 11 p. m. He said he believed when the crude oil had been poured on the coals it probably boiled up too quickly and the residue closed the vents at the top of the oven. He said gasses probably formed a pressure which blew the bottom out of the oven.

ATTORNEY HURT IN FALL HERE

Thomas Farrell, 47 Toledo attorney, of 714 Jefferson avenue, suffered a severe head injury early today when he was reported to have fallen down a stairway in an Adams street cafe.

Police took him to St. Vincent's hospital, where attendants said he may have a fractured skull.

Patrolmen John Michalak and John McCarthy, who investigated, said they were told by J. DeLaney, bartender in Frankie's place, Adams and Fourteenth streets, that Mr. Farrell came into the cafe and ordered a drink.

When he refused the attorney, the bartender said, Mr. Farrell walked to the collar door, apparently mistaking it for an exit, and fell 15 feet down the stairway.

Girl, Kitten And Pup Stray; Two Are Found

Four hours after she disappeared from her home with a pet angora kitten and a fox terrier puppy, owned by a neighbor, Nathalie Ann Hessler, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Hessler, 2034 Coolidge parkway, was found by police today at Upton and Sylvania avenues, a half mile from her home.

The kitten was missing, having strayed away from its young mistress, Nathalie Ann and the puppy showed traces of having recently consumed a quantity of ice cream.

Fears for the child's safety were expressed when it was reported she was seen with a man. Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak obtained a picture of the girl and toured the west end finally finding her on the corner.

Police Catch Boy Burglars

Brothers, 15 and 17, Found in Hiding

Police took just 20 minutes early today to capture two brothers, 15 and 17, after the boys attempted to break into the Samuel Talb confectionery, 1602 Monroe Street.

Notified by an unidentified woman of the burglary attempt, Radio Dispatcher Nelson Moss broadcast an alarm at 3:17 a. m.

One minute later, six policemen were on the scene. They were Sergt. John McHugh, Motorcycle Patrolman William Bedacht and two scout crews, Patrolmen John McCarthy, John Michalak, Henry Krolak and Ray Miller.

At 3:25 a. m., one of the boys was found hiding on the first floor of the building housing the confectionery. Twelve minutes later the other boy was found on the third floor.

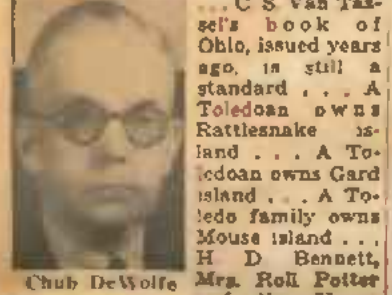

The boys told police they were looking for a few quarts of milk.

Youth Captured After Mile Chase

An 18-year-old Point Place youth, said by police to be responsible for a large number of automobile thefts in the north end, was arrested by Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Kuntz on Saturday night in 290th street near Manhattan boulevard, where the officers found an abandoned car.

The patrolmen reported they discovered the car and were parked in a side street waiting for a tow car when the suspect drove past. After a chase of more than a mile the youth was captured. Plates stolen from the abandoned automobile were found in the youth's car, the patrolmen said.

Pleads Not Guilty To Falsifying Age

Henry J. Myrice, 19, of 290th street, was held to the grand jury today under $500 bond when he pleaded not guilty of giving a false age when obtaining a driver's license. He was arraigned before Judge Homer A. Ramey in Police Court.

Myrice was arrested yesterday by Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Kuntz, who said he had given his age as 22 in obtaining his license in order to avoid the necessity of getting his parents' approval.

"Camera Eyes" Bring $5 Back

"Camera eyes" of Nelson Boyd, Cone street, gas station attendant at Madison avenue and Twenty-first street, brought back his wandering $5 today.

Last week, Mr. Boyd told Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak, a motorist took the $5 from him in a short change scheme. Today when a motorist drove into the station Mr. Boyd recognized him. After the man tendered a $10 bill Mr. Boyd produced the change—minus his $5. The man strenuously objected, insisting that Mr. Boyd had the wrong man. So Mr. Boyd said he would call police. He did just that, but the motorist vanished.

Shirt Fries— So Does John

"They don't know what it's all about."

That's all the comment Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak could get out of John Hebs, 39, the other night when they went to his home, 633 Maywood Avenue, on a disturbance call.

They found Hebs sitting in his smoke-filled kitchen, his shirt on a pancake turner he was neatly flipping back and forth above the stove. The shirt was well done.

In Municipal Court today Judge Frank E. O'Connell knew enough about it to fine Hebs $25 and costs on a drunk and disorderly charge.

THE REGULAR Lucas county election board staff cleaned up the election hang-overs in good shape and in good time. All the counts have been completed, the thousands of pay checks sent out, and the work of putting the booths back in the storage grounds till next August is progressing rapidly. The boys and girls on the regular staff experienced and reliable, completed a very creditable job in record time. Here again it shows that usually the Voice of Experience pays in results.

Fifty years ago Monday, a boy child was born in Toledo. His parents named him Albert. His last name is Duquette and today he is a city patrolman in the town in which he was born.

Just about the time the World's Fair of 1893 in Chicago was being cleaned up a man-child was born there, too. His parents let the folks know that his first name was going to be John. And with the passing of the years this fellow came to Toledo. His full name is John McCarthy. He is also a city patrolman and he comes to town a year older, on Tuesday.

WOMAN ROBBED BY TWO THUGS

Foils Attempt to Attack Her in Automobile in North End.

Mrs. Virginia Muir, 37, of 714 Superior street, lost $17.50 to two men who attempted to attack her in Manhattan boulevard near Lagrange street, last night, she told police. It was the second such experience for the woman in recent months.

Last night, Mrs. Muir told Patrolmen John Michalak and John McCarthy, she met two men in a cafe at 315 Cherry street and accompanied them in an automobile to Manhattan boulevard. She fought off an attack, she said, and they robbed her of her purse and pushed her from the car. Mrs. Muir reported the affair to Patrolman Michalak whom she met on a Lagrange street car, on his way to work.

Several months ago Mrs. Muir was beaten and left unconscious by a man who attacked her in Water street.

Following the attempted attack last night she is reported to have identified a police picture of one of the men. Descriptions of Mrs. Muir's attackers, police said, are similar to those of men wanted for attempted attacks on a 16-year-old West Toledo girl and on two women. These attacks also were reported from the Manhattan boulevard section. Mrs. Muir is held for questioning by Sergt. Margaret Slater.

Labor Asks Pay Hikes

C. L. U. Wants Fire, Police Wages Raised

The Toledo Central Labor Union voted last night to ask City Council to restore Toledo policemen and firemen to their 1929 wage scales. Fred Watson and John E. Curtin, C. L. U. president and general secretary, and the C. L. U.'s legislative committee will present this request to council.

The resolution calling for wage boosts for firemen and policeman was offered by Thomas Quinn, business agent of the Painters and Decorators Union, Local No. 7, who said "The Police Department has been a political football in all administrations, and more so now than before."

JIBES AT REPORT

He jibed at the recent Walker report on the department, saying "no university men have a right to come here and tell these experienced men what to do."

Mr. Curtin said the resolution was being offered "to give policemen enough money to support their families decently."

He praised the fairness of Toledo policemen guarding picketed plants and stores. So did Edward Blum, who told the delegates that "the motorcycle police were offered a raise, but they refused to accept it, saying 'We're no better than the rest of the men.' They threw the raise back in Mr. Edy's face."

2 MEN HUNTED IN ATTEMPTED ATTACK ON GIRL

16-Year-Old Escapes Pick-Up Escorts After Struggle.

ROUND OF CAFES

Party Fined for Running Through Red Light In Adams Township.

Police today are seeking two men who attempted to attack a 16-year-old Toledo girl who admitted she accompanied them on an all-night round of beer parlors and night clubs after meeting them in a public dance hall.

The girl, who was apparently under the influence of intoxicating liquor, was held for questioning by Sergt. Margaret Slater, head of the police women's bureau, after Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak took her into custody at the home of George Logan, 1616 Manhattan boulevard, shortly after 4 a. m. today.

Mr. Logan told police that he was awakened by a frantic knocking at his front door and ran down to find the girl, her clothing disheveled, at the doorway.

Tells of Attempted Attack

She told him she had fled from two men in an automobile who had attempted to attack her a short distance from the home, Mr. Logan told the officers.

While the girl was in the house, one of the men came to the door and asked Mr. Logan to send her out, saying they would take her home. The girl refused to go and waited until police arrived.

The girl, who was first picked up by police in a raid on a drinking party which involved two families and almost 30 children of high school age in a West End apartment in 1936, told Patrolmen McCarthy and Michalak that she met the two men in the Trianon ballroom last midnight and, with two other girls, agreed to go for a ride.

Driver Fined

Her pick-up escorts drove the other girls to their home in Elm street, and then took her for a ride in the county. The party stopped at a beer place near Holland, O., and later the driver was arrested by the Adams township marshal, V. Emerson, and brought before Justice Ray Gedert, on the charge of running through a red traffic light at Hill avenue and Byrne road, the girl said.

Justice Gedert reported he fined a man costs of $7 on this charge early today.

After leaving Justice Gedert's court, the men drove back to the city and stopped at a night club in Adams street, the girl said.

Girl Tells of Struggle

From there, the men drove her out Manhattan boulevard, where they stopped the automobile. One of the men then held her while the other attempted to attack her, she told police. After a struggle she managed to get out of the machine and ran to the home of Mr. Logan, she said.

The girl will be questioned today

Purse Thief Fells Woman

Victim, 65, Resists, Is Dragged by Thug

A 65-year-old woman was knocked to the street and dragged several feet late Saturday by a thief after she resisted his attempt to steal her purse in the 1200 block of Jefferson avenue.

The victim, Mrs. Laura B. Rison, Fortune drive, Shoreland addition, was taken to Flower hospital with a hip injury.

She told Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak the man seized her purse as she was about to enter an apartment building at 1217 Jefferson avenue to visit a friend, Mrs. Lyda Stone. When she clutched it, the man dragged her to the ground, snatched the purse containing about 75 cents from her grasp and fled.

A passerby, Donald Nettleton, 123 Thirteenth street, chased the thief to Washington and Thirteenth streets where he lost him. Mrs. Rison described her assailant as about 22 years old.

Mary Smith, 323 Locust street, told police she was robbed of her purse containing $3.50 late Saturday in front of her home by a man who pointed a pistol at her and said, "I'll take your purse." He fled in an auto with another man, she reported.

$265 IS SEIZED IN CAFE HOLDUP

15 Patrons Forced Into Rest Room By Three Armed Bandits.

Three armed men held up the Friendly Bar, 1301 Jackson Street, at 1:45 a. m. today and escaped with $265 after forcing 15 patrons into a rest room.

Pauline Panchot, 24, of 311 Havre Street, a waitress, was standing at the end of the bar when the men entered. One of them approached her and asked for the bartender while the other two herded the patrons in the rest room. All three men were armed with pistols, witnesses said.

Irving Brauer, 2455 Franklin Avenue, owner of the cafe, who was in the kitchen, heard the robbery and Miss Panchot for the bartender and came into the room. The thug forced him to give up $200 from the register and $65 from his pocket. Mr. Brauer told Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak.

David Delamotte, 23, of 909 Peck Street, attendant in the Red Head Service Station, 60 Main Street, was robbed of $40 at 2:10 a. m. today by a gunman.

said. "But I've gotten nowhere. I'm still a patrolman."

"Maybe my boy will do better." John McCarthy Jr. recently took the police examinations and his parents hope their only son will soon be wearing a uniform like his father's. John Jr., now unemployed, was married last June.

"JOHN MACK" PONDERS

"My boy is only 21," said John McCarthy Sr., who retains his boyish appearance along with the youthful figure of "John Mack," as he was known in his professional boxing days 20 years ago. "The kid has his life ahead of him and maybe he will get somewhere on the force."

"As for myself, I am beginning to get discouraged. It still is my ambition to be a detective some day, but for some reason I can't make it."

"I have been practicing to be a detective, giving my own time, using my own car and burning my own gasoline. But all I've got out of it has been the practice. It sort of breaks a man's spirit after 15 years."

ON HOODLUM SQUAD

McCarthy was on the Hoodlum Squad which broke up the notorious Licavoli gang.

"The Hoodlum Squad was on the job for 25 months, and when the hoodlums were all rounded up we were told to go back to foot duty because there was no more need for a Hoodlum Squad."

And Patrolman McCarthy laughed at his luck.

McCarthy said he was sorry for the "wire bandits."

TOO WEAK TO RESIST

"They were too weak to resist temptation," he said. "I hate to see anybody go to the penitentiary, but maybe it will do these fellows some good. They're worth salvaging."

"I hope 'Red' Dye (Ernest H. Dye, one of the bandits) doesn't get a long hitch. He has never been in a scrape like this before, and I don't think he is exactly a bad fellow."

The policeman suggested the prisoners might be entitled to some consideration "because they came through like gentlemen."

"They confessed when I told them I had the goods on them," he declared. "I didn't treat 'em rough, and I think it's easier to get a confession by being decent instead of saying to a prisoner: 'Sit down in that chair! Now tell me what you know about this case or I'll sock you on the nose.'"

McCarthy's blue eyes sparkled as he recalled an amusing incident of rookie days.

"A runaway horse caused a lot of excitement at Central and Lawrence Avenues," he related. "It collided with an auto and broke the windshield. No less a person than W. S. Knudsen, now the head man of General Motors, was driving the car. I caught the horse with a piece of taffy."

Half of Patrolman McCarthy's day off slipped by. He looked at the clock and said to his wife:

"Mother, I think I better go to the police school at the Y. M. C. A. They're going to have a lecture on first aid. Maybe I'll get some good out of it."

"It's my ambition to be a detective."

By VLADIMIR POSVAR

Patrolman John McCarthy, who has seen younger policemen rise above him in rank since he joined the force on his 30th birthday 15 years ago, today expressed hope that his feat in tracking down the "wire bandits" will help him realize his boyhood ambition.

At 45, John McCarthy still dreams of becoming a detective.

McCarthy got the day off as a reward for capturing the three men who have been terrorizing filling stations since the turn of the year.

Coatless and with white shirt unbuttoned at the collar, he spent most of the morning sitting in front of his fireplace at 744 Colburn Street. And he wondered whether he hasn't been a failure.

"Police work has been my heart and soul for the last 15 years," he

15-year-old girl rescued in shack

TOLEDO, O.—The grim arm of the law, in the persons of Detective James Ford and Policewoman Margaret Slater, reached into a hovel in a dump grounds. A 36-year-old man claiming the shanty as his home was arrested for investigation and a 15-year-old girl found in the place was taken to the Child Study Institute.

Later the police arrested the girl's mother, a 36-year-old woman and charged her with "contributing to the delinquency" of a minor. The police report said the girl's parents separated recently and the mother and daughter had been living in an automobile near the dumping ground.

Patsy, coming to Toledo from Indiana where he won the state amateur featherweight championship, was one of the best looking prospects in his division this town had seen for some time. Dalley became manager of Patsy but the youngster met an untimely end. He took a bout at Zanesville without Dalley's knowledge and Phil O'Dowd, then at his best, gave Patsy such a throuncing that the lad died soon after reaching home.

After Patsy died, Joe became manager of a number of fighters. He has looked after the interests of Battling Doyle, Butch Carr, Ben Henry, Billy Denman, Eddie O'Brien, Toughy Mayne, Jack Darry, Bob Binkley, Battling Jenkle and he is even listed as a member of that countless brigade, the ex-managers of Chuck Feldman.

When Lee Corns purchased the Toledo Athletic club from Ad Thatcher, Joe went to the club as matchmaker and secretary and during that time brought such fighters to Toledo as Joe Sekyra, Champion Sammy Mandell, Champion Tod Morgan, Lew Tendler, Phil McGraw, Charlie O'Connell and a number of other top-notchers. He also assisted Corns in managing Don Boyer, Jack Duffy, Babe Keller, Joe Paeko and Jack Pinney and is still affiliated with Corns in the club.

Man Released In Draft Case

Toledoan Agrees to Complete Report

A 33-year-old Indiana avenue man was released by federal officials yesterday following his arrest on charges of failure to fill out his questionnaire under the Selective Service act.

The man was arrested by Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalsak, who said he became arrogant when they found him in the 800 block of Dorr street. He was taken to the Federal building where he was released after questioning by Paul Manton, assistant U. S. attorney. Mr. Manton, who said it was the first instance of any Lucas county registrant refusing to fill out his questionnaire, ordered his release when the man said he did not understand the requirements but would comply with them in the future. Officials of Selective Service Board 9 told officials the man had filled out his questionnaire only after several requests to report at the board to complete it.

Wire Bandit Gang Confesses 10 Gas Station Holdups

Toledo's picture-wire bandits—three gunmen whose crimes have baffled authorities since the beginning of the year—today confessed the shotgun robberies of 10 local service stations, after two of the trio were arrested last midnight through the efforts of Patrolman John McCarthy.

The shotgun itself, a short-barrelled weapon which was used unloaded in all of the holdups, gave the first clue to the identity of the gunmen, Patrolman McCarthy said. The arrests culminated three weeks of special investigation during which McCarthy worked night and day in his off duty hours.

Two of the suspects, Ernest H. Dye, alias James McCreary, 28, of 320 Fourteenth street, and George (Ace) Gilmore, 21, of 101 Michigan street, were taken into custody by Patrolman McCarthy and Detective James Ford as they came out of a beer parlor near Erie and Adams streets, a few minutes before midnight. The men offered no resistance.

JOHN MCCARTHY

Holdup Cars "Borrowed"

The other suspect John Cherry, 29, colored, of 232 Indiana avenue, was arrested by the same officers, Thursday night in a Michigan street garage where he is employed, and from which point all of the robbery expeditions originated, according to the police.

In a detailed confession to Patrolman McCarthy and Detective Ford early today, Dye told of the unique method used by the gang to evade police as they held up the local service stations and tied the station attendants with picture-wire or shoe laces.

Automobiles used in the holdups were "borrowed" from the garage where Cherry is employed after their owners had taken them there for servicing or storage.

The fact that a different automobile was used in almost every crime made it difficult for police scout crews to spot the cars after descriptions had been broadcast.

Patrolman McCarthy, who was transferred from scout car duty to foot patrol in the downtown district Jan. 1, first learned of the theft of the shotgun from a downtown place of business three weeks ago, and his investigation of the theft led him to the suspects.

After he had trailed Cherry to the garage where he is employed, and where Gilmore formerly was employed, the policeman observed the actions of the men for several nights and noticed that, with Dye, they went out together in different automobiles. The officer followed the suspects to various beer parlors and night spots throughout the city and noticed, that although two of the men were unemployed, all seemed to have spending money.

Shotgun Found

Last night, with Detective Ford, Officer McCarthy found the sawed-off shotgun hidden beneath a radiator in the Michigan street garage. It was the last piece of evidence he needed and the Dye and Gilmore arrests were made immediately.

HOLDUP WEAPON FOUND

Officer McCarthy Captures Trio Of Gunmen.

Toledo's picture-wire bandits—three gunmen whose crimes have baffled authorities since the beginning of the year—today confessed the shotgun robberies of 10 local service stations, after two of the trio were arrested last midnight through the efforts of Patrolman John McCarthy.

The shotgun itself, a short-barrelled weapon which was used unloaded in all of the holdups, gave the first clue to the identity of the gunmen, Patrolman McCarthy said. The arrests culminated three weeks of special investigation during which McCarthy worked night and day in his off duty hours.

Two of the suspects, Ernest H. Dye, alias James McCreary, 28, of 320 Fourteenth street, and George (Ace) Gilmore, 21, of 101 Michigan street, were taken into custody by Patrolman McCarthy and Detective James Ford as they came out of a beer parlor near Erie and Adams streets, a few minutes before midnight. The men offered no resistance.

Holdup Cars "Borrowed"

The other suspect, John Cherry, 29, colored, of 232 Indiana avenue, was arrested by the same officers, Thursday night in a Michigan street garage where he is employed, and from which point all of the robbery expeditions originated, according to the police.

In a detailed confession to Patrolman McCarthy and Detective Ford early today, Dye told of the unique method used by the gang to evade police as they held up the local service stations and tied the station attendants with picture-wire or shoe laces.

Automobiles used in the holdups were "borrowed" from the garage where Cherry is employed after their owners had taken them there for servicing or storage.

Toledo Wire Bandits Confess Robberies Of 10 Gas Stations

After the two were confronted with the evidence against them and identified by two of their recent victims, Dye announced he was ready to make a full confession.

"I'll be glad to get it over with," the confessed gunman said.

Dye explained that neither he nor his companions were individually responsible for the planning of the robberies, but said they had just drifted together and talked things over.

"We weren't working steady," Dye said in his confession. "None of us had any money. We had looked the town over high and low for work and couldn't find enough to keep us eating, so we talked it over and decided to rob gasoline stations."

Loot Split 3 Ways

Further excerpts from his formal statement to police follow:

"The first job we pulled was the robbery of the Hi-Speed gasoline station in the Telegraph road at the state line. We used a black 1933 coupe. Gilmore, Cherry and I were together at this time. Gilmore went into the station to buy a box of fuses. I drove the car. Cherry entered the place second with the shotgun. (They bound Bernard Borck, the attendant with wire). I stayed in the car. They got $21 and we split the money three ways."

The description of another robbery by the trio follows:

"The next robbery was at the Lewis gas station, 4700 block of Detroit avenue. Gilmore and I drove to the station in a black 1932 sedan that we got through Cherry at the Michigan street garage. I drove to the station and went in first and asked for a package of gum.

"Gilmore followed with the shotgun and we made the attendant (C.

J. Pierce) lie on the floor and tied him with wire. I took about $130 from the cash drawer and we split it three ways. We also took the slot machines, two of them, and broke them open. All together, we got about $170."

Took Turns Driving

Dye admitted he handled the gun in several of the robberies, and that the trio took turns at driving the getaway cars. Cherry was not with the others in all of the holdups, they said.

After reading the confession made by Dye, Gilmore and Cherry both signed it. All three were charged with robbery, but a more serious charge may be placed against them today, Patrolman McCarthy said.

The shotgun used in all of the holdups had a barrel sawed off to a 16-inch length. Carrying such a weapon is a federal offense, police said.

Other service stations robbed by the trio included a Twentieth Century Oil Co. station in Phillips avenue; a Wizard gasoline station at Hawley street and Nebraska avenue; Twentieth Century stations at Fearing boulevard and Brown avenue and at Summit and Magnolia streets (two different visits were made to each of these.)

Wanted Big Money

"We had planned to get into the big money," Gilmore told a Blade reporter. "We were only getting $15 or $20 for each station holdup." Gilmore said the gang did not contemplate kidnaping as it was "too tough," but he indicated bank robbery might have been their vocation.

"I am glad McCarthy did it," Gilmore added, referring to his arrest and the arrest of his companions. "He is a square shooter and one cop you can't buy off."

Gilmore and Cherry, police said, have previous criminal records, although Cherry has been arrested previously only for minor offenses. Gilmore, at present, is at liberty under a five-year probationary sentence for burglary in Kinton, O. Dye has no criminal record. He came to Toledo several years ago from Oswego, Ind.

Capt. Charles (Spike) Hennessy, and Lieut. Albert W. Bernhagen, ranking officers on the 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. shift, congratulated Patrolman McCarthy on what they termed one of the finest clean-ups of a major robbery wave in years.

Patrolman McCarthy, although he stood among the lowest in the recent written examinations for sergeant's position, has one of the best records of duty in the department.

He never has been cited for misconduct of any kind since he joined the department in November, 1923. Arrests he has made have included the federal-local police raid which resulted in the capture of one of the largest counterfeiting rings ever to operate in the middle west.

First to Arrest Yonnie

Patrolman McCarthy was the first officer to arrest Thomas (Yonnie) Licavoli, who is now serving a life sentence in the Ohio penitentiary for local gang murders. Officer McCarthy took Licavoli into custody in the River road in March, 1931, after the slaying of James Leahy in West Toledo. The gangster, who then was unknown to police here, later was released.

The patrolman served 25 months on Capt. George Timiney's "hoodlum squad" which was used to suppress local gang activities in the prohibition era, and figured in some of the largest narcotics raids in Toledo's criminal history a few years ago.

Officer McCarthy's Good Work

THE work of Patrolman John McCarthy in the arrest of three men who are reported to have confessed 10 recent robberies shows meritorius initiative and resourcefulness. It would have been a great capture if made in the routine of his work. But the job was done almost single handed and was largely beyond his line of duty as a downtown patrolman. Much of his investigation was done on his time off. In the case, Officer McCarthy showed extraordinary zeal for law enforcement.

Back of his most recent feat, McCarthy has an excellent record. His showing on the hoodlum squad was outstanding. It should not be forgotten that he was the first to arrest the elusive Yonnie Licavoli.

Toledoans should be proud of Officer McCarthy. His 14-year record on the force is excellent. He did not stand high in the recent examinations for promotion. This probably emphasizes again that written tests mean something to determine police ratings but not everything.

TOLEDO, OHIO, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1938.

8 Victims Identify Wire Bandit Suspects

Trio Viewed At Showup Last Night By 18 Persons Held Up In Gas Stations

Three alleged "wire" bandits, two of whom were arrested Friday night by Patrolman John McCarthy after several weeks' investigation, were identified at a showup last night by eight victims of recent holdups, according to police.

The trio was viewed by 18 victims of holdups here in the last two months. Eight of the victims "positively identified" the suspects, detectives said.

The three men, the first one arrested Thursday night, confessed yesterday to more than 10 gasoline station robberies in Toledo and vicinity, according to detectives who said loot obtained in the robberies totaled more than $300.

The suspected bandits, George Bert (Ace) Gilmore, 21, of 101 Michigan street, John Cherry, 23, colored, of 232 Indiana avenue, and Ernest Dye, 28, of 320 Fourteenth street, have been charged with robbery.

The three men will be arraigned in municipal court tomorrow on the specific charge of holding up the filling station at Summit street and Broadway Jan. 27. George Spaulding, proprietor of the station, identified the trio last night as the bandits who held him up at the station, according to detectives.

Detectives Michael Rowan and Orrin Gonja said Gilmore confessed to breaking into Gordon's cafe, 901 Monroe street, Dec. 19, and taking $60 in cash, several quarts of liquor, tobacco and the contents of a cigarette machine.

Gilmore and Dye were identified yesterday by Charles Hess, Erie, Mich., as the men who held him up in his gasoline station a week ago, tied him hand and foot with shoelaces and escaped with several dollars in cash, according to Detective Arthur Eggert.

Patrolman McCarthy was complimented by Chief Ray E. Allen on a "fine piece of work." Congratulatory letters will be sent Patrolman McCarthy and Detective James Ford, who aided the officer in his investigation, Chief Allen said.

Identification bureau records reveal Gilmore served two terms in the Boys' Industrial school, Lancaster, O., in 1930 and 1933 for repeated truancy. He also served a 30-day sentence in the workhouse and was fined $200 and costs in October, 1937, on a petty larceny charge, according to records.

Cherry, according to Inspector John Louy of the identification bureau, was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse and was fined $100 and costs on a liquor charge Aug. 1, 1935. Dye has no record, according to police.

Patrolman Thrown From Motorcycle In Chase

Three days after he was assigned to the Motorcycle Squad, Patrolman John McCarthy was injured last night.

Chasing a speeder at 70 miles an hour in the 3500 block of Detroit Avenue, the front wheel of Patrolman McCarthy's motorcycle "began to wobble."

He was thrown from the machine and skidded several feet on his right shoulder, ripping his uniform. The motorcycle was 100 feet from where he was thrown.

Sergt. Vincent Kwapich took Patrolman McCarthy to the office of Dr. Paul R. Ensign, police physician, who treated him. He is confined to his home at 644 Colburn Street today with severe bruises.

Patrolman McCarthy instrumental in capturing Toledo's "wire bandit" gang, had been on foot patrol duty. He was taken off the motorcycle squad several months ago. Three days ago he was reassigned.

55 ARE HELD WHEN RAIDERS RENEW FORAYS

Gaming and Unlawful Assembly Charged;
 Police Crews Make Five Visits

Police raiders continued their war on gambling over the week-end, arresting 55 men in five resorts.

In a cigar store in 854 Central avenue, Detectives Ford and McBride and Patrolman McCarthy took H. C. Smith, N. 31, of 1821 Adams street, into custody on the charge of keeping a gambling house.

Fifteen men in the place were charged with gambling, and seven others with unlawful assembly.

The same detectives, with Special Officer Ramsey, arrested C. D. McElroy 37, as keeper of a gambling house in 640 Main street. Four men there were charged with gambling.

Restaurants Raided.

Sherman Coleman 37, colored, proprietor of a restaurant in 818 Lafayette street, was arrested by Ford and McBride on the charge of keeping a disorderly house and possessing gambling equipment.

James Holmes, 27, colored, of 640 East Woodruff avenue, was charged with possessing gambling devices and unlawful assembly. Seven white men and one colored man in the place were charged with unlawful assembly.

Detectives Droyer, Rogers, Korwin and Lucas say they followed a colored man into a place in 398 Indiana avenue and found a crap game in progress. Roonie Gillespie, 43, colored, of 366 Indiana avenue, was charged with keeping a gambling house, and eight other colored men with gambling.

Proprietor Is Held.

The fifth raid was in 1939 Cantor street, where Steve Harris, 51, colored, 521 East Woodruff avenue, was charged with keeping a gambling house. Seven colored men were charged with gambling.

3 Admit Gas Station Robberies

Foot Patrolman's Spare-Time
 'Detective Work' Results in Capture and Confessions

A policeman who devoted his leisure time to personal investigation solved Toledo's "wire bandit" case last night. The officer, Patrolman John McCarthy, obtained a full confession from three men who, since the first of the year, have held up 10 filling stations.

McCarthy is a foot patrolman and has been guarding the City Stores, Inc., 122 E. Woodruff Avenue, where a strike is in progress.

Three weeks ago he overheard a conversation that set him on the trail of the "wire bandits."

"SPARE-TIME" SLEUTHING

Patrolman McCarthy, a former member of the police hoodlum squad that smashed Toledo's infamous Licavoli gang, declined to reveal details of the conversation. He said, however, that it concerned the theft of a shotgun.

Because the "wire bandits" had used a shotgun in their robberies, Patrolman McCarthy became interested and began a personal investigation, he said.

During his off-duty hours, he questioned persons who might have had access to the gun; he trailed autos; he watched houses, garages and beer parlors. Finally the trail led him to a garage in the 100 block of Michigan Street.

ARREST NO. 1

Thursday, after he had reported off duty, Patrolman McCarthy asked Detective James Ford, a former schoolmate and police buddy to accompany him.

Detective Ford and his partner Detective Joseph Daly, and McCarthy went to the Michigan Street garage and found the shotgun hidden behind a radiator.

They arrested John Cherry, 2 of 232 Indiana Avenue, an attendant in the garage.

Cherry, at that time, denied participation in the holdups, but Patrolman McCarthy had learned Cherry had been in a position to take the shotgun.

Toledo's "shoestring" bandits struck four times over the week-end and made good their escape with several hundred dollars in cash and a quantity of cigars.

One of the bandit pair entered the Lewis Gas Station, 4700 Detroit Avenue, early yesterday and asked for a package of gum. When C. J. Pierce, 1515 Bell Avenue, the attendant, turned his back to get the gum, the second bandit entered with a sawed-off shotgun and forced him to lie on the floor.

The pair then bound his feet with wire and his hands with shoestrings. They helped themselves to $20 from the cash register, to $120 left in the station by a driver for the McDowell Driveaway Co., emptied a cigaret vending machine and fled.

Mr. Pierce worked himself free and called police. His description of one of the bandits tallied with that given by Harold Suller, 37 4156 Lewis Avenue, attendant at the Mobile filling station at Cherry Street and Ferris Avenue, who was slugged and robbed Saturday night.

Mr. Suller said the bandit posed

Toledo Swindle Ring

Man, 35, Accused In $15,000 Fraud, Nabbed In Indiana

Police Officers Sent to South Bend To Bring Back Alleged Member Of Stock Deal Band.

A 35-year-old Toledoan who was arrested last night in South Bend, Ind., in connection with the swindle of a Lakewood, O., couple last spring, is being brought here today by city police.

Thomas J. O'Connor, Lucas County Prosecutor, said the suspect is Frank Orr, and he is charged in a grand jury indictment with obtaining money by false pretenses.

Mr. O'Connor said Orr is named in the indictment only by the name of George. He explained that when the jury considered the evidence, the suspect's real name was unknown.

The indictment charges that Orr, John Rumer and Louis Maras obtained $15,000 from Mr and Mrs. O. L. Swalley, Lakewood, O., through a false stock market transaction, Mr. O'Connor said.

The Prosecutor would not reveal what part Orr played in the alleged swindle but said that he was an important figure in the operations of the ring. Deputies and police made a fruitless trip to Elkhart, Ind., early this week in search of Orr, according to the Prosecutor.

Informed of Orr's arrest last night at 10:30 p. m., Mr. O'Connor sent Patrolman John McCarthy and Detectives Harry Manson and William Fiske to South Bend. At the same time he dispatched Deputies Ray Flood and Emmet O'Reilly to Lakewood with photographs of Orr.

Prosecutor O'Connor said he had received word today from the deputies that Mr. and Mrs. Swalley had identified photographs of Orr as being one of the men who had contacted them in connection with the alleged swindle.

The Prosecutor said he had been informed by Officer McCarthy that Orr had waived extradition and was being brought to Toledo today.

Rumer, whose arrest several weeks ago revealed that a ring of swindlers was operating in Toledo, is at liberty under a $10,000 bond. Search is being made for Maras and another suspect.

An investigation which linked police officers with the swindlers started shortly after several swindlers were exposed here. Officials both from the county and city denied later that the probe had involved police officers with the gang.

POLICE GROUP VOTES $200 RELIEF CHECK

Money to Be Given City For Aid of Indigents.

Members of the Fraternal Order of Police late today will present a check for $200 to George N. Schoonmaker, City Manager, to be used by the city for relief purposes.

The policemen voted to take the money from the organization's relief fund. The group is sponsoring a musical show and dance in the Naval Armory, Nov. 18.

Officers and trustees who will visit Mr. Schoonmaker's office for the presentation are Capt. Clarence Fauble, state president; Patrolman Howell Tice, local president; Sergt. James Livingston, financial secretary; Lieut.-Clerk Jack Underwood, recording secretary; and Sergt. Clint Knudel, Detective Joseph Daly, Patrolman John McCarthy and Patrolman M. A. Davey, trustees.

Sleuths Arrest Two in Melee Third Man Escapes From Officers

Two men were arrested yesterday and a companion escaped after striking a city detective who accused the trio of coming to Toledo to get control of disorderly houses.

A crowd witnessed the melee at Jefferson avenue and Michigan street. One of the men drew a knife and threatened Detective John McCarthy, the detective said. While the suspect was threatening the detective, another of the trio struck the detective and then fled. Detective McCarthy said he drew his gun, but was unable to shoot because of bystanders.

The two arrested by Detective McCarthy and his partner, Detective John Michalak, were held on suspicion. They are both 28.

Secret Indictments Name 15 in Swindle Rings

Reported Gangs Operated From Downtown Headquarters Over Two-Year Period. Names Are Withheld.

Secret indictments naming 15 members of two rings of swindlers were filed with William Renz, clerk of Common Pleas today by the Lucas County Grand Jury.

The indictments are a result of an investigation by Thomas J. O'Connor, County Prosecutor. He has been investigating by Deputy Sheriff Ray Flood, Patrolman John McCarthy and city detectives.

Mr. O'Connor would not reveal the names of those indicted nor the identity of their victims. He reported the gangs operated from several downtown hotels over a two-year period, swindling residents of Ohio and Michigan.

The swindlers employed various schemes to mulch their victims, resorting to a plan involving a fake stock market transaction.

MRS. FAUBLE HEADS POLICE AUXILIARY

Officers Elected, Inducted By New Organization.

Mrs. Clarence L. Fauble, wife of Captain Fauble, state president of the Fraternal Order of Police, was elected temporary president of the local organization's auxiliary last night at a meeting and installation in Odd Fellows' Temple, Tenth and Jackson Streets.

Three hundred women, wives of present and retired officers, were admitted to membership in the auxiliary here. Officers and a degree team from the Cleveland auxiliary came to Toledo to institute the local lodge. About 200 guests, many from out of town, also attended the meeting and party which followed.

Other officers elected temporarily to head the local auxiliary are Mrs. Howell Tice, vice president; Mrs. Charles DuShane, second vice president; Mrs. Robert Braunschweiger, recording secretary; Mrs. Millard Hartley, financial secretary; Mrs. Frank Peters, chaplain; Mrs. Jesse Nickel, conductor; Mrs. Edward Miller, inner guard; Mrs. John McCarthy, outer guard.

DIANAPOLIS

KIN MEET AFTER 32 YEARS

John Groden, 80, of Tulsa, Okla., is here for his first visit in 32 years with his sister, Mrs. Kathryn Davis, of 2811 Lagrange Street. They are shown above in Mrs. Davis' home. Mr. Groden is blind. He is also visiting another sister here, Mrs. Theresa Demall, Bay View Park. Motorcycle Patrolman John McCarthy is his nephew and Mrs. Alice Sandy is his niece. He last saw his sisters at the funeral of another sister in Chicago 32 years ago. He plans to make his home with his sisters.

Commendable Public Service

Last Friday night Patrolman John McCarthy closed in on the "wire bandits" which had been terrorizing Toledo service stations for several months.

Patrolman McCarthy's capture, with the assistance of Detective James Ford, was not something into which he had stumbled. It was the result of ingenious detective work, most of which was done during his hours off duty.

Patrolman McCarthy is an alert thinker. He puts one fact along side another, then compares them. If they seem related, he looks for the next clue. This is how he solved the mystery of the "wire bandits." Plain, clear thinking, so important in detective work, helped him to do a job which Toledo citizens have wanted done for a long time.

The city manager government is putting stress on merit. It probably will not overlook this excellent, and voluntary, piece of work done by Mr. McCarthy.

Every enforcement officer knows there are few mysteries which defy solution. But it requires work, lots of it, to dig through dozens of meaningless clues to find the few weak threads of evidence needed for an arrest.

If there are medals to be given this year in Toledo for meritorious public service, Mr. McCarthy should be considered.

And if Chief Ray Allen, and City Manager Edy, ever find occasion to scan the rolls of the police department in search of talent in view of filling a job with responsibility, they can recall the work of this man who solved a crime, not for the pay he gets, but simply because he wanted it solved. Mr. McCarthy gets things done.

WUMAN GRABS PURSE IN SHOP

Teacher's Pocketbook Is Taken From Desk In Cherry School.

Mrs. W. L. Rabideau, 757 Brinton Drive, reported to police last night that her purse was grabbed by a woman, who appeared to be about 65 years old, while she was shopping in a Sylvanis Avenue drug store.

Mrs. Rabideau said the purse contained several articles of jewelry valued at $17, bank claims and books, insurance papers and $3.

Miss Virginia Brown, 1638 Woodwood Road, teacher in Cherry School, reported to police yesterday afternoon that her purse containing $9.75 and papers was taken from her desk while she was out of the room. She said she thought it was an outsider who was in the building rather than any of the pupils.

2 Boys Captured In Store Burglary

Two suspects, one 18 and the other 19, were captured early today in Chestnut Street near Page Street by Patrolmen John McCarthy and Howell Tice, a block and a half from a grocery at 1207 Sherman Street, which they had just burglarized.

The loot, 30 cartons of cigars was recovered by the policemen in the rear of 1223 Sherman Street. The robbers entered the store by breaking a window.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Teltsbaum, proprietors, who live in the rear were not awakened by the crashing window but were aroused by police after the men had been captured. Neighbors called police.

NO BABY IN THE HOUSE

No baby in the house, I know,
'Tis far too nice and clean.
No toys, by careless fingers strewn,
Upon the floors are seen.
No finger-marks are on the panes,
No scratches on the chairs;
No wooden men set up in rows,
Or marshaled off in pairs.
No little stockings to be darned,
All ragged at the toes
No pile of mending to be done,
Made up of baby clothes;
No little troubles to be soothed,
No little hands to fold;
No grimy fingers to be washed;
No stories to be told;
No tender kisses to be given;
No nicknames, "Dove" and "Mouse;"
No merry frolics after tea—
No baby in the house!

Invalid, Six Other Persons Forced Into Cold by Blaze

Fireman Assists Aged Man to Safety as Roof Burns
From Duplex in 12-Above Zero Temperature;
Short Circuit Blamed for Fire.

An aged man was aided to safety and six others were forced to leave their apartments in a duplex at 2146-48 Glenwood Avenue, yesterday at 8:45 a. m. when flames caused by a short circuit in the attic destroyed the roof of the building.

Charles Knox, 84, resident of the first floor, was aided in leaving the building by Sergt. Martin Maher. Mr. Knox has been ill and was in bed when the fire started. Mrs. Knox and two daughters, Ida and Hazel, left the building as did Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Nutt and Miss Dorothy Brownell, occupants of the second floor apartment. All were given refuge in the homes of neighbors. The temperature at the time was 12 above zero.

Soon after the first fire truck reached the scene, District Chief William Flynn sent in a call for another pumper and the rescue squad under Lieut. Arnold Papenhagen. Loss on the furnishings was held down through the efforts of Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak, who carried out furniture and covered the rest with tarpaulins.

Display Damaged

An estimate of $2,500 damage on the building was given by Chief Flynn. Damage to the furnishings was estimated at $200 on both apartments.

A blaze believed to have been caused by a short circuit in the wiring of display window lights caused damage estimated at $225 late yesterday to the Gross Electric Fixture Co., 136 Summit Street.

Albert F. Gartz, deputy fire chief, said the fire destroyed a Christmas display of electrical fixtures and appliances.

Firemen were called to Nevada Street and East Broadway yesterday after alcohol in the radiator of an automobile driven by Bernard Jaeger, 512 Oswald Street, boiled over and ignited on the motor.

Chimney Sparks Blamed

Sparks from the chimney were blamed by firemen for a blaze that yesterday damaged the home of Mrs. C. White, 2135 Maplewood Avenue. Chief Flynn estimated damage at $25.

Damage of $20 was caused by fire which started from sparks from the chimney at the home of C. B. Shimmers, 3851 Bellevue Road, yesterday.

An electric iron caused a $5 fire in the home of E. L. Boyer, 3146 Parkwood Avenue, yesterday. The blaze was discovered by members of the family. Chief Flynn said the iron burned through the ironing board and fell to the floor.

Firemen were called to the home of Chase Haworth, 1726 Brussels Street, at 6:45 a. m. today when sparks from the chimney set fire to the roof causing $5 damage, according to Frank Carson, district fire chief.

Mrs. Lucy Wilson Estate Is $8,505

Appraisal of the estate of Mrs. Lucy Crawford Wilson, teacher of Walbridge School, who died Oct. 29 filed in Probate Court today discloses it to be worth $8,505. The estate consisted of personal property valued at $1,909, money, $1,475, stock and securities, $3,982, bank account, $1,007, and real estate, $850.

Ford Verdict Studied By Commission

Hearing of Detective Is Marked By 9-19 Clashes

The city civil service commission last night concluded its hearing of the appeal of Detective James Ford on his recent 30-day suspension and will give a decision case tomorrow afternoon.

The detective was suspended by Acting Safety Director Arnold DeFrance on charges of being absent without leave and conduct unbecoming an officer arising out of a trip taken to Arkansas to return a prisoner to face grand larceny charges.

Prosecutor Witness

Yesterday's hearing lasted more than six hours and was marked by frequent clashes. Detective Ford and his attorney, Charles McLaughlin, battled verbally with J. Slater Gibson, assistant law director representing the city, and Police Chief Ray E. Allen, also present.

Witnesses were the defendant, Thomas J. O'Connor, Lucas county prosecutor; Jerome Jesionowski, assistant county prosecutor; Deputy Sheriff Joseph Yeager; Patrolman John McCarthy; Harold H. Polick, chief radio dispatcher, and Henry Sheffield, assistant dispatcher, in the Police and Fire Alarm building.

Ordered To Report

The defendant, on advice of his counsel, had refused to report back for duty after expiration of his suspension Sept. 4 on grounds it might jeopardize his chances in appeal. The commission yesterday ordered him to report back to Chief Allen at once.

Detective Ford testified he had advised Mrs. Myrtle Bender, victim of the larceny for which he went to Arkansas to swear out a warrant for Joe Mangus, the prisoner, in the county prosecutor's office because she "had received no cooperation from the police department." He said that the police "kind of run her around. . . so I took it upon myself to find the whereabouts" of the prisoner. Asked by Philip Morphy member of the commission, if citizens often received the "run around" from the department, Detective Ford said that they frequently did.

MAN STABBED IN ABDOMEN

Declares Knife Wielder Jumped From Auto To Assault Him.

Frank Jones, 35, of Springfield, O., was stabbed in the abdomen at 7:30 last night when he reprimanded a Toledo man for having shouted abusive language at him.

Mr. Jones informed Detective John McCarthy he was driving in Summit Street with a party of friends and relatives when an occupant of a passing car shouted insults.

Slabbed Twice

At Broadway and Knapp Street Mr. Jones said he stopped his car and stepped out to speak to the men in the other machine, which had halted for a traffic light.

One of the men, he told the detective, jumped out, stabbed him in the abdomen and chest with a pocket knife and ran back to the car. Not realizing the seriousness of his injuries, Mr. Jones said, he accepted apologies from the driver of the other car and drove away.

Later, he said he became weak and stopped at the office of a Broadway physician. He was given first aid and taken to St. Vincent's Hospital in a police ambulance.

Suspect Is Arrested

Members of Mr. Jones' party, which included his wife, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Davo, 610 1/2 Western Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. William Walker, Springfield, gave the license number of the automobile to Detective McCarthy. They said it carried a Michigan number.

A 40-year-old man living in Broadway was arrested at 10 p. m. by Detective McCarthy and Patrolman Eugene Louy in a Broadway cafe after the automobile had been located outside.

The prisoner, Detective McCarthy said, admitted stabbing Mr. Jones, but attempted to pass the incident off as "just a fight." He is held on suspicion.

2 Boys Prefer Juvenile Home To a Spanking

Two Miami street brothers, 11 and 13, preferred the juvenile home yesterday to a possible spanking from their father.

The boys wandered into St. Anthony's orphanage, Cherry street, and told the Rev. Michael J. Doyle that they were adopted children and had been brought to Toledo from Muncie, Ind., by their "foster parents." They told Father Doyle that their new parents had sent them into a downtown department store to buy candy and when they came out their guardians had left.

Father Doyle fed the boys and called police Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak questioned the brothers and learned that their story was untrue. Instead the boys told the officers they had been sent by their father to search for a dog and were afraid to return home when they could not find it.

Juvenile authorities said they would investigate home conditions of the boys.

6-STORY PLUNGE KILLS WOMAN

Tentative Verdict Of Suicide Given; Notes Found in Hotel.

A woman identified as Mrs. Adelaide Phillips, Detroit, was killed last night in a 75-foot fall from a sixth floor room of the Fort Meigs Hotel, 222 St. Clair Street. Coroner Frank G. Krefl gave a tentative verdict of suicide.

James M. Hall, 2537 Cherry Street, night postal clerk in the Old Federal Building nearby, found the body in an alley behind the hotel shortly before 11 p. m. and summoned Patrolman Elmer Krueger from his post at St. Clair Street and Madison Avenue.

Notes Are Found

Except for a shoe which had been torn from one foot, the body was fully dressed. Dr. Krefl expressed the opinion that Mrs. Phillips had fallen on her feet. Bones throughout her body were broken, he said.

Police Capt. Frank J. Baumgartner, Sergt. Donald L. McGregor, and Detective John McCarthy made a room-to-room search of the four upper floors of the 10-story building before discovering Mrs. Phillips' quarters on the sixth floor. The room was locked from the inside. A window and its screen stood open.

On a bed stand the officers found an envelope addressed to the hotel manager and slips of paper addressed to Mrs. M. Hoffstadt, Toledo; Mrs. D. H. Eppstein, 2054 Glenwood Avenue; Duane Bernstein, Detroit, and William Klein, Toledo attorney.

Inquest Planned

Mrs. Hoffstadt and Mrs. Eppstein were identified as aunts of Mrs. Phillips and Bernstein as a relative by marriage.

The envelope addressed to the hotel manager contained $10 and a notation requesting that the money be used to pay Mrs. Phillips' room bill. She registered Sunday night.

Dr. Krefl ordered the body taken to the Zimmerman Mortuary and named an inquest.

CYCLE OFFICER HURT IN CRASH

McCarthy Thrown From Vehicle in Chase At High Speed.

Motorcycle Patrolman John McCarthy, 644 Colburn Street, was injured last night when he lost control of his motorcycle while pursuing a motorist at 70 miles an hour north in the 3500 block of South Detroit Avenue.

The officer reported that as he started to pull around the motorist the front wheel of his vehicle began to vibrate and he lost control. He was thrown into a ditch and suffered a shoulder injury, bruises and a face laceration. The officer was taken home. The motorcycle slid 100 feet, he said.

Patrolman McCarthy was transferred to motorcycle duty from foot patrol Monday.

Suit Answer Asked of City

Method of Garbage Disposal Attacked

The city yesterday was given by Judge Roy R. Stuart until next Saturday to file answers in the two suits attacking the present method of garbage disposal.

The order was made by Judge Stuart when the cases came up for consideration on motions for temporary injunctions to prevent the city from selling or otherwise disposing of garbage to hog raisers. The suits demand that the city make use of the two incinerators built for that purpose. A report of Dr. Millard Hanson, city health commissioner, made to council, condemns hauling garbage to hog farms.

Health Menace Cited

One suit was filed by Ernest Rieger, 1608 South avenue, as a taxpayer, citing the health menace of the hog feeding method of garbage disposal. This suit cites the dangers of trichinosis resulting from human consumption of such pork.

The other suit was filed by Bruce Tibbets, owner of a farm near Holland, O., whose next door neighbor, Clyde Darrow, feeds the garbage to his hogs. Mr. Tibbets seeks $10,000 damages as well as the injunction against the city saying a commercial picnic and camping ground on his farm has been rendered useless by the odor, flies and rats resulting from the garbage hauling.

Early Trial Assured

Judge Stuart said the case will be given to the assignment commissioner as soon as the answers are filed, and will be tried on its merits, probably in two or three weeks.

Attorney Wesley Thurston represents the plaintiffs; Assistant Law Director Harvey Straub represents the city. Attorney Jesse Healy represents the city.

POLICE GUARD BOY SUSPECT

Youth With Wounded Foot Is Being Treated In Hospital.

A police guard has been placed over a 16-year-old youth who was admitted to County Hospital yesterday for treatment of a gunshot wound in his foot.

The youth is believed to be one of three thieves who escaped Wednesday night after Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak found them breaking open vending machines in a stolen automobile in Brigham Street near Clay Street. The patrolmen said they fired several shots at the trio and one of the fugitives stumbled as if he had been struck.

Hospital attendants were told by the suspect that he was accosted by two men in Palmwood Avenue early yesterday and was shot in the foot after they found he had no money.

Physicians will remove the pellet lodged in the youth's foot and a comparison will be made with bullets fired from the patrolmen's guns.

as a customer. After entering the station, he struck him on the head with a tool when he turned his back, bound him and escaped with the contents of the cash drawer.

TAXI DRIVER ROBBED

The same bandits are believed to have robbed two taxi drivers early yesterday. James Bodi, 715 Indiana Avenue, a Knight Cab driver, picked up the pair at 3:30 a. m. at St. Clair Street and Madison Avenue.

He drove them to a Vance Street address, where they held him up with a gun and took $6 from him. Then they ordered him to drive to 17th and Adams Street where they forced him from the machine and drove away.

Mr. Bodi reported he later saw the pair leave his cab and enter another Knight machine, driven by Robert Norman, 1452 Lakewood Avenue.

FORCED FROM CAB

Mr. Norman drove them to the Dura Co. plant at Detroit Avenue and Matzinger Road, where they robbed him of $8. En route back to town they forced the driver from the cab at Lagrange Street and Ten Mile Creek.

Walter Flanagan, 31 19th Street, another cab driver, was robbed of $7.70 early yesterday by two men he picked up at Lagrange and Park Streets. They later abandoned the taxi at Pearl and Lagrange Streets.

Also held up was Louis Wallace, 1803 1-2 Adams Street, a Yellow Cab driver, who said three men hailed him at 14th and Adams Streets, and held him up at S. 11th Street and the Nickel Plate Railroad crossing and robbed him of small change.

A GAS STATION JOBS

Detectives Clair Powers and Frank De Lora, assigned to the series of filling station robberies—there has been a total of seven since mid-January—said today the "shoestring" bandits figured in at least four of them.

The bandits are described by victims as both about 25 years of age. One—about 5 feet, 8 inches tall, and weighing about 175 pounds—invariably wears a blue overcoat and a gray hat. The second, slightly taller, wears a blue overcoat and hat.

The detectives have brought several suspects to police headquarters for questioning, but none has been held.

First of the current series of gas station stickups was at Lagrange and Mettler Streets the night of Jan. 13 when a lone gunman took $27 from Harry Czubek, the attendant.

MAN SHOT IN BACK

Samuel Haddad, 45, of 833 Huron Street, was held up and shot in the back by a robber who fled from his filling station at Locust and Huron Streets Jan. 21 with $5.

The "shoestring" pair held up, and bound Gordon LaPoint, attendant at Scribner's filling station in Sylvania, and escaped with $29 Jan. 23. The following night they robbed Lowell Sheriff, 21, of 3518 Detroit Avenue, operator of a station on Fearing Boulevard near Brown Avenue. They bound him with wire and shoe-strings and took $50 from the cash drawer.

On Jan. 27, three nights later, another pair of gunmen paid Mr. Sheriff a visit and escaped with $30 after trussing him up.

BRIDGE BUYERS CAN'T TAKE IT

2 Toledo Engineers Find City Had No Right To Sell Span.

Karl Wohleb, 4514 290th Street and George Kircher, 604 Howland Avenue, construction engineers, bought a bridge from the city and backed their truck up to the span today to haul it away.

They had the receipt for their money, $180, but they didn't get the bridge. The city, it appears, neglected to obtain permission of the bridge owner, R. J. Carland, 4060 324th Street, to sell the span and Mr. Carland has the deed to it.

Produces Deed

That's what Patrolmen John Michalak and John McCarthy ran into when they were called to the bridge, over a lagoon in 324th Street between 146th and 149th Streets, to prevent the bridge being carried away for junk.

Mr. Carland said the bridge is his and produced the deed to prove it. Mr. Wohleb and Mr. Kircher waved a receipt, signed by Ward Waltz, buyer for the city division of purchases and supplies.

The construction engineers said they first had approached the Division of Harbors and Bridges and were referred to D. E. A. Cameron, city purchasing agent. Mr. Cameron, they said, told them to return in a few days and when they did, authorized the sale.

Private Property

The policemen called Mr. Cameron today to inform him of the difficulty and he told them to inform Mr. Carland to get an injunction if he wanted to halt the dismantling.

However, the officers read him a letter from William Harris, former service director, to Whitney Alexander, 6030 325th Street, and Mr. Cameron instructed Mr. Wohleb and Mr. Kircher to see him tomorrow.

The letter in response to a plea for city repair of the bridge, declared the span was private property and that the city could do nothing about it.

Suspect Faces Inquiry by FBI Man Believed Posing As Agent

The 24-year-old son of a former Toledo dentist will be questioned today by FBI agents in the belief he has been posing as a federal agent.

Detectives John Michalak and John McCarthy said they arrested the man in a Vance street place late Saturday after he questioned inmates about the "pay off" in Toledo "vice districts."

Searched at the Safety building where he was booked on suspicion, the man had in his possession a cheap camera, a blackjack, maps of several European countries, a book entitled, "How To Be A G-Man," and a "special policeman" badge, the detectives said.

The suspect declared he was discharged from the U. S. army at Fort Knox, Ky., in October, 1940, after serving three years.

Home Arson Plot Believed Foiled

Attempted arson of a South Erie Street home was believed frustrated yesterday when police discovered an excelsior-filled tin container on the porch.

Patrolmen John Michalak and John McCarthy reported they found the inflammable material against the front door of the home of Mrs.

Nellie Bordeaux, 608 South Erie Street.

The excelsior had been lighted, the officers said, but had burned out before igniting the building. Detective Edward Mecker and Inspector Earl Walterschied, fire prevention officer, are investigating.

DE ANGELO ORDERS DETECTIVE SHIFTS

Captain Timiney Returned To Desk Assignment.

Several changes in the duties of detectives were announced today by Edward A. DeAngelo, safety director, which followed a conference with Joseph Fruchey, acting chief of police.

Capt. George Timiney, who has been working on special assignment out of the safety director's office, will resume desk duties in the detective bureau. Detective Sgt. John McCarthy, who has been assigned to the director's office and has been working with the Federal Bureau of Investigation on selective service cases, was assigned to the hotel beat.

Detective Arthur Langendorf, who has been on the hotel beat for many years, will take over Detective McCarthy's duties in selective service work, but will work out of the detective bureau instead of the director's office. Detective John Michalak remains assigned to the director's office.

Licavoli Kin Indicted Here In Pen Plot

Brother of Gangster, Pair Accused of Conspiracy 12 COUNTS MADE Grand Jury Charges Attempt to Alter Trial Facts

Pete Licavoli, Detroit music box promoter and cafe operator and brother of Thomas (Yonnie) Licavoli, one-time leader of the Toledo underworld, yesterday was indicted by the Lucas county grand jury.

He was named jointly with Herman Blumberg and Leo Stein, both of Detroit, in a 12-count indictment charging the trio with conspiracy to commit one felony and two misdemeanors.

All 12 counts were in the alleged attempts of Blumberg and Stein to persuade Harry Craig and Robert Schwaite, key witnesses in the murder trial of Yonnie Licavoli, to change their testimony. The state contends the trio is working to affect the release of Yonnie Licavoli, who is serving a life sentence in Ohio penitentiary for murder.

Accused of Blackmail

The indictment charges Blumberg and Stein approached Craig on Aug. 27 and Sept. 5, this year and approached Schwaite Aug. 27 and 30.

The felony charge is a variant of blackmail, claiming the defendants attempted to force Craig and Schwaite to sign affidavits repudiating their court testimony by accusing them of having committed perjury.

The misdemeanor charges are attempted bribery and intimidating a witness.

It was alleged Blumberg and Stein offered Craig a life job at $50 a week; a $2,000 house, groceries and $70 with which to "square" the larceny charge now pending against Schwaite. Schwaite is the brother of Mrs. Craig. He is now in the county jail under indictment charged with stealing $50 from his landlady, Harriet Bernard. Schwaite's wife was killed in an auto accident about a year ago.

The pair is charged with offering Schwaite as a bribe a lawyer to help him in his present difficulties, bond for release from jail, a job, and money with which to repay the landlady.

Blumberg and Stein are in the county jail. Pete Licavoli has not been apprehended.

Arrested in Holland

Assistant Prosecutor Joel Rhinefort and Harry Friberg presented the case to the grand jury. Blumberg and Stein were arrested in Craig's home near Holland, O., after Craig had informed police he was expecting them.

Considerable conversation was recorded before the police revealed their presence, it was reported.

Aged Man Rescued From Blazing Home

An 84-year-old man was carried from his sick bed yesterday when fire, causing $2,600 damage drove seven persons from a duplex at 2146 Glenwood avenue.

Charles Knox, who has been ill in his home, was taken by firemen to the home of a neighbor. Others driven out were his wife and their daughters, Ida and Helen, who live downstairs, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Nutt and Miss Dorothy Brownell, who live in the upstairs apartment.

Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak, who aided firemen in rescuing Mr. Knox, also carried out clothing and furniture.

The fire was caused by defective wiring in the attic, according to District Fire Chief William Flynn, who estimated damage.

A fire in a display window at the Gross Electric Co., 128 E. Main street caused $200 damage yesterday. The blaze was started by a short circuit in a window light.

REFUND ENDS GAME OF BRIDGE

2-13-40 Comedy of Errors Over Sale of Span Settled By City.

The city through D. E. A. Cameron, Finance Director, today refunded to Karl Wohlleb, 4514 290th Street and George Kircher, 604 Howland Avenue, the $180 they paid the city for a bridge the city did not own.

Mr. Wohlleb and Mr. Kircher yesterday took a truck to the bridge they had "bought" over a lagoon in 324th Street, between 146th and 149th Street, and prepared to haul away the bridge.

R. J. Carland, 4060 324th Street, objected, and he had a deed to prove he and not the city owned the bridge.

Mr. Wohlleb and Mr. Kircher waved their receipt; Mr. Carland waved his deed. Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak, called to settle the dispute, waved the disputants to the Safety Building to straighten out matters.

Today Mr. Cameron admitted the city was wrong—it had no right to sell the bridge because it did not own it.

John H. Jewhurst, Service Director, said a mistake in the records of the engineering division were responsible for the mixup. He declared the original records show the bridge to be owned by Mr. Carland but that a transcript made later erroneously showed the city owned the structure.

Councilman Ollie Czelusta in Council today demanded to know by what authority the city was "peddling its bridges."

"I might wake up some morning and find the Cherry Street or the Anthony Wayne Bridges sold," he said.

Mr. Cameron explained the city charter gives the city purchasing agent the right to sell city property under the value of $500 upon recommendation of a department director.

Mob Attacks 2 Patrolmen Three Arrested After Call For Help

A dozen policemen were dispatched to Pinewood avenue and Fifteenth street early yesterday after Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak were attacked while trying to disperse a mob of more than 50 loiterers. Three were arrested.

The patrolmen had been instructed at roll call to keep the corner cleared as complaints had been made by residents in the vicinity of the congestion. Several times they stopped driving on duty.

Report Dice Game

Patrolmen McCarthy and Michalak reported they stopped loitering and observed more than 50 persons on the corner where a dice game was in progress. Patrolman McCarthy alighted and walked to the mob to retort the order while Patrolman Michalak stayed in the scout car to listen to the police short wave radio.

Observing that his partner suddenly was in the center of stinging fists, Patrolman Michalak went to his aid and five or six grabbed him, he said. The patrolmen fought their way to the car and drove to a nearby police box where they called the Safety building for help.

Three Arrested

With the aid of policemen who responded, Patrolmen McCarthy and Michalak arrested three men they described as ringleaders in charges of disturbing the peace and inciting a mob. The names of Arthur Brown, 214 Hamilton street, Harry Wood, 10 of Collingwood boulevard, and Aaron Perkins, 23, of Lucas street.

As a result of various other disturbances over the week end, 34 men on drunk and disorderly charges. They were John Engler, 30, of Wood street, who, according to Sam Vann, proprietor of a cafe at 124 Chestnut street, put his fist through a glass top of a pin ball machine after an argument over its operation to pay.

Doctors Who Beat Traffic Rap Irk Court

'Lard-Headed Old Fool' Crack Draws Wrath Of Judge Ramey.

Almost anybody would be annoyed if somebody talking behind his back called him a "lard-headed old fool."

Police Judge Homer Ramey, for instance. In court today Judge Ramey said a little bird had told him that he is being horn-swoggled by Toledo physicians who beat traffic court "raps" by pleading emergency runs as their reason for speeding and running red lights.

The little bird, Judge Ramey said, confided that the first thing some doctors do when they leave court without damage to their pocket-books or personal liberty is to foregather with other doctors, admire their own cleverness, and dismiss Judge Ramey as a "lard-headed old fool" over whose eyes they had pulled the wool.

The particular butt of Judge Ramey's remarks was Dr. Julius Klipstein, 1602 Cherry Street, who is under citation charging him with having gone through a red light in the Anthony Wayne Trail March 7 like a stroke of thundering apoplexy.

Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak said Dr. Klipstein's alibi was an emergency run.

Judge Ramey continued the case until tomorrow after expressing doubt as to whether the traffic code gives emergency-running physicians any exemption from the rule that a red light means stop.

Sergt. George Kerwin, when interviewed by the officers and the defendant, said that the rules are plain—everybody must stop on the red light.

Timiney's Shifted Trade Posts;

Timiney Back at Desk

A trade in details of Detective Arthur Langendorf, recently disciplined for conduct unbecoming an officer, and Detective John McCarthy, a "right-hand" man of Safety Director Edward A. DeAngelo, was announced yesterday by the in which the officer was charged with striking a bartender. He has been allowed to work, however, despite the "suspension."

Short of Men

Safety Director DeAngelo explained the bureau is short of men and it was decided to allow Langendorf to sacrifice his annual two-week vacation in lieu of the penalty.

Also awarded yesterday was the awarding of diplomas to 17 city patrolmen who have completed a 42-hour course in scientific accident investigation work. They will be available for accident investigation work at any time and may be used to fill vacancies as they arise, according to Inspector Edward Hoffman, head of the traffic bureau.

The diplomas were given to Edward Nasser, Robert Duck, Claire Fauble, Norton Cassady, Joseph Steele, James Weis, Kenneth Jameson, Fred Addis, Charles DuShane, William Strobel, Eugene Louy, Harold Fauble, Herman Keller, Walter Haudan, William Gray, Leo Wood and Anthony Nowak.

The transfer also involves the assignment of Detective Capt. George Timiney back to his regular desk detail in the bureau. Previously, Captain Timiney has worked out of the safety director's office.

Under the change, Detective Langendorf will work out of the detective bureau on selective service work, previously assigned to Detective McCarthy, who will take over Langendorf's hotel detail duties, and also work out of the detective bureau.

Confers With Fruchey

Mr. DeAngelo was not available in the safety building for comment. He announced the changes following a conference with Joseph Fruchey, acting chief of police.

"It isn't anything unusual," said Inspector Fruchey, "we're switching them all the time."

Detective Langendorf, March 11, was "suspended" for 15 days without pay and given two hours extra duty for 60 days on charges arising out of a brawl March 8 in the Toledo Buffet, 2521 Cherry street.

TWO YOUTHS ADMIT BURGLARY OF CAFE

Boys Seized After Theft Of Cigarets From Grocery.

Two youths, 18 and 16, captured early yesterday by Patrolmen Howell Tice and John McCarthy following a burglary of a grocery at 1207 Sherman Street, last night admitted to Detectives Earl McBride and Walter Bielefeldt the burglary of the Bennett Cafe, 4503 Bennett Road, Sunday night. Frank Schaiberger, 502 Eleanor Avenue, proprietor of the cafe, surprised the youths while they were ransacking the place, but he was when they threatened him with a pistol. Three cartons of cigarettes and 30 cents were stolen. Detectives McBride and Bielefeldt reported. The elder youth is held on suspicion in the Safety Building. The accomplice is in the County Jail. The suspects denied pointing a pistol at Mr. Schaiberger and it was a flashlight.

AUTO SUSPECT TAKEN IN CHASE

Man Is Thrown to Street When Car Crashes Into Pole.

A 70-mile-an-hour police chase of a man suspected of being an automobile thief ended early yesterday when the car in which the fugitive was fleeing crashed into a pole.

Patrolmen John Michalak and John McCarthy had gone to a gasoline service station at Lagrange Street and East Manhattan Boulevard to investigate a report of a brick being thrown through a window. The car driven by the suspect passed the station and was recognized as the vehicle from which the missile had been hurled, the officer said.

The policemen pursued the automobile, which was driven at high speed in numerous streets. Patrolman Michalak fired four shots unsuccessfully in an attempt to hit a tire.

The automobile skidded in the car tracks of the 2500 block of Colingwood Boulevard and crashed into a pole. The suspect, a 24-year-old Maple Street man, was found on the ground, badly bruised. He was taken to County Hospital.

Police said the car the suspect had been driving belonged to Robert G. Apel, 210 East Woodruff Avenue, and had been taken from in front of his home. The suspect will be questioned about several gasoline station burglaries.

Toledo Youth Is Held to Jury

Second Case Delayed in Cafe Raid

Raymond Swiatecki, 20, of Spring street, was bound over to the grand jury yesterday on a charge of burglary and grand larceny.

Swiatecki, who pleaded innocent and waived examination, was ordered held under $1,000 bond by Municipal Judge Harvey G. Straub.

Theodore Jablonski, 18, of Russell street, was arraigned with Swiatecki. His case was continued to March 27.

Police, who charge them with taking merchandise valued at $50 from the DeLuxe Inn cafe, 704 Sylvan avenue, said they and a juvenile companion had confessed several burglaries and auto thefts. The juvenile is being held in the Child Study institute.

The trio was arrested, police said, after Jablonski appeared in County hospital for treatment for a bullet wound in his foot. Police said the wound was one of several fired by Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak, who attempted to stop the youths after they had fled from a stolen auto.

TO BOOST FAUBLE FOR STATE OFFICE

Police Fraternity Delegates To Support Toledoan.

Police Capt. Clarence Fauble will be boosted for state president of the Fraternal Order of Police by Toledo and Cleveland delegates at the annual convention to be held tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday at Cedar Point, O.

Captain Fauble is a charter member of the Toledo Police Chapter No. 40 and vice president of the local chapter and the state lodge. He is in command of the East Side police station.

Delegates from Chapter 40 are Patrolman Howell Tice, Detective James Ford, Patrolman Edward Millor, Lieut. Harvey Klamber, Sergt. James Livingston, Sergt. Theodore Mackall and Patrolman John McCarthy. Deputy Sheriff's George Zang and Joseph Yeager, will represent their group. Chief Deputy Joseph Delehaunty will address the convention.

DeAngelo Heard in Probe Of Attempt to Fix Murder Witnesses.

Edward A. DeAngelo, city safety director, was the first witness to appear before the county grand jury today in its investigation of an attempt to tamper with witnesses who helped send Thomas (Yonnie) Licavoli and several Licavoli lieutenants to the Ohio Penitentiary for the murder of Jack Kennedy and other Toledo police characters.

Mr. DeAngelo took an active part in the arrest two weeks ago of Leo Stein and Herman Bloomberg, Detroit, who are being held on a warrant charging blackmail.

Patrolmen John McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Craig, and Robert Schwalte, also responded to grand jury summons. Craig and Schwalte were key witnesses in the murder cases.

MORALS CHARGE HOLDS TOLEDOAN

Used His Agency Wife For Illicit Purposes, Police Allege.

A matrimonial agency marriage crashed on legal rocks yesterday afternoon when a 26-year-old West Toledo man was arrested on suspicion of putting his blond 26-year-old wife in a disorderly house. The man was arrested by Edward DeAngelo, safety director, and Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak in his apartment.

Mr. DeAngelo said the man and girl, whose home was in Minneapolis, were married in Napoleon, O., last March, after a courtship that began through a Tulsa, Okla., matrimonial agency.

The officers said they found the girl to be severely bruised, apparently the result of a beating. The man, also, bore numerous bruises, they said. The wife was not arrested.

IN CRITICISM OF MR. EDY

To the Editor
CONSTANT conflict between the city manager and members of Council, though a minority, is not conducive to city manager government in particular nor to good government in general.

The city manager is in error when he makes any councilmanic controversy a personal issue. Whenever governmental issues are involved, personal issues must vanish.

I fear that Mr. Edy is too easily offended, and too often repeats, "Fire me—but do not criticize me." That personal position is unfair even to those advocates in Council who generally support Mr. Edy.

As one who voted for such councilmen as I felt would retain Mr. Edy, I feel he in turn should be more considerate of those who disagree with him.

After all he is common with all mankind, is apt to err. Infallibility is not a human attribute—For Harmony.

30 Nabbed In Buckeye Fined Total Of $514

Closer cooperation of the police and law departments in conducting gambling raids to obtain proper evidence was urged by Judge Frank E. O'Connell in Municipal Court this afternoon as he assessed fines on 30 men arrested in a raid at the Buckeye Social Club, 224 Superior Street, April 22.

Judge O'Connell said he would not criticize police officers who participated in the raid and explained that Detective John McCarthy, who led the raid, should be commended instead of criticized. Judge O'Connell pointed out he realized the men were under orders, but declared:

"I cannot understand why it is so hard to prove what business the place is used for when there have been frequent convictions and arrests."

Seven men, for whom bench warrants were issued when they failed to appear in court last Wednesday, were fined $25 and costs. Attorney Dan McCullough, counsel for the men, entered a plea of nolle contendere, stipulating evidence produced by the city in last week's trial would stand for them. Four other men, for whom bench warrants had been issued, failed to appear today. Their bonds of $25 each were ordered forfeited and additional bench warrants were issued for them.

One man, described by officers as apparently in charge, was fined $50 and costs. Eighteen others were fined $10 and costs each. Costs, including the continuance, amounted to $4.20 each, the total fines and costs collected today figuring at $514.20.

The men arrested on the charge of loitering, all pleaded guilty to the charge.

Charts, forms and other evidence was ordered confiscated and destroyed. Judge O'Connell ruled the fines be paid from a sum of $1,865.75, which was found in the place during the raid, the remaining sum of $1,351.55 to be held by Landon E. Hall, clerk of courts, until claimed by the rightful owner. Ray O. Martin, Jr., was police prosecutor in the case.

43 NUMBERS FINES BRING $23 TOTAL

Fines of $10 and costs each were assessed 42 numbers game agents by Municipal Judge Frank E. O'Connell today. The total amount was $575.40.

Civic Council Promises Aid

Group Confers With Schoonmaker

Officials of the City Employees' Civic council met yesterday for the first time with George N. Schoonmaker, city manager, and offered him their co-operation. They explained to him the purpose of the organization and outlined its five-point program.

The council is composed of police and fire division and civilian employees in the city service. Mr. Schoonmaker was receptive to the plans outlined by the group. He said he regards the council's policy broad and important enough to merit consideration.

Consultation Pledged

He promised the delegates he will consult them on major problems affecting their membership. The delegation recommended closer co-operation with citizens and taxpayers generally. It wants a sound pension system for all city employees and enforcement and improvement of the civil service laws.

The last two points on the program call for consolidation of all city employees for better government and closer co-operation with city officials and promotion of efficient service among employees to the end that taxpayers will receive 100 per cent for the tax dollar.

Headed by Caton
The delegation was headed by Earl Caton, council president and business agent of City Employees' union, local No. 7; Lt. Azor Sheffield, recording secretary; Fire Operator Charles S. Schneyer, president and Fireman Leonard Wambold, financial secretary of Firefighters' local No. 92; Patrolman Howell Tice, president, Detective Lt. James Ford, second vice president, and Patrolman John McCarthy, delegate of the Fraternal Order of Police and William A. Jones, president, and W. B. Deafenbaugh, secretary-treasurer of local No. 7.

Marihuana seized in today's raid

70 Pounds Seized; 2 Arrested

Biggest Local Dope Source Revealed by U. S. Narcotic Agent Upstairs in Garage

Federal, county and city officers raided Toledo's biggest source of marihuana early today, arrested two men and seized 70 pounds of the crime-breeding "loco" weed.

A plant equipped to prepare the dangerous narcotic for retail distribution was found in Jack's Auto Part Garage, Woodville and Walbridge Roads, when the raiders smashed their way in at 4 a. m.

Jacob Schauppner, 35, owner of the garage, and Steve Kardos, 51, an employe, asleep in the place, were arrested. Police linked them with Steve Castro, 38-year-old Mexican cafe proprietor, one of the leaders of the marihuana ring here, who was sentenced to three years in prison by Federal Judge Frank L. Kloeb Jan. 31.

THIRD MAN SOUGHT

Arraigned before United States Commissioner John C. Budd, the prisoners denied any connection with the processing plant on the second floor of the garage where the raiders found a table, sieves and cans for refining the raw weed.

Schauppner said, in fact, it was he who called police. He said he had no idea how the drug came to be in his garage. Kardos said he merely slept in a room in the building, had no knowledge of the narcotic traffic.

"You use the stuff yourself," Commissioner Budd told Kardos. Kardos indignantly denied this.

The commissioner held both men on charges of illegal possession and set Feb. 18 as a date for hearing. Bond was set at $2000 in each case.

2 OTHERS CHARGED

Floyd M. Blythe, 39, and Paul Dienstberger, 25, arrested near Delphos by State Highway police last Friday, also were charged with possession and held under $2000 each for hearing Feb. 19. Police said the two men were riding in a truck which carried a quantity of the drug.

The officers, led by Charles A. Burrows, federal narcotics agent, are seeking a third man, described as a Mexican, who is said to be a distributor of the reason-destroying drug to dealers who make it into ing to hide their grief from hundreds who lined the river bank yesterday afternoon, the father and uncle of Robert Keith Bush, 12, South Erie street, watched police and firemen drag the water for the body of the boy, drowned while wading with two companions. The tragedy occurred near Pleasant place. Above, left to right, are the father, Ronald Bush, 432 Maumee avenue, who identified the boy's body, and the father, Elvie Bush. Below are Robert's companions who witnessed the tragedy. Left is Billy Mitchell, 9, of 615 Logan street, and Galen Lowe, 11, of 540 South Erie street.

Logging of River Resumed for Body of Drowned Boy

Robert Bush, 12, Wades Into Deep Water At Shore Near Point Place; Companions Seek Help of Neighbors.

Search for the body of Robert Keith Bush, 12, of 540 South Erie street who drowned yesterday, was resumed near Pleasant place on the river today. Workers dragged the river until after dark last night and at 7 a. m. Patrolmen Dewey Slusser and Robert, son of Elvie Bush of the street address, and Mrs. Grace Perryburg, was drowned when he waded into deep water playing along the river's edge. Billy Mitchell, 9, of 615 Logan street, and Galen Lowe, 11, also of South Erie street.

Trio Goes Wading

Billy and Galen were wading on a beach at that part of the river. They had removed only their shoes and stockings, they said, but the Bush boy removed all his clothing and began to wade into the deeper water.

He clung to a pipe line which ran into the river and at the end it appeared to slip, they said. He disappeared, came to the surface once and then sank again.

The companions sought help from neighbors who called police Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak had surveyed the river front recently to plan approaches to the water in emergencies. When they received a radio call of the accident yesterday the officers broke the lock on a railroad gate at Congress and Lotus streets and approached the beach point through the Wabash railroad yards. They were the first crew to arrive but there was no chance of finding the boy.

Uncle Watches Searchers

Ronald Bush, 432 Maumee avenue, uncle of the drowned youth, was attracted to the scene by fire and police sirens. Unaware of the identity of the victim, he watched the searchers.

Suddenly he saw the Bush boy's clothing and identified it. Patrol-

Wire Bandits Spent Loot On Marijuana and Liquor

Admit Using Every Cent Obtained in Holdups To Buy Stimulants; Declare Doped Cigarets Are Easy to Obtain Here.

The wire bandits rounded up by Patrolman John McCarthy last week spent every cent obtained in service station holdups and in burglaries for marijuana cigarettes and for liquor, the three admitted to their captor late Saturday.

Retracting a previous statement in which they declared that they were always sober when they confronted their victims with a sawed-off shotgun they admitted to Patrolman McCarthy that they were seasoned users of alcohol and marijuana.

The bandits, who confessed to 10 robberies and were identified by eight victims, are George (Ace) Gilmore, 21, of Michigan street, Ernest H. Dye, 24, alias James McCreary, 320 Fourteenth street and John Cherry, 29 colored of 233 Indiana avenue.

In police court today the bandits, who appeared without counsel, waived preliminary examination and stood mute while Municipal Judge Edgar Norris set bond for each at $20,000.

Before fixing the bond Judge Norris inquired how many holdups the men were accused of and whether they were armed in each case. When informed by Patrolman McCarthy of the number of robberies confessed by the men and that they used the shotgun in each case the judge set the bond figure.

One An Addict 5 Years

Gilmore said he began using the doped cigarette before Christmas and that he smoked them daily from that time. Dye admitted smoking them since September and Cherry confessed that he has been an addict for five years. They described the effects of the narcotic and Saturday night plainly showed the ravages when the effect begins to wear off.

Liquor also was a daily stimulant, the trio admitted to the officer, and one of the bandits said he often drank as much as a quart of whisky a day. Some of this was purchased with the robbery proceeds and some was obtained by looting liquor places, they said.

The bandits said they paid various prices for the doped cigarettes. Some were purchased for a nickel—some for as much as 35 cents each. The higher the price the higher the narcotic content, they said. The three agreed that purchase of the cigarettes is simple and said that they are offered for sale in many areas near the downtown section—on streets and in poolrooms.

Tell of Effects

They were usually so affected by the narcotic and liquor that they did not know what they were doing.

ing, the bandits told Patrolman McCarthy.

They said the wire used to bind victims was taken from old battery cables and that the laces, which they sometimes used, were buckskin thongs taken from high top boots which Gilmore owned.

Dave Thomas, who operates a garage at 101 Michigan street, said Gilmore never lived nor worked at that address. Gilmore gave the Michigan street address as his home when arrested.

Mayor Klotz Retires

Expression of appreciation is due Klotz as he retires from the office.

Klotz became a candidate in the 1933 his election appeared to be a foregone conclusion. His ability, but campaign-time disturbances and certain business methods in city government altered the currents of public opinion and kept him out of office.

Set, Mayor Klotz was confronted with many difficulties. City payrolls had been cut in part by issues of unredeemed bonds in large amounts were due. Tax payments were heavily delinquent. Business generally was at the lowest ebb. The city's credit was ruined. Nobody knew how the money was to be raised to pay clamoring creditors and to maintain the essential services of government.

But the mayor appointed capable men of good reputation to serve as his cabinet advisers and department heads.

Working together, the mayor and the cabinet and the old council refunded the city's defaulted bonds, issued new bonds to make up the outstanding scrip, reduced salaries and forces in some departments and met the payroll regularly when bitterest critics said it couldn't be done.

The Klotz administration wrought no miracles. It made no major public improvements to stand as its monuments. It made some mistakes, but it was honest and it kept the town out of bankruptcy when financial disaster threatened.

Mayor Klotz has had to disappoint a lot of office seekers. He has made some enemies, but he has been a conscientious, hard-working public servant and his life-long reputation for integrity and fidelity to duty remains untarnished.

Bound-to-Be Detective Trap

AMBITIOUS COP USES TIME OFF TO PURSUE TRIO

Pair Awaiting Trial Confess They Used Marijuana to Nerve Selves for Crime

TOLEDO, Feb. 26—As a result of the off-duty sleuthing of a patrolman who hopes to gain a detective's badge by his efforts, three men await trial as the "picture-wire bandits" who served themselves by smoking marijuana cigarettes and terrorized Toledo by a series of daring holdups.

Patrolman John McCarthy, who trapped the trio has been on the Toledo police force 15 years. During this time he has watched younger policemen rise above him but he has never abandoned his dream of becoming a detective despite low grades on his written examinations.

TRACES CRIME CARS

McCarthy spent his off-duty hours since Christmas tracing a shotgun used by the three bandits and tracing the autos used by them. Knowing that the bandits probably bolstered up their courage by smoking the illegal marijuana cigarettes he watched carefully for the bloodshot eyes and the drooping eyelids which would identify three men as users of the "reefer."

Veteran detectives here were unable to trace the bandits, but McCarthy eventually discovered that autos left in garages for washing and repairs were being used in the holdups, so he visited garages hour after hour following his daily work as a foot patrolman.

At last he found a shotgun hidden behind a radiator in one garage in the business district. He arrested John Cherry, 29, who denied for three days that he had been involved in the long list of "picture-wire robberies" which had occurred nightly.

GLAD YOU GOT US'

McCarthy took up the trail of two men suspected of operating with Cherry and finally found them in a beer parlor with a large amount of money in their possession. They surrendered without resistance and one of them said, "We knew you were on our trail two weeks ago, but we went on anyway. I'm glad it was you who got us. It's a big relief."

They gave the names of Ernest Dye, 28, and George Gilmore, 21, Dye, whose home is Oswego, Ind., was known as one of the best basketball players ever produced by the Hoosier State. The other two men have various records, police claim.

The trio described the robberies in which they obtained as high as $170 from some filling stations. They admitted that Cherry obtained the autos they used by driving them from a garage where they had been left for washing and where it was employed.

BOUND WITH WIRE

One man would enter a filling station and ask for change to use a pay telephone. That would signal his companions if the prospects were favorable and another of the three would enter with the sawed-off shotgun and force the attendant to lie on the floor. They would tie him with the picture wire, loot the station of cash and flee in the auto in which the third man was waiting.

The men said they spent most of the money on liquor and marijuana. One of them asserted the "loco" weed was the reason they didn't

partment's report analyzing letter from small businessmen? The President read rapidly from a mem orandum submitted by Secretary
Roper to the effect that the letter indicated a surprising lack of de termination toward self-help.

Would the President comment on Bernard M. Baruch's testimony be fore the Senate Unemployment Com mittee? He was sorry, and didn't know.

He didn't think Mr. Baruch—who told the committee only a change in government policy would bring recovery—had an appointment to see him during his visit to the capitol.

Did he think $2,000,000 should be spent to build a dirigible for the Navy? If the Naval Affairs Com mittee wanted to build one, it was all right but the money shouldn't be taken from other Navy funds.

The men were arrested by Toledo's wire bandit trio, ar rested several weeks ago through the efforts of Patrolman John Mc Carthy, were among 13 persons named in indictments by the Lucas
County grand jury today.

Each of the three, John Cherry,
Ernest Dye and George Gilmore, is accused of two counts of rob bery. They are accused in the rob bery, Jan. 8, of the Twentieth Cen tury filling station, 3627 Detroit Avenue, where Robert Gottschalk, attendant, was relieved of $32.52, and a holdup, Jan. 27, of the Stan dard station, Summit Street and Broadway, where George Spaulding, attendant, was robbed of $27. Pol ice said the three were involved in at least seven gasoline station rob beries.

POLICE PROBE STIRS BATTLE

Manager To Investigate Charge McCarthy Has Been 'Put on Spot' by Chief

EXECUTIVE DEMANDS FAIR PLAY

City Manager John N. Edy got another vote of confidence from council last night, following a dispute about the propriety of council designating a committee to join the manager in investigating a complaint against Police Chief Ray E. Allen.

The manager contended he was the appointive officer of council and should make the investigation, without the aid of any committee, and demanded that council members permit him to do his job or remove him.

Council, by a five to three vote, backed Mr. Edy in his contention and defeated a proposal that council's committee of the whole join Mr. Edy in making the investigation. Mr. Edy was given a formal vote of confidence by council last week, following a controversy with Councilman Ira Bame.

The dispute started after Councilman Ollie Czelusta charged that Police Chief Allen had attempted to put Patrolman John McCarthy "on the spot" after he arrested three "wire" bandits who had terrorized Toledo some weeks ago. Mr. Czelusta said he had an affidavit

Unpaid City Employees Must Have Relief at Once

Having no money to pay car fare, an employe of the city of Toledo in humble capacity walked to the Safety building Saturday morning.

He walked through the municipal market displaying its tantalizing wealth and beauty of vegetables, poultry, fruits and flowers sufficient to supply and decorate the dining tables of an army.

He looked upon the velvet-green, close-clipped lawn, the trees and shrubbery, the gardens of perfectly cultivated late-blooming roses which surround the city offices.

Turning aside from the evidences of plenty and prosperity, he went within and got an ornate undated certificate instead of money for past due wages—a certificate which the grocer, the butcher, the baker, the clothier and the shoe dealer must refuse, with polite regrets, to accept.

Oh, well, hard luck, but what of it? He would exchange the scrip at the central relief station for food for the family. He had been given credit there before, could get credit again on his certificate to keep the skulking wolf from the door.

But he was turned away. What has happened? Isn't the city's home made money good at the city's own warehouse in exchange for services rendered? No, it isn't. Federal money supports it and the state administrator in temporary control must account to the federal government for expenditure of every penny of it under government regulations which bar the city employe from charity because he has a job and a worthless certificate. Let him and his wife and children go hungry and cold, and ragged if need be, while he patrols a beat, puts out a fire, sweeps the street or collects the garbage—all services indispensable to the safety and welfare of the people of Toledo who are his debtors.

We can go no farther with the story of barbaric cruelty. It would require the pen of a Dante and the brush of Dore to complete the picture of this local inferno in which famishing is substituted for the fires of torment.

The city of Toledo must do something immediately for the relief of its employes. They must have money at once even though the mayor and his cabinet and the councilmen have to go hat in hand and rattling a tin cup in Summit street to get it.

PAROLED MAN, FRIEND HURT

Deputy's Auto Overturns; Five Others Injured In Second Mishap.

Edward Chappel 27 and Arthur Rice 30, both of 364 1/2 John R Street, were injured severely late yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding overturned at City Park Avenue and Sterling Street.

They were taken to Mercy Hospital by Patrolmen Chester Wawrzyniak and George Orzechowski. Attendants reported that Rice, the driver, is unconscious and received severe head injuries. Mr. Chappel has face cuts.

E. W. Krueger, Green Street, a witness, said the automobile was traveling south in City Park Avenue at a high rate of speed and the driver was unable to make a curve. The machine struck a heavy pole, which guards a fire hydrant, and overturned. Mr. Krueger reported.

Out on Parole

The machine belonged to Deputy Sheriff Edward Clemens, 536 Pine-wood Avenue, who was on duty in the county jail. Mr. Clemens said he thought Rice was washing the machine in the jail yard.

Rice was paroled Saturday on a robbery charge by Common Pleas Judge James Martin and probated to Sheriff James O'Reilly for three years.

He was arrested Dec. 30 in his home two hours after Thomas Harvey, 374 Indiana Avenue, complained he had been robbed of $20 by three men in a vacant lot in the 300 block of Indiana Avenue. Mr. Harvey was walking home from a nearby pharmacy with medicine for his wife who was ill. He told Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak, the arresting officers, that the trio strongarmed him.

Hurt In Crash

Five persons were injured Saturday evening when an automobile driven by Kenneth Bennett, 25, of 319 Sylvania Avenue, overturned while rounding a curve in Jackson Road near the Ohio-Michigan state line.

Most severely injured of the passengers is Marilyn Heiser, 16, of 2106 Putnam Street, who received a fractured collarbone and dislocated shoulder. Mr. Bennett and the other passengers were bruised. Other passengers were Richard Crook, 2106 Putnam Street; Loretta Bennett, 20, of 319 Sylvania Avenue, and Fred L. Bennett, 52, of Route 1, West Toledo.

The five persons were taken to Flower Hospital.

Detective Ford Suspended For Unauthorized Absence

Veteran Officer Asserts He Went to Arkansas To Return Prisoner; Allen to Hear Case; Has Many Citations for Work.

Detective Lieut. James Ford, member of the police department for 22 years, was suspended Saturday afternoon when he reported for duty after an unauthorized absence of a week.

Inspector Clarence Mead, who suspended Ford and relieved him of his gun and badge, instructed the officer to report to Chief Ray E. Allen today.

Ford, who has had no previous suspension since he was appointed a patrolman Aug. 6, 1917, said he had been to Mount Ida, Ark., with Deputy Sheriff Joseph Yeager to return a prisoner, Joseph Mangus, 27, of Monroe Street, accused of grand larceny.

Absence Reported
His absence had been reported by Ralph VanVorce, acting inspector of detectives, who told Chief Allen that Ford had been absent without leave since July 29. When Ford reported for duty to Capt. Willard Rydman Saturday he was escorted to the inspector's office and suspended.

Sheriff James M. O'Reilly tried unsuccessfully to locate Chief Allen and other ranking officers. William Driscoll, assistant county prosecutor, and Deputy Yeager supported the explanation.

Detective Ford has served on virtually every squad in the department and has numerous citations for bravery and excellent police work. He had been on the department only three years when he captured the slayer of Patrolman William Kress. The prisoner later was executed.

Plot To Liberate Licavoli Revealed

Police Trap Two Detroiters In Home of Witness Here; Jury Probe Ordered.

The Lucas County grand jury will begin an investigation Sept. 16 into the activities of two Detroit men seized by Toledo police last night as suspected participants in a plot to obtain the freedom of Thomas (Yonnie) Licavoli and four of his lieutenants.

Licavoli and the associates are serving life terms in the Ohio Penitentiary for four gang slayings in Toledo in 1931, 1932 and 1933.

BRITISH CREWS ON DESTROYERS

Some of 50 U. S. Vessels Already Taken Over, Reports Say.

BOSTON, Sept. 5 (AP).—British crews were reported today as already having taken over some of the 50 destroyers traded this week by the United States to Great Britain in exchange for naval and air bases.

On the heels of Prime Minister Churchill's statement yesterday that British crews "already are meeting" the destroyers at various ports, unofficial American sources expressed belief that one or more of the transfers had been made at sea.

Their report, unconfirmable, said the American crew or crews, after meeting English vessels at sea, had boarded the United States destroyer tender Denabola, which steamed out of Boston harbor at dusk Wednesday, a short distance behind the first three of the overage destroyers to leave.

While navy officers continued their silence concerning movements of the vessels, it was learned unofficially that six more of the four-stackers had departed yesterday.

The unofficial sources named them as the Goldsborough, Herndon, Welles, Welborn C. Wood, Crowninshield and Buchanan. The first three to go were reported to have been the Hale, Upshur and Ward.

Meanwhile, three more vessels arrived at the Boston navy yard, which appears to be the take-off point for the vessels. They were reported as the Mackenzie, Abbot and Thomas.

U. S. to Protest Mission Deaths

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 6 (INS).—The United States Embassy in Rome has been instructed to lodge a protest with the Italian Government over the recent bombing of a mission in the Sudan, where American missionaries were killed, according to reports received in Cairo today.

2 Detroiters Held as Plot To Free Licavoli Is Bared

The Safety Director said witnesses in the Kennedy case came to him with a complaint that they have been approached five times since Aug. 23 and had been asked to change the testimony they gave at the gang trials. For the change, which would be the first step toward freeing Licavoli and his mobsters, the witnesses were offered jobs and other bribes, Mr. DeAngelo said.

The home of the witness has been under guard since Tuesday, it was revealed, and Patrolman McCarthy and Michalak and Mr. DeAngelo had spent many hours in or near it since.

LICAVOLI WITNESS HELD IN JAIL HERE

Schwaite Tells of Visit By Two Men.

The latest development in the Licavoli case today disclosed that Robert Schwaite, 27, a star witness in the conspiracy trials, is held in the County Jail on the charge of burglary.

Informed by a reporter for The Blade that he had been involved by the alleged plotters in a scheme to liberate the hoodlum chief from the Ohio penitentiary, Schwaite denied any attempt to repudiate testimony in the trials.

He said that if Licavoli's friends have a statement bearing his signature it "could be a forgery."

He recalled that two men approached him with a long typewritten statement but, because the contents "were not true," he would not sign it. They returned a second time, he revealed, and he signed a second statement but could not remember what it said.

The prisoner informed The Blade reporter that it was untrue that he was promised either employment or money by the investigators of the gang killings and he denied that he was too far away or that the light was insufficient when he recognized John Mirabella and Joe (Wop) English as the triggermen the night Jack Kennedy was killed.

Schwaite, arraigned in Police Court on Aug. 23, was bound over to the grand jury on the charge of taking $50 from the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Ray Bernard, 5234 303rd Street. He is held under $3,000 bond.

Schwaite gave his address as 5385 203rd Street.

$50,000 Fund Reported

Although authorities here did not estimate the amount of money involved in the plot to effect the release of the gangsters, it was reported locally today that there is a fund of $50,000 as a start toward gaining freedom for the killers.

Enlarging slightly upon the of the arrests, Mr. DeAngelo said that the suspects dwell in an home of one Toledo automobile and expensive new him a home and promised to "get a lifetime job." obtain for "a lifetime to be poor."

"It will be terrible the suspect told Mr. DeAngelo said the suspect told the witness. "You're driving a 1929 automobile. Look out there and see the nice one we have. There are no callouses on our hands. Look at yours."

Not receiving the desired answers from the witness, Mr. DeAngelo said, one of the suspects told the witness: "Whether you sign a statement or not we're going to get them (the gangsters) out anyhow."

Talk Recorded

The Safety Director said that while Patrolman McCarthy was inside the house last night and he and Michalak were outside, the entire conversation was recorded on a device installed in the home by Detective Arthur Eggert of the police scientific laboratory.

After enough conversation had been heard to warrant action, he said, the officers slipped in behind the Detroiters and seized them.

Mr. DeAngelo said the plot was the case of the gang-

These young women are aides of the law in promoting the first annual moonlight boat ride of the Fraternal Order of Police, to be held on the Steamer Put-in-Bay, Aug. 8. Because department rules forbid policemen to sell tickets, these misses and relatives of officers are handling the sale. They will carry letters of introduction and authorization. The girls are Rosemarie Bedacht, 3447 Stickney Avenue, daughter of Patrolman William Bedacht, Virginia Komorowski, 2811 Chestnut Street, and Margie Schroeder, 2617 Chestnut Street, daughter of Patrolman Clarence Schroeder. Patrolmen Howell Tice and John McCarthy and Lieut. Clerk John Underwood comprise the pg' committee.

WITH PERHAPS NOT ALL THE AUTHORITY but certainly with not one bit less persuasion than policemen, these relatives of policemen will sell tickets for the moonlight ride the Fraternal Order of Police will sponsor at 8:45 p. m. Aug. 8 on the steamer Put-In-Bay. They are, left to right, Mariynn Rose, 2211 Mulberry street; Phyllis Zarn, 2016 Ontario street, and Erma Jean Otey, 815 Atlantic avenue. Members of the arrangements committee are Patrolmen Howell Tice and John McCarthy and Lt. Clerk John Underwood. The police, themselves, are prohibited from selling tickets through a division rule. They will be armed with plenty of tickets and letters of identification.

What the Timiney Case Is All About

It is time to stop the monkey business which is going on at the Timiney hearing. It is also time to look behind the smoke screen and see what it is all about.

Anyone can see that there is far too much attention attached to the Timiney trial for it to be regarded as an ordinary hearing. There is something about it which makes the public want to read every word of the testimony.

It may be that the public has detected the monkey business and is checking up on the facts to make sure the decision conforms with them.

It is common knowledge that all is not sweet and serene in the department. When Ray Allen was appointed chief, many of the older members thought the appointment should have gone to the veteran with the best record.

The antagonism stayed under the surface. But a blind man could have detected it simmering. On almost any street corner you could hear it whispered that the morale of the department was not all that it should be.

Those on the inside will tell you that the Timiney hearing goes much deeper than the charges show. It has many of the earmarks of a game of politics to open up a detective job or at least a captaincy to which someone could be appointed.

We say this because the public is deeply interested. And to those who insist that the decision is already in the bag, we remind them that there are higher courts ready and willing to hear the case.

Day as Hero Too Much For Ex-Policeman

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 13 (UPI)—Carl Lowe, former policeman, voluntarily was back in jail again today after learning that being a hero for a day couldn't keep him from "hitting the bottle."

Lowe, who has spent most of the last 10 years in jail on drunk and disorderly charges, Tuesday prevented a wholesale delivery in an attempted break at the county prison. A guard beaten unconscious, was carried into a cell block by the former policeman so that two convicts could not get his keys.

Officials freed him yesterday from a six months' drunk and disorderly sentence as a reward, and Lowe promised to "go straight."

But last night Lowe rolled into police headquarters and told the desk sergeant:

"Lock me up so I won't get into anymore trouble."

The request was granted, and Lowe now faces another "stretch."

Jobless Toledo Man Ends Life With Gun

Al Showalter, 50, Found Dead in Franklin Avenue Rooming House

Al Showalter, about 50, a roomer at 1937 Franklin avenue, was found dead in his room late yesterday with a bullet wound in the head. Coroner William M. Shapiro said the man had been dead nearly two days and returned a verdict of suicide by firearms.

J. J. Chatfield, of the same address, told police he had last seen Showalter about 1 a. m. Saturday and that he had heard what he believed a gunshot about a half hour later. Joe Voelke, a fellow tenant, became apprehensive about Showalter yesterday and, climbing to the room near the man's window, discovered the body and called police.

Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak said the man had inflicted the wound with a small caliber pistol, and they were informed he had been despondent over unemployment. Showalter, it was learned, had been at the Franklin avenue address for about six months and had been employed at the Electric Auto-Lite plant until two weeks ago.

The body was taken to the Ira L. Garner funeral home. Mr. Showalter is survived by a sister, Mrs. G. C. Hite, and a brother, Coe Showalter, both of Toledo.

After Arrest

Detroit is Taken to Sanatorium

A Detroit man who fought with police and caused considerable damage in the Safety building after his arrest Saturday night was returned yesterday to the Haven, Rochester, Mich. sanatorium.

The man, who is 31 years old, was arrested by Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak in the 1200 block of Cherry street when he entered the auto of Herman Lerner, 2511 Franklin avenue, and refused to leave.

When he was taken to the Safety building he kicked a glass panel out of the door of the morals squad office and later damaged his cell. Police fought with the man for 15 minutes before subduing him. He suffered bruises in the scuffle and was treated by police.

Officers learned from Michigan authorities that the man had recently been a patient in the Rochester sanatorium where he was treated for a nervous disorder.

JOYCE MITCHELL

Girl Wins Fight With Gun Bandit

Joyce Mitchell, 28, of 2147 Lawrence Avenue, battled a gunman last night and saved $35 she was carrying in her purse.

Miss Mitchell said she was walking in Bancroft Street near Lawrence Avenue when the bandit stepped from a drive way and threatened her with a pistol. The man grabbed her purse and began to tussle.

"What is this?" Miss Mitchell asked.

"I want some money," the bandit replied.

The woman said she told the man she had no money and that no one in her family was working.

Patrolmen Joseph Cichy and John McCarthy reported.

"Well, you've got a dollar and I'm desperate," the gunman yelled and tore the purse from her grasp.

Miss Mitchell continued fighting the man as he attempted to take a small change purse containing $35 from the pocketbook.

26 in Buckeye Raid Are Fined Total of $514

Judge Asks Co-operation to Secure Better Evidence in Future Gambling Drives

Police and the law department should co-operate to obtain better evidence in future gambling raids, Municipal Judge Frank E. O'Connell said yesterday afternoon after he levied a total fine of $514.20 against 26 of 30 men arrested April 22 in a raid on the Buckeye Social club, 224 Superior street.

Judge O'Connell added that Detective John McCarthy, leader of the raid, should be commended for his work, instead of criticized. The judge said he could not understand why it is so difficult to prove the business of the place when convictions and arrests have been made frequently.

Testimony at a hearing last week was that one of the men arrested apparently was in charge of the place. He was fined $50 and costs.

7 Fined $25 Each

Seven men who failed to appear at the hearing last Wednesday and were served bench warrants were fined $25 and costs. A plea of nolle contendere was entered by Attorney Dan McCullough for the men, stating that evidence submitted by the city in the trial last week would stand for them.

Four others failed to appear yesterday, although bench warrants had been issued for them. Their bonds of $25 were ordered forfeited and new bench warrants were issued.

Other 18 men were fined $10 each. The costs totaled $140. All the men pleaded guilty to the loitering charge on N. E. street.

238 Chestnut to be Held

O'Connell said the fines were levied from money obtained from the raid.

Unity Need Is Stressed

Faulkner Addresses Kiwanis Club

Solidarity of national thought as a necessity in the emergency period was stressed by Perry Faulkner, assistant Ohio secretary of state, before the Kiwanis club in the L. L. L. & Koch auditorium yesterday.

Any delinquency in the American political system is due to the delinquency of individuals, he said. Most have grown up in the political party to which they were born and accept its doctrines, leaders and prejudices without question, Mr. Faulkner declared.

Such persons fail to comprehend the political system as a whole and thereby neglect about half of it, he pointed out, and through this neglect a sharp divergence in thinking results.

In addition, he said, many persons are delinquent in their definitions of liberty, believing it to consist of the right to call their leaders by vulgar names. After reserving the right to criticize the leaders, Americans should remember the leaders, also, are Americans seeking the unity of the nation.

"If we have a solidarity of national thought," he concluded, "we can march to whatever front is necessary."

Promotions Awarded To Nine Policemen

Two DeAngelo Aids Advance in Rank; Lt. Bernhagen Made Captain

New Year "gifts" in the form of nine promotions and three transfers in the police division were passed out yesterday by Edward A. DeAngelo, safety director. The promotions and transfers are effective today.

Included in the list of officers receiving advancements were Patrolmen John McCarthy and John Michalak, who for several months have been Director DeAngelo's personal aids on special assignment to his office. They were promoted to sergeant-detectives. His constant companions in the past, the safety director said he would continue the two new detectives on their present assignment.

Advancements ranged to the rank of captain. They almost equally affected the uniform and detective activities.

Other Promotions

Besides Patrolmen McCarthy and Michalak, those receiving promotions and their new ranks are: Lt. Albert W. Bernhagen to captain, Sgt. Detective Adams Dlugewicz to lieutenant-detective, Sgt. Anthony A. Bosch to lieutenant, Sgt. Theodore E. Mackall to lieutenant, Patrolman Lynn Waters to sergeant, Patrolman Harry G. Steele to sergeant, Patrolman William E. Fisk to sergeant-detective.

Top of List Used

Patrolman Howell H. Tice was transferred from uniform patrol duty to plainclothes duty on the morals squad. Patrolman Leo W. Kwapich was transferred from patrolman to plainclothes duty in the detective bureau. Patrolman Joseph W. Swiontek was transferred from plainclothes duty in the detective bureau to duty as a line patrolman.

Director DeAngelo explained that

All promotions, with the exception of those given Patrolmen McCarthy and Michalak, were made from the top of civil service eligibility list. He said it has been customary to make appointments from the top of lists and that the procedure will be followed "as long as everything is equal."

Captain Bernhagen will continue on line duty, as will Sergeant Steele. Sergeant Waters will remain in the traffic bureau. Lieutenant Bosch will continue his work in the police crime prevention bureau.

28 Years in Service

Captain Bernhagen, 56, lives at 722 Ogden avenue. He was appointed May 15, 1914. Detective Dlugewicz, 46, lives at 2920 Elm street. He was appointed June 2, 1923. Lieutenant Bosch lives at 653 Hamilton street, is 36 and was appointed Sept. 6, 1920. Lieutenant Mackall, 35, lives at 1314 Broadway and was appointed April 10, 1916. Sergeant Steele, 35, lives at 517 Dorr street and was appointed July 18, 1926. Detective Fisk lives at 4204 Harris street. He is 34 and was appointed Dec. 24, 1931. Sergeant Waters, 44, lives at 1136 Oakwood avenue and was appointed June 1, 1928.

Detective McCarthy, 47, lives at 644 Colburn street and was appointed Nov. 18, 1923. Detective Michalak, 40, of 3122 Warsaw street, was appointed May 1, 1928. Patrolman Tice of 868 Colburn street, was appointed June 1, 1928. Patrolman Kwapich, 39, of 1013 Heston street, was appointed Aug. 1, 1933. Patrolman Swiontek, 40, lives at 1220 Tecumseh street and was appointed March 1, 1925.

SWINDLE SWAG HERE $60,000

Toledoans and Michigan residents were mulcted of nearly $60,000 by two gangs of international swindlers, operating in Toledo within the last two years, Detective Merle Unkle said today. Detective Unkle, in announcing that he would present evidence in numerous swindles to the Lucas County grand jury Thursday revealed today he had uncovered another swindle in which a Toledo resident was defrauded of $600. The detective said that but for the fact several intended victims had become suspicious and did not carry through the deals, the total losses in swindles would have amounted to $100,000.

Third Gang Hinted

Sheriff James O'Reilly and Patrolman John McCarthy announced at noon that Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Swalley, Lakewood, O., who had been swindled of $15,000, positively identified Frank Orr, county jail prisoner, as having been involved in the ring. He was picked from a lineup of other prisoners, it was reported.

The detective, who said the investigation is as important as the smashing of the notorious Yankovskiy gang, said his investigation revealed there even may have been a third gang of swindlers operating here.

Although the two chief gangs usually operated separately, frequently they would join hands in some swindle.

Stock Scheme

Detective Unkle is keeping the names of the gang's victims. Previously, Mr. and Mrs. Swalley revealed they had been swindled. Mrs. Sadie Cole, Parma, disclosed she had been swindled to the amount of $3,000.

Usually the gangs used a stock market scheme to bleed victims, the detective said.

Mr. and Mrs. Swalley came to Toledo today to view Orr, who is held on the charge of swindling money under false pretenses. Orr will be released on bond.

Man Accused Of Murder in Knapik Death

Action Casts Aside Hit-Skip Theory In Killing

REFUSED TEST

Ex-Convict Arrested After Report on Conversation

James Louis Zerucki, 23, of Lucas street, last night was charged with murder in the death Jan. 12 of Lloysius Knapik, 16, of 615 Burbank drive, it was announced by Safety Director Edward DeAngelo.

At the same time Mr. DeAngelo revealed "there is a strong possibility that the Knapik boy was not hit by an auto, but was murdered."

The Knapik boy's death, generally assumed to have been caused by a hit-skip motorist, has been attributed consistently by some members of the police division to other causes. His body was found in the 2400 block of Nebraska avenue on the morning of Jan. 13, several hours after death.

Killing Denied

Zerucki, who was probated Oct. 29, 1940, for two years after being convicted in federal court on a postal violation charge, has denied killing the Knapik boy, the safety director said.

However, two persons have told the director that Zerucki revealed to them the fact of the boy's death seven hours before the body was discovered by a passerby, Mr. DeAngelo said.

Since his arrest Tuesday Zerucki has refused to admit being involved in the death, but told the safety director that a CCC enrollee at Sand Beach was involved. Detective Harry Davis questioned the CCC youth and reported he was convinced the enrollee was not involved.

Weeps at Pictures

Yesterday Zerucki broke down and wept when shown clothing worn by the Knapik boy and pictures of the death scene. It was reported by Detective Sgt. Arthur Eggert, who has been analyzing those pieces of evidence.

Zerucki refused to submit to a lie detector test, the director said. He promised, however, to furnish information concerning the death. Upon this promise he was released yesterday morning.

Last night he was re-arrested in his home by Detectives John McCarthy and Leo Kwapich, after police considered the case throughout the day the director said.

Refused To Confess

Zerucki was given several opportunities during the last two days to plead guilty to a manslaughter charge, but refused. Mr. DeAngelo said. Finally the director, declaring, "It looks like a case of deliberate murder," decided to have the murder charge placed against Zerucki.

Mr. DeAngelo, explaining doubts of police that the Knapik boy was victim of a hit-skip motorist, pointed out that the only injury revealed on the boy's body was to his head. If he had been the victim of an auto, it is probable his body would have showed other injury marks, the director added.

Zerucki, Mr. DeAngelo said, was acquainted with the Knapik boy.

Zerucki's auto was held by police last night for examination, the director reported.

Judge Imputes Insincerity To Police Gambling Raiders

O'Connell Flays Veteran Officers for Lack Of Knowledge About Evidence Seized at Buckeye, Urges Better Supervision.

Sincerity in conducting gambling raids was questioned yesterday afternoon by Municipal Judge Frank E. O'Connell, who flayed veteran police officers for their lack of knowledge on evidence taken Tuesday by a raiding squad at the Buckeye Sports Center, 224 Superior Street.

Judge O'Connell directed his criticism at the officers after listening to testimony in the trial of 30 men arrested in the raid on the sports center.

The hearing was continued until April 30. A total of $1,865.75 confiscated as evidence will not be returned, the Judge declared, unless someone can appear in open court and positively identify it as his property.

Other evidence, which includes numbers tip sheets, race forms, race bet pads and numbers books, will be destroyed after he has time to review them carefully, Judge O'Connell said.

No More "Good Shows"
Members of the raiding squad who testified in court drew the wrath of Judge O'Connell when they were unable to testify as to the meaning of several markings on pads which they had presented as evidence that race bets were being sold in the Buckeye.

Detective John McCarthy, a member of the raiding squad, testified that he had seen the markings on the pads.

Howes, Charles

number of the police department for 12 years, told the Judge that the marked sheets were absolute evidence of gambling but, when questioned further by Judge O'Connell, he could not say positively what the markings meant.

If the police department is sincere in staging raids and seeking convictions in court, Judge O'Connell suggested that the safety director, morals squad leader and law director get together and talk over what should be done. Judge O'Connell declared further that he wanted no more of the court's time wasted by just a "good show."

Bonds Of Eight Forfeited

issued for their re-arrest when they failed to appear in court yesterday for the trial.

Robert Doomchin, 29, of 2047 Vermont Avenue, an employe of the Buckeye, attended as a spectator but became a "surprise" witness for the state. His testimony, Judge O'Connell said, meant more to the state's case than all the rest of the evidence presented.

Doomchin was questioned by Judge O'Connell after he stood up and represented himself as George Christo, 60, of 612 Front Street, one of the defendants who had failed to appear. Doomchin was recognized by Detective McCarthy, who told the court the man's real name.

Unbelievable, Judge Says

Under questioning by Judge O'Connell, Doomchin admitted that he had been employed at the Buckeye for the last four years but never had seen his employer and wouldn't be able to say who he was anyway. He said his name at the place were to sell cigarettes, mark down baseball returns and sell soft drinks.

Testimony presented by the prosecution later showed that the raiding squad found two-thirds of a box of cigars in the place. Soft drinks, they said, were dispensed by an automatic machine.

Commenting on the man's testimony, Judge O'Connell declared that it was unbelievable that $1,865.75 in money could be taken in one day for the sale of cigars and soft drinks. The sale of these articles, Doomchin told the court, was "the only business carried on at the Buckeye."

Jaehn Called as Expert

Patrolman Ollie Jaehn, a member of the morals squad, was called to the witness stand by the prosecution though he was not present at the raid. Considered by police officials as an "expert" on horse race betting, Patrolman Jaehn brought with him a copy of Racing Form and identified the small slip which caused Judge O'Connell to comment on the other officers' lack of knowledge of gambling.

The raid in which the 30 men were arrested was conducted shortly after 5 p. m. Tuesday on orders of Safety Director Edward A. DeAngelo, who sent a squad to the Buckeye after having received information from officers of the morals squad that "scores" of men were congregating in the place during the afternoons.

Eighteen men arrested in the same place April 11 were discharged in court recently by Judge O'Connell after officers attempted to convict them on charges of loitering.

DETECTIVE JOHN MICHALAK

Here's Detective John Michalak in an old role—raiding the Buckeye Social Club, 224 Superior Street, and seizing part of a roulette layout as 30 men were arrested, yesterday.

Moving Day At Buckeye

DETECTIVE JOHN MCCARTHY

Scenes reminiscent of downtown police raids of a few years ago were reenacted yesterday when police "moved in" on the Buckeye Social Club, 224 Superior Street, and moved out 30 men and valuable gambling equipment found stored on upper floors, though not in use. Scores of sheets with horse race information and booklets and papers with numbers game gossip were seized by Detective John McCarthy, shown sorting the "literature."

DeAngelo, Irked, Threatens New Numbers Housecleaning

Warning Follows Abe Joffa's Charge That He Is Being Persecuted by Police While Other Places Are Unmolested.

Resistance which police met in making an arrest yesterday in Abe Joffa's numbers game place at 219 Superior Street resulted in a threat from Edward A. DeAngelo, safety director, that he will go the limit and chase all operators out of the downtown area if there is any more trouble.

The row started when Detective John McCarthy and Patrolmen Arnold Ledergerber and Leo Niese of the morals squad arrested Mace Engels, 29, in Joffa's place on the charge of engaging in a game of chance.

They said they found Engels at a table in a rear room with a box containing 10 numbers slips and money. The policemen said Joffa stepped into the room and accused the officers of picking on him and allowing other places to operate unmolested. Then Joffa refused to allow Engels to be taken from the place without a warrant, police said.

Patrolman Ledergerber hurried to the police prosecutor's office, obtained a warrant and returned. Engels was arrested. Engels gave his address as 219 Superior Street, his occupation as a merchant, and said he was an employe of the place.

During the argument, the arresting officers said, Joffa threatened to obtain an injunction to prevent policemen from loitering in his place, a practice used to keep numbers play at a minimum.

Mr. DeAngelo became angry at the threat and retaliated with the promise that his policemen will continue the practice and that he will start abatement proceedings against Joffa if the latter seeks an injunction. The morals squad arrested 34 men yesterday on numbers game charges.

Numbers Campaign To Be Opened Today

DeAngelo Announces Intensive Drive as Result of Bomb Tossing

An intensive campaign against numbers agents will begin today, Edward A. DeAngelo, safety director, announced yesterday.

The director made the announcement after conferring with members of the morals squad over which he assumed command after the retirement several weeks ago of Lt. Merle Unkle.

The campaign was prompted, the director said, by the throwing of stench bombs this week through the windows of two downtown numbers houses. The last was thrown yesterday into the New Deal Sports Center, on Michigan street. The other smashed a window in the Superior Bank Nite Service, Superior street, Tuesday.

Theories Vary

Discrediting the rumor a "war" was in progress among the numbers houses, the director said members of the morals squad were unable to explain the bomb throwings. In the opinion of some members, the bomb throwings were the work of a crank. Others said Detroit numbers agents were attempting to "move into" Toledo since the lid was clamped on gambling in the motor city. One said the thrower might have been a disgruntled player whose winnings were unpaid.

Squad Augmented

The regular membership of the squad will be augmented, the director said, by the addition of Detective Sgts. John Michalak and John McCarthy.

Some of the men were instructed to sit in the numbers houses and others were ordered to patrol the downtown district to prevent numbers writing on the streets. News stores and novelty shops will be included in the campaign, which will be in force day and night, the director stated.

Raid

"Racing Form" dated yesterday, numbers tip sheets and blank numbers books.

Patrolman Arthur Brown, a member of the squad, obtained a fork from the restaurant portion of the building on the first floor and pried open one of the locked drawers. It contained $1,866.25 and several slips bearing names of such as "Victory Bound" and numbers indicating they might pertain to horse race bets, Detective McCarthy said.

The money and slips were confiscated.

Several of the "customers" protested their arrest, pleading with Detective McCarthy to release them because they "only stopped in for a 'coke'."

DeAngelo Inspires Raid

The raid was inspired by Director DeAngelo who said he acted on information supplied by the morals squad. He described the police raid as "a nuisance raid" and said he held little hope the evidence obtained by the raiders would support a gambling charge in court.

Last week, 30 men arrested in the previous raid were released in municipal court with court comment that the evidence, race horse sheets, was not sufficient to prosecute the men for gambling.

The raid almost misfired. The director ordered it after meeting with Chief Ray E. Allen and other police officers concerning the Community Chest drive.

Can't Find Policemen

He sent Detective McCarthy and Patrolman Brown to the center, "to give it the once over." Detective McCarthy hesitated to make the raid without additional aid. A search for Patrolmen Raymond Miller and Fred Kline, members of the squad on foot duty in the downtown section, was unsuccessful.

Time dragged and Detective McCarthy was fearful he and Patrolman Brown had been "spotted." Finally, Director DeAngelo took charge at the scene and ordered the raid. As Detective McCarthy and Patrolman Brown walked in the door of the center, Patrolmen Kline and Miller and other members of the squad appeared. The raid required more than an hour.

Director DeAngelo did not participate in the raid. He left the scene after ordering the squad to enter the center. Detective McCarthy told the directors he saw one "customer" escape through a rear entrance.

Carpenter Injured

Squad members said they believe the gambling equipment which was in the building April 11 had been removed to a new "location" on Benore road where a large building is being constructed.

Harry Geisel, 24, of 3215 Elm street, was treated yesterday in Mercy hospital for a leg injury. Hospital attendants quoted Mr. Geisel as saying he fell 16 feet from a scaffolding at the building on Benore road. He said he was employed as a carpenter by a Toledo construction company, hospital attendants reported.

Court Centers Concern On Evidence

In a flareup of judicial anger, Judge Frank E. O'Connell yesterday leveled strong criticism at police who conducted the raid on the Buckeye Sports center, 224 Superior street, Tuesday.

Judge O'Connell derided the evidence presented by the court was not all that was on the part of the police to gain convictions taken in gambling raids. He said the director, law director division should get together on a plan for the future.

Cases Continued

The cases of the 30 men arrested in the raid on charges of lotteries were continued until Wednesday by the judge. The defendants, all of whom were fingerprinted, are free on $25 bond each, supplied by professional bondsmen.

Judge O'Connell ordered all the evidence held. He said he would not return the money taken in the raid to any one unless he identified it as his property. The amount was $1,866.25.

The bonds of eight men who did not appear in court yesterday were ordered forfeited by Judge O'Connell.

Slips Identified

Police who testified in court that Detectives John McCarthy and Arthur Brown and Patrolman Ollis Jaehn, Patrolman Jaehn identified as an "expert" and was the only one who could identify what the slips taken in the raid represented. The slips were said by the patrolman to be race horse bets.

When the name of George O'Connell, 66, of 612 Front street, was called, a man later identified as Robert Doornich, 29, of 2047 Vermont avenue, stood up.

Detective McCarthy told the man standing was not the man Judge O'Connell then berated the man severely for misrepresentation.

Building Searched

The raid, ordered by Safety Director Edward A. DeAngelo, was the second on the place in the last 10 days.

The evidence seized, besides the money, included alleged racing and numbers slips. The money was found in several locked drawers which the raiders pried open.

The three-story building was searched throughout, but no other possible gambling evidence was found. Gambling equipment which had been stored in the upper floors of the building at the time of the last raid had been removed, the detectives said.

In the previous raid, 30 men were arrested on the same charge. They were dismissed April 14 by Judge O'Connell when police failed to prove gambling was being carried on in the place.

Throng of 500 Threatens to Storm No. 8 Engine House to Release Frank Wallace After Officer's Gun Butt Subdues Him.

Police reserves were called to No. 8 Engine House at Indiana Avenue and Division Street last night when a crowd of more than 500 persons threatened to take a prisoner arrested by Patrolmen Lee Neuendorff and Erwin Oehlert.

The patrolmen said a disturbance began when Frank Wallace, 47, of 376 Pinewood Avenue, whom they had arrested on the charge of being drunk and disorderly, broke away from Patrolman Neuendorff and kicked him while the officer was telephoning for a patrol wagon. Patrolman Neuendorff said he was forced to subdue Wallace with a blow of his pistol butt.

The officers said a large crowd gathered and threatened to storm the engine house to release Wallace. Arnold Durtzsch, fire department lieutenant, ordered the doors locked and a guard of firemen posted at the entrances. Police reserves were called.

Officers Transferred

A detail of seven men under Sergt. Nelson Moss remained at the engine house for more than an hour before the crowd dispersed. Patrolmen Oehlert and Neuendorff afterward were given a scout assignment in another district. An extra detail was maintained at the engine house for the rest of the night.

were assigned after an incident two weeks ago when a mob forced Patrolmen John Michalak and John McCarthy to release a prisoner, whom they had arrested in a beer parlor brawl.

The officers subsequently returned with reserves and arrested three Ohio National Guard members.

Clarence Smith, attorney, who said he represented the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, intervened for Wallace in Judge Homer Ramey's Police Court this morning and obtained a continuance until July 12. Bond covering all the charges was set at $200.

ELUSIVE MR. WEBB IN JAILHOUSE NOW

He Didn't Keep Date with Court, But They Got Him.

The elusive Edwin (Boiler) Webb stopped eluding today.

His next appearance will be at the workhouse where he will remain for a six-month visit after paying a $100 fine and costs.

This decision was reached today by Judge Frank E. O'Connell in Police Court when the erstwhile Boiler at long last appeared before him.

Webb had a date with the court yesterday. He also wanted to attend a funeral. He left the court in the lurch and attended the funeral. So did several other defendants and policemen. But they did notice Mr. Webb. However, he was arrested last night at 12th Street, Avenue and Tenth Street by Detectives Arthur Langford and John McCarthy.

The charge was the same as in the bombing of William Galt, 330 Clair Street. Motion for a writ of habeas corpus was overruled and the forfeiture was ordered set at $200.

other 2,200 city employees, is a member of Mr. Caton's union. Detective John McCarthy, who is assigned to the safety director's office, explained Mr. DeAngelo was in New York. Mr. Caton told Detective McCarthy he would give the director some information when he returned to the city.

Detectives Assigned

Meanwhile Mr. DeAngelo related, Ronald T. Anderson, street commissioner, obtained information that "there was a payoff" in his division. This Mr. Anderson reported to Mr. Jewhurst, who endeavored to impart the information to Mr. DeAngelo. He, too, learned the safety director was out of the city and made the report instead to Police Chief Ray E. Allen.

Chief Allen assigned Detectives Manson and Fisk to investigate. They received the assignment Saturday and worked on the case until the arrest was made.

They were accompanied to the home of the subordinate, who said he had been paying the foreman, by Detectives McCarthy and John Michalak, who also are attached to Mr. DeAngelo's office, and the safety director.

Trap Described

Director DeAngelo said Detectives Manson and Fisk obtained a statement from the subordinate in which he admitted he "was paying protection money to save his job." He also told them the foreman was receiving money from other city employees for the same alleged protection.

The subordinate, who is 43, was ordered to report to Mr. DeAngelo and the detectives yesterday. It was then that "the plant" was arranged. This man was given marked bills and told to invite the foreman to his home, in which the officials were concealed.

Mr. DeAngelo, Detectives Manson and Fisk and Mr. Caton listened more than an hour to a conversation between the subordinate and the foreman before they arrested the latter and booked him on suspicion. Detectives McCarthy and Michalak cruised in front of the house to prevent an escape.

'Jockeying' By Lawyers Hinted At Parley By Jurist

Practices of certain attorneys to obtain numerous continuances and in other ways "jockey" cases in municipal court were criticized sharply yesterday by municipal judges and policemen who met to discuss remedies of the situation. The conference was in the private chambers of Municipal Judge Edgar Norris and attended by Municipal Judge Ramey with Sgt. and Homer and Patrolman John McCarthy representing the Fraternal Order of Police.

At the outset Patrolman McCarthy said members of the police division find intolerable the practice of frequently continuing cases necessitating the court appearance of officers involved. He said the situation was particularly obnoxious in the case of officers on the night shift who were required to be in court irrespective of their sleeping schedules. He said he knew personally of a recent case which had been continued four times.

Judge Ramey suggested that a rule might be applied to allow but one continuance each for the prosecution and defense save in exceptional cases.

Jockeying Hinted

Sergeant Weiner said the policemen had no desire to oppose continuances where there were good reasons for them, but that he felt most of the reasons were not good. He cited the case of a man charged with drunken driving whose case was continued six times.

Judge Norris said undoubtedly there is a lot of "jockeying" on the part of lawyers, many of whom "labor under the misconception they're entitled to at least one continuance." He said such is not the case, adding the judges wish to cooperate in allowing the attorneys time to prepare their cases.

"But where they try to out-manuever me—that's a different matter," declared Judge Norris. "I know they out-manuever me in court, but what are you going to do about it?"

Hallway Conferences

Another "evil" cited by Judge Norris was the practice of defense attorneys conferring in the Safety building hallways with the policemen and thus getting data to prepare their cases. He stated further the belief that members of the prosecutor's staff should be more experienced in the prosecution of law and have at their fingertips facts in possession of the arresting officers.

In this respect, Judge Norris was of the opinion someone should work in the prosecutor's office for the purpose of interviewing the officers and witnesses to gather such facts. He said such preparation would largely do away with criticism of the courts in not preparing cases.

Patrolman McCarthy said he wanted to make clear his group was not critical of the judges, but of the excessive number of continuances. He said, "We're willing to go fifty-fifty—one continuance for each side."

Conference Planned

"If you can solve the problem of continuances in civil and criminal dockets, McCarthy," said Judge Norris, "I'll give you the croix de guerre."

Judge Ramey, who is the presiding jurist of municipal court, said he would confer with municipal
