ARREST FRED MILLER ON THE CHARGE OF MISREPRESENTATION

Woman Swears Out Warrant Declaring Weight Was Incorrect.

Thought to have resulted indirectly from the present surge of high prices on foodstuffs, Fred Miller of the grocery firm of Miller Brothers, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Nachtrab, on a warrant charging violation of a city ordinance.

Miller was arrested at one of the stores controlled by the firm and taken to police headquarters. Clerk Price released him on his own recognizance. He will have a hearing in police court probably tomorrow.

W. W. Ketchner, city sealer of weights and measures, swore out the warrant for Miller's arrest, on complaint of Mrs. Sarah Sherrick. The warrant charges that Miller misrepresented the weight of a quantity of certain commodities sold by the firm of which he is a member, to Mrs. Sherrick.

The staff included one bushel of potatoes, one peck of apples and ten pounds of sugar.

Miller Brothers control seven grocery stores in different parts of Toledo. Fred Miller lives at 2139 Twelfth street.

Women's rights, as exemplified by Mrs. John Forbes, 1216 Baxter street, landed her husband in St. Vincent's hospital with a battered head, while a recruit was added to the cause in the person of Patrolman Nachtrab.

According to the officer's report, Forbes came home intoxicated, and started to abuse his wife. She re-

IS 'LIFE TIRED' SO WOMAN TRIES TO END IT ALL

Stopped by Patrolmen as She Was Preparing to Leap from Dock.

A human life was the stake of a thrilling race which was won by Patrolmen Nachtrab and Ansell on Adams street at an early hour on Friday morning.

Knowing she would end her life,
Mrs. Ida Gordon, 45, giving her address as 1214 Huron street, ran down the street screaming at the top of her voice.

The officers were a block away.
They overtook the fleeing woman just as she was about to leap from the dock. She struggled fiercely to carry out her purpose.

HELD BY HIS ROBBER IN VAN

Dye Said He Could Not Escape
Until Assailant Slept.

After he had been detained, as he asserted, in a vacant moving van in the rear of 15 South St. Clair street, for several hours by a man, who, he said, had beaten him until he was nearly unconscious and then robbed him of $2.15, John Dye, 50, of Adrian, Mich., crawled out of the van about 2 Thursday morning and notified the police. Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Brown responded, and arrested
Russell Bickley, 19, of Hillsdale, Mich., who was found asleep in the van, and whom Dye identified as his assailant.

In police court Thursday Bickley was convicted of assault and battery, and Judge Austin postponed sentence until Friday.

Dye said that Bickley followed him from a saloon when the former started about 9 for the Union station. As he passed the mouth of an alley, he said, Bickley assaulted him, and then dragged him into a moving van which stood in the alley. Dye said that when he attempted to leave the van his companion threatened him, and that he was unable to escape until Bickley went to sleep.

QUARREL OVER DRINKS, SLASHED WITH RAZOR

An argument over the payment of drinks resulted in a cutting near the Fashion saloon, Lafayette and Superior streets, in which E. G.

Snow, 39, colored, 115 Huron

Snow was slashed twice across the left side of the head with a razor, and the index and middle fingers of the right hand were nearly severed.

Casey were near the scene and, after a chase, rounded up two men,
"Baby" Shaine, 218 Erie street, and James Jackson, 115 Huron street, ministered first aid until a physician arrived.

"SPOOK" LIGHT IS NOTHING BUT KITE

FOLLOWS STRING TO END

Corrals Weird Object on Top of Building—Japanese Lantern Withstands Storm and Rain.

Nervous women of Auburndale are rejoicing over the capture by Patrolman Nachtrab Sunday morning of a "spook" light which hovered over the southwestern part of Toledo Friday and Saturday nights. Its visitation being taken as a warning of all kinds of nameless disasters.

The attention of the police was first called to the light, which appeared, danced and quivered in the heavens almost as soon as darkness settled down over the city, when a woman telephoned that someone was apparently trying to get fire to the roof of buildings along Dorr street.

Shortly after dawn Sunday morning Nachtrab was able to make out a huge kite wavering high over the buildings and, about 1,000 feet back of the kite, and not very far above the buildings, hung a large Japanese lantern. Still nearer the officer was able to trace the kite string to the roof of Kleper Bros. furniture store on Dorr street.

Making his way to the roof of the building Nachtrab found the broken end of the string entangled about a water tank on the roof. He pulled in the string until the lantern was reached and found a candle inside burned to within less than an inch of its socket.

The officer later learned that some young men had been flying the kite nightly but that on Saturday night the string parted, the broken end becoming fastened to the roof of the furniture store before the kite fell. The wind then maintained the kite in the air, and although it and the lantern were badly drenched by the early morning storm, managed to weather thru without the light being extinguished.

PRISONER TAKES TUMBLE SAVES OFFICER'S LIFE

The falling of a prisoner down a steep embankment was probably all that saved Patrolman Stephen Quinn from a fatal wound Sunday night when he and Patrolman Nachtrab were arresting a gang of alleged burglars in a resort at Huron and Jackson streets. The men were arrested on suspicion of robbing an Italian meat market on Erie street.

One of the seven prisoners it is said, crouched down alongside a building near the resort and leveled a gun at the policemen, but as he did so stumbled and fell down the embankment, dropping the revolver. He confessed to his action at police headquarters, it was said, and declared that he would have pulled the trigger. Patrolman Nachtrab, upon returning to the scene of the arrest, found the loaded revolver where the prisoner took the tumble.

Two of the seven prisoners arrested, both from Fremont, were given sentences of 30 days each in the county jail, while the others were held until further order by the court.

A team, hitched to a delivery wagon belonging to R. H. Hologreux, 11 North Superior street, came dashing down Washington street. Nachtrab rushed to the middle of the street, grasped one of the horses by the bridle and brought both runaways to a stop after being dragged for some distance.

POLICE BALKED; WITNESS MADE MUM IN COURT

Case against Jack Maybee, charged with permitting a house to be used for sal purposes, was marked off the docket in police court on Thursday, when Patrolman Robinson announced that the Smith, principal witness for the state, had refused to tell the court anything he knew concerning the case.

The announcement was made by the officer after a clash between himself and Attorney Frank Boyer, counsel for Maybee. With Patrolman Nachtrab, Robinson and Smith stepped into an ante room, just as the trial was about to begin.

"I won't stand for that," shouted Boyer, as he rushed toward the room where the officers and Smith were talking. Opening the door of the room, he called to Smith: "Don't you tell them anything."

The officers angrily resented Boyer's action, and claimed that they had a right to talk with the witness. Boyer charged them with trying to "fix" Smith. This was emphatically denied by Rotson.

When the turmoil had subsided, Robinson told the judge that Smith had balked, and that he (Smith) said he knew nothing of the case. "You might as well dismiss the case. It was on Smith's evidence that we expected to convict Maybee. He won't talk now. He was willing to give the evidence before. Twice he told me that he knew all about the case, and that Maybee had admitted certain things to him," said the officer.

The officers charge that some influence had been brought to bear on Smith to prevent him from testifying in the Maybee case. When the case had been dismissed, Judge Austin held that the officers had an absolute right to talk with their witness, out of hearing of the defendant's counsel.

BOLD THUGS WORK ON MONROE STREET IN EARLY EVENING

Relieve Victim of $2 and Watch but Overlook Roll of $30.

One man holding a revolver at his forehead, another holding one at the back of his head, W. A. Wallick, the victim of a sensational holdup at the corner of Monroe and Fourteenth street at 9 o'clock last night.

The holdup was committed in the glare of the electric lights and in the sight of many pedestrians.

Wallick, who is foreman of the Peyer Bros. & Co. goat factory, was walking down Monroe street toward his home and had just turned the corner of Fourteenth when the two men grabbed him. One raised a revolver to his forehead, the other pressed the barrel of a gun against the back of his head. The man in front wore a mask and demanded that Wallick make no outcry. He then proceeded to go thru the victim's pockets.

Overlook a Roll.

The bandits were rewarded for their trouble with $2 in money and a dollar watch. They overlooked $25 in a billbook which appeared in Wallick's hip pocket.

After searching Wallick the two holdup men, still holding revolvers to his head, ordered him to walk to Monroe street and turn toward Thirteenth. The victim did as ordered and as he turned the corner was cucky whirled about by the men and shoved down the street. The two bandits then emptied the contents of their revolvers in the air.

The report of the guns drew a large crowd of people to the vicinity immediately. In the excitement the thugs escaped.

Police headquarters was notified and Patrolman Nachtrab hurried to the scene. Altho he made a thorough investigation of the case he was unable to discover any clue to the holdup men.

POLICE CATCH KNIFE USERS

Lay Trap for Fugitives and Arthur Butler's Assailants Are in Jail.

After a vigilante watch on the part of the police department which has been kept up since Monday when they made good their escape, Tony Pedro and his son Charley were arrested last night. Charley was arrested at 104 Nebraska street where he was found in company with the woman about whom it is claimed, the fight took place in which Arthur Butler was severely stabbed in John Petre's saloon. Tony De Pedro was found at the corner of Vance and Eleventh street just after the police had arrested his son.

It is said that while Butler and some friends were standing at the bar in John Petre's saloon Sunday afternoon, together with the two De Pedros, that the woman who goes under the name of Nellie Wallace, came in and said something to Charley De Pedro in which he took offense and ever which he struck her. Butler seeing this immediately took him to task and in the affray which followed received the stabs. Since that time he has been at the Toledo hospital and has been steadily improving.

The officers, knowing that the two principals had escaped, have been keeping a sharp lookout for the two. Last night they returned to their usual haunts and were immediately detected by Officers Robinson and Nachtrab, who patrol that district. As soon as they had been located Sergeant Helly with Mike Cope Metz and Balder and Patrolman Tidman formed a net about the places to make the arrest. After a search in which every effort was made on the part of the prisoners to hide, they were found after the officers had searched the houses. Both the men and the woman are in custody and will await trial as soon as Butler is able to appear.

POLICE NAB 2 AND $1,500 IN DIAMONDS

With over $1,500 worth of diamonds in their possession, a man and woman, who told the police they were Jack Maybee, 25, of Cleveland, and Edna McNeil, 25, of Toledo, were arrested early this morning by Patrolmen Nachtrab and Robinson. The couple were strolling down Jackson street when taken into custody.

Besides the diamonds, both the man and woman carried other jewelry, including two watches, bracelets, brooches and stickpins, as well as over $100 in money. Maybee said he was conducting a pool room in this city temporarily. The woman prettily and neatly dressed, said she lived in Toledo but a short time.

PRISONER SAYS HE IS NOT THE THIEF

Arrested by Sergeant Reilly and Patrolman Nachtrab, Otto Boyd, 19, was on Friday identified as the man who broke a window at Arthur Christen's jewelry store, 715 Cherry street on Thursday night, and stole a tray of diamond rings.

Mrs. Christen says she was directly in front of the window when it was broken. Six of the 13 rings stolen were found in an alley where the robber had stumbled. Those still missing are valued at about $200 by Mr. Christen.

Boyd was picked up on the description furnished by Mrs. Christen. He insists it is a case of mistaken identity. None of the jewelry was found in his possession.

LIGHTNING STRIKES GIRL THRU OPEN WINDOW

Henders Her Unconscious but Police Bring First Aid Lessons Into Use and Revive Her.

Shocked by a bolt of lightning which entered the room where she lay on the bed during the electrical storm last night, May Lawrence, 13, residing with her mother, at 24 South Superior street, was only resuscitated after hard work on the part of Patrolman Nachrab and Casey by aid of artificial respiration.

Miss Lawrence was reclining on the bed conversing with her mother when the bolt came in the open window. The elder woman was uninjured and the room showed no trace of the flash.

The family became frightened when their efforts to restore the girl to consciousness proved futile, and the police headquarters, a block away, was notified. The officers who responded immediately put to use some of their training for emergency cases, received at the hands of Police Surgeon Donnelly. Treatment accorded drowning persons was administered and the work was rewarded when Miss Lawrence recovered just before the arrival of a physician who had been summoned.

COP AFOOT CATCHES FLEEING BICYCLIST

Patrolman Nachrab's feet proved a little too speedy for a bicyclist last evening, and resulted in the arrest of a negro who said he was Richard Moore, 49. He was locked up at police headquarters charged with petty larceny and accused of stealing the wheel he was riding down Washington street. The bicycle was the property of E. O. James, 2210 Robinson avenue, and was standing in front of the Price & Henderson saloon. Nachrab saw the negro mount it and took chase.

NEIGHBOR TAKES MAN FOR BAD BURGLAR

C. W. Berthold, 842 Norwood avenue, narrowly escaped being shot when he was mistaken for a burglar by a neighbor. Dr. Alvin Chollett, at an early hour this morning, Berthold lost his key and in an effort to get into his own house used a step-ladder to climb into a window which was left unlocked. Chollett saw a man enter the house by way of the window, called the police, and procured a man which he intended to use if the man attempted to leave.

Major Patrolman Brown and Nachrab investigated only to find that Berthold didn't want to make acquaintances of his home.

WOMAN'S BURNS FATAL

Leaped From Upper Window in Sheet of Flames.

Suffering Agony, She Was at First Thought to Be Demented.

Eleven hours of agony were ended at 11:20 Friday morning when death relieved the sufferings of Mrs. Esther Rife, aged 59, who received frightful burns and serious injuries at 1:25 Thursday, when with her clothing alight, she leaped from a second story window of her home at East Woodruff and Union streets.

More than half of Mrs. Rife's clothes were burned completely off her body, and instantly seeing her at first did not realize the situation and noticed the door and she was quickly extinguished. She was taken to the hospital and immediately was having the best of the fire, which was extinguished. A positive statement was made by Dr. T. L. Latham and others in the hospital, who were present when the Officer Nachrab, and the hospital man was called by the Trauma hospital.

The blast is supposed to have been caused by the dropping of a smoking incense burning with which Mrs. Rife was cleaning a bed. Major Patrolman Brown and Nachrab are today finding matches strewn about the floor of the room where the fire started and also on the stairs.

BREAKS LEG IN TWO PLACES

Special Trooper in Dr. Hilt's Office, Monday, July 11.—John G. Hart, an ex-convict of the Clay Pit Co. Jail, was broken in two places between the legs while acting in the part of a large party in the city.

POLICE BELIEVE THEY'VE BROKEN UP THIEF GANGS

In two captures last night, it is believed that police have rounded up two gangs that have been committing numerous burglaries in the city during the past week.

The jobs were amateurish, but last night's work proved the undoing of the two gangs. As a result, 19 men are locked up at police headquarters on suspicion of burglaries.

Shortly after 9 o'clock last night the jewelry store conducted by the Isenberg Brothers company at 312 Superior street, was found burglarized, by a watchman. A call was sent to police headquarters and Patrolmen Joe Daly and Russell responded, remaining there until the arrival of the proprietors. A small quantity of stuff was missing.

Entrance was gained to the Isenberg store in a novel manner. A skylight on the roof of the building was broken and the burglars then slid down to the interior on a pipe alongside the wall. They escaped by the back door.

Carrying Clothes.

At 11:20 Patrolman Day, in passing down an alley between Jefferson avenue and Monroe street saw three men, one of them carrying an armful of clothes. He called to them and as he did so, one of the men dropped the clothes and started to run. He fired several shots.

Sergeant Kelly and Patrolman Nachrab were standing on Monroe street and hearing the shots started for the alley, just as the fire emerged. The three were quickly covered with pistols and taken to headquarters.

They gave their names as Walter Moore, 13, of 121 Washington street; Ted Eble, 23, of Chestnut; and A. C. Helsted, 25, of Missouri street. They were locked up on suspicion, but officers claim they will file affidavits of burglary against them. One of the trio answers a description, it is alleged, of one of three men who broke into Isenberg's store and who was seen running after the alarm.

When the clothes were examined, it was found they were from the tailor shop of William A. Cohen, 218 St. Clair street. Major Patrolman Mast was sent to the store and found the clothes. He called up the owner by telephone, and said he received the reply that "his man could throw the stuff in the street." Cohen, the police claim, was indignant that he should be called up so late at night and refused to come down to look after his store.

Get Seva More.

In a report at Jackson and Huron streets, shortly after 9 o'clock, Patrolmen Nachrab and Quinn arrested seven men who were locked up on suspicion and who, it is alleged, robbed an Italian man marked on a map street, near Jackson. The patrolmen found a quantity of material which had been dropped in a hasty exit.

The prisoners gave their names as Otto Hiles, 23, of Fremont; Anthony Wolf, 24, of Fremont; James Murphy, 37; George Wilson, 23, and Harry Wilson, 25, all of Toledo; Charles Zimmerman, 26, and Frank Smith, 26, both of Fremont.

Every time old Stalwood tells me a batch of jokes I feel like a Christmas turkey.

"How is that?"
"I'm stuffed with chestnuts."

FREE-FOR-ALL ROW BLOCKS CAR TRAFFIC

In a free-for-all fight, indulged in by members of the so-called "Jefferson street gang," at 6 o'clock last evening at Superior street and Jefferson avenue, three men received bad lumps and cuts. The black row number some eight or ten.

The fight attracted a large crowd which rapidly grew until, according to estimates of police, there were 1,000 people on the scene as fighters, witnesses and peace-makers. The crowd grew so dense that street car traffic down either Jefferson avenue or Superior street was halted for nearly five minutes until police could unseat fighters from the big mob.

A hurry call was sent police headquarters and several detectives, a number of traffic policemen going off duty and a squad of uniformed men were sent to quell the disturbance. Four arrests were made by the officers.

Patrolmen Ringman, Moway and Nachtrab arrested the four who registered at headquarters as Charles Preston, 24, of 218 Lorraine street; Tom Davis, 21, of 421 Belmont avenue; Z. E. King, 20, and T. C. Reinbeck, 18, both of Gibsonburg. All are implicated in the free-for-all episode.

SALOON OPEN MONDAY

The Fretti saloon was open business early on Monday morning, with no police guard over it. Fred who was arrested on Saturday charged with receiving stolen property, and who was a prisoner at the time the cutting occurred, was released on $200 bail Monday morning. Judge Austin reduced the original bail bond from $1,500.

When the news of the stabbing reached headquarters Detective Daly, Welch, Nichol and Rock, with Patrolman Nachtrab placed Omega under arrest.

After he had been stabbed, Butler staggered from the saloon, and, with blood spurting from his wound, made his way to the patrol barn. He was hurriedly taken to the hospital.

SCOURED THE KNIFE

Detective Welch found a knife on the prisoner, one blade of which he covered with dirt. Witnesses say they saw Omega run out into the street and scour the blade in a pile of dirt after Butler had left the place.

It was at Fretti's saloon that a fight started on New Year's night, 1908, which resulted in the murder of John Long by Joseph Rainey, an Italian. There have been also numerous cutting scrapes in the saloon.

HURLED TO PAVEMENT

Motor Patrolman Brown Is Badly Injured.

While riding on Motor near Erie street about 1:45 Thursday morning, Motor Patrolman Ervin M. Brown, 701 Lorain street, was severely injured when his motorcycle struck an obstruction in the road, breaking the fork of the machine and hurling the policeman headlong into the street.

Motor Patrolman Lawrence Nachtrab, who was riding a short distance in the rear, picked up the unconscious man and summoned the police ambulance, in which the injured policeman was taken to St. Vincent's hospital.

Dr. Peter Donnelly found that Brown had sustained a fracture of the collar bone, several teeth had been knocked out and that he was badly cut and bruised about the head and body. It was reported at the hospital Thursday that the patient's condition was not considered dangerous.

When Brown was thrown into the street his revolver fell from its holster and although the police searched the locality, no trace of the weapon was found. It is thought that the pistol was picked up by some pedestrian. The finder will confer a favor on the injured policeman by returning the revolver to police headquarters.

When Brown was injured he and Nachtrab were returning from 3223 Palmswood avenue, where they had investigated an alleged robbery. While a wedding was being celebrated at that address the merry-makers complained to the police that a barrel of beer and several watermelons had been stolen by thieves who broke into the apartment. About an hour later the police found the stolen beer and the remnants of a few watermelons in the ground in the rear of the plant of the Consolidated Manufacturing Co. The trace of the thieves was found.

Fight Over Chinese Delicacy Starts Fight

The alleged refusal of T. Moore, East Toledo, to pay for a dish of yak-may procured at a Chinese restaurant run by James Lewis, a Chinaman of 214 Jefferson street, resulted in a fight early today at the conclusion of which both the participants were put under arrest by Motor Patrolmen Brown and Nachtrab. They were sent to Lagrange street police station charged with disturbance.

It is alleged that the demand for money was answered by a blow and that the Chinaman retaliated.

CURTAIN OF BLOOD

CAUGHT ON THE CURB

“N” EVER AGAIN, an individual a deeper voice than any in the general police station on the morning.

“Never again” he kept repeating, “I’ll be all right.” He was a short, bald, and thin man with a serious expression on his face. He was heard to mutter, “Never again.”

“WHAT’S the matter, past?” asked the officer, glancing at the man who had collected his fare. The man looked somewhat afraid of a chance to converse with a woman.

“Oh,” he commented, “I’m not thinking of the house game. As I was going home, about 1 o'clock this morning I saw an old fellow walking down the street, his face covered with blood. I went to his assistance and he told me he wanted to go to a certain hotel.”

“It was me for the good Burglar,” he said, and I took him in tow. I had been talking out a Tin and didn’t notice the old fellow’s face. His chain was dangling from his pocket. We met a cop. “What’s the matter, God?” the man in the blue uniform asked. Imagine my surprise when the old fellow promptly replied, “This fellow grabbed me.”

“And he stuck to me all night until the next morning, when he came and so.”

BIG GASH CUT IN NECK

Detroit Man Says Italian Slashed Him.

Almost Unconscious From Blood Loss He Staggeres From Girl's Room.

His clothing covered with blood flowing from a deep gash in his neck and cuts in his head and body, Edward Francis, 35, of Detroit, Mich., staggered down the stairs from the second floor of a building at 49 North Superior street about 4 last evening and fell to the sidewalk, almost at the feet of Patrolmen Nachtrab and Hoover, who were passing.

The wounded man, almost unconscious from loss of blood, was hurried to the patrol wagon to St. Vincent's hospital, where it was found he had received a cut about six inches long in the right side of the neck, which barely missed the jugular vein and windpipe, and seven or eight other less serious knife wounds in the head and back. He told the police that he had been cut by an Italian. The man's condition was pronounced not dangerous and after his injuries were dressed he was removed to the Lagrange street station.

The cutting occurred in a room occupied by Marjorie McClary, 26. The woman and four men found in the room by the police were arrested. The male prisoners, who were locked up at police headquarters on suspicion, gave their names as Joe Ross, 19, Sam Christmas, 24, W. Scram, 24, and J. W. Hushey, 25.

The McClary woman told the police that Ross cut Francis with a stiletto during a quarrel.

Chase for Escaped Sea Lion Is Getting Hotter

"Name, Leo Maris, alias seal or sea lion; color, dark brown. In the water almost black. Has small jaws which close at a point; many whiskers around the mouth, cat-like in appearance, badly wanted as a fugitive from justice. Any information regarding his whereabouts should be communicated to M. L. Moore, park commissioner."

This sign may greet you from bill boards, old walls, and telegraph poles in a few days, for despite the efforts of the boat police officers, skilled fishermen, stalwart citizens, and even navigators the seal which escaped from Walbridge park zoo Sunday defies its capture.

Seen in Canal.

He has been seen, but with the lascivious craft of a Hamlet, has succeeded in making a get-away even in the face of man-hunters who would put a Sherlock Holmes to shame.

The last heard of the wily adventurer was late Thursday, when several boys swimming in the canal affirm that the animal passed thru the locks. Since that time he has been lost.

That the escape and concealment are of the most daring type is shown by the fact that the hardest man-trackers of the Toledo police force animal into custody.

Motor. One Brown, for instance, crack shot among track shots, scouted the seal. His only success was the securing of an old leather boot floating on the surface of the water. Motor Cop Nachtrab, who has had a vast experience on the sea of life, sailed forth in the trim ship Lucy, only to be balked by the mysterious sea animal.

Everybody Failed.

But when Police Lieutenant Conway, who has tracked with unaccustomed energy the worst criminals in the early history of the city, started out armed with a fish net and a bag of salt it was everywhere predicted that the game was up.

When, however, the venerable officer appeared for duty last night it was with his stern jaw set, his piercing eyes narrowed to mere slits, while his iron-gray mustache fairly bristled as he sat down to his dead in clammy reticence. Even he had lost.

Others have tried; even Walter Streeter, wagonman at Central station, who has perhaps as wide an experience with amphibious and aquatic animals as any man in Toledo. All have failed.

There have been several different means proposed to catch this elusive animal. If the seal will be kind enough to remain in the canal, it is believed it will be comparatively easy to capture it and return it once more to the tank in the zoo. A deep dragnet it is thought, will turn the trick.

Probably the fish in the lake will be the happier when the water lion is safe in the zoo, as it is attributed with having a wonderful appetite for fish and duckweed.

NEED A LESSON OF COP'S INJURY SAYS THE CHIEF

The injury to Motor Patrolman Brown Wednesday night shows the necessity of improving the motorcycle service," said Chief Knapp on Thursday. "Brown's machine was the oldest in the service, and the accident should impress us with the necessity of providing new machines."

"Intended originally to prevent auto speeding, the motor squad has become one of the indispensable features of the department, and there would be a terrible riot if we attempted to disperse it. I hope to see the time soon when we will have many more motor men. A good police force would be composed of all motorcycle men except the traffic squad."

Returning from the fifth call of the night for police assistance, Brown and his partner, Lawrence Nachtrab, were running about 20 miles an hour when the fork of Brown's machine broke at Erie and Centre streets, at 1:45 a. m. Brown was thrown headlong and landed on his left collarbone, which was broken. His face was also lacerated. At St. Vincent's hospital it is reported that he has internal injuries. Brown and Nachtrab were returning from the investigation of a complaint that a keg of beer and some watermelons had been stolen from a wedding feast at 1437 Fairwood avenue. The empty keg and the melon rinds, but no trace of the thieves were found by policemen. Brown lost his revolver in the crash.

Motor Cops on Seal Hunt; Capture One Leather Boot

The police are on the trail of the runaway Walbridge park seal. Tuesday afternoon, Motor Cops Nachtrab and Brown, in Nachtrab's speed boat, began a search which will continue, the officers say, until the seal is once more in captivity. While cruising about Gard island, the motor cops say, they caught sight of something that resembled the seal. The object spun around when a bullet from Nachtrab's pistol hit it. The launch was put ahead at full speed. The officers grabbed the object as it was disappearing beneath the waves. It proved to be an unusually large leather boot. "Well, it looked like a seal's back when I shot," said Nachtrab. Patrolman Rydman, who also owns a launch, searched the bay in vain for the seal. The search was taken up Wednesday morning by Lieut. Conway. That officer says he is going after fish, but that if the seal shows up he will leave it, and tow it to the city.

THREE BURGLARIES REPORTED; TEN MEN ARE ARRESTED

Three business houses in the downtown district were broken into by burglars last night and before two of the robberies had been discovered 10 men were arrested by the police on suspicion of having committed the burglaries and all the stolen property was recovered.

The first place visited by the thieves was the jewelry store of the Isenberg Brothers company, 223 1/2 Superior street, but owing to an automatic electric burglar alarm, the robbers were frightened away before they secured any booty.

The thieves gained an entrance to the store in a novel manner. After climbing to the roof of the one-story building they broke a glass skylight, through which they inserted a long piece of iron gas pipe and then slid down the pipe into the store. When the skylight was broken the burglar alarm was set off and when a watchman recognized the thieves ran up to a back door and escaped through the alley. The proprietors said that nothing in the store had been disturbed.

While at Monroe and Summit streets about 11:15 Patrolman Theodore C. Day saw a man hurrying along about 10 feet ahead of him with a bundle of clothing under his arm. Day called to the man to stop, but instead of obeying, the suspect ran down the street at full speed and turned into an alley. Day gave chase and fired a shot in the air in the hope of frightening the fugitive. Sergeant Frank Riley and Patrolman Nachtrab heard the shot and, joining in the chase, they caught the man and two companions, who had forced him to the alley, near Perry and Summit streets.

In the alley the police found five pairs of gloves and four overcoats, which had been dropped by the fugitives. A short time later the clothing, according to the police, was identified as having been stolen about half an hour before from the tailor shop of William A. Cohen, 218 1/2 Chest street. The thieves entered the building by unlocking a rear door with a skeleton key.

The prisoners were locked up at police headquarters where they gave their names as Walter Moore, 19 of 44 Washington street; Ted Levin, 21 of Goodmail, and A. C. Malstead, 25 of Nassau street.

The police believe that the prisoners are the men who broke into the Isenberg store.

Seven men whose actions were deemed suspicious were arrested about 11:30 in a resort at Jackson and Haven streets by Patrolman Nachtrab and Conlan. After they had been taken into custody the policemen said they found a lot of meat, which was later identified as having been stolen a short time before from an Italian meat market on Erie near Jackson street. The prisoners were locked up at the central police station on suspicion of having broken into and robbed the establishment. The suspects gave their names as Otto Blum, 73, Anthony West, 24, Harry Zimmerman, 35, and Frank Smith, 28 of Vermont, 20, and James Murphy, 27, George Wilson, 27, and Harry White, 21, of Toledo.

"CAL" JOINS RANKS OF BASEBALL MONJUS

Another baseball manager and slugger has appeared in the local semi-professional field. He is Charles J. Calahan, partner of Jerry Freeman in the cigar business, and the man who directed the destinies of the Toledo hero-stormers on their trip last fall after the close of the regular season. "Cal" as he is familiarly known is a great baseball fan and knows the game and the players from A to X. His new organization will be known as the Lehighites and he has correlated a bunch of baseball talent that ought to make a clean sweep of the amateur field in this section. In the lineup are Ed Schletter, last year's champion, in the Michigan league; Pearl Miller, formerly with Saginaw in the same league; Jimmy (Deween) Wright, formerly with the Toledo team; Tommy Lovett, last year in the Carolina league; Bing Fuller, formerly with Atlanta, in the Southern league; Leo Nachtrab, formerly a member of the Toledo police baseball team; Leo Deussen, who used to be with the Bloomington, Illinois club; H. Gehring, a clever Toledo amateur; Harry Collins, also a Toledo amateur; and Joe Zimmerman, last year with the Attorneys of this city. Schletter will play first, Miller second, Wright shortstop, Lovett third, Fuller catcher, Nachtrab, Deussen and Gehring outfield, and Collins and Zimmerman pitchers. The team is already booked to open the new baseball parks at Sandusky and Fremont, and Volland's park near Waterville. They will play Saturday and Sunday games through the season.

BOY IN DEATH TUMBLE

Falls From Roof While Playing With Brother.

Leaping over the edge of the roof in the rear of the Unity block, Superior and Monroe streets, about 6:30 last evening, Freddie Mills, 7-year-old son of James Mills, lost his balance and fell 50 feet, dying half an hour later at St. Vincent's hospital. The boy's skull was crushed, his left arm and right leg so badly fractured that pieces of broken bone protruded through the flesh, and he was also internally injured.

While his mother was washing the supper dishes in the kitchen on the third floor, the boy and his 15-year-old brother, Charles Mills, descended a ladder leading from the kitchen window to the roof in the rear of the building. After playing a few minutes, the brothers walked toward the east edge of the roof, where a telephone pole rises against the side of the building. The pole is equipped with iron foot rests to aid linemen in mounting to the crossbars.

After warning his young brother not to follow him, Charles, using the iron supports as a ladder, swung himself onto the pole and nimbly descended to the ground. A minute or two later Charles was startled by a piercing scream and he saw his brother's body fall and dash against the ground, blood from the little fellow's wounds splattered over the older boy's face and clothing.

Frenzied with grief, Charles knelt beside his unconscious brother and begged him to speak. Roosting no answer he picked up his brother and started to carry him out of the alley, when Patrolman Nachtrab and Casey ran to his assistance and carried the injured boy across Monroe street into Kraft Brothers' shoe store. While waiting for an ambulance an automobile driver tendered the use of his machine, in which the little fellow was hurried to the hospital, where he died soon after his arrival without having regained consciousness.

The Mills family moved into the Unity block about a week ago from 522 Mayo street. The boy was the youngest of seven children. The father is a carpenter.

HID IN STORE; ROBBED IT

That he would sneak into W. L. Milner & Co.'s store while the employees were leaving in the evening, and elude the watchman during the night, and escape with his plunder when the establishment was opened, is the alleged confession of Walter Wooding, 18-year-old negro, in custody. Wooding was arrested by Patrolman Nachtrab after a chase. He had previously been in the reformitory.

This is the Toledo Policemen's Ball Team, which has a Royal Battle with the Columbus Coppers yesterday afternoon at Swanee Field.

Patrolman Lawrence Nachtrab believes the Big Con should label its private mailing box at the corner of Superior and Adams street. The box, which is intended for the state business of the com-

Every day letters and post cards are dropped into the Big Con's box by Toledoans and others, and it keeps the officer busy transferring them to the proper place. Strangers in the city are especially confused by the similarity of the boxes.

CAUGHT AT THE CURB

Wearing clothes that at one time had been of good quality, a young man walked briskly into the central police station and asked that he might be permitted to "see" for the night.

"By the way, may I register? You see, I wish to catch a 7 o'clock train for Detroit in the morning, and I want to be called at 6 o'clock," said the man politely to Motor Cops Nachtrab and Brown.

"You want to be called?" exclaimed one of the cops when he had recovered from the shock.

"Don't worry about oversleeping. You'll be thrust into the cold world at 5 a. m. You will have plenty of time to get your train."

Then the wanderer explained that the train he wished to take was an especially fast freight that stopped only a few times between here and Detroit.

"I am down on my luck, slightly," continued the man as he glanced at his clothes, and smiled.

TOLEDO COPPERS COP GAME
FROM COLUMBUS POLICEMEN

Marvelous Plays and Deeds of Daring Are Pulled Off by Contesting Teams at Swayne Field.

Columbus may have the capital building, High street, and Olen-tany park, but when it comes to ball players leave it to the Toledo "cops."

It is something new for Toledo to win a ball game from Columbus and for that very reason nearly 2,500 fans were joyously jubilant yesterday when the Toledo policemen put it all over their brothers from High street.

When it comes to pinch hitters those Toledo cops are the real goods. Pinching is their long suit anyway, and they showed it yesterday. When pinches were needed the big fellows were there with the bronze medals and they did not use their maces either.

The Columbus policemen arrived Saturday noon accompanied by several of the city officials, just to see that the coppers kept straight. They were quartered at the Boody house, and it is a safe bet they will talk of that big feed they had for the next six weeks. There was some method in the madness of the Toledo policemen. They had their visiting brethren overfed and the result was some loggy ball playing at Swayne Field later on. Incidentally, the Toledo officers have been fasting for the last three days.

Big Crowd Present.

Prior to the game the two teams paraded the down town streets procession by the policemen's band and there is no better organization in the country. So sprightly and natty did the two teams appear that many people who had not thought of going to the game, boarded cars for Swayne field and a large crowd was present when Ollie Pecord called "Play Ball." Pecord accepted the job of umpire after he had been assured police protection and the officers kept their word for there were eight men back of him all of the time and part of the time nine or ten in front of him.

The play was so fast that keeping a box score was impossible but the Times managed to keep track of the game by having seventeen sport writers on the ground. The Toledo cops got busy at the outset; Nachtrab went to first on a hit in the initial inning, stole second, went to third on the third baseman's error, and scored on an er-

Schultz, who trailed for the locals, had one bad inning. That was the third. Dersch went to first on left fielder's error. He advanced on a wild pitch, went to third on another awful heave, and finally scored when Schultz made a third weird wile of the sphere. Schultz then managed to pass three men and three passes, coupled with two bingles, netted the visitors five runs. That was all they got until the ninth when one more Columbus man of the law scored. There were several marvelous plays pulled off. For instance, Carson, the Columbus third baseman, struck out in the seventh inning and the catcher and pitcher each got an assist on the play while the first baseman got a put out. Can you beat it? Palkki dropped the ball, threw it to Schultz after he had picked it up, and the twirler relayed to first. In the meantime Carson was plugging away toward the first sack like a Marathoner on the last stretch.

KNOCKED FROM LAUNCH, DROWNED

Ray Burton Almost Sacrificed Life to Save J. A. Maten.

PLUNGED FROM BRIDGE INTO CREEK

Cruise of Merry Camping Party Ended in Death.

In spite of an heroic effort that was made to save him, James A. Maten, 35, a mechanic of 1317 Twelfth street, Detroit, Mich., was drowned in Swan Creek, at the foot of Monroe street, about 11 this morning after he had been knocked overboard from a launch by his head striking an iron brace under the floor of the lift bridge leading to Middle Ground.

Ray Burton, 21, of 835 Teck street employed as a driver by Miller Bros., leaped from the bridge into the water and swam about 24 feet to where the man was struggling in the water. Grasping the drowning man by the arms Burton started to swim with him to shore, but he had gone only a few feet when his strength gave out and he was forced to release his hold on Maten, who sank in about 25 feet of water.

Clings to Hope.

Although greatly hampered by his water-soaked clothing and nearly exhausted by his struggles with the man he tried to save, Burton managed to swim a short distance to a life preserver, attached to a rope which had been thrown toward him by men on the bridge and to which he clung until he was pulled up on the dock.

Maten and his brother-in-law, Rev. Maxley Wilson an evangelist, of Sandusky, O., with their wives and children and David McCausland, of Detroit, came to Toledo in a 24-foot gasoline launch, Monday morning from near Perryburg, where they have been shopping for two or three weeks. Mrs. Maten and Mrs. Wilson landed at the dock at the foot of Jefferson avenue, about 10:30 and went up town to do some shopping. A few minutes later, Maten, with his 14-year-old son, George, Mr. Wilson and the latter's two sons, aged 10 and 12 respectively, started in the launch for a boat house a short distance up the creek to have some repairs made to the boat. Maten was operating the engine in the rear of the launch and his brother-in-law was in the wheel.

Attracted by Screams.

As the boat passed under the bridge, the floor of which is not more than four feet above the water, Maten, who had been sitting down, suddenly raised to his feet and his head struck an iron brace on the bridge, knocking him overboard. Hearing the screams of the boys in the boat, Wilson turned his head and saw his relative struggling in the water. The evangelist turned the boat as soon as possible, but before he could reach Maten the latter had disappeared.

Charles J. Hepler and the boys were notified and Motor Patrolmen Mackey and Nachtrab dragged the creek with snuffing hooks. The

COPS ALMOST ARRESTED

Nachtrab and Tibbels Held Up Martin and Connors in Dark.

At 11:25 Saturday night Lieutenant Finnegan received a telephone message that two burglars were trying to enter a drug store in the rear of the Coleman building on Oakland avenue. Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Tibbels responded and soon found the two "housemen" in a dark corner of the alley. They commanded them to throw up their hands and marched them out under a street light. The prowlers were Detectives Martin and Connors.

NEGRO SHOT THRU SKULL

Bullet Also Penetrates Arm of Waiter in Canton Street Saloon.

Alleged Gun Wielder Held by Police — Injuries of Two Colored Men Not Serious.

John Swan, 35, of 1736 Canton street, was shot thru the head, and Sidney Love, 22, Canton and Shepherd streets, was shot thru the left arm when an alleged attempt was made to kill Swan as he sat in the William Jackson saloon, 1724 Canton avenue, shortly before midnight Thursday. John Turner, 24, of 423 Southard avenue, is held for the shooting. A .23-caliber revolver is held as evidence against him. All the men are colored.

Love was taken to Robinwood hospital in the police ambulance. Swan was taken to St. Vincent's hospital in the patrol wagon. Neither was seriously injured. Love is employed as a waiter in the Jackson saloon.

According to the story told police, Swan and Turner had an argument that resulted in blows about 11 o'clock in front of the Jackson saloon. Swan entered the saloon and was seated at a table with his wife, when Turner entered the door nearly an hour later.

Turner stumbled as he entered. It is alleged, and dropped his revolver. He stooped to pick it up and was again tripped by a musician. He staggered forward to keep from falling. As he plunged forward he raised the gun and fired, almost point blank at Swan. It is alleged, the bullet entered Swan's head just above the forehead and came out an inch further back. The bullet struck Love on the arm, as he was standing back of Swan, preparing to serve him.

Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbels were sent to investigate the shooting, and arrested Turner at Jackson avenue and Huron street. The revolver, still smelling of smoke, they say was found in his possession.

Love was found by Detective Harter a short time later and was sent to police station. An examination at police station revealed the wound in his head, and he was sent to the hospital to have the injury dressed.

Kruse played straight ball by making three murderous assaults and even then he was not arrested. Schultz hit safely, went to second on an error in center and scored by default.

Palicki Gets Homer.

It was one grand game.

The Toledo bunch made four more runs in the sixth on three hits, one man hit by pitcher, and an error. One of those three hits was a home run, the first made on Swayne field since Charles Hickman sent the pill over the right field fence. Palicki made the homer, driving the ball to left. Palicki is about seventy-five pounds over weight and he crossed the pan after carefully circling the bases, panting like a B. & O. engine after a thirty mile run with only seventeen stops.

Carson and Schultz, Palicki's home runs, and a dozen other things that escaped the notice of the scorers and the fans. It was a great game. Here are the details of the wonderful contest:

How the Auto Was Caught Between the Cars.

Wreck of Browning's Auto.

Literally ground into pieces between two street cars, the auto of Roy A. Browning, 33, 2528 Fulton st., held the badly injured owner as in a vise at Bancroft and Fulton sts., Monday afternoon. Browning's auto was caught between the cars as he was on his way home from his office on Jefferson ave.

Browning was pinned beneath the wreckage in such a manner as to make it almost impossible to extricate him. It required the combined efforts of the traction wrecking crew, street car men and several policemen for nearly three-quarters of an hour to release the injured man.

After the wrecking crew had loosened the wreckage, Motor Cops Nachtrab and Tibbles crawled into the debris and unbolted the gasoline tank that pinned down Browning's legs.

WRECKAGE CATCHES FIRE.

As the injured man was being rushed to the Robinwood hospital, the gasoline-saturated wreckage that had imprisoned him, was fired by the blowing out of a fuse on one of the cars.

Both cars were badly scorched by the fire, which grew so fast that a fire company was summoned.

According to the witnesses, Browning was racing down Fulton st. toward the city. As he neared Bancroft st. a west-bound trolley car was also approaching the corner.

In an effort to beat the car at the crossing, Browning ran the machine in the path of a swiftly moving east-bound car, which caught it in the middle and skidded it along the tracks for a distance of about 25 feet.

SECOND CAR HITS AUTO.

The west-bound car caught the rear of the machine, swung it about and wedged it between the two cars.

During the ordeal Browning assisted the rescuers at their work. It was his plea that kept men with lighted clears away from the scene. He repeatedly warned the rescuing force of the presence of the gasoline.

Although Browning's condition is serious, it is thought that he will soon recover. His worst injury is a broken rib, which penetrated one of his lungs. Bruises about the face and limbs are painful hurts, but not dangerous.

when picked up. Buck, who was possibly the worst injured of the internal injuries.

The cyclists, it is said, were riding at a rate of 15 miles an hour when Buck, who occupied the rear seat of the machine, felt himself slipping off. He grabbed Longmore by the arm in an attempt to save himself and the machine was steered into a pole.

Both men were rendered unconscious by the impact. Longmore was the first to recover. Unable to stand, he crawled toward his com-matter. Finding the two men in the road, they notified the police.

and addresses, but was only able to state that they hit the post while traveling at a high rate of speed.

During a brawl between two col-saloon of Sam Wittenberg, 1961 Can-of the men drew a 24-caliber revolver and fired five shots.

The first bullet grazed the back of Ada Jenkins, 26, of 1632 1/2 Canton street, and was fired at such close range that the flash of the pistol set fire to the back of the woman's dress, and before the fire was extinguished her back was burned. The second breast and passed through his body.

The third missile passed through the

"WOW, HELP," CRIED MATH WHEN ATTACKED BY MOUSE

Turnkey at Central Station Made Host of Joke by Mosceroon.

A little fuzzy mouse slipped in the center of the turnkey's coat at central station, and looked a good deal then a policeman's cap landed with a "plunk" right on the spot where the mouse stood and made its presence known.

From the cap the mouse was transferred to a hand, from the hand to a drawer in the desk of Turnkey Montie Math, with a ball of string, hair and sundries for company.

Turnkey Math, who had been thinking his presence, didn't think it strange when Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbles both politely asked him for a piece of string. "Here," he said and yanked the drawer open, and reached for the ball of twine.

The mouse saw a bridge formed by something white, that reached over the edge of one of its prison walls.
Math didn't know what the mouse had planned. He didn't know about the mouse, in fact, until he felt its sharp claws on the back of his hand.

"Wow, Help!" he shouted, holding the mouse's bridge away so fast that the mouse fell to the floor. Math stood in the center of the floor, both hands above his head, toes turned in while the mouse scuttled to a corner of the room.

"My gracious," he said.

Running to a nearby saloon she summoned Albert Peake, 25, negro porter, of 415 Belmont avenue, a brother of the Hurst woman, and told him that his sister was being "beat up." Peake is alleged to have entered the house, but when the police arrived both men had disappeared.

The interior of the dwelling had been turned topsy turvy and the Hurst woman was lying in a pool of blood with several knife wounds in her side. A dagger and a revolver were found in a bureau drawer. Coroner Henzler held a post-mortem in James Pease's morgue and declared that a brachial artery had been severed.

The house in which the murder occurred is a one-story cottage standing at the right of the Beer Coffee company and is but 50 feet from the spot where Anna Moore, 27, of 424 Southard avenue, was found murdered the first of last July.

The arrest of Hurst and Peake was made a short time after the murder by Traffic Officers De Loren and Peters and Motor Patrolmen Tibbles, Nachtrab and Henshan.

DRUG IS DASHED FROM HIS LIPS

Harry Bailey, 29, bartender, 21 Erie street, was snatched from the brink of the grave when his wife knocked a bottle of carbolic acid from his hands at 9:29 last night.

Bailey is thought to have contemplated suicide because of family trouble. His morbidness of the early evening prompted his wife to watch him closely. After procuring a bottle of the fiery liquid he went into a saloon, got a drink and as he stepped to the street put the bottle to his mouth. But his wife was outside, waiting for him and before he could accomplish his purpose she knocked it from his hands.

Bailey was locked up for safe keeping. Fearing a repetition of the attempt police deprived him of his pocket case and keys, so that he could not hang himself. Patrolman Wessing and Motor Patrolman Nachtrab walked him to the station.

BOY VICTIM OF DOCTOR'S AUTO

HIS KISS FRESH ON MOTHER'S LIPS

Dr. Mulholland, the Driver, Works Long Over Lad Without Avail.

Another life was forfeited in Toledo to the motor car Jurgensaut Monday afternoon, when Albert Condon, the 12-year-old son of Mrs. Corlita De Lauder, 42 Tenth street, was struck at Monroe and Tenth streets by an automobile driven by Dr. P. J. Mulholland, 130 Milburn ave., and so badly injured that he died about 11:30 at Robinsonwood hospital.

The boy was knocked down by the machine and the wheels passed over his chest and abdomen, fracturing several ribs and causing serious internal injuries. After the body had been viewed by Coroner Charles J. Henzler it was removed to the undertaking establishment of the Herri L. Boyer Co.

The accident occurred less than 20 feet from the boy's home and only a few minutes after he had kissed his mother good-bye, about 2:30, and started to pay a visit to his married brother, Fred Condon, of Ashburndale.

Intended to Board Car.

The youth had started from the north sidewalk on Monroe street intending to board a westbound Long Belt car, which had just stopped at the crossing, but he had taken only two or three steps in the street, when Dr. Mulholland's automobile, eastbound, bore down upon him and before the little fellow could get out of its way or the driver could stop the machine, the boy was knocked down and run over by the auto.

Dr. Mulholland stopped his car as soon as possible and, picking up the little victim, he carried him in his arms to his home. When Mrs. De Lauder, saw her injured son carried into the house she became nearly prostrated by grief, and although Dr. Mulholland urged that he be allowed to take the injured boy in his machine to a hospital, the mother refused to let the little sufferer be removed from home.

Dr. Mulholland remained at the house for nearly three hours and did all in his power to alleviate the little victim's suffering.

When the police were notified about 10:20 that the injured boy's condition had become much worse, Motor Patrolman Nachtrab was sent to the residence, where he was informed by a physician that the little sufferer was sinking rapidly. The police ambulance was summoned, in which the boy was removed to the hospital, where he died about five minutes after his arrival at the institution after several hours of intense suffering.

According to witnesses, Dr. Mulholland, as he approached Tenth street, turned his machine from the right side of the street and, crossing the car track, was driving rapidly east on the left side of Monroe street when his automobile struck the boy.

Besides his mother and brother, the dead boy is survived by two sisters, Lucille and Bertha Condon, aged 15 and 3 respectively.

ing bravely to keep body and soul together.

Like Mother Eve, Apple Brings Woe to This Girl

A pleasure stroll with her sweet-heart ended disastrously for Hazel Walters, 1514 Dory street, yesterday afternoon. The girl and her friend were walking from Ottawa park when at the corner of Upson and Hancock streets, her friend proposed that they enter the orchard of William Bird and eat of the forbidden fruit. She demurred for just a second, and then boldly they marched into the grove.

Mr. Bird had decided to make an example of the first person caught in the orchard. He had a rusty old shot gun loaded with buck shot and when he saw the girl and her friend enter his precincts he opened fire.

The first shot was enough. Both the girl and her friend took to their heels, but Bird had not made good his example and consequently let go another shot. This struck Miss Walters in the neck. She fell and was assisted to a nearby physician's office by her friend. Here it was found that three of the buck shot entered the girl's neck, and shouldered Motor Cop Nachtrab was called to the scene, but owing to the fact that Bird lives just outside of the city, he made no arrests. Miss Walters' father and the neighbors in the vicinity are incensed and Mr. Walters says he will appear out a warrant this morning.

The suspect dropped the sack and, without stopping in his flight, turned his head and fired two shots at his pursuer. The first bullet ploughed a furrow across the back of Nachtrab's left hand and the second missile splintered within an inch or two of the policeman's head.

The wounded patrolman slumped and fell and while lying on the sidewalk he fired three shots at the fugitive. As Nachtrab said he saw the fleeing man limp before the latter disappeared, it is thought that one of the policeman's bullets took effect.

William Hearn Hurt When Knocked

William Hearn of Southard and Canton streets was knocked down by an automobile at that corner Wednesday evening and received bruises about the body and legs. Motor Patrolman Nachtrab called a physician and the man was taken to his home. Hearn says the automobile, which carried license number 10142, did not stop. The Ohio motor directory lists the holder of the license as the E. H. Close Realty company.

POLICE HOLD YOUTH ON YEAR-OLD CHARGE

Wade Turner said to Have Been Implicated in Stabbing of Conductor.

When Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Tibbles arrested Wade Turner, 22, of 1049 South street, and Harry Armstrong, 17, of 702 Barnes street, on a charge of assault to abduct at Wabash and Erie streets Wednesday afternoon, they remembered Turner as the man accused by police of being implicated in the stabbing of Conductor O. M. Crosby, 2212 Hollywood avenue, a year ago last March. Turner, it is said, boarded an Erie and Western car with a companion March 12, 1911, and quarreled with Crosby, the conductor. Crosby attempted to put the men off the car when Turner is alleged to have stabbed him in the chest and escaped. The authorities have been searching for him since that time.

Man Suffering From Blood Poison Is Again Caught.

Louis Weitzel who lives in a Canton street lodging house, escaped from Robinwood hospital Tuesday, where he had been confined, suffering from a blood poisoned arm. Wednesday evening Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Tibbles searched his various haunts on Canton street and found him in a feverish condition with a group of his companions.

POLICE NEED ANIMAL CAGE IN CELL HOUSE

The Toledo police department is seriously contemplating the purchase of a large animal cage to be placed in the turnkey's pen at central station. The property cupboard which contains everything from a broken match to a stiletto is so constructed that it could not be utilized Thursday afternoon when Ralph Shaw, 26, a "safe-keeper" from Pemberville, O., was separated from his valuables. Ralph was arrested at 1:25 o'clock in the afternoon by Patrolman O'Leary, released, and later taken into custody by Detective Tracy. On both occasions the prisoner was accompanied by his pet ferret who strenuously objected to being confined in a prison.

When the station was being planned, the architects omitted a menagerie room and Thursday Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbles were compelled to ransack the building for a box. Even then the rat destroyer was not satisfied and took a bite out of Officer Tibbles' finger.

night.

Four men, who left Toledo early Saturday morning in a power boat, bound for a duck hunt "about an hour's ride out in the bay," have not been heard from at an early hour Sunday morning, and fears are entertained for their safety.

The party was composed of Motor Policemen Lawrence Nachtrab and W. O. Tibbles; Harry A. Barnes, manager of the Metropole hotel, 131 Superior street, and Shirley Bell, 244 Woodland avenue, colored. They occupied the 23-foot powerboat "Chicken," owned by Tibbles.

Deck hands of the freighter "The Empire," which reached Toledo Saturday afternoon, reporting seeing a powerboat with four persons, heading for the outer breakwater, early Saturday morning, as they were heading in to the harbor.

"They were about 12 miles from the breakwater," stated a deckhand, at the Fashion, 491 Lafayette street, Saturday night. "If they kept on in the breakwater, and made that all right, they can get away when the lake quiets down. They won't be able to get back, if they reach the breakwater, because the lake is very rough."

Motor Policemen Nachtrab and Tibbles were due to report for duty at Central police station at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, but no word was received from them through the evening, and Motorcops Henneman and Schultz, from No. 4 station, were called in to the Central station.

Harry Barnes had promised that he would be back by 3 o'clock, to help take care of the Saturday night rush at the Metropole. Shirley Bell had also promised to be back early.

Lieutenant Cronley made telephone calls to houses in the vicinity of the Bay Shore, Presque Isle. At midnight Saturday night employees of the Metropole prepared to organize a searching party.

Friends of the four men are hoping that the worst of their troubles was a broken engine. It is thought probable that the engine gave out, and that the boat drifted to the shore in some secluded point. Another theory is that the rough water encountered beyond the cobb light made it necessary for the hunters to continue to the breakwater, where they may be virtually held prisoners.

FOUR HUNTERS, NEARLY FROZEN, REACH LAND SAFELY.

FIGHT FOR LIVES Motor Torn from Base by High Sea Nearly wrecks Launch.

Twice Flash Distress Signals but Are Left to Battle Alone—Reach Turtle Island Sunday.

Tired, wet, cold and sleepy, after a 20-hour battle with a disabled engine, a sinking boat and a rough sea, the crew of the Chicken landed at the Perry street dock in Swan creek at 7 o'clock Sunday morning, 26 hours after it had left on what was intended to be a three hours' duck hunting excursion into the bay. In the launch were Motor Patrolmen Lawrence Nachtrab and W. G. Tibbles, Harry A. Barnes, manager of the Metropolitan hotel, and Shirley Bell, colored bartender employed by Lovell Goins.

Victor Hugo's "Flight with a Cannon" might be an apt description of the dismantled Fairbanks-Morris engine of the "Chicken," when it was torn loose from its base and threatened to beat out the bottom of the boat with its pounding wheels. The three-cylinder, 18-horse power engine, carrying a weight of 550 pounds, was completely overturned by the tossing of the waves, but continued to run because of the "universal" joint connections.

Fighting to replace the engine, balance the boat and bail out the water that kept coming over the sides, the crew of four men had an unremitting struggle while their boat was being driven from a point about four miles from the bay shore to a point 12 miles north of Montrose, Mich.

Sighted Fish Boat.

distance, but paid no attention to signals of distress. On several occasions the boat was within a few miles of shore, when the engine would again break loose from the contrivances that held it to its base, and the boat was drifted away by a southwest wind.

The four men started on a duck hunt at 5 o'clock Saturday morning, armed with shotguns and ammunition. Trouble started at the Perry street dock, where difficulty was experienced in pulling Tibbles' power boat, "Chicken," in running order. By 3 o'clock the engine was running well, and the water journey was started.

At 10 o'clock trouble was again encountered about 10 miles out in the bay. The heavy engine, insecurely fastened to its base by "lag" screws, pulled loose. Nachtrab noticed the engine working loose and attempted to run ashore, but when nearly five miles off shore, the engine was thrown clear of the base and fell in the bottom of the boat, threatening to pound a hole thru the bottom.

Fearful Boat Would Swamp.
With Barnes and Nachtrab sitting still in the bow, as "ballast," and Tibbels pulling the water that continued spilled over the side, Tibbles worked frantically to uncouple the engine, so that in the event the boat was upset, the engine would fall out, and the hull would not sink.

No anchor was carried by the boat, but a drag was rigged out of the tool box, which was loaded with surplus tools and thrown over the bow to keep the boat head-on to the wind. Tibbles then commenced the work of resetting the engine.

The handle of a hammer, the wooden sides of a monkey-wrench handle and pieces of the hard wood torn from the stock of Barnes' shotgun were driven into the ragged holes left by the tearing out of the screws. The engine was coupled up again, and worked well for a few minutes, when it again worked loose and had to be shut down to prevent it from again overturning. A wind from the southeast, which gradually veered to the southwest, drove the boat further out into the bay than before. Tibbles attempted to lend stability to the engine by standing on it, but failed to hold it in place with his added weight.

Then, the Chicken crew state, they sighted the Don Mar, inbound from Montrose, and failed to attract its attention, altho within easy hailing distance, they allege.

See Lights of Tug.
Shortly after midnight Saturday, when about 10 miles beyond the harbor light, the men saw the lights of what they believe to be the rescue tug sent out by Tom Gaffney. They saw a torch of oil-soaked waste, wrapped about with bandages and fastened to the end of a boat hook, and attempted to signal "S. O. S."

with the flashing signal, but failed to attract attention.

About 2 o'clock Sunday morning Tibbles succeeded in driving the engine up to the base and uncoupling the engine. Then, with a hammer and a hand of wedges, he stood on the engine, hammering down the wedges and engine showed signs of looseness. The sea was calmer, seeing again.

When the boat reached Turtle Island at 3 o'clock, Bell, who had been hurt, was taken ashore. Tibbles, who had exercised on the engine, were compelled to lift Nachtrab and Barnes from the boat, the latter two being so stiff from cold they could hardly move.

Land on Island.
After warming themselves at a fire built on the lee side of Turtle Island, Tibbles gathered some pieces of scrap iron and heavy timber from the vicinity of the old lighthouse and further strengthened his engine. He made the final few miles run to Tule. Both Nachtrab and Tibbles were slightly burned, as they dived by the fire during the warming up process, when straw, scattered on the ground, formed a train that carried the fire to their clothes.

Nachtrab, Tibbles and Barnes, who is known as "Toledo's White Hope," had not had any sleep since 6 o'clock Friday morning. None of the men were overcast or very heavy clothing, expecting to return within a few hours. They passed hundreds of ducks, but did not even load their guns.

Max R. Knorr and W. S. Gilman Escaped from Flaming Craft by Bay

Line and Sticks in Five Feet of Water—Line Is Covered by Insurance.

With shotgun shells exploding with galling gun rapidity, and flames playing about a gasoline tank containing 90 gallons of fuel, Patrolman Max R. Knorr and William S. Gilman, special watchman, escaped from the burning powerboat "My Pal" in a rowboat, about a mile and a half north of the Toledo Yacht club shortly after 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The boat burned brilliantly and was seen by scores of people along the bay shore and at the Toledo Yacht club. It burned to the water's edge, and then sank in less than five feet of water, a total wreck. Through some prank of fortune, the fire melted a joint in the gasoline tank, thru which the gasoline found its way into the bay without exploding. The fire was caused when one of the spark plug wires came loose and dropped into the oil beneath the engine.

Knorr and Knorr were returning to Toledo after a day's duck hunt in the vicinity of Bay Point and the crib lights. They were both outside the cabin when they heard a slight explosion. Hunking inside, they found a small patch of flame, less than a foot square, made by burning oil. With fire growing and rising they tried to beat the fire out but in spite of their efforts the flames spread rapidly and soon enveloped the cabin.

Abandoning Hunting Boat.
When it became apparent the boat could not be saved, Gilman and Knorr climbed into the row boat they had trailed along on their hunting trip, taking their guns and the only spare duck that accompanied their hunt. The boat sailed away from the boat and cartridges that had been developed in the rapidly spreading fire before the men could reach them. The cartridges exploded, with the exception of one of the row boat's which was burned, but they were left with three cartridges and were some beyond the danger zone.
Row "Woolly" in the power boat Wynona, had been standing by ready to assist Knorr and Gilman, but did not go in close to the burning boat when he saw that they had a row when he gave them a tow as far as the Huron boat house after the "My Pal" had sunk.

Motorboat Nicklisch and T'chick in the power boat Chalkon repaired after the recent sinking in the lake and were promptly returning from the Huron Yacht club in answer to an alarm of fire. They returned to the Perry street dock and started out on a rescue expedition, no boats being available at the yacht club.

Wife Covered Fire.
The fire is believed to have started from a disconnected wire. One of the spark plug connections is believed to have come loose and dropped into the tank, however, the engine when it started a spark against the engine base and that the cause of the fire.

"My Pal" was the property of William Gilman, and was a combination row boat. It was 30 feet in length and was equipped with three 12-gauge and a forty-gauge shotgun. The boat was valued at $1000. The loss is covered by insurance.

Gilman was slightly burned about the hands in fighting the fire, and his eyes were blinded by the smoke, but he is recovering and is believed to be serious. A string broke on the bay caused the flames, making it almost impossible and hastening the destruction of the boat.

A passerby witnessed the trick throwing stones and called for the police. The man dropped the gun. Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Tibbles and Officer Itin hurried to the scene but he had disappeared.

Young Women Commanded to "Shell Out" at Point of Highwayman's Gun.

After robbing Miss Freda Perry, 1322 N. 14th street, and Miss Marie Hofflines, Huron street, of a dollar each in front of Alonzo W. Perry's grocery, 1329 Adams street, at 10 o'clock Tuesday night, a bold highwayman followed the frightened young women into the store, emptied the cash register of several dollars and escaped.

Miss Perry, whose father is proprietor of the grocery, and her companions were about to unlock the front door of the store to see if everything was all right when the robber stepped into the entrance drew a revolver and commanded them to "shell out." After they had given him the contents of their purses the man ordered them to unlock the door and to go inside. They obeyed and he followed them into the store.

Still flourishing the revolver the hold-up man opened the cash register, hastily shoved its contents into a coat pocket and ran out the front door.

Miss Perry telephoned the police station and Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Tibbles were sent out to investigate. They were told that the robber was about 5 feet 5 inches in height, weighed 120 pounds and wore a brown suit.

Motorcops Arrest Negro Charged with Exhibiting Revolver in Barroom.

Remembering the results of former displays of revolvers in the Wittenberg saloon on Canton street, the sergeant saloon and a score of men drinking in the place, deserted the building in a hurry Tuesday night when a negro with a gun in his hand bragged of his ability to shoot straight.

The negro, giving his name as Charles Taylor, 24, of Lynchburg, Va., entered the saloon about 9:30 o'clock and introduced himself by bringing to view a large revolver which he pointed at Wittenberg. The saloon keeper said nothing, but quietly stepped into a room in the rear. He was followed by his bartender and the porter. The hangerson made their exit thru the main entrance and the negro had the bar room to himself. Motor Patrolmen Tibbles and Nachtrab and Patrolman Hydman responded to a call that another man was ed to a saloon on the "avenue." After searching several saloons they arrested Taylor at Canton and Jackson streets.

Machine of William Whitney Wrecked When Struck

Quelched by Physicians in Hospital.

Dorothy Whitney, 13-year-old daughter of William Whitney, 843 Pinewood avenue, was killed instantly and four other members of the family were badly injured, when the auto in which they were riding was struck by a Clover Leaf freight train on the Eleventh street crossing, about 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The injured are Mrs. Louise Whitney, mother of the dead girl, who had her scalp badly torn; Kenneth, a 17-year-old son, who suffered a broken leg, a badly cut face and other injuries; Corrine, 15-year-old daughter, bruised about body, and the father, William Whitney, salesman for the Whitney & Currier Co., whose injuries were only slight.

ON WAY TO SURPRISE PARTY.

The five members of the Whitney family, who made up the auto party, were on their way to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Maag, 608 South Erie street, prepared to give a surprise party for their relatives.

The mother and one daughter, Corrine, were extricated from the wreckage a short time after the accident by Motorcop Nachtrab, and hurried to the Toledo hospital in a mail automobile that was passing at the time. Kenneth was released some time later, and was taken to the Toledo hospital in the police ambulance. It was fully an hour after the terrible crash before the combined efforts of nearly a hundred spectators, firemen and police succeeded in pushing the heavy freight car away from the tangled mass of twisted metal and splintered wood that had become wedged beneath the wheels and held the torn and bleeding body of the dead child.

Women Faint on Scene.

Women fainted at the spectacle and had to be taken from the scene, while men worked with might and main to clear wherever possible in the gruesome task of rescuing the helpless victims.

The father of the dead girl moaned and wailed, pleading for his little girl and begging the officers to tell him what had been her fate. His frantic pleadings hampered the work of the officers. Sympathetic onlookers took the frantic father from the scene as gently as possible and hurried him to the Toledo hospital, where he fainted in his wife and daughter's arms.

No coherent account of the crash could be given by any member of the Whitney family, but the story of bewilderment, especially those told by F. M. Gavlin, rear brakeman on the freight that ran down the party, and William Wilson, of 41 Wabash train, when Gavlin shouted to the party, and at the same time signaled to the engineer, to set the brakes.

Car Stops on Track.

To his horror, the car, instead of continuing across the tracks, as safety stopped dead in the very path of the train, which could not be brought to a stop, the moving at a speed of only four miles per hour.

The father, mother and daughter, Corrine, are thought to have attempted to get out of the car, and their escape from more serious injury is probably accounted for by this fact.

The machine was caught by the front trucks of the forested freight car, crushed into an unrecognizable mass of wreckage, and pushed along beneath the wheels for a distance of 150 feet before the train could be brought to a standstill.

Flowing gasoline fumes from the tank of the wrecked machine proved a constant menace to the volunteer rescuers, and the work of saving the injured and releasing the dead had to be carried on with only the meager light afforded by the pocket electric torches of the rescuers.

Wreckage Taken Ape.

A small fire started in the wreckage, but was quickly extinguished with a pail of water. The fire department was hurriedly summoned to protect against any possible fire that might result in a gasoline explosion, but fortunately nothing further developed from this source.

Police were notified soon after the accident occurred, and Motorcop Nachtrab hurried to the scene and at once directed the others with efficiency in a fast galloping down to release the imprisoned victims from the tangled wreckage. Mrs. Louise Whitney, the mother of the dead girl, was soon taken from the crushed body of the car, and it was found that her scalp was badly torn. Corrine, the daughter, was taken out

According to the account of the accident given by these men, a heavy train of 24 freight cars, was approaching the crossing when it saw the auto start across the track. The engine was just about car length ahead of the approaching

TOLEDGAN PARDONED

Richard Hunter Is Freed on Thanksgiving.

Prisoner Sent Up from This City in 1908 for Burglary—To Rejoin His Family.

Richard Hunter, convicted of burglarizing an inhabited dwelling in January, 1908, and sentenced to life imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary, will on Thursday receive the annual Thanksgiving pardon granted by the governor.

Hunter and Charles Johnson, a Negro, were arrested for burglarizing the residence of Alonzo G. Duer, assistant city solicitor. At the time of the arrest, Hunter attempted to resist the arresting officers, and received his assistance from his co-conspirator. Several other burglaries at the time were charged to the pair, namely the burglary of Attorney Charles E. Haddock's residence. Hunter and Johnson received life sentences for the Duer job and imprisonment for other offenses was not pushed.

Since Hunter's incarceration in the penitentiary incident effort has been made to effect his release, but Prosecuting Attorney Holland C. Webster has opposed his liberation. About two years ago, however, Mr. Webster did recommend commutation of Hunter's sentence to 15 years, and Johnson's to ten years, because imprisonment up to the time of his application for commutation had been employed in the "bell shop" at exceedingly hard labor. This recommendation was followed and the commutation was granted by the proper authorities.

Since then efforts have been redoubled to extricate Hunter from prison service, with the result that Governor Hargan will hand him the usual Thanksgiving pardon Thursday. Hunter's real name is Norton and he is a member of a rich and influential Wisconsin family, it is said.

It is his intention to join his family in the Badger state, and it is upon this condition and his record at the Ohio state penal institution that prompted Governor Harmon to make him the beneficiary of gubernatorial clemency.

Father Swallows Poison, Walks to Bed and Dies.

While his two young daughters, aged 17 and 14, stood gazing at him Tuesday morning, in the dining room of their home at 123 Indiana avenue, Charles W. Shepler, 44, a painter, took a two-ounce bottle, filled with carbonic acid from his pocket and, after pouring the same into a glass of whiskey, swallowed the mixture. Without saying a word to his children, the man then walked into an adjoining room and lay down on a bed, where he died in a few minutes.

The little girls notified neighbors and then ran to a home on Palmwood avenue where their mother is employed as a domestic. Neighbors summoned the police and when Motor Patrolman Nachtrab entered the house he found Shepler dead. Coroner Hemmle rendered a verdict of suicide.

Mrs. Shepler said her husband had been out of employment for several months and had been depressed.

HELPS A WOMAN CATCH MAN; THEN SHE DISAPPEARS

Attracted by feminine wiles for police, and seeing a woman chasing a man on Adams st., between Erie and Huron sts., late Saturday night, Detective M. Daly joined in the pursuit.

When the man ran down a dark alley the woman gave up the chase. Daly overtook the sprinter and brought him back to the place the woman had stopped. The woman was gone.

The man, giving his name as John Brohm, 23, of 273 Nebraska ave., was locked up at the central police station on a suspicion charge. He had a watch, ring, keys and $15.75 in his possession.

CLIMBED TOO HIGH

John Henry, 24, colored, living on Cabin st., was arrested Sunday night by Patrolman Ryman on a charge of attempted burglary. It is said he was standing on a high board fence and attempting to get in the rear of the millinery store at Lena Cosgrove at 317 Adams st.

The negro was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of attempted burglary Monday morning.

E. W. Jones, 481 Youstia st., reported that he was held up and robbed of $50 near the Clover Leaf tracks and Lafayette st., Sunday night.

Roy Staler, of Ironville, was held up and robbed near the same place several hours later, by two men.

Early Sunday morning, Matthew Castro, of 56 Michigan st., was held up and robbed of $3 at Michigan and Washington sts., a few blocks from where Jones and Staler were "touched."

RAMBLING POET AND STUDENT OF LOVE IS NOW RESTING IN CENTRAL POLICE STATION

"The Rambler" is resting at the police station.

Peerless, "made-by-correspondence" love expert, "The Rambler" committed a faux pas by having a watch and chain in his possession just at the time Mrs. P. W. Lindow, 408 Oakwood avenue, missed a watch and chain. She told Motorcop Nachtrab and Tibbels about losing the watch. "The Rambler," who was engaged in housecleaning for Mr. Lindow, complacently agreed to accompany the policemen to the police station.

He gave the name of L. L. Dietrick, his age as 23, and his home, New York.

That "The Rambler" was interested in love became apparent when Turnkey Math ascertained:

One pamphlet disclosing the secrets of "postage stamp fornication."

One address book, containing addresses in a hundred or more cities, in all quarters of the United States, with interlined notes in many instances that indicated "affaires d'amour."

Hidden in this mass of literature a watch was found, and a charge of petit larceny was placed after Dietrick's name on the police station "blotter."

Many of the "poems" were signed "L. L. Dietrick, the Rambler." Each was dated and ticketed, to show when and where committed.

DRAG CREEK FOR MAN'S BODY

Engineer on Sand Steamer Missing Since Sunday Night.

In the belief that G. H. Reimers, 45, of Port Clinton, engineer on the sand steamer Commerce, was drowned last Sunday night near the bridge over Swan creek, at Erie street, Motor Patrolmen George Smith and Patrolman George Tibbels began dragging the creek for his body Saturday morning. The investigation began when Reimer's brother arrived from Port Clinton and declared that his brother had not been to his home for a week.

G. H. Reimers was last seen Sunday night in a saloon on Erie street, several blocks from the Erie street bridge. It is said he left this place about 3, declaring he was going to bed on the boat. It is thought he fell into the creek while trying to get on the sandsteamer. The boat is owned by the DuVine Sand & Gravel Co.

For the third time within as many months the store of the A. J. Rummel Arms Co., 212 Jefferson avenue, was broken into by burglars Monday night. As a robber was crawling through a rear window he started an automatic electric burglar alarm, which sounded a gong in the office of the Western Union Telegraph Co. The police were notified and in a few minutes the store was guarded front and rear by a posse of detectives and patrolmen.

Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Tibbles and Sergeant Frank Reilly entered and found a colored man crouching under a counter. According to the police 16 new revolvers, which had been stolen from a showcase in the store, were found in the negro's possession.

The prisoner gave his name as George Wilson, et. Soon after Wilson had been locked up the police searched a room on State street near Canton street, which the negro is said to have occupied. The police said that they found an opium pipe and laquei and also a Black Hand letter in the room. The letter, which was addressed to no person, was written in ink and signed "Black Hand," with small and cross-hatched marks.

A home-made electric burglar alarm built by 19-year-old Theodore Dipmas, 584 Vinton street, connecting the chicken coop in the backyard and the bedroom, resulted in the capture of an alleged chicken thief Tuesday night at 11:20 o'clock.

Young Dipmas was awakened by the ringing of the bell and called the police station. Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Tibbles responded and pulled Harry Stevenson, 41, of Detroit, from the interior of the cage. He had a "flemie" and a bag in his possession.

As the prisoner was loaded into the patrol wagon he remarked sadly, "I was told to look out in St. Joe, Mo. I'm sorry I ever came to this 'burg' now."

COPS ASSAULTED WHEN CALLED TO QUELL ROW

Nachtzab and Tibbles Beaten Before Officers Arrive to Break Them From Saloon.

Bills, clubs and bottles of revolvers wielded, it is alleged, by the proprietor, bartender and inmates of the Adams saloon, 467 Washington street, endangered the lives of Motor Patrolmen Nachtzab and Tibbles, Detective Harter and Policeman Chudinski, who entered the saloon to make an arrest Saturday night at 11 o'clock.

According to Walter Tafelski, 22, 108 Blum street, and Carl Wenzel, 24, 547 Vance street, they were assaulted in the saloon by J. J. Channels, 43, the bartender, and William Adams, the owner. After they were ejected, it is alleged, Adams and Channels followed and continued the fight at Washington and Horon streets.

The three officers were sent to Investigate the reported assault. Channels remained on the outside of the saloon as guard and the whiskey selling and informed the saloon keeper and his employes that they were under arrest.

Nachtzab turned to talk to Adams, who, it is said, ordered Channels "to get the cops" at the establishment. The bartender assumed a "rage" pose, covered Tibbles, and, it is said, struck Nachtzab's vicious blow on the head. As he staggered his assistant, Williams was wheeling around to Tibbles and hit him above the temple.

Detective Harter arrived, and with Chudinski fought his way into the safe and settled the trouble.

Adams, Bates and Channels were taken into custody on charges of assaulting with intent to kill.

Adams was discharged while Bates and Channels were sentenced to 10 days in jail.

A refrigerator car in the rear of Armour & Co.'s plant on Erie street, near Washington street, was broken open between 2 and 3 Wednesday morning by thieves, who carried away a quarter of beef and the carcasses of two lambs.

Soon after the robbery had been reported Motor Patrolmen Nachtzab and Tibbles and Patrolmen Drogmiller arrested two colored men on suspicion. The prisoners gave their names as James Richardson, 29, of Pittsburg, and William Jackson, 29, of 627 State street.

SHOOTS YEGG IN LEG

Saloonist Catches Robbers in His Place.

Detectives Follow Trail of Blood from Wounded Man but Lose the Thief.

An unidentified burglar was shot in the leg early Sunday morning when with two companions he was discovered in the act of ransacking the Nagelbrecher saloon, 141 Broadway, by Winseld Byers, bartender. The wounded prowler and a second man escaped. Clarence Skinner, 15, 144 Western avenue, accused of being "outside man" or lookout, was captured and locked up on a charge of burglary.

The cafe was entered a week ago Saturday night and John Nagelbrecher, the owner suspected that there would be a repetition. He closed the place apparently for the night at 1 o'clock and boarded a street car. Hiding down Broadway five blocks he alighted and returned to Segur avenue in time to see two men disappear around the corner of his building. A third remained in front on the walk. Nagelbrecher summoned Byers, who lives a few doors away, and together they went to the side door and demanded admittance. The pair inside unlocked the lock and, opening the door, pushed the proprietor and his employe aside and ran into the street. Byers drew a revolver and emptied it at the fugitives.

Police were called and Motor Patrolmen Nachtzab and Tibbles arrived before Elmer could escape. The officers, with Detectives Quinn and Haas, followed the trail of blood left by the wounded robber as far as Jersey and Rummel streets, where it stopped abruptly.

Evidence shows that the men boarded a trolley car at this intersection.

At 7 o'clock Sunday morning Patrolman Milhouse and Motor Officers Nachtzab and Tibbles arrested Orville Taylor, 18, 240 Broadway and George Coates, 19, 129 Morris street, in their homes charged with being the young men who entered the saloon. Although the faces of both prisoners were powder-marked, neither was wounded. According to police the youths admit that they were implicated in the attempted robbery.

FREIGHT TRAIN CRUSHES AUTO LIKE AN EGG SHELL; ONE KILLED; FOUR INJURED

Machine of William Whitney Wrecked When Struck by Clover Leaf Cars at Eleventh Street Crossing—Thirteen-Year-Old Daughter, Dorothy, Is Instantly Killed—Others Escape with Serious Injuries.

LEAKING GASOLINE HINDERS RESCUE WORK

Firemen Unable to Use Torches or Lanterns Fearing Blaze—Wreckage Once Takes Fire but Is Quickly Extinguished—Crowds Attracted by Accident Push Freight Car from Automobile and Take Mangled Body of Little Girl from Debris—Father, Frantic With Grief, Has to Be Quoted by Physicians in Hospital.

Dorothy Whitney, 13-year-old daughter of William Whitney, 843 Pinewood avenue, was killed instantly and four other members of the family were badly injured, when the auto in which they were riding was struck by a Clover Leaf freight train on the Eleventh street crossing, about 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The injured are Mrs. Louise Whitney, mother of the dead girl, who had her scalp badly torn; Kenneth, a 17-year-old son, who suffered a broken leg, a badly cut face and other injuries; Corrine, 15-year-old daughter, bruised about body, and the father, William Whitney, salesman for the Whitney & Currier Co., whose injuries were only slight.

ON WAY TO SURPRISE PARTY.

The five members of the Whitney family, who made up the auto party, were on their way to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Maag, 608 South Erie street, prepared to give a surprise party for their relatives.

The mother and one daughter, Corrine, were extricated from the wreckage a short time after the accident by Motorcop Nachtrab, and hurried to the Toledo hospital in a mail automobile that was passing at the time. Kenneth was released some time later, and was taken to the Toledo hospital in the police ambulance. It was fully an hour after the terrible crash before the combined efforts of nearly a hundred spectators, firemen and police succeeded in pushing the heavy freight car away from the tangled mass of twisted metal and splintered wood that had become wedged beneath the wheels and held the torn and bleeding body of the dead child.

Women Faint on Scene.

Women fainted at the spectacle and had to be taken from the scene, while men worked with might and main to assist wherever possible in the gruesome task of rescuing the helpless victims.

The father of the dead girl moaned and wailed, pleading for his little girl and begging the officers to tell him what had been her fate. His piteous pleadings hampered the work of the officers. Sympathetic onlookers took the frantic father from the scene as gently as possible, and hurried him to the Toledo hospital, where he found his wife and daughter Corrine.

No coherent account of the crash could be given by any member of the Whitney family, but the story of eyewitnesses, especially those told by F. E. Gavin, rear brakeman on the freight that ran down the party, and William Wilson, of 42 Wabash train, when Gavin shouted to the party, and at the same time signaled to the engineer, to set the brakes.

Car Stops on Track.

To his horror, the car, instead of continuing across the tracks to safety stopped dead, in the very path of the train, which could not be brought to a stop, the moving at a speed of only four miles per hour.

The father, mother and daughter Corrine, are thought to have attempted to get out of the car, and their escape from more serious injuries is probably accounted for by this fact.

The machine was caught by the front trucks of the foremost freight car, crushed into an unrecognizable mass of wreckage, and pushed along beneath the wheels for a distance of 150 feet before the train could be brought to a standstill.

Escaping gasoline fumes from the tank of the wrecked machine proved a constant menace to the volunteer rescuers, and the work of saving the injured and releasing the dead, had to be carried on with only the meagre light afforded by the pocket electric torches of the policemen.

Wreckage Takes Fire.

A small fire started in the wreckage, but was quickly extinguished with a pail of water. The fire department was hurriedly summoned to protect against any possible fire that might result in a gasoline explosion, but fortunately nothing further developed from this source.

Police were notified soon after the accident occurred, and Motorcop Nachtrab hurried to the scene and at once directed the hitherto wild efforts of a fast gathering crowd to release the imprisoned victims from the tangled wreckage. Mrs. Louise Whitney, the mother of the dead girl, was soon taken from the crushed body of the car, and it was found that her scalp was badly torn. Corrine, the daughter, was taken out

Richard Hunter Is Freed on Thanksgiving.

Prisoner Sent Up from This City in 1908 for Burglary—To Re-join His Family.

Richard Hunter, convicted of burglarizing an inhabited dwelling in January, 1908, and sentenced to life imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary, will on Thursday receive the annual Thanksgiving pardon granted by the governor.

Hunter and Charles Johnson, a negro, were arrested for burglarizing the residence of Alonzo G. Duer, assistant city solicitor. At the time of the arrest, Hunter attempted to resist the arresting officers, but received no assistance from his co-defendant. Several other burglaries at the time were charged to the pair, namely the burglary of Attorney Charles E. Hadden's residence. Hunter and Johnson received life sentences for the Duer job and prosecution for other offenses was not pushed.

Since Hunter's incarceration in the penitentiary insistent effort has been made to effect his release, but Prosecuting Attorney Holland C. Webster has opposed his liberation. About two years ago, however, Mr. Webster did recommend commutation of Hunter's sentence to 15 years, and Johnson's to ten years, because Johnson from the time of his imprisonment up to the time of his application for commutation had been employed in the "bolt shop" at exceedingly hard labor. This recommendation was followed and the commutation was granted by the proper authorities.

Since then efforts have been redoubled to extricate Hunter from prison service, with the result that Governor Hargan will hand him the usual Thanksgiving pardon Thursday. Hunter's real name is Norton and he is a member of a rich and influential Wisconsin family, it is said.

It is his intention to join his family in the Badger state, and it is upon this condition and his record at the Ohio state penal institution that prompted Governor Harmon to make him the beneficiary of gubernatorial clemency.

At the corner the man fell. Bert Ewing, a chauffeur, picked him up and took him in his automobile to the central police station. Hoff there gave his name and address to the police. Accompanied by Motor Patrolman Nachtrab, Hoff was taken in the automobile driven by Ewing to the Toledo Sanitarium, at Cherry and Moore streets.

With the left hind foot of a rabbit tied to his coat lapel for good luck, John Stanbery, 17, 2355 Warren street, son of Col. Sanford Stanbery, of Cincinnati, stepped into the open freight elevator shaft in the Monticello building, Jefferson avenue and Michigan streets under the supposition that the lift had stopped there, fell six stories, and was instantly killed at 5 o'clock Saturday evening.

The boy, who was a junior student in Central High school, was helping his uncle, A. B. Stanbery, proprietor of the Sanitary Fish market, 312 Jefferson avenue, in the Saturday rush by delivering meat. The uncle had received a new supply of rabbits, and as they were being sorted in a nephew with his pocket knife severed a leg from one of the animals and secured it to his coat, remarking, "This ought to bring me good luck."

Shortly after he was asked to go to the Monticello building to leave some packages.

Runs Elevator Himself.

He entered the hoistery thru the rear basement door and, being in a hurry, did not wait for the elevator operator, who was busy in another part of the building, but entering the elevator stepped out on the sixth floor. While down the hall to the dining room with the goods, the hydraulic lift, it is said, rose by itself to the top of the shaft.

Stanbery returned with his empty basket, opened the elevator door and stepped into the darkness. With a scream heard all over the hotel he dropped to the pit of the shaft, 22 feet below. The elevator man, Peter De-

St. George's, who was riding in the elevator at the time of the fall, saw the boy fall and immediately called the fire department. The fire department was notified at 10:30 p.m. and the fire department arrived at the scene of the fall at 11:30 p.m. The fire department found the boy dead and the elevator man was immediately notified of the fall of the boy.

A rear window was broken.

Two men were seen breaking the glass in the back door of the A. I. Holter residence, Madison avenue and Warren street, at 2 o'clock and the police were notified. When Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Tibbels arrived the men had disappeared.

Suspicious persons were also frightened away from the home of George Beckwith, 1811 Madison avenue.

BARS "CONVICT" PARADE

Motor Cop Nachtrab chased four "convicts" off Summit st. Monday afternoon. The men, attired in convicts' suits, were advertising the pictures of the Ohio penitentiary that are being shown at the Colonial theater. Safety Director Moseley saw the stripes and gave the word to the police to order the men off the streets.

The investigation began when Heimer's brother arrived from Fort Canton and declared that his brother had not been to his home for a week.

G. H. Heimers was last seen Sunday night in a saloon on Erie street, several blocks from the Erie street bridge. It is said he left this place about 2 o'clock, he was going to bed on the boat. The police were notified and in a few minutes the store was guarded front and rear by a posse of detectives and patrolmen.

Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Tibbels and Sergeant Frank Helly entered and found a colored man crouching under a counter. According to the police 10 new revolvers, which had been stolen from a showcase in the store, were found in the negro's possession.

The prisoner gave his name as George Wilson, 45. Soon after Wilson had been locked up the police searched a room on State street near Canton street, which the negro is said to have occupied. The police said that they found an opium pipe and layout and also a Black Hand letter in the room. The letter, which was addressed to no person, was written in ink and signed "Black Hand," with skull and crossbones.

 Burglar Alarm on Chicken Coop Results in Arrest of Man with Bag.

A home-made electric burglar alarm built by 19-year-old Theodore Dipman, 584 Vinton street, connecting the chicken coop in the backyard and his bedroom, resulted in the capture of an alleged chicken thief Tuesday night at 11:20 o'clock.

Young Dipman was awakened by the ringing of the bell and called the police station. Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Tibbles responded and pulled Harry Stevenson, 41, of Detroit, from the interior of the cage. He had a "diamond" and a bag in his possession.

As the prisoner was loaded into the patrol wagon he remarked sadly, "I was told to look out for you Toledo meteorops way out in St. Joe, Mo. I'm sorry I ever came to this 'burg' now."

COPS ASSAULTED WHEN CALLED TO QUELL ROW

Nachtzab and Tibbles Routen Before Officers Arrive to Remove Them from Saloon.

Blows, clubs and belts of revolvers wielded, it is alleged, by the proprietor, bartender and manager of the Adams saloon, 402 Washington street, endangered the lives of Motor Patrolmen Nachtzab and Tibbles, Detective Harle and Policeman Chudowski, who entered the saloon to make an arrest Saturday night at 11 o'clock.

According to Walter Tufelick, 21, 102 Bloom street, and Carl Warsaw, 24, 247 Vance street, they were assaulted in the saloon by J. J. Channels, 28, the bartender, and William Adams, the owner. After they were ejected, it is alleged, Adams and Channels followed and continued the fight at Washington and Herson streets.

The three officers were sent to investigate the reported assault. Chudowski remained on the outside of the saloon as guard and the wheelman entered and informed the saloon keeper and his employees that they were under arrest.

Nachtzab turned to talk to Adams, who, it is said, ordered Chudowski "to get the cops." At the same time bartender secured a "large hose covered with" and it is said, struck Nachtzab's ribs and it is said, struck Tibbles' face, staggered his assailant, witnesses ran, wounded himself and Tibbles and hit him above the temple.

Detective Harle arrived, and with Chudowski fought his way into the cafe and settled the trouble. Adams, Bates and Channels were taken into custody on charges of assaulting with intent to kill.

THINKS "COPS" ARE THUGS

No Saloonkeeper Is Discharged to Judge Austin.

"I yelled 'get the cops,' but I meant to call them on the telephone not to assault them. I thought Nachtzab and Tibbles were roughs coming in to clean up my saloon," said William Adams, 602 Washington street, when he was arraigned in police court Friday morning with Walter J. J. Channels and Bartender Henry Bates accused of assaulting the two motor patrolmen with clubs when they entered the saloon January 11 to investigate a street fight. Adams was discharged while Bates and Channels were sentenced to 30 days in jail.

BURGLARS ROB MEAT PLANT

Steal Quarter of Beef and Two Lambs From Armour's.

A refrigerator car in the rear of Armour & Co.'s plant on Erie street, near Washington street, was broken open between 2 and 3 Wednesday morning by thieves, who carried away a quarter of beef and the carcasses of two lambs.

Soon after the robbery had been reported Motor Patrolmen Nachtzab and Tibbles and Patrolman Drogmiller arrested two colored men on suspicion. The prisoners gave their names as James Richardson, 29, of Pittsburgh, and William Jackson, 29, of State street.

SHOOTS YEGG IN LEG

Saloonist Catches Robbers in His Place.

Detectives Follow Trail of Blood from Wounded Man but Lose the Thief.

An unidentified burglar was shot in the leg early Sunday morning when with two companions he was discovered in the act of ransacking the Nagelbrecher saloon, 141 Broadway, by Winfield Byers, bartender. The wounded prowler and a second man escaped. Clarence Skinner, 18, 148 Western avenue, accused of being "outside man" or lookout, was captured and locked up on a charge of burglary.

The cafe was entered a week ago Saturday night and John Nagelbrecher, the owner, suspected that there would be a repetition. He closed the place apparently for the night at 1 o'clock and boarded a street car. Riding down Broadway five blocks he alighted and returned to Segar avenue in time to see two men disappear around the corner of his building. A third remained in front on the walk.

Nagelbrecher summoned Byers, who lives a few doors away, and together they went to the side door and demanded admittance. The pair inside ambushed the lock and, opening the door, pushed the proprietor and his employe aside and ran into the street. Byers drew a revolver and emptied it at the fugitives.

Police were called and Motor Patrolmen Nachtzab and Tibbles arrived before Skinner could escape. The officers, with Detectives Quinn and Haas, followed the trail of blood left by the wounded robber as far as Jarvis and Sumner streets, where it stopped abruptly.

Evidence shows that the men boarded a trolley car at this intersection.

At 7 o'clock Sunday morning Patrolman Milhouse and Motor Officers Nachtzab and Tibbles arrested Orville Taylor, 18, 240 Broadway and George Coates, 19, 239 Morris street. In their homes charged with being the young men who entered the saloon. Although the faces of both prisoners were powder-muzzled neither was wounded. According to police the youths admit that they were implicated in the attempted robbery.

TOLEDO TIMES

MODERN HERCULES FURNISHES MATERIAL FOR HOT STORY FROM HOMER'S PEN; NOW IN JAIL

The west sidewalk on Superior street from Jefferson avenue to Lafayette resembled the main thoroughfare of a western town after a hurricane at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning when Hercules returned to earth and disfigured like an American citizen, paraded the three blocks and with a forceful wave pushed over everything in sight.

He began his destruction at Lassalle & Keeble's corner and overlooked nothing. Signs, boxes, waste-paper cans and even early morning pedestrians were bowled over without ceremony. Police were hastily notified and Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Tibbles and Special Watchman Del Hair emerged from central police station in time to see the cyclone overturn a heavy dray in front of the J. T. Clark sales stables, 14 E. Superior street.

The surprised witnesses ran and closed in on the man just as he was approaching, with outstretched arms, a 16-foot pile of beer cases on the side of the Pabst brewing building at Lafayette and Superior streets. Masked he accompanied them to the prison and was apparently named until Turnkey Mose Math asked him his name.

"None of your business," he shouted with certain adjectives as he desired to propel suddenly returned. With one effort he upset the innocent pedagogue taker, the police blotter, a stool and an easy chair. Then kneeling as if he had to accomplish his mythical cycle of the twelve labors in twelve minutes the rejuvenated Hercules leaped at Nachtrab, who was unsuspectingly filling his pipe in a corner of the cage.

The cops now believed everything reported about the character's strong arm abilities and eliminating all juvenile treatment overcame him and directed him to a cell.

"You can look for peaceful friend at Hercules' Mesa," said Tibbles as he straightened his tie and tightened his leggings. "And believe me if old Homer ever saw that guy battle the way he did tonight he would write up some story."

POLICE MAKE ANOTHER RAID ON ADAMS' SALOON

Detectives Grady Drink After Midnight and Propriety Is Arrested on Violation Charge.

William N. Adams, 862 Washington street, 19 men and a woman were arrested in a raid on the Adams saloon, Washington and Haron streets, at 12:29 o'clock this morning. Sergeant Kelly remained in front of the saloon while Detectives Conroy and Martin went in and called for drinks. As it is said, the bartender placed them on the bar the signal was given and Kelly entered and informed Adams that he was under arrest on a charge of violating the midnight closing ordinance, hours.

The other inmates were locked up charged with violating after closing. A bartender and a waiter employed by Adams are now serving 30 days in jail for assisting with club Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Tibbles several weeks ago when they attempted to break up a fight in the Adams saloon.

OLDS UP NIGHT WATCH

Covered Man Gets Watch for Watchman's Arrest.

Entering the main hospital building, 111 North Superior street, early this morning, a colored man, according to the William Noble, 23, held up Night Watchman William H. Harper and took his watch chain, pocket articles and a key. Harper called police after the robber left and Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Tibbles captured "Whitey" at Erie and Lafayette streets. He was identified by the watchman and locked up on a charge of burglary.

PULL MAN FROM RIVER

Large Amount of Money Found on Stranger Pushed in Water.

A man cold and numb from his icy plunge was pulled from the river at the foot of Madison avenue at 2:15 o'clock this morning by Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbles. He was taken to a hospital. The man had a large sum of money with him. He was taken to the Western Union telegraph office and revived enough to advise that he had been pushed into the water.

HIS BROKEN LEG IS MADE OF WOOD; EASILY MENDED

Motorcop Nachtrab Furnishes First Aid with Hammer and Nails —Patient Grateful.

"Please take me to and give me a place to sleep. I broke my leg and can't walk," said William Lee, 29, colored, of Baltimore, Md., to Lieutenant Planzan at Central police station early Friday morning.

"Attention," yelled the accommodating official and Motor Patrolman Nachtrab and Tibbels entered the office in answer to his call. "Take a look at this man's leg and find out how badly it is broken," commanded the lieutenant.

The officers made a close examination of his limb. "It's broken all right," informed Nachtrab, "but I'll fix it in two minutes."

Opening the "van" with a large key he disappeared within. After rummaging around for several seconds he emerged with a hammer and two pieces of wood. Steadying the colored man's leg across his lap he placed a strip of wood on each side, took a handful of nails from his pocket and went to work. A few accurate blows of the hammer and the leg was healed.

"I've had a lot of trouble with that wooden leg lately and I certainly appreciate your kindness in fixing it," said Lee as he stumped out of the station.

May Help Burglars.

Of all the fat-headed orders that have issued from the office of the police chief, the latest one, sending motor cops on street duty, issued by Chief Knapp, Frisay, is the fattest.

This will result in only two things: It will be impossible for a citizen to get a cop quickly. There will be much needless burning of gasoline.

There is as much sense to it as to an order keeping all fire department apparatus on the move, up and down the street, looking for fires. One thing Toledo has enjoyed has been its ability to get a cop practically anywhere in the city within a very few minutes.

Now, after the citizen has notified central police station that a burglar is about to carry off his coal stove or piano, the central station must wait until a motor cop calls up for orders before assistance can be dispatched to the citizen.

MAYOR PRAISES COPS

Tells Chicagoans Toledo Has "Best Force in World."

Would Let Seven Million Women in Country Speak for Selves with Ballot.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Brand Whitlock, mayor of Toledo, who addressed the Chicago Political Equality league here today, pronounced the Toledo police force the best on earth, and later made a plea for the suffragists. He said in part:

"Motorcycles are destined to revolutionize police departments to a great extent and to be the agency through which the policeman on a beat will become practically a think of the past. When you think of it seriously, doesn't it seem rather absurd to have so many policemen hanging around street corners?"

"These days of telephones and easy communication you can call a police station and get a policeman quicker than you can secure action by going out and whistling for an officer.

"Motorcycles are largely responsible for the change. In Toledo we give a two-minute motorcycle service. There are machines and men in reserve at every substation and a larger squad at central.

"Any time you ante a policeman can get use in two minutes by using a telephone and letting the desk sergeant know his wants.

"Toledo has the best police force in the world, and I am proud of it."

Then switching to political equality, the speaker said:

"The whole question of 'votes for women' in these times is a question of democracy, and the duty and the destiny of democracy, as I understand it, is to embrace and include all. Sometimes I think I should be a little stronger in my views on this subject.

"There are seven million women in this land, who toil for a living and millions of children. No one has been found to speak for these women and helpless children. Then in God's name why not let them speak for themselves?"

"There is not a single argument women voting that could not be used with equal force and effect in favor of the disfranchisement of 90 per cent of all the men."

SHOT DURING TUSSLE

Grace Sterling Gets Bullet Wound in Shoulder.

Unknown Assailant Escapes From Ontario Street House After Wielding Gun.

While talking to a man in the doorway of her home, 259 Ontario st., Grace Sterling, 22 years old, was shot below the right shoulder and serious, ly wounded Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Her assailant whom she does not know escaped.

According to the woman she admitted a stranger to her apartment where he stayed for 25 minutes. As she was showing him to the door she says the man struck her on the head with a sharp instrument. She grappled with him until he reached into his pocket and drew a revolver. Screaming she ran into the house as he fired. With the bullet wound in her back the Sterling woman ran around the corner to a neighbor's. Police were notified and Motor Patrolmen Tibbles and Nachtrab sent the woman to St. Vincent's hospital in the emergency ambulance.

A new pair of automobile's gauntlets found in the Sterling house is the only clue left by the man who did the shooting. Clara Mendenhall, colored, 1718 Spelbush avenue, said she ran from her room at the report of the pistol and saw the man running across Armory park toward a room at Spelbush and State streets. Sergeants Holly and Dolshanty and Detectives Tracy and M. Daly searched the neighborhood for several hours but could find no one answering the description of the fugitive.

The touring car, of Frank Kern, of the Elbers dwellings, Detroit avenue, was taken from in front of his home early in the evening. Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbles caught track of the machine on Detroit avenue and followed several blocks behind.

Zawodni saw the speeding car and the pursuing wheel policemen and his detective instinct prompted him to run into the street and command the occupants to stop. They obeyed and were held by the operator and Officer Ringman until the arrival of the motorcops. The boys were sent to the juvenile detection home.

ALLEGED STALLER STALLS ONCE TOO OFTEN AND LANDS IN JAIL

Walter Duell, 32 years old, apparently able-bodied and whom the police claim to be the world's greatest "staller," lies behind the bars at Central station following his arrest Wednesday night by Motorcops Tibbles and Nachtrab.

The new story of Duell is to get a nice, soft bed, the attention of a nurse, and three good meals a day, all at the expense of the city, according to the police, in to stiffen out or otherwise appear to need medical attention just as an ambulance arrives in his vicinity. Authorities and various undertaking establishment employees say that Duell has been taken to hospitals in the city four or five times, and after an investigation each time, invited to leave. Invariably the diagnosis of his case by attending physicians has been "stallitis."

Wednesday night Duell appeared at the home of a Mr. Martin, living near Whittemore and Geneva streets, and told a story of an injured leg and need of medical attention. Parker's ambulance was called and Duell requested that he be taken to the Toledo hospital. Mr. Parker recognized Duell, he declares, as a man whom he had taken to hospitals four or five times before, and each time the patient was discharged and a note made on the record to the effect that Duell was not in need of medical attention. Last night after he had recognized the man Mr. Parker told Duell to get in the ambulance and he would take him to the hospital where he would get the attention he needed.

Duell clambered in, and when the vehicle stopped was prepared to be lifted carefully into the arms of attendants at the hospital. Instead he was lifted into the arms of Motorcops Tibbles and Nachtrab at Central station. Suspicion was the basis of the arrest and Duell will have a hearing today.

The young man, who is a Lake Shore freeman, was first taken to Central station from the Arcade theater, where he and his bride were attending a performance.

In police court the following day he was found guilty and sentenced to three months in the county jail. Later the sentence was changed and after spending a short time in the workhouse the prisoner was released on his promise to pay George Jay, 230 Eleventh street, to whom he is said to have owed a $40 board bill. Jay Heartley was locked up the second time on an attachment.

HITS BOY AND SPEEDS

Unknown Autoist Runs Down Little Harry Glaser.

Youth Gets Broken Arm and Bruised Body—No Description of Machine Is Secured.

After knocking down seven-year-old Harry Glaser, 2844 Canton street, at Canton and Scott streets Sunday afternoon, the driver of a large touring car looked back at the child lying on the pavement, increased the speed of his car, and escaped before pedestrians could learn his identity or the number of his state license tag.

The boy had been playing on the sidewalk in front of his father's home and ran into the street just as the automobile was passing down Canton from Cherry street. He was struck and hurled several feet.

Motor Patrolmen Tibbles and Nachtrab were called and after young Glaser was carried into his home they summoned Dr. C. J. Henzler. Upon examination he found that besides slight injuries about the body, one arm was broken and the other wrenched.

The only description of the fugitive given to police is that he wore a large fur coat. He was alone in the machine.

BACKDOOR SWAINS TAKEN FOR BOLD, BAD BURGLARS

Hungarian Youth Almost Arrested When They Make Late Call on "Jennie."

Paying a little social visit to "Jennie," a servant, at 1416 Jefferson avenue, nearly caused the arrest of two timid Hungarians for burglary Thursday night.

The mistress of the house saw the foreigners in her backyard about 8:30 o'clock, and thinking they were trying to break into the house, telephoned the police.

Motorcop Nachtrab and Tibbles arrived on the scene in record time and grabbed the frightened callers before they could open the back gate.

"What are you prowling around here for?" inquired Nachtrab.

40 HOMELESS BY APARTMENT FIRE

Michigan Building's Top Stories Guttured by Saturday Night Blaze.

THREE ESCAPE BY STRAND OF ROPE

Two Policemen and a Fireman Hemmed in by Flames.

Nearly 40 men were rendered temporarily homeless and many lost nearly all their personal effects by fire, which threatened Saturday night to destroy the Michigan apartments, a five-story brick building 512-514 1/2 Madison avenue, and caused a loss of $25,000.

The fire started in the south east corner of the attic and for a time it was feared that it would spread to the adjoining building, the Chestnough apartments, which, similar in size and construction, is covered by the same roof as the Michigan, but separated by an 18-inch fire wall.

Two Apartments

The Michigan, with 42 rooms, is devoted to bachelor apartments and is owned by the Uplax Realty Co., of which David Robinson, Jr. and Gene are the principal owners. Louis Hardesty, a manager of the building, The Chestnough has 22 rooms, occupied as family suites and single apartments. It is owned by A. M. Chestnough and managed by Mrs. E. J. Powell.

The fire was discovered by a passer-by. After turning in an alarm from a street signal, George S. Wright, night clerk, George S. Wright.

When the firemen arrived the attic of the building was ablaze and flames were bursting through the roof. Chief Mayo turned in a second alarm and five minutes later a third. Despite the efforts of the firemen the flames gained headway rapidly and swept through the fifth story and ate their way into the fourth floor.

Three Have Narrow Escape

While Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Tibbles and Fireman Carson were on the fifth floor their exit was cut off by flames between them and the stairway. An end of a life line was fastened to a bedstead in a front room and the three men slid down to the ground.

Fallers to find John Ewing, engineer of the Michigan apartments, led to the belief that he had lost his life in the fire and friends and firemen searched for the missing man until 1 Sunday morning, when Ewing appeared at the burned building. He said that he left the building early in the evening and had spent the night at the home of a friend.

The front stairways on the ground floor of the Michigan are occupied by the Hay-Kobay Co. dealers in automobile accessories, and the rear and stationery store of Miss Neva Haddock. The stairs in both stories were badly damaged by water.

FIND FOUR VICTIMS OF 'LEGAL' DOPE

Terrible results of the promiscuous sale of sulphate of morphine by unscrupulous druggists were vividly seen in the haggard faces of the four boys who were arrested on the ninth floor of the Nicholas building by Patrolman Coffey, Friday night.

Harry Croy, 18, Ontario st.; Samuel Croy, 21, Ontario st.; Thomas Doyle, 23, 116 Michigan st., and Michael Doyle, Blum st., all admitted in police court Saturday morning that they were addicted to the use of the mind-destroying drug.

KNOW THE RESULT.

When accused by Judge Austin of selling the drug to others, Thomas Doyle said: "I may use it myself, but I would never teach anyone else to take it. It is easier to start than it is to get away from the habit."

Police say Harry Croy, the youngest member of the gang, has been in the habit of selling a "shot" of the morphine sulphate to his companions for 19 cents.

In Croy's possession were found a hypodermic needle, a spoon and candle for melting the powder and a regulation "legal" bottle of the drug. According to Patrolman Coffey he was injecting "19 cents' worth" into the arm of Tom Doyle when the party was interrupted.

When asked where they had purchased the morphine, the boys refused to talk.

DENOUNCES OFFICER.

When asked if he had anything to say for himself, Tom Doyle bitterly denounced Coffey. "If I had someone to defend me I would get out of this," he said.

"What you need is someone to defend you against yourself," replied the judge. "You are your own worst enemy."

"I am going to 'strong arm' you boys for your own good," said the judge as he sentenced them to pay a fine of $50 and costs.

Samuel Croy was not in the party arrested in the Nicholas building. He came to the station an hour later and insisted upon seeing his brother. When the officers refused him this privilege he attempted to force his way into the cell block.

Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbles became suspicious and searched him. A bottle of morphine sulphate was found in his pocket. He was locked up with his comrades.

"These boys, a few years ago, promised to become fine men. Now they are wrecks," said Judge Austin.

According to Prosecutor Wagers, the only charge that could be brought against the young men was loitering. Evidence was not sufficient to convict them of selling dope, he said.

DENOUNCES OFFICER.

When asked if he had anything to say for himself, Tom Doyle bitterly denounced Coffey. "If I had someone to defend me I would get out of this," he said.

"What you need is someone to defend you against yourself," replied the judge. "You are your own worst enemy."

"I am going to 'strong arm' you boys for your own good," said the judge as he sentenced them to pay a fine of $50 and costs.

Samuel Croy was not in the party arrested in the Nicholas building. He came to the station an hour later and insisted upon seeing his brother. When the officers refused him this privilege he attempted to force his way into the cell block.

Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbles became suspicious and searched him. A bottle of morphine sulphate was found in his pocket. He was locked up with his comrades.

"These boys, a few years ago, promised to become fine men. Now they are wrecks," said Judge Austin.

CALLS 5 COPS TO TELL ABOUT CHASING PROWLER

Two Detectives, a Sergeant, Two Motorcops and Patrol Wagon Are Summoned by Youth.

Discovering a prowler in the cellar of a 12-year-old employee of the Hoffman candy store, Adams and Superior streets, chased him out with a brandished gas pipe. Then he sent in a burryup burglar call to central police station and when Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbles, Sergeant Deleahanty, Detectives M. Daly and Tracy and the patrol wagon arrived he told them what he had done. The prowler had disappeared.

MAN FOUND AT 13 13TH STREET HAS 13 CENTS

Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbles Cautiously Arrest Ouston on February 12, 1912.

Superstition does not bother Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbles but nevertheless they rode their motorcycles slowly and carefully yesterday, the 12th of the month, in answering a complaint that a man was lying on the sidewalk of No. 12, Thirtieth street.

They pecked up Henry Ouston, 45 years old, of Fulton county, O., at 6:12 o'clock and locked him up for safe keeping. When searched by Turnkey Math 13 cents was found in his pocket.

STRANAHAN IS ARRESTED

Robert A. Stranahan, 23 years old, 2146 Glenwood avenue, president of the Champion Spark Plug company, was arrested Friday evening on five charges of employing women in his factory for more than 16 hours a day. He was taken into custody by Motor Patrolmen Nachtrab and Tibbles on a warrant sworn out by John Devlin, inspector of shops.

POLICE GET 15 WOMEN IN NET; MAKE 3 VISITS

SWOOP DOWN ON WINE- ROOMS SATURDAY NIGHT.

GIRLS CHARGE PIANIST WITH LURING THEM HERE

Hong Kong, Log Cabin and Kehoe's Places Raided by Cops.

Loiterers Held in Luggage Station on Charge of Suspicion—Juries, Hinge Stories of Montpelier Girls.

Police raids on three downtown wine rooms resulted in the arrest on suspicion of 15 women and one man Saturday night. The cafes visited by the detectives were the Hong Kong, 325 St. Clair street; the Frank F. Kehoe wine room, Monroe and Ontario streets, and Edward Schlatter's Log Cabin, 706 Jefferson avenue.

The prisoners who were taken into custody by Detectives Tracy, Quinn, M. Daly and Haas and Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbles are out-of-town residents and say they have been in the city but a few weeks. They are confined in Luggage street police station. None is over 25 years old.

Girls Accuse Pianist.

Only three girls were found in the Hong Kong. Edna Mahel, 19 years old, and Ethel Howard, 18 years old, were taken from the wine room, and when informed that they were to be locked up they accused Owen Tyson, 21-year-old piano player, of Montpelier, O., of luring them away from their homes in Postoria. They said it was the first time they had ever entered a saloon. Tyson is being held for investigation.

At Kehoe's eight girls were pounded up at the tables on both the Monroe and Ontario street entrances. The two in the cafe were ordered to leave.

The officers next went to the Log Cabin and picked up the four young women who were sitting around drinking with men. Schlatter, whose place was raided on the 1000 big police clean-up, protested that he was being impudged upon as a "fall guy," and declared that he would fight the case in court.

No Girls in Oak Leaf.

The Oak Leaf, buffet, on Erie street between Madison avenue and Adams street, was the last to be inspected, but there was not a woman in the building. The male loiterers were unharmed.

The Hong Kong, which has been in the limelight of numerous occasions during the proprietorship of George Doner, was ransacked recently. Last week police received two complaints of ugly fights in the saloon and the police raided, but no one could be secured to prosecute the disturbers. Tuesday night, it is alleged, a woman was knocked unconscious in the barroom. Three men and three women were arrested by Sergeant Lewis and jail-mates, but later were released for lack of evidence.

ASSAULTED ON AVENUE

John Fluette Knocked Uncon- scious in "Murder District"

Billy Hayes, State Street Resident, Accused of Hitting Victim on Head

Struck on the head in a drunken fight at Wagoner's cafe, downtown avenue and State street, in the "murder district," John Fluette, 22 years old, 714 Cherry street, was unconscious for an hour Saturday night. He accuses Billy Hayes, State street, of administering the blow.

According to witnesses who were in the barroom when the quarrel started, the two men were arguing over a woman. Fluette started to leave the cafe when Hayes followed him. It is reported, and struck him as he went in the front doorway.

Fluette was picked up in the street 25 feet away with a large cut in his head. Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbles met him in St. Vincent's hospital in the police ambulance. Later he was removed to Luggage street station.

HOLD UP ON 'AVENUE'

Stranger Waylaid by Young Highwayman.

Detectives Arrest Negro in Home of White Woman in Alley Near Canton.

Threatened by two young highwaymen, Mrs. J. D. MILLIKEN of Hudson, Mich., was robbed of her hand bag containing $10, a valuable pass and a railroad ticket, at Canton street and Woodruff avenue last night. The woman was accompanied by Mrs. P. G. Middleton, 717 Columbia street, at whose home she is a guest. The holdup man stepped up in the light of a street lamp, wrestled the purse from Mrs. Milliken's arm, and with a warning not to scream, disappeared around the corner. The frightened woman could give no accurate description of the robbery in Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbles who searched the vicinity.

NEGRO LOITERER IN TOLL.

In their search for negroes who are living with white women in the Canton street district, Detectives Quinn and Haas and Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbles last night arrested William Hafferty, 18 years old, colored, of Hamilton, N. The officers say that they found him in the home of a white woman in an alley on South-Canton street, between Canton street and Washington avenue. The prisoner was taken up on a charge of loitering.

MISS FRANCES LAMSON.

NOTES THREATEN GIRL

"Marry Me or I Kill You," Miss Lamson Is Told.

Methods employed by an unwelcome suitor have caused Frances Lamson, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Lamson, 303 Palmwood avenue, to appeal to the police for protection.

Within a week three anonymous notes, addressed to Miss Lamson, in each of which the writer professed love and threatened to kill the girl and himself if she did not marry him, have been found outside Miss Lamson's home.

Miss Lamson and her parents suspect that the notes were written by an Italian fruit peddler, who has called at their home a number of times to sell his wares.

Thursday evening Miss Lamson and other members of the family heard three loud raps on the window. Looking out, the girl saw a man, who, she said, resembled the fruit vendor, running through the yard. The police were notified and Motor Patrolman Nachtrab and Tibbles found the following note, addressed to Miss Lamson, stuck in a corner of a window:

"I want you tonight. I get you this week. I kill you and then kill myself. Marry me you be happy. You have no man who get me. You get me not I gone already. I be back after you this week some time."

The first note addressed to the girl was found Saturday afternoon in the yard back of the Lamson home and the second missive was found Monday evening on the back doorstep.

Detectives Martin and Connors have been detailed on the case.

Herman Shuster, 44 years old, hod carrier, of 317 Monroe street, "fringed" loungers in various saloons on Monroe between Superior and St. Clair streets by displaying a loaded revolver and a tin star Saturday night. Police were notified and Motorcoops Nachtrab and Tibbles arrested Shuster on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

COUGH SYRUP TOO STRONG

Arthur Willard, 21 years old, was unconscious several hours Sunday night after taking an overdose of cough medicine at 37 Tenth street. Roomers in the house heard him fall from bed and called Motorcoops Nachtrab and Tibbles. The officers sent him to St. Vincent's hospital in the emergency ambulance. His parents live at 114 Ralph street.

CAVE MAN IN PITTSBURG NEVER WILL KNOW ABOUT HIS NARROW ESCAPE

Armed with a small gatling gun, a tin star and a diploma from a detective correspondence school, Herman Schuster, 44, brick mason, has been gum-shoeing the streets of Toledo for many weeks in search of "Lefty Louis," "Gyp the Blood," Robert Webb and other promising young bandits.

Schuster's career as a sleuth came to an abrupt end when Motorcoops Nachtrab and Tibbels were informed by an excited traveling man that a person claiming to be a detective had flourishing a revolver in his face. The knight of the grip said that he had asked the alleged detective for direction to the Union depot.

WAS PRACTICING.

The motorcoops found Schuster in a Monroe st. "barrel house," proudly exhibiting his diploma and badge to the loungers. He was arrested, charged with carrying concealed weapons.

The man told the officers that he had long wished to be a sleuth. The correspondence school promised to put him in the same class with William J. Hurms and Nirk Carter, after five lessons, at the nominal cost of $2.50 per lesson. He had taken many lessons.

Schuster had in his possession a letter fro man alleged agent of the Pinkerton service, asking him to come to Pittsburg and capture a notorious criminal named Fahn Black, who was hiding in a cave in the outskirts of the city. The price for the capture of this desperate bandit was to be $1,000.

WORK FOR HIM.

"All the police have given up this case as hopeless. The district attorney has engaged us to finish the case," said the writer. "We have been informed that you can disguise well, and in fact, that no one would ever suspect you of being a detective," the letter continued. The "Pinkerton" agent told Schuster to come to Pittsburg heavily armed.

The almost-detective was given a little advice on "how not to be a detective" by the local officers and was released after promising to discontinue his sleuthing habits. Schuster said that he had spent much money acquiring his education as a detective.

Undertaker's Sign Saves Young Man from Death.

An undertaker's wall sign saved Raymond Purney, 20-year-old chauffeur, of West Toledo, from death or serious injury when he fell from a second-story window in the Duncan flats, 811 Jefferson avenue, Tuesday night.

Purney, who had been asleep in apartment No. 1 awoke at 10 o'clock and went to a front window for fresh air. While sitting on the sill he lost his balance and fell into the street.

His body struck the suspended display bearing the name of A. R. Cauldwell and it dropped with him to the sidewalk.

Motorcoops Nachtrab and Tibbels carried the bruised man into the building and awaited the arrival of Parks' ambulance. Surgeons at Toledo hospital report that no broken bones were discovered and that Purney's most serious injury is a cut on his cheek.

QUARREL OVER DRINKS, SLASHED WITH RAZOR

An argument over the payment of drinks resulted in a cutting scrape among a number of negroes on Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock near the Fashion saloon, Lafayette and Superior streets, in which E. G. Snow, 29, colored, 113 Huron street, received several bad cuts.

Snow was slashed twice across the left side of the head with a razor, and the index and middle fingers of the right hand were nearly severed.

Patrolmen Nachtrab and George Casey were near the scene and, after a chase, rounded up two men, "Baby" Shine, 215 Erie street, and James Jackson, 113 Huron street, both colored.

COURT WORKS FAST ON CHICKEN THIEVES

Justice worked in record time in the case in which Otha Hughes and Frank Stytle were charged with burglary and larceny. The men were arrested early Thursday morning by Motorcop Nachtrab and Tibbles, charged with burglarizing the chicken coop of Philip West, farmer, residing three miles west of Air Line Junction, Wednesday night. They were indicted by the grand jury three hours later Saturday morning they pleaded guilty before Judge Johnson. Hughes and Stytle were sentenced to the Mansfield reformatory. Both are 19 years of age.

He refused to give police the name of his assailant. Passerby carried him into Cooley's drug store. Motorcop Tibbles and Nachtrab took the man to central police station until the arrival of the police ambulance. O'Brien, whose wounds are slight, was removed to Robbwood hospital.

Charmed Life Shows Up World's Worst Marksman

John Melner, 33, residing at 3313 Nebraska avenue, is positively living a charmed life.

Likewise, the world's poorest marksman has been discovered.

Readers of this tale will not dispute the foregoing statements.

Melner was the target for 15 revolver shots late last evening, as he sat police, and not a single shot struck him.

While walking on Tecumseh street near Detroit avenue, Melner heard two shots he took possession. Not thinking they were intended for him he thought of the occurrence only as a disinterested person but he suddenly saw a man, whom he says is John Libalowski, living on Tecumseh street, pointed a revolver at him, at show faces and fire five more shots.

All went wild.

Melner hurried home while Motor Patrolmen Brown and Nachtrab hurried to the scene of the shooting in response to telephone calls.

The would-be assassin, however, was unfrustrated by his failure at Detroit avenue and Tecumseh street and he, too, rushed to Melner's home, the motor cops were told. He carefully wended his way thru the yard of the Melner residence and pointing his pistol towards the window of the bedroom occupied by the human target, fired eight more shots, shattering the window glass. Again he missed Melner.

Melner, terribly frightened, became hysterical and it was necessary to summon a physician to administer to him. Motor Patrolmen Brown and Nachtrab thereupon started on a hunt for Libalowski.

TOLEDOANS DIRECT RESCUE OF VICTIMS

One boatman on the bay responded to the call for boats by offering his entire fleet, and the Irving H. Bliss Co. provided a relief station at 501 Madison avenue, in the Nasby.

Lead Provisions on Trains

Thursday the requests request that the merchants haul their provisions directly to the railroad yards, there to be transferred as quickly as possible to the waiting trains the emergency will have in readiness, so that the quickest possible relief may be routed to the inundated areas.

The Commerce club wants the cooperation of everybody—a donation will be too small or none too large, as the need is a crying one and every thing will find a place. Those in charge of the relief work have $1121 to spend for provisions and blankets, but that will be only a small sum compared to the wants of the needy. Action will be needed to transport donations to the special trains and those having machines in turn over to the rescuers will lessen their work immeasurably.

Throughout Wednesday officials of the Commerce club were kept busy answering the calls of anxious relatives in regard to the flooded districts, and giving them what information they had; the Union station was crowded with people arriving from the west, to change cars here for points in Ohio; grown men shed tears when told there was no possible way for them to reach their homes; many begged the officers in charge of the relief trains for permission to accompany the rescuers and reach their loved ones, and the sight of women, some with children, was pitiful, as they implored the railroad officials to help them. But the risk was too great, and only the Reserve boys were allowed to man the trains.

Boats Needed Most

But the boats are the things most needed, and are practically the only things of real use. People are drowning by the scores for the lack of them and THE RELIEF COMMITTEE NOW WANTS A CAR LOAD FOR TOMORROW MORNING!

The delivery facilities of the following stores have been placed at the disposal of the public for the transportation of food, clothing and other necessities to the flood relief headquarters in the Commerce club: Thompson-Hudson, Lion Store, Neumann Bros., Madison-Christie Co.

Five Injured at Work

Railroad officials have been busy all day and night seeking routes over which to reach the submerged location and their efforts were rewarded last night, when the first train left for Dayton at 7:00 o'clock. In order to get a thru line to Dayton officials of the New York Central lines sent a pioneer to West Liberty to repair the Big Pond bridge there, thru which an engine, tender and sleeper crashed on Tuesday morning.

During the night every patrolman available was detailed to secure boats to send to the afflicted cities, the trip to Walbridge park, Bay View, Ironville and along both sides of the river netting 57 boats and launches, which will be loaded for shipment early this morning. Five hundred pounds of meat was ordered from the Zehner Packing company, 10 gallons of milk, 20 pounds of butter and a quantity of bread was secured to be sent to Fremont. The provisions will be in charge of the city sealer.

Special for Fremont

The president of the Chamber of Commerce at Fremont has asked for gasoline, yeast and bread. The officials of the Commerce club will try to get a special Lake Shore train for Fremont started by 1:30 o'clock this morning.

Motorists Nachtrieb and Tibbles are directing the rescue work at Ottawa. William Orban, assistant superintendent of the city fire alarm system, is in charge of the work at Delcity was working last night hauling provisions to the station and to relief headquarters in the Nasby building. Mayor Westlock, Safety Director Mooney, Chief Knapp and Superintendent of Identification McKey directed the officers and men in gathering provisions, clothing and boats.

A dispatch from Lima states that 13 carloads of militiamen from Lima, Ada, Van Wert, Kenton, Bucyrus, Galion and Kenton, eight companies in all, on their way to Dayton to aid in the flood rescue work are stranded at Sidney, Ohio, tonight. Advice from there state that they will wait until morning, try for transportation to Popus and thence march to Dayton. A train load of militia from and in his efforts to turn all the power and release himself his coal was torn from his body. The seven men were rescued by teamworkers who came to their assistance in row boats.

The second launch was then placed in readiness, but the heavy downpour of rain and the swift current in the flooded street put it out of commission after a few hours' service. The rescuers were compelled to finish work with the row boats.

Nachttrab and Tibbles accomplished their first rescue soon after they started out to distribute provisions by saving three young women from being crushed into a bridge in a row boat. Miss Mary Ingericht of Ottawa, a student at the Ursuline convent, Toledo, and the Misses Alma and Frances Hoof of Glandorf, O., lost their car, were caught in the irresistible current and carried to probable death against an iron bridge.

Rescue Three Girls.

The Toledo policemen followed them and after numerous escapes from being swept into the structure themselves, succeeded in transferring the girls into their own boat.

Of the notes of rescues effected by the Toledoans many were of a thrilling nature. A rowboat occupied by A. J. Drew and J. Penn, helping luncheoned woman, overturned and the men were carried away in the current.

They were saved by W. R. Walters and Jerry Gill, fellow workmen.

Edward Ward and William Fruecht also capsized. One swam to a floating porch and the other headed for the limbs of a tree. They were carried to safety by Nachttrab and Tibbles.

Charles Farrell, proprietor of the Star restaurant, being swept down by the current, was pulled into a building on a fire base held by six rescuers. Sherman Williams of the Toledo crew lost his car and attempted to jump from his boat into another. He landed in the water and along to a floating plow handle until rescuers came to his assistance.

Row Stands in Water.

An unpropelled row stand in a yard behind the Keene Hotel was blown with only the stroke man's head above water. Rescuers led the stand to a dry spot.

Herbert McDowell and John Ford of Lima were rescued in a boat after they had been carried three miles down the Maumee river.

row that were not to be interrupted in their transporting they made the coupling of the team and floating machinery rigid and fast.

The report reached Municipal Law Marshal and immediately he dispatched the Toledo police and teamwork men. Within an hour nearly all the row boats in the party had landed on the Flood, power and valuable teams from stored saloons and homes, were found concealed in the structural clothing.

The sheriff continued to prosecute and removed them out of town at the point of shipment.

While delivering two "stumps" of potatoes and a bundle of lumber and staves, slipped from LaPointe's hands and they nearly sank the Toledo rowers who witnessed scenes which they say they never can forget.

See Patterns Made.

Mrs. Frank LaPointe, living in the center of the village, was in bed on the first story of her residence. She was expected to give birth to a child. By the time she had been warned upstairs by members of her family and neighbors, the water was six feet deep in the downstairs apartments. The infant, a boy, came into the world shortly after his mother's removal, but died from exposure.

A large house two miles from the heart of Ottawa was torn from its foundation and carried away. Its occupants were rescued and tried for by neighbors.

Not in the least discouraged, and saying that they might as well make merry while they have the opportunity, 52 southbound rowers from towns in central Ohio, westward to the Kohns hotel, Ottawa, gave a dance which lasted until 2 o'clock Thursday morning.

The notice that four beneath the dance hall was in six feet of water and the women were helped in baskets from boats up to the dance hall. The men climbed up on ladders. Music for the Venetian scene was furnished with a guitar and violin.

Leaves Work to Go.

Mayor E. J. McEwing is well pleased with the work of the Toledo men, who say that everything was left to their own judgment. The overflowings touched all but six houses and washed out all the railroads but one.

The men in the Toledo party were W. R. Walters, A. Walsh, Jerry Gill, H. Bultner, A. C. Taylor, B. Matheis, J. Mathies, T. Lusk, T. Green, L. Phillips, Sam Lee, J. Roberts, E. Snow, E. Panko, D. Diller, E. A. Drew, G. H. Harrison, C. K. Fitzgerald and Sherman Williams of local teamworkers whom No. 13 and L. L. Nachttrab, W. G. Tibbles, William Herman, A. Hasevosh, Jr., J. Doody, and G. L. Water Gobbles Down.

The Maumee river has gobbled down 14 inches, and is consequently receding every hour now, according to reports from the Hall-light power plant on Water street this morning.

Danger to the power plant is practically past. Pumps have taken up all the water from the reservoir. However, the fire pumps have begun to the third horizontal gate box, or in the floor.

Wednesday afternoon water broke into the power house in a geyser, thru a weak point in the floor, but a pile of sand was quickly checked any danger from a flood.

Of the scores of rescues effected by the Toledo men were of a thrilling nature. A rowboat occupied by A. J. Drew and J. P. Peto, helping imprisoned woman, overturned and the men were carried away in the current.

They were saved by W. H. Walters and Jerry Gill, fellow workmen. Edward Ward and William Frohbe also capsized. One swam to a floating porch and the other headed for the brink of a tree. They were carried to safety by Nachtrab and Tibbels.

Charles Ferrell, proprietor of the Star restaurant, being swept down by the current, was pulled into a building on a fire hose held by six rescuers. Sherman Williams of the Toledo crew lost his car and attempted to jump from his boat into another. He landed in the water and along to a floating plow handle until rescuers came to his assistance.

Cow Stands in Water.
An accomplished cow stood in a flooded yard behind the Kearsy hotel for hours with only its mouth above water. The water was so deep that it was difficult to find a dry spot.

Berret McDowell and John Ford of Toledo were rescued in a boat after they had been carried three miles down the Blanchard river.

Art E. Remondard, a barber, was sitting on the piano of a 2-cent theater when the Toledo squad arrived Wednesday. He had been waiting there 24 hours. Ed McGreevy was in the same predicament until rescued by Nachtrab and Tibbels. He was stretched on a piano in the St. James saloon for 24 hours.

A boat containing William Hibbits, Frank Kable and Mrs. George Laibe was upset. The three men had all they could do to hold on. Mrs. Laibe, who weighs 250 pounds.

Marshal Lee Hensel was rescued from the station after being there 24 hours without food. He reportedly consumed three pounds of bologna and three loaves of bread.

Prisoners Plunder Houses.
With the exception of 21 prisoners who were freed from the Lima workhouse and sent to Ottawa as "rescuers," the Toledo men received the best of co-operation.

GRAY HAIR TURNS ITS NATURAL COLOR AFTER APPLYING SAGE TEA

Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens Beautifully and Takes Off Dandruff.

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also cures dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.
Nowadays skilled chemists do this better than ourselves. By using at any drug store for the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Restorer."

A large bottle for about 50 cents. Some druggists make their own, but it's usually too sticky, so insist upon getting "Wyeth's" which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is the best remedy for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and to stop falling hair.

Police like "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" because no one can readily tell that you darkened your hair, so it does it so naturally and evenly, gives a well known downy fragrance. The dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, asking one small strand at a time. This requires but a few moments; by morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two is restored to its natural color and looks even more

TOLEDO FIREMEN AND COPS SAVE MANY

Toledo's safety department proved the salvation of many who were caught in the rush of water that inundated many of the small towns near Toledo. The rescue crews sent out by the police and fire departments, probably saved the lives of over 500 people.

When first news of the flood was received the police department was organized into a rescue force under the direction of Richard McKay. He sent Mounted Officers Mavis, Eaton and Taylor with three Toledo fishermen and three boats to Fremont, where 205 people were taken from precarious positions in 24 hours.

Motor Cops Tibbels and Nachtrab with Mounted Officers Herman, Doody and Smith were sent to Ottawa, where 50 people were rescued. Detective Delehanty and traffic cops were sent to Dayton in charge of a supply train. Detective Harris and Motor Cop McCloskey took charge of the second relief train to Dayton. Traffic Cop Murphy and Gallagher were in charge of relief trains to Fremont, Tiffin, Ottawa and other inundated towns.

The fire department took charge of the Tiffin situation, where 23 men, under command of Assistant Chief Fraser, rescued 258 people. Lieutenant John Struckholz and Captain Charles Hartung are still in Dayton, where they did magnificent work.

In addition to furnishing members of rescue crews motor boats and searchlights for the life savers, the fire department came to the front in the matter of collecting provisions for the sufferers. All of the engine houses were designated as receiving stations and the 224 men in the department succeeded in gathering together between 65 and 70 wagon loads of clothing and provisions.

From all of the flood stricken towns have come words of praise for Toledo's police, fire and alarm system crews which performed the rescue work.

Toledo fire and police officers on duty in Dayton don't know when they will be released from duty there and permitted to return home, according to word received Monday from Captain Charles Hartung of No. 11 engine house, who is in the flood-stricken city.

DRAG FOR GILMAN'S BODY

Motorcops to Start Search for Drowned Man Today.

Police probably will drag the bottom of the Maumee river this morning for the body of William K. Gilman, 27 years old, special policeman, who was drowned when his gasoline launch capsized a week ago under the Chery street bridge.

No search could be made for the body until the present time on account of the high water and rapid current. The work with the grappling hooks will be done by Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbels.

BLARNEY CASTLE RAIDED

Blarney Castle, a saloon at Maumee and Sagor avenues, again was raided by police yesterday morning. J. Diskon, 47 years old, 242 Maumee avenue, was charged with keeping a gambling room. John Green, Leo Taska, R. E. Brown, H. H. Mills, A. C. Hargre, Henry Broadway and Herman Hylbrand were accused of gambling. The raid was made by Patrolman Weltonberg and Motorcops Tibbels and Nachtrab, who say they were admitted to the cafe when they gave two short knocks on the back door.

CAUGHT IN AUTO AFTER LONG CHASE

After a chase of a mile and a half, Motor Cops Tibbels and Nachtrab arrested Ed Capron, 18, 1224 Ontario st., Friday night in an auto owned by A. A. Alwood of the Alwood garage. The machine was taken in front of the Spitzer cafe by two young men.

The motor cops traced the machine to Austin and Walnut sts. One of the occupants jumped out and escaped. Capron is held on suspicion.

OFFICER BADLY HURT IN COLLISION

Motor Patrolman Nachtrab Crashes Into Taxicab at High Speed.

Less than 20 minutes after he had taken a boy, who had been hurt in an automobile accident, to St. Vincent's hospital Sunday night, Motor Patrolman Lawrence L. Nachtrab was carried in a serious condition to the same hospital from the effect of injuries received at 11:30, when the motorcycle he was riding at high speed south on Superior street, at the intersection of Jefferson avenue, collided with a Toledo Transfer Co. taxicab.

Nachtrab was hurled from his wheel over the top of the automobile and fell 25 feet south of the wrecked machine. He was picked up unconscious and taken in another taxicab to the hospital, where it was reported Monday morning that his condition was critical. In addition to severe cuts and bruises about the head and body the patrolman is thought to be suffering from concussion of the brain, his left hip and knee cap and right wrist are fractured and it is feared he is hurt internally.

Going at High Speed.

Riding at a rate of 35 miles an hour, Nachtrab neared the street intersection as the taxicab, driven by Edward Gilchrist, approached at right angle.

The motorcycle crashed into the side of the automobile. The motorcycle was demolished but the taxicab was only slightly damaged. Gilchrist escaped unhurt.

Nachtrab was on his way back to the central police station, after he and Motor Patrolman Tibbles had taken Robert Thornburg, 15-year-old son of George W. Thornburg, 1204 East Bancroft street, from his home to St. Vincent's Hospital. The boy was hurt two hours before, when an automobile, in which he and two other youths were driving, capsized on Broadway and Courtland avenue. The Thornburg boy's left arm was broken above the elbow, his head severely cut and he was bruised about the body. The other occupants of the car escaped with a few bruises.

In Stolen Auto.

The automobile, a Ford runabout owned by Dr. J. H. Spicer, had been stolen early in the evening from in front of the physician's office, 342 Huron street. An hour after the police had been notified of the theft, Patrolman Manley found the wrecked machine on Broadway near Courtland avenue. Witnesses told the patrolman that the auto occupied by three boys, was being driven rapidly south on Broadway and that, when the driver attempted to turn into Courtland avenue, the machine skidded a few feet and capsized, throwing the occupants into the street. The three boys disappeared. Young Thornburg boarded a street car and went to his home, where he was attended by Dr. C. J. Henzler. A short time later the boy's condition became worse and his father notified the police and requested that his son be taken to a hospital.

According to Motor Patrolman Tibbles, the Thornburg boy said that he and the other boys took the automobile for a joy ride.

MOTORCOP HURT AS WHEEL HITS TRANSFER AUTO

LEO NACHTRAB NEAR DEATH IN ST. VINCENT'S HOSPITAL.

Returning from St. Vincent's hospital, where he had taken the victim of an automobile accident, Leo Nachtrab, motorcop, was seriously injured in a collision with a taxicab at Superior street and Jefferson avenue at 12:45 o'clock this morning.

Nachtrab was traveling at a high rate of speed, south on Superior street. His motorcycle struck a Toledo Transfer taxicab driven by Ed Gilchrist, who was driving east across Superior street on Jefferson avenue.

Nachtrab was thrown into the air and fell 25 feet away. In a heap, a dozen men rushed to his side, and carried him to another taxicab, standing in front of the hotel here, and started him back to the hospital. The motorcycle was crumpled by the force of the impact. The taxicab was but slightly damaged.

Heavy-duty Officers.

At St. Vincent's Hospital Nachtrab was found to be suffering from a compound fracture of the hip, a shattered knee cap, severe fracture of the right wrist, half a dozen scalp wounds, and it is feared, internal injuries. He was conscious, and recognized Sergeant Leutz, and Motorcop Tibbles, who were sent to the hospital to care for him.

At 2 o'clock this morning Police Surgeon Tweney ordered Nachtrab put under an anesthetic in order that a more thorough examination could be made.

Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbles had just sent Robert Thornburg, 15, to St. Vincent's hospital from his home, 1204 East Bancroft street. Thornburg confessed to the police that he had been the occupant of a stolen automobile, that had skidded and upset at Broadway and Courtland avenue earlier in the evening.

With his arm broken, Thornburg had made his way home, he said, if his father had called for police when he found the extent of the boy's injuries. Thornburg refused to give the names of his companions. The automobile in which he had ridden is owned by Dr. J. H. Spicer, 342 Huron street.

MOTORCOP AND TAXI CRASH; COP WILL LIVE, NOT CRIPPLED

Motorcop Lawrence L. Nachtrab, terribly injured early Monday morning when his motorcycle collided with a taxicab at Superior st. and Jefferson ave., will live. And he will probably not be permanently crippled, according to Police Surgeon Sweeney.

Nachtrab was on his way to the police station from St. Vincent's hospital when the collision occurred. He and Motorcop Tibbels had just sent to the hospital Robert Thornburg, 15, whose arm was broken when a stolen automobile in which he and two other boys were joy riding, upset at Broadway and Courtland ave.

BACK IN HALF HOUR.

Less than a half hour later Nachtrab again visited the hospital, this time in an unconscious condition, with an oblique fracture in his left hip, a shattered left knee cap, a broken right wrist and many scalp wounds and bruises about the body.

According to witnesses of the accident, Nachtrab was riding down Superior st. on high speed, Edward Gilchrist, driving a Toledo Transfer taxicab, was driving across Superior on Jefferson ave.

When the two machines came together, the officer was tossed over the taxicab and landed about 25 feet away. The front of his motorcycle was demolished. A large hole was stove in the side of the motor car.

Nachtrab was picked up and carried to another taxicab, standing in front of the Secor hotel and rushed to St. Vincent's hospital. When Nachtrab came out of the anesthetic administered shortly after the accident by Police Surgeon Sweeney, he talked with Detective Herbold. "I must have hit something," he said.

THEFT OF AUTO.

The police are investigating the theft of the automobile from in front of Dr. J. H. Spicer's office, 342 Heron st., Sunday evening, which indirectly resulted in the injury of Nachtrab. Patrolman Manley found the wreck of the car on Broadway near Courtland ave., a short time after the police had been notified of the theft.

According to witnesses, the machine skidded, as the driver rounded the corner at top speed, turned turtle, and threw the three occupants into the street.

The Thornburg boy went home, Dr. Henzler was called. Later the boy was taken to St. Vincent's hospital by Nachtrab and Tibbels Monday morning he said that the two boys who were with him took the automobile.

NAMES MOTOR COPS

Safety Director Mooney has appointed two new motor cops. Patrolman Ernest Raits will replace Leo Nachtrab, who is in St. Vincent's hospital, and Patrolman Dan Wells will relieve Oscar Bruhl, who will go back to patrol duty.

SLOWS MOTOR COPS

Safety Director Mooney has ordered motor cops not to travel at a rate of speed that will endanger either their own lives or the lives of others. The recent serious injury sustained by Motor Cop Nachtrab was responsible for the new order.

NACHTRAB IS BETTER

Although his condition is serious, Motor Patrolman Lawrence L. Nachtrab, who was badly injured Sunday night, when he collided on a motorcycle with a taxicab at Superior and Jefferson avenues, was reported Tuesday morning to be much improved and authorities at St. Vincent's hospital said that, unless complications arise, the patient will undoubtedly recover.

WILLIAM GILMAN IS DROWNED WHEN BOAT IS CAPSIZED

When the power boat Chicken struck an obstruction and was capsized in the Maumee river under the Cherry street bridge at 3 Wednesday afternoon, William S. Gilman, special policeman, the only occupant, sank immediately in the rushing flood current and was drowned.

Police Sergeant Val Schroeder and Patrolman A. B. Morrison, on duty on the bridge, witnessed the accident and threw life preservers to Gilman, who, caught in the rush of a 10-mile current, was unable to grasp them.

The boat Chicken was owned by Gilman and Traffic Officer Nachtrab. Gilman had taken William Jennings, keeper of the Maumee bay range lights, to his post of duty for the first time this season and was returning when the accident occurred.

The river was swollen six feet above normal and the unknown obstruction which the boat struck is supposed to have been brought down the river by the flood.

The owners of the boat and guests lost escaped drowning late last fall when they encountered a gale on the lake. The gasoline engine was loosed from its bed and the disabled boat, at that time, drifted to Stony Point, beyond Maumee.

Before he purchased an interest in the Chicken, Gilman was owner of the cruising power boat My Pal, which was burned in Maumee bay last fall.

Gilman was 27 years old and is survived by his wife, one sister and three brothers. The family home is at 128 Ontario street. The brothers are James Gilman, 212 Kenilworth avenue, Allen Gilman of Detroit and Arthur Gilman of Los Angeles, California. His sister is Mrs. Margaret Poole of San Francisco.

Gilman had been a resident of Toledo for 13 years. He was employed as a private watchman of homes in the vicinity of Collingwood avenue.

NACHTRAB IS BETTER

Police Sergeant Sweeney, attending Motorcop Lawrence L. Nachtrab at St. Vincent's hospital, said Tuesday morning that the injured motorcop's condition is much improved. Nachtrab, speeding his motorcycle on Superior st. near Jefferson ave. Monday morning, hit a Toledo Transfer taxi. Nachtrab's brother officers are keeping him company at the hospital and doing all in their power to lighten his confinement.

SICK COMMITTEE NOTES

Brother Leo Nachtrab, who it was feared was fatally injured when his motorcycle collided with a taxicab at the corner of Superior and Jefferson, is improving rapidly. His injuries are painful, however, if not serious, and it will be some time before he is able to leave St. Vincent's.

Brother Nachtrab is still at the hospital and the only inconvenience he appears to suffer is that he is intased in a plaster armor from the waist down. To one used to such an active life as Brother Nachtrab's this is suffering enough, he says.

Since our last issue Brothers Tierman and Nachtrab have left the hospital and Brother Frank Nagle has returned to work.

Huntington and Clair Returning from Call When Accident Occurs.

Arnold Irwin, Third Victim, Becomes Confused When He Sees Motorcycle Approaching on Clark Street.

Two policemen and one youth were injured, none seriously, in a collision between two motorcycles at Clark street and Greenwood avenue, East Toledo, late Thursday afternoon. They are:

Edwin C. Huntington, East Toledo police station, motorcycle patrolman, painfully hurt on the head, face, arms and legs.

J. P. Clair, East Toledo station patrolman, bruised from head to foot and sprained wrist.

Arnold Irwin, 19 years old, 811 Nevada street, bruised and badly shaken up.

Retreating from Fight.

The accident occurred after the officers had broken up a sitting affray and arrested three Negroes at Third and Oak streets.

Huntington, operating the wheel, and Clair straddling a baggage carrier, were returning to police headquarters in the same manner in which they had answered the emergency call.

Irwin, riding his motorcycle west on Greenwood avenue, saw the officers approaching north on Clark street and apparently became confused and stopped. As Huntington crossed the copper Irwin suddenly turned on his speed and the crash resulted.

Huntington was thrown into the air and fell on his head several feet away.
Clair turned a somersault and landed on his feet. The boy pitched forward on the pavement. Both wheels were wrecked.

The police motorcycle is the same which bumped into an automobile and injured Motorcop Leo Nachtrab so badly that he was confined in a hospital several weeks.

Cop Taken Home.

Huntington was assisted to his residence at 510 Euclid avenue. Irwin also was taken home. Clair paid no attention to himself and refused to report on duty.

The three Negroes, who were captured on a street car which the officers had followed for six blocks, were sent to central station.

Robert Ford, 18 years old, said that his half brother, William Stewart, 18 years old, and John Winters, 20 years old, all of Fairburg, had washed his clothing into streets following an argument. A knife and a fork are held as evidence against the trio.

Judge's saloon, Jackson avenue and Eleventh street, was the second place invaded. Three women were arrested for safe keeping and Horace Payne, 21 years old, Detroit, was sent in on suspicion. Payne is reported to "have charge" of one of the girls.

"Billy" Adams cafe, Washington and Huron streets, where Motorcops Nachtrab and Tibbles were beaten with clubs several months ago, was visited early this morning. Eight women and Joseph Hatley, 48, of 635 Washington street, were loaded into a patrol wagon on suspicion.

The raids were conducted by Detectives Quinn, Haas and Tracy and Ser-plaints have been lodged against the Oak Leaf cafe where, it is asserted, the inmates congregate on the front sidewalk at closing time and annoy pedestrians with their alleged drunk-

ITALIAN STABS TO KILL

Victim May Die and Assailant Is Held by Police Pending Developments.

Arthur Butler, 19, residing with his wife and mother in a rooming house, Ontario and Washington streets, who is hospitalized with a serious knife wound on his left side, beneath the sixth rib, from which he may die, Rocco Cesare, Italian laborer, is under arrest in the central police station charged with cutting with intent to kill.

Butler was stabbed by Cesare, it is alleged by witnesses, in the saloon of John Fretti, No. 3 South Superior street, yesterday following a dispute over a woman, Homer Butler, 239 Shepherd street, relative of the injured man, and Archie McDonald, 223 Washington street, are held by the police as witnesses. The saloon, owned by John Fretti, living in the Fretti place, and over whom the fight is said to have started, is said to have witnessed the stabbing. She was sent to the Lagrange street station.

Fretti is locked up in the central police station, held on a charge of conducting a fence for the reception of stolen property. In the saloon the scene was being observed by Mike Decolio. He is charged with violation of the Sunday closing law.

While she faint was in progress the notified police headquarters of a block away, and Capt. De Hall sent Detectives Welsh, Snyder and Hook and Patrolman Nachtrab to the scene. They found Arthur reeling from the side door of the saloon, the blood streaming from his wound. He was sent to a hospital in the emergency ambulance.

Cesare was still in the saloon when the officers arrived. He was charged with the murder of the victim, and in his pocket, when frisked, was found a sharp-bladed pocket knife which had been recently run into the ground as if to remove stains. The knife is held as evidence.

TELLS OF BURGLARIES

Robbed Milner's Store and Haas Grocery Often, He Admits to Police.

Exhibiting the cleverness of an old hand, Walter Woodin, 14-year-old colored boy, has been systematically robbing W. L. Milner's department store and the grocery store of Fred Haas, located at 1661 Washington street.

The boy was arrested by Officer Nachtrab after a run of several blocks. The boy had been acting suspiciously and had once been in the reform school.

At the police station yesterday he admitted he had been in Milner's store 11 times. He would slip in about 5:30 p. m., according to his own story, and conceal himself until employees had left the store, and then would help himself. He made his way out in the mornings when the store had opened, he said.

The boy said he had a key to the Haas store.

On account of his age he was turned over to the Juvenile home, where he will be detained until his case can be disposed of.

CAUGHT AT THE

According to a city salesman for a big wholesale grocery firm, the best business barometer that he has ever observed comes under his notice this summer, and it's in relation to no more important an article of commerce than the little "mosquito-sticks" that children so love to play with in the evening, when the rascally dipterous insect is abroad crying vengeance upon the human race.

According to this salesman, one can tell just what parts of the city are most infected with the pests. Nearly every little store throughout the business district sells these "mosquito-sticks." They are required in bundles of about 25 for a cent. One stick lasts from three to five minutes.

Many of the stores in the North End find it necessary to replenish their supply of the sticks almost weekly. The further north the store is located the oftener the order. Dealers at points north of Ohio street use twice as many as dealers between Margolis and that point.

The same condition applies to Ironville and Birmingham and in the Hyde park district. There are places in the city where the demand for them is slight.

A mere hitched to a delivery wagon came tearing down the street. The lives of women and children in the path of the runaway were endangered until Patrolman Larry Nachtrab rushed to the rescue and brought the maddened steed to a standstill.

The owner of the vehicle will Officers Locate Man Who Forced Bartender to Give Drinks.

After having been wanted since February, at which time he leveled a gun on the proprietor of the Oak saloon, 631 Lafayette street, J. R. Spencer, a colored man whose occupation is that of a waiter, was arrested last night by Sergeant Glenn and Patrolman Nachtrab.

At the time of the trouble he went into the saloon and asked for a drink but when informed that they did not cater to the colored trade he drew a revolver and leveled it on the bartender, who was compelled in this manner to wait on him. The bartender had a warrant sworn out for the man and until last night they have been unable to locate him. He is charged with carrying concealed weapons.

An Indian who told the police his name was J. R. Luckkut, 42, of Oklahoma, attempted to end his life by two different routes early last evening according to the reports of police. The attempt at suicide occurred at the Hendricks inn, 224 Superior street, where Luckkut was stopping. He is a barber by trade.

According to police, Luckkut had been drinking heavily. He turned on the gas in the room and was found in a state of unconsciousness. The Patrolman Nachtrab and Fred, who arrived. As the Indian saw the officers thru the door he raised the window and made a leap to escape to clear it. The officers were called by the policemen when Luckkut was found. He was taken to the hospital and his condition is said to be serious.

STABS HIS FRIEND AND TELLS POLICE

19-Year-Old Boy Says He Acted in Self-Defense—Called Homicide.

SLAYER IS FOUND BESIDE THE BODY

Men Quarreled in Brick Kiln Where Men Were Sleeping.

With three deep stab wounds in his back, Henry Winksa, 23, 227 Hausman street, a hotel carrier, was found by the police at 1:15 Sunday morning lying dead on the floor of a kiln in the Spear-Kears Co.'s brick yard, Georgia avenue and the Lake Shore track. Winksa was a Pole.

A few minutes later Minozinski, Horzak, P., an Austrian, who, with several other men, was standing beside the body, was arrested by Motor Patrolman Natchrab and Tibelski, suspected of having inflicted the wounds which caused the man's death. The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Joseph Abate.

A few hours after he had been locked up at police headquarters Horzak, who cannot speak English, was freed through an interpreter that he had stabbed Winksa with a pocket knife and said that he did so in self-defense.

Horzak was arraigned in police court Monday morning, charged with murder. He waived examination and was held by Judge Austin to the grand jury without bail. The arrest was seen out by Motor Patrolman Natchrab.

According to the witnesses, Horzak and Winksa had been quarreling for some time. Winksa said that he and Horzak were in a room at 1:15 Sunday night, when they both had several drinks. Horzak said that they struck in the room, with Winksa and Horzak and several other men had been in the habit of sleeping. Horzak said that soon after they entered the kiln Winksa suddenly attacked him and struck him several times on the head. Horzak said that he drew a knife with which he struck at his opponent and then, as the latter picked up a heavy iron bar, Horzak started twice more at his opponent.

With a groan the wounded man fell to the floor unconscious and died in less than five minutes. The knife found and the blade proved the slayer. Another wound was under the left shoulder and the third in the small of the back.

Runs, Then Comes Back

When he saw his victim fall Horzak ran out of the kiln, but he returned in about five minutes and stood beside the body until the police arrived.

At the coroner's inquest Sunday afternoon the prisoner's story was corroborated by several witnesses. At the conclusion of the hearing Coroner Hensler rendered a verdict of homicide and Horzak was taken back to police headquarters charged with murder.

Horzak is a native of Austria and came to Toledo about a year ago.

Leo Natchrab, a salesman for the Willy-Overland Co., saw a man carrying two women's coats at Fourteenth and Adams streets Tuesday afternoon. He signified from his machine and spoke to him.

The man's reply surprised Natchrab. "Well, Larry, I guess you've got me."

Then the man admitted Natchrab said that he prowled a dwelling at 224 Fourteenth street, occupied by Mrs. Grace Fley.

He was taken to central station by Motor Patrolmen Young and Elward. The alleged burglar is Frank McCue, 55. He evidently thought Natchrab was still connected with the police department.

EXPECT MURPHY AS NEXT POLICE CHIEF

Department Confident That Knapp Will Not Return to Duty.

That the stepping of the trustees of the police pension fund a week from next Friday will result in appointments for Chief of Police Harry Ransby, Inspector Herbert Casey, Captain Daniel O'Riordan, Patrick Kinney and James Sullivan and Fire Chief William Mayes of their retirement on pension immediately was conceded around police headquarters and the city hall Monday afternoon. There is hardly a doubt that Knapp and Mayo, now on their annual vacations, never will return to duty in their respective departments. They, respectively will be filed by Trade Commissioner George Murphy and second Assistant Vice Chief George Flamer.

Nothing official has been issued concerning a rumor that Sergeant M. W. Lutz was to be made Inspector of Detectives and that the present Inspector James Smith was to be transferred to the office of Inspector of Police. Smith is also being chief of police. Murphy is assisting him in his work.

SW Examination

Many members of the police department predict a new civil service examination by the proclamation by council that the entire force is to be reorganized.

What will be done with the men detailed as detectives under former Safety Director Hickey has not been made public. Patrolmen C. W. Ringman, J. C. Brooks, John Hovey and L. L. Nachtrab are declared to be slated for the promotion. It is said also that all the veteran members of the detective bureau will be retired. The positions of captain of detectives and night desk man in the detective department, a new detail, will be filled by Safety Director Knapp soon.

Council is expected to abolish the office of superintendent of the workhouse and recreate one to be known as manager of the workhouse. George DeMuth no doubt will receive that title.

MADMAN GIVES POLICE BATTLE

Becomes Violent and Fights with Superhuman Strength.

Fighting like a veritable demon and with mammoth strength, Charles Zinn, laborer, age about 32, arrested early yesterday at 217 Indiana avenue, was taken last night to the State hospital for the insane.

The arrest was made on complaint of Mrs. Charles Linn, whose house the prisoner roomed. Motor Officer Brown was sent out to the Linn house to ascertain the trouble. As he entered the room where Zinn lived, the latter threw a heavy stove poker at the officer, just missing his head.

Zinn grabbed a chair and attacked Brown, who overpowered him after a desperate struggle about the room, in the course of which both men had their clothes badly torn. Zinn had wrecked the furniture in his room and piled it in the center. The place was a scene when the officer arrived.

Kept at the city prison all day, Zinn behaved and was quiet, but last night he grew violent and was taken to the asylum. He had formerly been an inmate, having been sent here from Napoleon, but was discharged as cured.

Officers Nachtrab and Casey were deputed to take Zinn to the asylum. They found he had stripped off his clothes at the station and persuaded an officer the madman made a struggle himself with a strip of his torn shirt.

Unable to clothe the man, the officers wrapped him in a blanket and bore him, fiercely fighting, to the patrol wagon which took him to the county jail. He fought madly between police headquarters and the jail, giving the officers a tussle. At the jail Zinn was fitted with leg irons and handcuffs, again wrapped in the blanket and taken to the state institution. There he was placed in bed.

Weary and worn with his frantic struggles, Zinn turned over on two legs and straightway went to sleep.

Zinn furnished more action and trouble for the police than any prisoner they have handled for some time.

KAPP ANNOUNCES MANY CHANGES IN DETECTIVE FORCE

General Shakeup Will Take Place Sunday, States Safety Director.

LEUTZ SLATED FOR PROMOTION FEB. 15

Sergeant Will Be Made Inspector on Casey's Retirement.

General shakeup in the detective department will take place Sunday according to J. George KAPP, Jr., director of public safety, who Friday announced several changes in the police department. The changes in the detective department consist of the reduction in rank of two men, three retirements and appointment of four new men.

A. C. Sainhoff and W. Z. Palicki are the men who will be reduced in rank. They have been serving as detailed detectives since January 1 but are charged with having shielded Patrolman Wawrzyniak who was found guilty of taking $5 from a prisoner. The two detailed detectives will be reduced to patrolmen. They formerly were members of the motorcycle squad at central station. Patrolman Wawrzyniak has been suspended and is awaiting action of the civil service board.

Albert Hasselbach, sr., who has been stationed at the Interurban depot, and Patrolman J. C. Brossia will succeed the deposed men as detailed detectives. Both Brossia and Hasselbach formerly were detectives but according to Mr. Kapp were reduced without cause.

Three Retirements Expected.

Retirement of Detectives Michael Howard, Michael Carl and Joseph Nichte is expected before February 15. These three men have been members of the force for more than 25 years and are eligible to retirement. Two men who will succeed them are Patrolmen C. W. Ringman and F. J. Fisher. The third man has not yet been selected.

The retirement of these three regular detectives will make a total of five men who have left the detective department since the first of December. Three of the older members in the police department also have retired.

Sergeant LEUTZ, who is slated for promotion, will be made inspector of police February 15. The resignation of Inspector Michael Casey was received Friday and Director Kapp said "Sergeant Leutz no doubt will get the place."

Herbert Mill Captain.

Until some permanent change is made H. J. Herbert will continue as acting captain of the detectives and Motor Patrolman Lawrence Nuchtrab has been detailed for clerical work in the detectives' office.

The police changes announced Friday by Mr. Kapp were the official appointments of George W. Marthey as chief of police to succeed Perry D. Knapp, who retired Sunday after 29 years of service. The retired chief will receive a pension of $80 per month.

Director Kapp also announced that the detectives' office will be kept open during the entire 24 hours instead of but 11 hours as before.

Changes announced in the police department follow: Captain Sherry, now at central station from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m., to work from 2 p. m. to 11 p. m. from 2 to 4 he will be in charge of the traffic squad; from 4 to 11 he will be in charge of the detectives' office. Captain O'Sullivan, now on duty at central station from 2 p. m. until 11 p. m., will work from 11 p. m. until 7 a. m. in the detectives' office.

Captain Haffley remains at the East side station from 7 a. m. until 3 p. m. Lieutenant Schrader, now desk man at the East Side station from 2 to 11 p. m., will be on the central desk from 7 a. m. until 3 p. m. Lieutenant Hilly, now on desk duty at central from 7 a. m. to 2 p. m., succeeds Schrader. Sergeant Winkler remains on the East Side desk from 11 p. m. to 7 a. m.

Go to East Side.

Sergeants Schlagheck, Watson and Hudd of East Toledo go to Central, and Sergeants (Henn. Mead and DeLahanty go to the East Side. Sergeant Leutz, until made inspector of police, will be in charge of central station patrolmen from 7 a. m. until 2 p. m., and Sergeant O'Reilly will have the same work from 2 until 11 p. m. O'Reilly is now in charge of the traffic squad and Leutz from 11 p. m. until 7 a. m.

Detective Tracy, who has been working nights, succeeds Detective Weiss on the day squad. The latter retired. Motor Patrolman Timbo has been made repairman. Motor Patrolman Zakebany, now assistant in the bureau of identification, goes back to the motor squad, and his place is taken by Patrolman Wiseman. Patrolmen Smith and Boland succeed Hailinger and Rossman on the motorcycle squad at No. 4 engine house, and Patrolman Tepper has been assigned to the Interurban station.

MORE NIGHT MEN.

At least 13 new men will be added to the force within the next two weeks. They will be assigned to night duty. What will amount to a practical reorganization of the detective department will be made as soon as Director Kapp, Chief Murphy and Inspector of Detectives Smith can work out the plan.

Although no authoritative announcement was made it is understood that a number of the older members of the detective department will be retired. Some of the younger members will be reassigned to patrol duty.

It is said that of the detective force that more than four will be used as the nucleus for a new department.

ANNOUNCE RESULTS OF EXAMINATIONS IN FIRE AND POLICE DEPARTMENTS

Results of the civil service examination held for members of the Toledo police and fire departments on February 27 were given out by Secretary M. W. Kemper Monday afternoon. The selections from the list of those who merited the highest percentage probably will be made public today or tomorrow.

Crowley is the older lieutenant, while Flanagan is the older in point of police service. Five sergeants took the test for the lieutenantcy. William Watson, George Ghens, Joseph DeBarry and John Winker are tied with 81 per cent. William Hinde stood 80. There is hardly a doubt but what Watson will be the new lieutenant because he is the senior sergeant. Twenty-eight patrolmen are tied for the two unfilled positions in the sergeancy.

In point of service the men are listed as follows: William Cook, William Bodings, Max Koorr; Fred Stanichouse and Oscar Bruch. Guy Tibbels will be promoted to Motor Sergeant when that position is created by council.

John McCas, district fire chief, will be promoted to second assistant chief. He stood the highest with 88 per cent. The police and fire department standings follow.

The Standings.

Deeds of bravery were recorded, as were suspensions. The commission endeavored to give a fair and impartial grade for each applicant. This explains why so many

Will Develop Detroit as Coal and Ore Port.

Detroit Board of Commerce Offers Flattering Inducements.

Toledo is to lose the general offices of the Ann Arbor and the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroads. President Eugene Zimmerman and General Manager Lowell made this announcement at a dinner given in their honor by the Detroit Board of Commerce last night, and it was confirmed in Toledo today. Both officials are in Detroit looking for suitable quarters and the general offices will be moved to that city in a few weeks.

The change will affect about 150 officers and employees, most of whom will follow the company to its new location. The various departments to be moved include those of President Zimmerman, General Manager Lowell, General Traffic Manager C. P. Lamper, General Auditor Gray and Assistant General Superintendent Hill. It is possible the car service department will remain here. After the removal to Detroit, the D. T. & I-Ann Arbor system will be represented in Toledo only by a commercial agent.

It appears the Detroit Board of Commerce has been after these offices for some time, and offered such flattering inducements that they could not be overlooked. The officers of the companies also express the opinion that the roads can be operated to better advantage from Detroit, especially as it is the purpose of the management to develop their facilities in that city for the handling of coal and ore.

The general offices of the Ann Arbor have been located in Toledo ever since that road was built. The general offices of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton were moved from Detroit to Toledo soon after that property was taken over by Eugene Zimmerman and his associates. Negotiations looking to the removal of the general offices to Detroit were begun in New York some months ago.

Insensible Man Palled from
M. C. Tracks in Front of Flying Locomotive.

Patrolman Lawrence Nachtrab, at 8:40 o'clock on Saturday night, rescued an old man from the Michigan Central tracks just a second before a train thundered by.

Nachtrab was standing at the Monroe street crossing of the railroad. Glancing up the track, he saw, by the glare of the locomotive headlight, the form of a man lying directly across the rails, 500 feet from where he stood.

The officer sprinted with all his might to the place where the helpless man lay, and succeeded in dragging him from the rails. When the man had been revived, he gave his name as John Fisher, and said he resided on Albion street. He had been seized with a fainting spell while taking a short cut to the home of a friend.

Nachtrab and the man he rescued escaped death by a hair's breadth. The pilot of the engine tore the heel off the officer's shoe, and his trousers were torn.

SLEUTH GETS SUSPECT IN POLICE COURT

Through a hallway, up a flight of stairs and through a curious crowd, was the route taken by Patrolmen Leo Nachtrab in making an arrest on Wednesday morning. The "long chase" led from the detective's office to the police court room.

Following the complaint of a man that he was held up and robbed, the complainant informed Detective Herbert that the man who pulled off the job was in the courtroom. Nachtrab arrested PATRICK SHEEHAN, 38, of Toledo, no suspicion.

WATCHING COPS STAY DEATH LEAP AT RIVER'S BRINK

"Life Tired" Woman Attempting to End Life From Docks Was Rescued by Fleet Footed Patrolmen.

Just as she was about to leap into the river at the foot of Adams street early on Friday morning, Ida Gordon, 45, who says she lives at 1314 Huron street, was rescued.

Mrs. Gordon was observed running down the street by Patrolmen Nachtrab and Ansell.

"I'll end it all now," she was heard to exclaim.

Then followed a thrilling race with a human life at stake on the result.

The officers were nearly a half block from the woman when she was first seen and heard to make the threat.

The fleet-footed patrolmen won by a hair's breadth. Another second and the woman would have carried out her purpose.

"I'm just tired of living," was all Mrs. Gordon would say by way of explanation. She was taken to the LaGrange street station and is being cared for.

QUEEN SUFFERING

BOY FALLS THREE<sup>40</sup> STORIES TO DEATH

Falling 30 feet from the roof of the Unity building, Superior and Monroe streets, 6-year-old Freddie Mills met death last evening. The little fellow was playing on the roof six feet below the third floor, on which his parents reside. The father, James Mills, had just moved into the apartments with his family two days ago.

Charles Mills, aged 11, brother of the victim, was out on the roof and moved as an experiment descended a telephone pole which stands close by the building. The little brother was peering over the edge of the roof watching the feat of his elder brother when he lost his balance and toppled head foremost to the pavement.

Doctor Refuses Services.

The brother Charles, calling loudly for help, picked up the crushed and bleeding form and started down the alley toward Monroe street. The cries were heard at police headquarters, nearby, and Patrolmen George Casey and Leo Nahrtrab hurried to the scene. The little victim was carried to the shoe store of Kraft Brothers, 414 Monroe street. According to Patrolman Bodinus, an attempt was made to secure a physician nearby, but the doctor refused to make the trip. The police ambulance was making a trip at the time and an automobilist, whose name the police were unable to learn, offered the use of his machine.

A record breaking trip was made to St. Vincent's hospital with the unconscious lad, but he died as he was placed on the operating table. Physicians found his body almost wholly crushed. The right leg was broken between the knee and the hip, a compound fracture of the left arm sustained between the elbow and the wrist and a fracture of the skull inflicted, extending from one side of the head to the other. All the ribs of the left side of the lad were broken, while those on the right side remained intact.

The impression was general in official quarters tonight that a strong protest would be made against the action of the allies, which was regarded as an unprecedented and novel step. Officials pointed out that in the reprisals which the belligerents were making toward each other there was a singular forgetfulness of the fact that whatever might be the violations of international custom as between those countries at war, this could not affect the status of international custom as between the United States and countries with which she was at peace.

Ground for Hopes.

Assurances given by Great Britain that today's note was not a reply to the recent proposals of the United States for an adjustment of the entire situation which led to the retaliatory measures, gave ground for some hopes that the measures taken might be only a temporary character. # PREDICT THAT HERBERT WILL BE APPOINTED POLICE CHIEF

"Dope" Follows Retiring of Fire Chief Fraser on Pension; Other Changes Are Slated.

Detailed Detectives May Be Put Back in Harness; Delahanty to Have Charge of Plain Clothes.

With the appointment Friday of Louis Edling as chief of the fire department comes the prediction that Henry Herbert, acting captain of the city detective bureau, will be made chief of police to succeed George Murphy.

According to rumors around the city hall Detective Inspector James Smith will be retired on pension, his vacancy being filled by Detective William Delahanty. The appointments are expected to be effective on March 1.

Authorities interested in the police department said on Friday that hereafter the uniforms, rank, under the chief and the detective bureau, led by the inspector, will be conducted on a separate basis. The inspector of detectives will assume full responsibility for his division and answer for the work of his men.

Back to Harness.

Most of the present detailed detectives will be put back in uniform, it is said. Patrolmen slated for position in the detective bureau are August Rabin, Leo Nakhinik, William Carroll and Joseph Gashford. Paul Fackhaar and Louis Kruse, Patrolmen, will be placed in the bureau of Identification.

Reports have it that Fred Fisher, Charles Blavin, W. A. Roberts, Albert Hennesstahl, Charles Ringman, Edward Eaton and W. A. Rydman, members of the detective bureau, will be put back on duty.

BIG DOINGS ARE PROMISED; THE ANTS TO TAKE COURT ACTION

Bitter Feeling Prevails and Opponents of Mayor Plan to Carry Fight into the Courts if Necessary to Win the Contest.

Keller Forces Undisturbed by Veiled Threats; Are Ready for Hearing Friday; Police and Fire Chiefs Make Changes in Details.

It is promised by the anti-Keller forces in the city hall that Mayor Keller will see big developments in what they say is to be converted into a feature Mayor Keller.

A feeling, apparently deep and bitter was freely expressed Monday by those of the city administration who have not been in accord with the mayor since he dismissed George Kapp as acting director. The same rumors of Chief of Police Murphy and the retirement of Fire Chief Fraser on pension has greatly widened the breach between the two administrations factions.

The Kays forces were intimidated by threats of exposure. Various ways are planned to oust Keller, according to his opponents. They include the bringing of suit against the mayor on the charge of violating the civil law. An effort to get Attorney General Turner to bring proceedings on the same charge and charges to the state civil service commission.

Suit to Day.

It is believed by those who promise to speak with authority for the anti-Keller forces that the suit to oust the mayor will be brought in the name of some private citizen, which can be done under the law.

It is pointed out that this would eliminate from the case the tinge of political color.

The new fight against the mayor is likely to again reopen the question of the status of the city service commission recently appointed by the mayor to take the place of W. E. Cowell and J. H. Paine.

Murphy Feels Like Cat.

"I feel like a cat with my hammer out" was the remark of George Murphy, mentioned with much gusto when he thought out some of the ways to oust the mayor.

It was early in the day the charges against Keller were made. Keller predicted he would get what he wanted. He said he would not let it be known that he was not so that it will be hard when the time comes some other things will be heard.

What he has to say about the charges can be heard at the hearing.

MURPHEY TO FIGHT; MEN ARE SHIFTED

 Henry J. Herbert.

While Acting Police Chief Herbert on Monday was considering further changes in the assignment of men under him, his predecessor, George A. Murphey, was planning the fight he expects to make before the civil service commission. The change in the chiefship was made on Saturday night.

Herbert's changes were of patrolmen. He said he would make no changes at present in the detective department.

Five Chief Eiling switched a number of captains. Further changes were expected in both departments.

Murphey has five days within which to reply to the charges, which were at once transmitted by Mayor Keller to the commission. Then the commission will fix a date for hearing, if Murphey asks for one.

ONLY ONE CHARGE BOTHERS.

Attorney R. J. Phillips, police prosecutor, one of the closest friends of Murphey, declared there will be a fight. He said there was but one charge that amounted to anything, and that was "incompetence."

"We will be able to explain that very easily," Phillips said.

Phillips was of the opinion that the civil service commission would not make Murphey's suspension a stigma.

Detective Herbert was notified of his appointment as acting chief on Monday night, in Greenwald's office.

"The charge at once," the director said, "was applied of his the Masonic temple, where the chief was attending a lodge meeting.

The chief was charged with incompetence, gross neglect of duty, failure to obey orders, insubordination, and violation of the law.

PROMISES SQUARE DEAL.

Acting Chief Herbert promised a square deal all 'round, as long as he held the place, and added that shortly he would start a school of instruction for the men.

Late Saturday night the deposed chief called at the police station and turned over his keys to his successor. Herbert's first order was for more men to see that there was no trouble because of the bartenders' strike.

In support of the charge of incompetency the director specified that fewer offenders had been arrested in 1914 than in 1913.

Specifications under the charge of neglect are that the chief used unnecessary violence in arresting a leased two men charged with larceny; that he permitted F. J. Stolberg to continue as a special policeman after Stolberg's authority had been revoked and that he failed to report in person to the Kaiserhof strike.

The third charge, "failure to obey orders," is specified as failure to raid gamblers and failure to prevent unlawful associations at the Kaiserhof.

SPECIFICS CONTRADICTION.

In support of the charge of insubordination the director asserted that the chief falsely stated that he made gambling raids, without notifying the director, and that Mayor Keller, in a speech intimated that the director, not he, was a "lost cause."

The director also charged that the chief hampered him by giving out news without consulting him superior.

SAVER GETS LAWYER.

Neither Mayor Keller nor Safety Director Greenwald had any comment to make, on Monday, relative to the suspension of Police Chief Murphey.

Safety Director Greenwald has retained Attorney George Wynn to look after his interests. Attorney Thurston said he did not expect to act as the suspended chief's attorney.

"Murphey'll be police chief and Fraser'll be fire chief, before long," was City Auditor McDonnell's comment.

OFFICERS ARE TRANSFERRED.

These transfers were ordered on Monday by Acting Chief Herbert: Fred Rash, from ambulance duty at LAGRANGE station to auto service at central.

E. C. Huntington, from detector's clerk to patrol duty.

R. F. Bartley, from East Side station to patrol duty at central.

George Tiedeman, from East Side patrol duty to the ambulance.

J. M. Willeman, from the bureau of identification to East Side patrol duty.

Leo Nachtrab, from LAGRANGE station to a clerkship in the detective bureau.

SOME ARE "COMEBACKS."

L. F. Kraus, from auto service to the director's office.

Paul Fakhany, from East Side patrol duty to the bureau of identification.

Nachtrab was severely hurt in a motorcycle accident. Former Director Kapp sent him to the LAGRANGE station as turnkey. When Director Greenwald took office he transferred Nachtrab, who is an experienced stenographer, to his office.

Fakhany was a motor patrolman who was put back on a beat by Kapp. Bartley was a traffic officer who was returned to patrol duty by Kapp.

MURPHEY SAYS HE WON'T QUIT WITHOUT A FIGHT

Deposed Chief Declares He Will Be Able to Refute All Charges Against Him—Hints at Seeking ing Big Surprise.

"I will fight these charges to the end," said the deposed chief. "Just wait. In a few days the public will see that I am innocent."

Thus spoke Police Chief George A. Murphey, Saturday night, a few minutes after he had been suspended from office by Safety Director Greenewald. Following the chief's suspension, Greenewald appointed Acting Captain of Detectives Henry Hebert acting chief of police.

Murphey's suspension and Hebert's command of the police department became effective at once. The safety director's action is believed to be the first step in a plan to reorganize the police department.

The suspension of Murphey was based on charges preferred against him by Director Greenewald and filed with the civil service commission. Three specific charges, each followed by two or more specifications, are made against Murphey. The charges are incompetency, failure to obey orders and violation of law.

The chief's suspension did not take him by surprise, as there had been friction, it is said, between Murphey and the safety director and Mayor Keller for several weeks.

Other Charges Seen.

It is reported that the suspension of Murphey will soon be followed by several other changes in the department, including the retirement of certain veterans and a reorganization of the detective bureau.

Murphey was notified of his suspension at 9:45 in a short letter signed by Mayor Keller. The letter was delivered to Murphey by Motor Patrolman Raiter, in the Masonic Temple, where the chief was attending a meeting of the Barton Smith Lodge, F. & A. M., of which he is a member.

In his letter, which enclosed a copy of the charges, Mayor Keller notified Murphey that he had been suspended on charges by Director Greenewald and ordered the deposed chief forthwith to turn over his keys and all other appearances to his office to Acting Chief of Police Henry Hebert.

To Help Murphey to Fight.

With a grin and Murphey tore open the envelope and, after glancing at its contents, read the letter to the other lodge members. According to reports, all the men present were sympathetic in regard to the charges and those of Mayor Keller. Clifton in his speech, said: "I am sure that you will be able to refute all the charges against you."

would permit nothing to be removed from the safe. "All right," said Murphey, and, without making further comment, walked out of the office.

As he and Phillips were descending the stairs, Murphey was asked what action he intended to take regarding the charges against him.

Promises a Surprise.

"I can't tell that now," replied Murphey, with a grin. "I have been instructed by my attorney not to talk about this matter at present. I never felt better or happier in my life, though, and I am not worrying a bit. There is no foundation of all for any of the charges against me and I will have no trouble disproving it when the proper time comes. Just wait, I will bring a big surprise on the people of Toledo in a few days."

"We can't tell our plans now," added Phillips, "but you may be sure we are all prepared and that we will fight to the end."

A short time before Murphey received notice of his suspension Hebert was summoned from the detective bureau to the safety director's office. After informing him that Murphey had been suspended, Greenewald told Hebert that he had appointed himself acting chief and ordered him to take command of the police department at once. After talking with Greenewald, a few minutes Hebert returned to his police headquarters and assumed his new duties.

CHIEF WON'T OBEY ORDERS, SAVER SAYS

Asst. Director Greenwald, on whose charges Police Chief Murphy was suspended, testified on Friday afternoon at the hearing given Murphy by the city civil service commission that he had called the chief a four-thunder and that he had seen nothing since that would cause him to change his mind.

Greenwald said the chief had not obeyed his order to preserve the peace at the Kabechol strike, and that he had to take charge himself and have Inspector Smith bring him 25 men to preserve order about the case.

The director admitted that the chief asked him, "Whose orders am I to obey—yours or Walters'?" and that he told the chief to obey him. Walters is the name of Mayor Keller's secretary.

Asked if he had not told the chief to keep away from the steel lunch-room, at which a strike had been declared, the director said he had no recollection of such a conversation.

MEETS A "DON'T" ORDER.

The director denied that he ever told the chief not to make any meddling raids without consulting him.

Harry Kosta and Otto DeJohan, who jointly conducted the Kabechol, told about trouble at the place and their appeals to Mayor Keller after, as Kosta said, he "got a black eye and a push in the stomach."

After this complaint, Greenwald said, the chief was ordered to preserve order around the Kabechol, Greenwald said the chief did nothing and he had to take charge.

SAY HE STUCK PRISONER.

Heards compiled by police officers were brought forward on Friday morning to show that complaints to the police almost doubled in number during Chief Murphy's year in power as compared with the previous year and that 243 less arrests were made under Murphy than in the preceding year.

MINISTER'S SON FIRED.

Evidence was introduced to show that Chief Murphy repeatedly struck a negro prisoner while under arrest, saying that a negro had shot a city policeman.

There was testimony that when a boy who had suffered an injury of an auto and who said he was a member of the pastor of a church which Murphy attended was brought in the case was pulled out and the hearing his statement released.

ing to show that Frank J. Stollberg had been granted a policeman's badge without paying the $10 fee for special policeman, and that he had been caught with the chief while he had the badge and after it had been taken from him.

SAY COMPLAINTS INCREASED.

The defense will claim that the arrests as to the complaints and arrests have not been correctly compiled. It will be admitted that the boy and his companion were released without prosecution by consent of the complaining witness, George C. Bryce and Roy M. Smart, appeared on behalf of Mayor Keller, the complainant, Julian H. Tyler and Bob Phillips for the suspended chief.

A half dozen witnesses and plain clothes men were in the lobby. William E. Cordell, former civil service commissioner, sat with the railing with City Auditor Nathan, Dr. J. V. Montague, secretary of the Federation of Churches and magazine editor of the Christian Commonwealth, was an interested spectator. City Solicitor Thomas said he represented the civil service commission.

RAPP COULDN'T GET IN.

Parsons Safety Director Kapp and his secretary, Carl F. Grotte, not to enter this the hallway leading to the court chamber.

With the court organized, Judge Tyler said he appeared as counsel for Mr. Murphy, not because of any personal or political purpose, but simply as an attorney. He added: "I protest against this hearing, you are questioning the authority of Col. Howard and Mr. Davis in his position, as well as of the unqualified set of Mayor Keller in removing Mr. Cordell and Mr. Palmer from the commission; also because there are no legal charges that should be heard."

The commission overruled the objection. Judge Tyler expressed his readiness to proceed. Bryce declared that his appearance was without personal or political significance.

CHARGES NOT READ.

Judge Tyler warned the reading of the charges. They are: Incompetency, gross neglect of duty, failure to obey orders, insubordination, and violation of law.

The charge of incompetency was taken up first. The records of the police department for the past two years, so as arrests made and convictions were reviewed.

Patrolman L. E. Nachtrab testified that he had Patrolman Paul Pashany had searched the police records for 1912 and 1914.

Nachtrab testified that the record showed that there were 2,349 more complaints in 1912, and 288 in 1914, with only 28 arrests. Grand strictly complaints increased from 24 in 1912 to 259 in 1914 with 43 arrests, as against 93 in the year previous.

In 1914 there were 500 complaints of peacocking and 400 arrests. Nachtrab testified. Grand examinations brought out nothing.

The second charge was supported of data for four specified times. The first instance was the allegation that Murphy, when there was a strike, was violent in the arrest of Paul Chaney, a negro, in the early morning of May 7, in a Lafayette street alley. Chaney was suspected of being up a white man. He is now in the Massachusetts reformatory. Dan Gavin, central station trustee, testified that he saw Chaney with his head bound up on Monday morning. He said the colored man was not large.

Frank M. Cochran, reporter, told of witnessing Chaney's arrest. He said that F. J. Stollberg, a special officer, was going to take Chief Murphy and himself to their homes in Hoopery a Bufovee machine.

FOUND IN ALLEY.

The jury had agreed when a man informed them that two men in red dress were about to hold up a street. They hurried to the alley and Chaney heard a voice. "Don't tell me, I'll give you what I've got," Murphy, gutting with Cochran's men, said to the witness. A white man was on the ground. Chaney was some distance away.

Cochran testified that Chaney said: "You've got me right, don't kill me, show Murphy his chance." Chaney was then taken to the hospital with his leg.

The witness man pleaded for mercy, Cochran said. One of the boys aimed by Murphy at Chaney hit Cochran instead, he testified, and knocked him down. Cochran testified that Murphy said to Chaney: "One of my boys got you, one of our men. I'll show you who I've got."

Chaney was sure that the chief swore, but he couldn't repeat the words.

WERE ALLOWED TO GO.

M. Dolz, detailed detective, told of arresting two negroes, both of whom were arrested, he testified, on a charge of stealing an auto from a factory of a street and of the same person of one, who said that his father was a witness.

With the removal of the witness, the charges in the machine and coat of arrest were read and the boys allowed to go.

Bill Vashinsky, secretary to the chief, said that he had seen the arrest of F. J. Stollberg with the before an special policeman, but at Stollberg had never paid in the fee.

Several patrolmen testified to police activity of Stollberg and to his companionship with the chief.

Patrolman Nachtrab testified that while he was on duty at Lagrange station Chief Murphy and Stollberg several times brought in women who had been arrested.

RECORD CAUSES LAUGHTER.

The crowd began to laugh when Nachtrab started into the details. The commission then frowned. It laughed when Nachtrab said there were 212 robbery complaints in 1912, and 288 in 1914, with only 28 arrests. Grand strictly complaints increased from

Counsel Had Complained Access Was Denied at Police Station.

CHIEF PROBABLY TO TAKE STAND MONDAY

Commission Would Subpoena
Preparing His Case.

The hearing of removal charges against Police Chief Murphey will be resumed Monday. The hearing before the Howard civil service commission was continued until Monday at the request, Friday afternoon, of Joseph Julian H. Tyler, Murphey's counsel, who had other engagements last night.

Counsel for safety director Greenwald said that their testimony would be finished in a few minutes Monday. Ex-Chief Murphey probably will take the stand in his own defense. Police Prosecutor Phillips, one of Murphey's counsel, visited the commission Friday, that they had been denied access to the records at the police station pertaining to Paul C. Barry, whom Murphey was alleged to have assaulted.

Chairman Howard told Phillips that the commission would subpoena anyone he wished and require the records to be produced.

May Claim Conflicting Orders

Cross-examination of Greenwald by Judge Tyler Friday afternoon indicated that when he takes the stand ex-Chief Murphey may testify that he understood he was to confer with Greenwald before he arrested alleged gamblers, and that he was under conflicting instructions in the Kaiserhof strike troubles.

Greenwald testified that on January 6 Murphey brought him an affidavit against Eddie Fritz, charging that Louis Osterhout of Hawkins lost money gambling in his place on Erie street. He told Murphey he was busy. He later read the affidavit and two hours later went to Murphey's office. His testimony continued.

The Talk on Gambling.

"I asked the chief, 'What did you bring me this for? Why didn't you arrest Fritz? You had your orders to stop gambling. Now quit your four-nothing.' The chief replied, 'You and the mayor and I had a little conference about gambling in the council chamber, don't you remember?' I replied, 'I never conferred with you about gambling in my life.'"

Greenwald said that the case against Fritz was called in police court, but that Osterhout did not appear to prosecute.

Judge Tyler asked numerous questions relative to the conference alleged by Murphey to have taken place. Greenwald maintained that there was none. Tyler asked if Murphey did not say that gambling could be more successfully repressed if there were a leak in the department. Greenwald said he didn't recall such a remark.

Didn't Find Gambling.

Tyler read in to the record a number of letters that passed between Greenwald and Murphey relative to complaints which the safety director said he had received about gambling. Murphey reported the detective didn't find any.

Questioned again by Arthur Byron, Greenwald said that he never instructed Murphey not to arrest gamblers without notifying him, and that no such orders had been given him from any other source, to his knowledge.

Asked for Orders.

Under cross-examination by Tyler, Greenwald said that Murphey asked him whether he should take orders from Greenwald or from W. H. Walters, Mayor Keller's secretary, in the Kaiserhof trouble.

"I am the safety director," Greenwald said he replied to Murphey. "Do you remember whether Chief Murphey told you he had instructions from the mayor's office to keep officers away from the Ideal restaurant?" said Tyler, referring to a strike of which he had had any conversation with the Ideal restaurant," said Greenwald.

The Kaiserhof Trouble.

Carl L. Dickman and Harry Kountz, proprietors of the Kaiserhof, and Greenwald testified that on January 15, after much trouble at the cafe the night before with insufficient protection by two officers, Dickman and Kountz complained to Mayor Keller the next morning. Greenwald ordered Murphey to use the whole force, if necessary, to "enforce the law, prevent violence and keep the crowd moving."

Greenwald said he learned at noon that there was still trouble, and that he found two officers at the cafe. He couldn't find the chief, he said, and gave his orders to Inspector Smith, who cleared away the crowd with 25 or 30 officers, and permitted the cafe to open its doors.

INCOMPETENCY IS CHARGE PRESSED

Crowd Fills Council Chamber, Hears Clash Between Municipal Administration Factions.

Hearing of the charges for removal of Police Chief George A.
Murphey was begun before the Howard civil service commission
Friday.

Just before adjournment at noon, ex-
-Fire Chief George W. Fraser filed a demand for a hearing on appeal from the action of the firemen's pension fund trustees, who retired him on pension last June when Murphey was suspended by Mayor Keller.

The Murphey hearing was held in the council chamber, which was packed with a dense, though quiet, crowd.

The principal testimony had to do with the charge of incompetency. De-tective Clerk Lawrence Nachtrab tes-tified that his examination of the re-cords disclosed that while there had -been nearly twice as many complaints to the detectives' department in 1914 as in 1913, there were 282 fewer arrests made by the police. Murphey was chief in 1914, while 1913 was the last year of the administration of Police Chief Jerry D. Kapp.

Says Prisoner Was Assaulted.

The other testimony was on the charge of gross neglect of duty, and dealt with the asserations that Mur-phey assaulted Paul Chastey, a refugee in putting him under arrest, that he ordered the release of two 15-year-old boys after the complainant agreed not to prosecute them, on the charge of stealing an automobile, that he did not special policeman, after Stollberg's com-mission had been revoked for the non--payment of the fee, and that he re-sisted to recover Stollberg's badge.

The commission overruled the ob-jections of Judge Julian H. Tyler, Mur-
-phey's chief counsel, that the Howard -commission is not the legal and
-final one, and argued in this ques-tion. Police Prosecutor Robert Y.
Phillips assented with Tyler as Mur--phey's counsel. Safety Director
Greenwood, who made the charges was represented by Ray R. Stuart and George C. Bryce.

Thornton Gets Roused.

City Auditor Thornton and mem-bers of his staff were interested in-spectors. Thornton had a strong oppo-sition taking a round of the testimony.
City Auditor McDonald and other -anti-Keller officials were there.
Rev. E. J. Montague, executive secre-tary of the Federation of Churches and editor of the Christian Commu-nity, sat in the respective table and took notes. Former Safety Di-rector Kapp was in the crowd.

It was reported that ex-Fire Chief Fraser had been ordered excluded from the fire houses. This was de-nied by Greenwood.

"Fraser has as much right in the fire engine houses as any other citi-zen who wishes to go there, but he is not chief of the fire department," said Greenwood.

Officer L. L. Nachtrab was the first witness called. He was summoned to the stand by George C. Bryce, attorney for Safety Director Greenwood.
The council chamber was crowded to the doors with persons interested in the hearing.

Charge of Incompetency.

In connection with the charge of in-competency, Patrolman Lawrence
Nachtrab, now clerk in the detective -bureau, was the first and only wit-ness. Nachtrab has charge of the complaint record, known as the "squawk sheet." He identified the record of complaints during 1913 and 1914, a pile of typewritten sheets six inches high.

The greatest part of the com-plaints referred to the detectives.
Since Feb. 15, Nachtrab said, he and Patrolman Paul Vukobrat, at the or-ders of Director Greenwood, counted the number of crimes committed dur-ing 1913 and 1914.

Will Produce Records.

Complaints for Murphey said that the records of complaints and arrests will be produced to check up Nachtrab's figures, which, Phillips said, were in-accurate.

In connection with the charge that Murphey failed to do an affidavit against Dewitt Fletcher and Robert Kattel, Detective Michael Daley tes-tified as to arresting Fletcher, October 15, for alleged theft of an automobile, which was recovered in Bowling
Green, where it had been abandoned.
He said he placed a charge of grand larceny against Fletcher, aged 18, and took him to Murphey's office.

There the boy told Murphey, Daley said, that he was the son of the pastor of a church which Murphey attended.
Murphey replied there was nothing to do but lock him up. Daley said Fletcher confessed to Daley and gave him Kattel's name. He went out and arrested Kattel, aged 18. When he re-turned he found the parents of the boy and Charles G. Smith, the insur-ance agent who had insured the car and had made the complaint, in the office with the chief.

An understanding was reached, he said, between the parents and Smith, that if the charge was not pressed the parents would pay all damages.
Smith said he would not prosecute.
Daley said, and Murphey said it was satisfactory. The case was never called for trial, Daley said.

Judge Tyler conceded that the boys were released by order of Murphey.

BOARD TO HEAR OF MURPHEY TALKS

CHIEF REPORTS AGAIN

"After that people came to my office with reports of gambling and I notified the chief. He reported again there was no gambling.

"I knew that the chief was foolish when he did not arrest Frits, and I haven't had any occasion to change my mind."

Judge Tyler asked, "You know that there was very bitter complaint of the chief about the arrest of Shea and others, don't you?"

The director replied emphatically, "I do not."

"I never told the chief," declared the director, "that he was not to put the gamblers out of business without orders."

ANNEALS INSUBORDINATION.

To last week's insubordination the director reiterated that the chief has said, without justification, that he had orders from the director not to raid the gamblers, and that he had given out information to the newspapers that should have kept out of the director.

Greenwood said that the managers of the Kellogg cafe had complained to the mayor that they were receiving no police protection from striking waiters and bartenders and that he had called Chief Murphey and ordered him to furnish such protection. When it was furnished, the director said, he went twice to the station but could not find the chief. He finally ordered Inspector Smith to send him.

"Do you know what orders the mayor's secretary, Walters, had given the chief about the strike?" asked Judge Tyler. The director said he did not.

NOT FROM WALTERS.

"Did the chief tell you of any?" Tyler asked.

"Not that I remember," replied Greenwood. "The chief gazed if he was to take orders from Walters or from me, and I told him from me that I was director of safety."

The director said the chief never told him that he had orders to keep policemen away from the Ideal restaurant where there was a strike on. "He never mentioned the Ideal restaurant to me."

Speeches by George A. Murphey, suspended police chief, will be featured before the civil service commission when it meets again, in the council chamber, on Monday morning, to resume its hearing of the charges preferred against the chief by Director Greenwood.

One expression attributed to the chief is "Who is the fourflusher?" and another is "Do you want the hums and riffs to name the chief of police?" It will be claimed that both show disrespect and insubordination.

This testimony with some further corroborative evidence is expected to close the case against the chief unless some further material is discovered in the interval.

QUESTION OF VERACITY.

The line of defense will be a general denial. There will be direct question of veracity between the chief and the director of safety. Correctness of the statistics tending to show that offenses almost doubled and arrests decreased during the year that Murphey has been chief will be challenged.

There are hints of sensational disclosures by the defense but nothing definite has developed. It is expected that the commission will be asked to preclude any testimony not relating to the charges. Safety Director Greenwood, testifying on Friday afternoon, said he had never at any time ordered or intimated to Chief Murphey that gamblers were not to be raided, but had told him that he was expected to enforce the law at all times.

DIDN'T KNOW FRITS.

"I didn't know," said the director, "up to the time that the chief showed me the Ousterhant affidavit that there was such a person as Frits, a gambler."

"I told the chief to have the men make a list of gambling houses and a report on them. I had seen that the ex-director had made an affidavit that there were gambling houses."

"The chief sent me a report that there was no gambling. He enclosed a report from Detectives Quinn and Hase that they had visited all the gambling rooms and that there was no gambling being on."

The Police Situation

IT IS A POLICE MAXIM long established in Toledo that the officer who makes the most arrests is not the best officer.

The officer who maintains order and protects life and property and makes the least arrests is the best officer.

And it follows that the year in which the most arrests are made is not necessarily the year in which the city has been most effectively policed.

But it does not follow that serious offenses against life, person or property would pass without arrests and punishments. The Toledo maxim referred to the lighter offenses.

It is held better to get a drunken man home than to throw him into the police jail; better to quiet a disorder than to jail the noisy ones.

If it be true that during the past year the complaints of serious offenses have doubled while the arrests have decreased, it is a serious matter, and relates directly to the efficiency of the police department.

While the civil service commissioners are delving into the affairs of the police department, let the public interest dominate political intrigue.

ISN'T City Auditor McDonnell the little watchdog of the treasury, though? He holds up one salary right after another. First it's the civil service commissioners' pay and then it's the fire chief's. Well, nothing like being convinced, Amos.

BIG SENSATION NOT SPRUNG IN MURPHEY CASE

Expected That Heavy Guns
Will Be Fired at Session
Next Monday.

BRING MANY CHARGES

Suspended Police Chief Will Take Stand at Next Hearing of Case.

The most spectacular features of the hearing of charges against Chief of Police Murphey, suspended, are expected with the resumption of the case Monday morning at 9 o'clock. At that time the suspended chief will take the stand in his own behalf and there will, it is said, be a number of important witnesses for the defense.

The hearing, which began in the council chamber at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, attracted a crowd that filled the place. All standing room was occupied and the approaching hallway was filled. The Murphey and Keller sympathizers seemed to be about equally divided. Groans and hisses were interspersed with outbursts of laughter, fluctuating according to the drift of the testimony.

Charges All In.

The testimony in behalf of Safety Director Greenwald, who suspended the chief, is all in. It included that of a number of patrolmen, a reporter and voluminous documentary evidence in the form of letters. The charges include incompetency, insubordination, neglect of duty and cruelty to a prisoner.

Safety Director Greenwald denied emphatically that he had ever had a conference with Mayor Keller and Chief Murphey in the council chamber when Murphey claimed he was told not to arrest any gamblers without first consulting the safety director. He also denied that the chief had told him during the strike at the Kaiserhof cafe that W. H. Walters, secretary to the mayor, had issued orders not to place officers in force at the cafe.

With the opening of the hearing Judge Julian Tyler, representing Murphey, stated that he wished it understood that there was nothing political in his appearance in the case. George C. Bryce, who, with Roy H. Stuart, represented Greenwald, made a similar statement in behalf of himself and his colleague.

Draw First Blood.

Chairman Howard of the city service commission overrode the objections of Judge Tyler to having the charges heard before the commission. Tyler claimed that the legal commission is the old one, with W. E. Corbitt and L. H. Paine as members.

Lawrence Nachtrab, detective clerk, was the first witness called. He said that he had been at work for the last three weeks getting figures from the police records. The figures showed increase in the number of complaints and crimes during Murphey's administration as chief with fewer arrests. During 1914 there were 3246 more complaints than during 1913, when Perry D. Knapp was chief, yet there were 243 less arrests. The figures apply to all kinds of crimes and misdemeanors.

TESTIMONY IS SHATTERED

Newspaper Men and Cops Testify; Smith Says There Is No Gambling.

Witnesses for the defense, in the second day's hearing of the charges against suspended Police Chief Murphey, gave testimony tending to disprove several of the points asserted by the opposites.

The hearing was held before Civil Service Commissioners Howard, Davis and Murphy, in the council chamber Monday. There was not as large a crowd in attendance as at the first session, held Friday.

When Emil Vogelzang, secretary to Chief Murphey, was bringing to the hearing a bundle of monthly police station reports, to be introduced as evidence, he was met in the hallway leading to the council chamber by Detective Delehaney who demanded the documents.

Receives Reports.

Vogelzang protested, but finally surrendered the reports to the detective who took them to Greenwood's office. There was a fitter when Vogelzang reported to Judge Tyler and Attorney Robert V. Phillips for the defense. Judge Tyler appealed to Chairman Howard at once, and demanded that an officer be sent to recover the reports. Officer Moses McCluskey was detailed to get the papers. He returned with them.

That the management of the Kaiserhof had told him after the strike was over that they were well pleased with the protection they had received, and thanked him, and his men for efficient service was the testimony of Inspector James R. Smith. Sergeant H. Hebrondt and Sergeant H. H. Ansel, who had charge of squads of men at the Kaiserhof, testified that they saw no fights, and that there was no loud noise, commotion or excitement in connection with the work of the pickets.

Officers Testify.

Both testified that their orders from headquarters were to see that the law was not violated and to arrest all violators, and keep the pickets on the move. Sergeant Ansel said that his orders were to get the proprietors escorted to their autos upon leaving at night, but to go no farther. He followed these instructions. In connection with the strike Murphey had been charged with insubordination in not giving proper support to the proprietors of the club.

The fifth charge against the club separated rapidly Monday afternoon. This was violation of law by striking a colored prisoner. The defense was introducing another witness to disprove the charge when Chairman Howard of the civil service commission said the commission did not care to hear any more testimony on the colored prisoner matter.

"Under the circumstances," said Colonel Howard, "I believe I would have taken a punch or two at myself."

Reporter Called.

H. A. Palmer, a reporter on the Greenwood's order to Murphey to get a list of gambling places, together with the paraphernalia in each, was the testimony of Frank H. Anderson, a reporter for the Toledo Blade. He said he had seen Detective Haas have a conversation with one gambling proprietor. The place was closed within a few minutes afterward, Anderson believed. He said he did not get any information on the subject from the chief, who had been charged with trying to enforce Greenwood's orders to the reporters.

Inspector James R. Smith testified that he had received instructions from the chief to "clean the city of all gamblers, confidence men and crooks of all kinds." He said he issued this order to detectives and that he had had no reports of gambling since the order was issued. He said he believes there is no gambling in the city now. At least, detectives so report to him.

Pleanty of Places.

A letter from Detectives Quinn and Haas to Inspector Smith gave a list of some 27 gambling places which the two detectives said were closed at the time. The letter was dated September 6, 1914. Smith testified that he had never been jampered by Mayor Keller or Service Director Greenwood in the efforts to suppress gambling.

In explaining what he expected to prove by the introduction of the testimony of Mrs. M. J. Stanley, Judge Tyler told Chairman Howard that when Mrs. Stanley's husband lost $100 in a gambling house, Chief Murphey told her to go to the mayor, she went there with her husband. The mayor told them to come back the next day. The mayor told a officer to try and get back a part of Stanley's losses, but the mayor told the chief that he would not issue an order to suppress gambling because of this case.

Judge Tyler said he wanted the testimony introduced to explain why the chief had gone to Greenwood with an affidavit from a man who has lost money in Eddie Finn's place.

The hearing will be resumed at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning in the council chamber.

The fifth charge against the chief evaporated rapidly Monday afternoon. This was violation of law in striking a colored prisoner. The law then was introduced and another witness was called. The chief testified that he did not care to hear any more testimony on the colored prisoner matter. "Under the circumstances," said Colonel Howard, "I believe I would have taken a punch or two at myself."

Reporter Called.

H. A. Palmer, a reporter on the News-Bee testified that he had reported an address by Murphey at the First Congregational church. This Groenewold had called Murphey a "four-busher." The chief was quoted as saying, "If you look about you, you can find out who the four-bushers are."

Asked by Attorney Tyler why he had not reported the rest of Murphey's talk, the reporter said it was the policy of the paper to print only such parts of an address as the management saw fit.

"Mr. Howard, the managing editor."

"What then did he tell you to do with the affidavit?"

"He told me to bring it over to the city hall and give it to Safety Director Groenewold," said Palmer. The affidavit was dated February 2.

Objections to hearing the testimony of Mrs. M. J. Stanley who said her husband had lost $100 in a gambling house, were sustained by the commissioners.

C. J. Stanley, owner of a stolen auto, and C. D. Smith who held insurance on it, testified that they had interceded in behalf of the two boys who had stolen the machine and asked the chief not to prosecute them. The chief had been charged with dereliction in this case.

Some New Figures.

Louis Krieger, police clerk, produced figures showing that there were a larger number of prosecutions during 1914, under Murphey as chief, than during 1913. The number of cases tried during the latter year was 4,244; during 1914, 5,243. The prosecution has introduced figures purporting to show the opposite under Murphey's administration.

Krieger testified that when Eddy Fritz had been threatened by the chief with prosecution as a gambler, Fritz had said he would "go to the mayor's office and tell him where to head it at and that he "would follow the chief." He said Fritz was never arrested as far as witness knew.

Robert D. McLaghlan, postoffice inspector, and John S. Pratt, assistant United States district attorney, testified to the good support they had received from the police under Murphey's administration, in aiding to detect and capture federal offenders.

F. J. Stollberg told how he received special police powers from former Safety Director Kapp, and testified that he had not acted after the power had been revoked by Groenewold. The suspended chief was charged with having permitted Stollberg to act after the revocation of his powers.

As to Gambling.

publishing in January of this year?" asked Chairman Howard.

"No," said Mrs. Stanley.

"The objection is sustained," said Howard. Mrs. Stanley was excused. Murphey lost another point. Through a ruling of the commission Judge Tyler failed to get information as to what interest H. J. Howard, managing editor of the News-Tee, had in obtaining an affidavit against Murphey.

Reporter Testifies.

H. A. Palmer, a News-Tee reporter, called by the prosecution, testified that he "reported" a meeting at the First Congregational Church, January 13, at which, he said, Murphey, in an address, made these remarks:

"If you'll look around you'll see who the crooks are," and "Are you going to let the huns and the riff raff name your chief of police?"

This led to the charge of insubordination against Murphey.

It appeared an affidavit covering this testimony was made Feb. 2 by Palmer at Howard's request and delivered by Palmer to Greenwald by Howard's direction. Further cross-examination by Tyler on this line was met by objection.

"This affidavit, made a month ago is evidence as to the character of the preparation for these charges. I wish to find out what interest Mr. Howard had in it," said Tyler.

"Call him and find out," said Bryce.

"This is of no interest to the commission," said Chairman Howard.

"You heard Chief Murphey, at this meeting, make reference to threats of criminals that they would get his job, didn't you," pursued Tyler.

"The witness said he didn't remember. He said he only picked out parts of the address for publication.

"You did not attempt to get the substance of the address, but only such parts as, in your judgment, you could take?" asked Tyler.

"Yes; that's the policy of the News-Tee," replied the reporter.

Says Murphey Was Blame.

Charles H. Smith, insurance agent, manager of the M. I. White Co., called by the defense, testified that, in their opinion, Murphey did the humane thing when he released two 16-year-old boys arrested for stealing Stanley's automobile, which was recovered. The question of prosecution was put up to Smith.

"The boys' parents made good the damage," Smith said.

"Chief Murphey said that if we could save these boys from becoming criminals by keeping them from associating with criminals, it ought to be done.

"I agreed with him. So long as our company didn't suffer, I don't see why these boys should go to prison," said Smith.

"Would you have dropped the case if the parents hadn't made good?" asked Bryce.

Clerk Gives Figures.

"Very likely," said Smith.

A threat against Murphey, alleged to have been made by Edison Villa, when complained for gambling was made against Villa, was told by Police Clerk Louis E. Krueger. According to Krueger, Villa said:

"To go down to the mayor's office and show him where to head in."

Krueger said an examination of his journal disclosed that 434 arrests were made in 1913 and 830 in 1914. This was to refute the testimony of Detective Chief Lawrence Niekirk, who said the police roster showed 1,300 arrests in 1913 and 1,011-96, 1914. The ended Police Chief is 'arrested' From Making Political Exposures.

L TESTIFY IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

Records Show More Arrests Were Made During Year 1914.

Police Chief Murphey lost an entire point Monday in his defense of political charges. The commission ruled against him, by which Murphey's counsel said did show that Mayor Keller did forced action on a gambling affidavit referred to him by Murphey last summer.

This ruling apparently prevents the issue from going into collateral matters and precludes Murphey from making any political exposures in his own case, it had been hoped, he said. Murphey is expected to take stand probably Monday afternoon.

The commission also chocked Murphey's counsel on a line of inquiry needed to develop what interest H. J. Howard, managing editor of the News-Tee, had in assisting to obtain an affidavit against Murphey.

John A. Pyle, assistant federal district attorney, and Robert D. McLaughlin, a postoffice inspector, were attorneys for the defense as the morning hearing, but testified only as to the character of assistance rendered by federal officers by the police department under Murphey's administration.

This they said, was good. The Dickey Shea case was touched on in his testimony only in reference to the work done by the police department in this investigation.

Records Produced.

Much of the morning session was taken up by evidence to disprove the evidence offered by Safety Director Greenwald's department to show that the police department under Murphey had been less active than previously. When Emil Vogelsang, secretary to the chief, was on his way to the hearing under subpoena with police records bearing on this point, he was met by the city hall corridor by police Detective William Dechanty, who took the records to Greenwald's office. At the request of Murphey's counsel the commission read Mayor, Patrolman McLaughlin after them.

The first as to what matters Chief Murphey can go into in defense was made in the testimony of M. E. Stone, Stanley, who said she complained last summer to Chief Murphey that her husband had lost his gambling. The testimony was ruled out.

This was one of the cases which formed the former Safety Director Kane's charges against Mayor Keller in Cleveland Co.

Obects to Testimony.

Attorney Bryce, for Greenwald, objected that the testimony was not based on the charges against Murphey and such matters would confuse and mislead.

Judge Tyler said he expected to show that Mrs. Stanley was referred by Murphey to Mayor Keller, who said that he would not suppress gambling, because of this one complaint, and that he used an officer to recover part of the money for her.

This Tyler said, was what influenced Murphey to submit to Greenwald the statement against Dickey Shea, showing evidence there he made any arrest.

Exclusion Ruled Out.

It is expected to show that the policy of the administration, like charges made that the instructions to Dickey Shea were not to arrest gambling," said Tyler.

The Stanley case arose before Greenwald was safety director.

"Neither Kapp, Greenwald nor Mayor Keller is an idiot," said Bryce.

"Do you know anything about

SENSATION IS LOOKED FOR IN MURPHEY CASE

Suspended Chief Will Take Stand; Hearing Monday Morning.

Continuance of the hearing of charges against Police Chief Murphey will be resumed in the council chamber at 10 o'clock Monday morning. The defense intimates that it is going to spring some startling testimony, and that the case may not be finished Monday. Beside the testimony of the chief in his own behalf, a number of witnesses for the defense, intending to corroborate statements of the chief will be called.

Safety Director Greenewald who made the charges may ask to have some of the witnesses, examined Friday, recalled. More documentary evidence, it is expected, will be presented by the safety director. This evidence is said to be newspaper accounts of a number of talks made by Murphey before church organizations. The chief is said to have criticized Greenewald in these speeches and to have accused certain high officials of harboring crooks in the city.

To Refute Charges.

The defense claims that it will show to pieces statistics presented by Greenewald witnesses tending to show increase of crime during the Murphey regime, with a great decrease in the number of arrests and prosecutions. The figures presented Friday were taken from the "squawk sheets" by Officer Nachtrab, for Greenewald.

The claim will probably be made by the defense that the figures were juggled, and therefore do not give a fair and impartial reflection of the facts. The civil service commission will be asked to refuse to listen to any testimony that does not bear directly upon the specific charges. A lively scrap is expected to materialize at this point, for it is hinted that the defense will attempt to bring in many matters which they will claim have a sufficient indirect bearing upon the case to warrant being heard.

NAB THREE 'AUTOISTS'

Charged with the theft of an auto, Alex McKenzie, 19, Sheron Jacobs, 15, and John Pozok, 13, all of Detroit, Mich., were taken back to Detroit on Saturday. The boys were arrested in the machine on Superior-st., by Detectives' Clerk Leo Nachtrab on Friday afternoon.

The Horoscope:

Wednesday, June 23, 1915.

This is a day of variable influences. Astrologers announce, Uranus and Mars are strongly adverse before day-break, but in the morning hours Saturn and Mercury are strongly beneficent. Venus wields a friendly influence, but Uranus is menacing in the evening.

With the advent of the summer quarter, Venus, color of the ascendant, promises a better outlook for the country generally. The moon on the cusp of the second house, in square to Neptune, points to fluctuations in stocks and financial depression.

Uranus is in a place that denotes dangers from fire and explosion. This planet, also, gives sinister warning to pleasure parties, especially those that go on the water.

Mars is believed to threaten many sudden deaths and suicides. Throat complaints will be prevalent, the astrologers predict.

Again the death of a great financier is prognosticated. This will affect a foreign loan or disturb some international plan.

This is a day that should be fairly fortunate for elderly persons, especially those who are in public office.

Night workers of all classes are under a lucky direction while this configuration prevails.

Mining is subject to an unusually favorable sway. The ground will bring forth unexpected wealth in regions hitherto unexplored.

Editors and publishers should benefit from this configuration.

The evening is an auspicious time for the affairs of women. An international organization will win worldwide acclaim before the autumn.

Love affairs will claim more attention than in previous years. The peers read that the old, as well as the young will be exceedingly susceptible to romance.

There is a sign interpreted as indicative of caution on the part of men who will be inclined to become aggressive in all the affairs of life. This state of mind is attributed to the same planetary rule which incites bellicosity and encourages war.

Persons whose birthdate it is have rather a sinister sign for the year. They should avoid speculation and attend strictly to the affairs of routine business.

Children born on this day are likely to be extremely irascible and contentious. They may be inclined toward adventures and may seek unusual experiences. They are subjects of cancer.

HUNT FOR DEATH AUTO IS ENDED BY SMALL BOLT

On a broken bolt, less than three inches long, was built the evidence that Detective Connors will place before the grand jury when Kaiser Rokicki is investigated by that body on a charge of manslaughter.

Rokicki is charged with being the driver and owner of the "death car" that killed Herman Carlson, 40, glassworker, on May 24 at Cherry-st. and Bronson-pl.

MANSLAUGHTER IS CHARGE.

Charge of murder placed against Rokicki on Monday night, but after his arrest was changed to one of manslaughter in police court on Tuesday. The arrest was the culmination of unusual detective work on the part of Detective Connors.

The bolt was picked up by Dr. Dale Wilson, who lives near the scene of the accident. He turned it over to Detective Connors.

False clues hooded the detective office for days after the fatal accident. The auto was described as a six-cylinder Overland and the "roving" party as made up of three men and two women.

The auto driven by Rokicki is a Studebaker. Rokicki is said to have confessed to detectives after his arrest that he was the driver of the car. He said he had two women in the auto with him. He denied that women were in the car.

BOLT IS KING CLUE.

After the finding of the broken bolt, Detective Connors visited every auto repair shop, auto room and garage in the city. He learned that the bolt came from the headlight of a Studebaker auto.

Records at the local Studebaker agency showed that a new lamp bracket and bolt had been bought by a man, who did not give his name, on May 27.

From numbers of the engine and car left on the parts application blank Connors learned that the machine was owned by Rokicki, who is manager of a meat market. Rokicki lives at 3081 Lagrange-st.

Shortly before 8 on Monday night Detectives Connors and Nechtel found Rokicki at his home. He was taken to police station. A charge of murder was placed against him.

Rokicki is said to have told police he became frightened after the accident and speeded up his car to escape.

Carlson died the morning following the accident in St. Vincent's hospital.

The county commissioners offered a reward of $100 for the capture of the auto driver. The Toledo Auto club offered a similar amount.

Rokicki's arrest is regarded by many as a first case. Its success, they say, will determine if convictions in similar cases can be secured.

Charged with receiving a stolen auto, C. M. Hadden, 314 East Bancroft street, was arrested Monday evening.

She said she had been informed that a warrant had been issued out for her detention.

Quick, Watson, the needle. The police have reported that Charlie Gause is dead again.

According to the report given to the new reporter at the police station, Charlie was killed when a B. & O. train struck a stolen Overland car he was driving at "Dutch" crossing, near Perrysburg.

The new reporter "discovered" that the car was owned by Luke McGuike of Findlay.

The reporter "discovered" too that the body of Gause was turned over to E. M. Balmer, the popular undertaker, and that Gause's companions were John Ryebuck and Willie Cataw. But read: Here's the story, an old one framed by police for new reporters:

The machine was an Overland car, owned by Luke McGuike of Findlay. The men stole the car and were driving to Toledo, police say. Nothing is known by police concerning the men. The body of Gause was turned over to Undertaker E. M. Balmer by the Perrysburg coroner. Other reports of the car were given by John Ryebuck and Willie Cataw.

'MORE PEP,' SAYS SLEUTHS' LEADER

Delahanty's First Act as Detective Inspector Is to Make Big Change.

WANTS CITY COVERED AND QUICKER ACTION

Sends Men to Cover Districts and Tells 'Em to Keep in Touch.

"Let's have a little more pep."

With this as a slogan, radical changes in city detectives' methods were made by William D. Delahanty, who became inspector Friday. The changes include:

Establishments of districts, each in charge of two men at all times.

Reporting of the men every half hour.

The keeping of only two men in the office for emergencies, and

The handling of complaints by a clerk.

Takes Full Charge.

Delahanty has been acting as inspector since the retirement of James H. Smith several weeks ago. He was given entire charge Thursday night by Safety Director Grosswald.

The custom has been for nearly all the detectives to stay at headquarters until a call came. It has been said that a checker game occupied the time of some of them.

Under the new arrangement, the district detectives practically will be plain clothes patrolmen.

With the new system, Delahanty expects to be able to have a detective at any place within a half hour of a report.

Breaks Checker Game.

Formerly the most of the time of the detectives' inspector and captain was taken up with listening to petty complaints. Under the new arrangement, all "fish" will be handled by Larry Nachtrab, who has been a clerk in the detective bureau. This will give the superior officers more time to direct.

Delahanty will expect the detectives to keep well informed on conditions in the districts.

DEFECTIVE NACHTRAB WEARS PAIR OF TROUSERS AROUND NECK TIGHTENING THEM—Has Little 25, negro, and almost illegible, was being chased by Detective Lee Nachtrab Thursday evening.

He threw a pair of trousers over his head which were opened by the wind and straddled the policeman's neck.

Then a second pair was tossed over and succeeded directly in front of Nachtrab, entangling his feet, but preventing a fall threatened by the slippery sidewalk.

And the charmed detective continued to run. He caught Little at Washington and M. Clair streets. The "strider" were "gapping" on Nachtrab the whole time.

The captive was locked in central station on a charge of taking the limb trousers from the W. L. Miller store.

FOUR CONVICTED OF SHOPLIFTING

Three Men Sent to Jail as Result of Merchants' "No-Mercy" Plan.

SENTENCE ON DETROIT VISITOR IS SUSPENDED

John and Harvey Breslin Get 30 Days Each; "Son" Little Gets 15 Days.

Four men have been convicted in police court of shoplifting.

The convictions are results of the "no-mercy" platform of the Retail Merchants' board.

Three of the thieves who were registered as John and Harvey Breslin, brothers, Cincinnati, and "Son" Little, brother, Toledo, were sent to jail, 23 hours, Toledo, were sent to jail. The brothers were given 30 days each; Little, 15 days.

William Bass, Detroit, was convicted by a jury Tuesday of stealing a washing from the Thompson-Huston store. Sentence was suspended as a result of a motion for a new trial.

The Breslin brothers took a dozen silk ties from the Lassalle & Koch Co. and sold them at cut rates.

Little stole two pairs of trousers from W. L. Miller & Co. Detective Nachtrab pursued him. The fugitive hung one pair around Nachtrab's neck and the other at his feet. Nachtrab untangled himself and tackled "Son."

"I stole everything in the house so I could buy dope."

This was the explanation to the police by Mrs. Theresa Rhinesmith, who was arrested Friday for robberies at 815 Superior street where she roomed. The loot included a gas stove, jewelry, rings and rugs.

The arrest was made by Motor Sergeant Tibbles and Detectives' Clerk Nachtrab.

The woman showed the police where she had sold the stuff. Suspicion was directed to her after repeated losses.

BOY HAD HIS FATHER'S AUTO, POLICE DECLARE

Herbert Marx, 24, of Detroit, was being held at Central station on Friday awaiting the arrival of his father. An auto, owned by the father, was stolen a few nights ago in Detroit.

Police say the auto was in young Marx's possession when he was arrested by Detective Nachtrab on Friday.

'THROW IN' EVERYONE WHO CAN'T EXPLAIN

Detectives and Auto Patrolmen Round Up All Without Visible Means of Support.

The biggest police clean-up Toledo has ever seen is on. The "murder district" is to be "closed."

Aroused by the activity of holdup men, prowlers and auto thieves the police have picked up in the last day or so more than 40 men, who apparently had no visible means of support.

Thursday night eight were "thrown in." Early Friday 11 were added to the colony at police headquarters, and more were on the way.

The police activity is due to the criticisms following the shooting of Samuel Dusseau, Dorr street grocer, and the attack on Thomas Larnier, City Park avenue grocer.

Edict Is Issued.

Then, with the officers doing all they could to catch these assailants, came reports of other holdups, and the order went forth: "Bring in every man who can't give a good account of himself."

The arrests began soon after dark Thursday night. Every detective was ordered to work overtime. The day force of sleuths went to work Friday morning at 5.

The order of Chief Herbert was intended for the capture of men who live off the so-called earnings of women. These men have nothing to keep them occupied during the day or most of the night. They go to bed about the time the majority of honest workmen are getting up.

"I want the Canton-Spielhouse-Southard district and the line cleaned up," the chief decreed. The "clean-up" assigned were Detectives Quinn, Hase, Carroll, Carl, Conners, Martin, Nechtsh, Rex and Hoyer.

Newton at the "Show Up."

All the prisoners were "shown up" to all the detectives Friday morning. For the first time Safety Director Newton witnessed this "ceremony." The director was very much interested, but made no comment as Acting Captain of Detectives O'Reilly questioned each of the suspects.

With but one exception the raid didn't produce anything that the officers regarded as indicating anything other than these were at least 15 desperate men in Toledo. The exception was a person who said his name is Walter Wilson. He was "nailed" in a Southard avenue house. He had a loaded 12-caliber revolver and a diamond ring.

Most in "District."

Fourteen of the suspects were taken out of beds in houses on Southard and Spielhouse avenues and Caddis street. Two others were rousted out in houses in the Lafayette street district. All are white. For them the police have nothing but contempt.

Dusseau showed some improvement Friday, but his condition is still critical.

The police believed Friday that their work had been made harder by the raids in Cleveland Thursday night.

Mayor Davis has ordered that that city be "cleaned." Disorderly houses were raided, street women "nailed" and even alley crap games put out of business.

"It means that a lot of Cleveland's bad people will come here," a veteran officer said, "and we'll have more to contend with."

LARRY BURSTS FORTH WITH A 'SPRING SONG'

Detective Larry Nechtsh, admitted to be the literary light of the police department, says he composed this parody on Harry Lauder's famous "O, It's Nice To Get Up in the Mornin'," while walking to work on Thursday. Here it is:

"O, it's nice to walk down in the morning,
When the sun begins to shine—
At six or seven or eight o'clock,
Or any possible time,
But when the rain is falling,
And you hear the thunder's clap—

SEEK IDENTITY OF BODY FOUND ON BROADWAY

Dr. W. W. Brand Discovers Dead Girl Near Car Track, as He Speeds Home After Late Call.

TWO BRUISES SLIGHT;
NOT FATAL, IS BELIEF

Police Hear Three Men Carried Woman to Automobile at Midnight and Sped Away.

A few hours after Dr. W. W. Brand found the bruised body of a girl lying in the middle of Broadway, near the intersection of Seagrave avenue, the police were told that a woman had been three men carry the inanimate, and apparently lifeless, body of a girl from a house on Ontario street, between Monroe and Washington streets.

The body, it was reported, was dumped into a waiting automobile, which was hastily driving away. None of those in the machine were known to the woman who saw them from across the street.

The body of the dead woman is in H. H. Finkelman's morgue, 393 Broadway, and has been seen by hundreds of people who could not identify her.

The two men and a white maid the girl knew were taken to all of the resorts in the city Wednesday morning by Captain Lewis H. Tracy, of the detective force. In a Lafayette street house the landlord and one of the girls said a girl working the night had been in there shortly after midnight. They said they did not know who she was and were not acquainted with the three men.

Detectives Carl Quinn and Connors have taken up the new clues furnished. Captain Tracy will take the woman and girl who identified the coat, to the morgue to see if they recognize the body.

Coroner Heister will hold a post-mortem Wednesday afternoon to determine the exact cause of the young woman's death. There was evidence of foot drag, and a bruise on her leg being bruised. It was also found that the dead woman had been in a motor car, as was in the street, but she had been taken.

Dr. Brand was returning from a call on the River road when he came upon the body in the street. He stopped his machine and, upon examination, found the woman had been dead for some time.

Unidentified Body.

In the morgue was the body of a young girl, whose name is not known. Dr. Brand noted on the face and examined the body. He said he could not identify the body. He said he had seen the body of a girl who was lying on the ground in the street, near the car track, and he thought at first it might have been struck by the car which they had passed at Western avenue.

The woman had been dead several minutes, Dr. Brand said, although she did not make a thorough examination. He said he noticed no blood about her mouth although H. H. Finkelman, undertaker, said later she was slumped. Dr. Brand waited until the police arrived and then returned to the morgue. Coroner Heister instructed the police to possess the body of H. H. Finkelman's morgue, 393 Broadway. A post-mortem showed that the woman had a bruise on her neck, which had been broken, but a slight bruise on her forehead, which might have been caused by falling on the pavement.

Who is described as being about 22 years old, five-foot seven inches tall, weighing about 125 pounds, dark hair, light brown hair, blue eyes and a thin nose.

The hair is very short, dark and with a white collar. She had a white straw with a blue plaid in the end, and a white necktie. She wore a white waist, white stockings, and a pair of blue shoes, dark undergarments discovered her.

Her black leather purse, about six inches long, was found near the body. It contains a handkerchief, powder puff, mirror and the stem of a large pipe check No. 496, issued by Bernard Janikow, expressman, 361 East Broadway. Janikow says he has no recollection of having handled baggage for a woman answering the description of the body in the morgue.

Cincinnati Business Card.

A business card of C. Sandberger & Co., 112 East Court street, Cincinnati, wholesale liquor dealers, bottlers and importers, with the name of John H. Schiller, local agent, on it, also was found in the pocket book. The city directory does not contain the name of John H. Schiller.

The report of the finding of the body was taken to police headquarters on Wednesday morning, according to Lieutenant John Winkler, but there was a Broadway car said the body was not there at 1:12 when the car passed. The body was but three feet from the car tracks and the automobile said he undoubtedly would have seen it.

A number of theories have been advanced by police and detectives as to how the woman met her death. She might have been thrown from an automobile, or hit by a street car or

Body Found at 1:15.

Dr. Brand says it was just 1:15 when he found the body. The owl car had passed there three minutes before that time and the motorman did not see the woman in the street. H. H. Sorkenscamp, undertaker, says the woman had been dead a half hour when Dr. Brand found her, which indicates that the body was placed in the street after life had been extinct several minutes, if it was not there when the owl car passed.

Detectives Hyldman and Eaton, assigned to the case, learned that Lloyd Shilzer, night watchman for Birkenkamp, found a handkerchief on Broadway in front of the office of Dr. Hammer, just 200 feet north of where the body was picked up. The handkerchief contained perfume similar to that on the handkerchief found in her pocketbook.

The crew of the owl car reported that only one woman was on the car when it left Summit street and Madison avenue at 1 in the morning. This woman left the car at Broadway and Forsaker avenue several blocks from the place where the body was found. She did not talk with the description of the dead woman.

A laundry mark with the initials C. M. C. C. was found by Detectives Delehanzy, Cozzens and Nachtrab on a combination under worn by the woman. The mark was printed by what is known as a Hunker Stamping machine. All Hunkers will be visited by detectives in an effort to identify the mark.

Police believe the woman lives in Toledo because they also found two Toledo street car tickets in her purse. Two other handkerchiefs were found in the blouse of her waist. All four handkerchiefs had the same perfume on them.

Her shoes, the mark in them showed, were from the H. M. & H. Shoe Co.

Block left the court house and walked down to Huron street. The party divided near the Spitzer building. Two officers entered the building and blocked the arcade entrance, two guarded the Huron street door, and the others entered the place.

Rushed for Key.

Detective Nachtrab rushed for the telegraph key, where Eldridge was at work. He stopped the instrument to prevent warnings being sent out to any of the 11 other agencies involved. Simultaneous raids were scheduled to take place in Canton, Akron, Youngstown, East Liverpool, Dayton, Steubenville, Newark, Fremont, Piqua and Marion.

When placed under arrest, Eldridge was evidently taken by surprise. He offered no resistance and made no comment on his arrest except to say that he would require a little time in which to arrange bond.

One assistant in the place was permitted to go. Arrangements were made to take figures from the quota-tion board to the courthouse in the afternoon for grand jurors to peruse.

Official Statement Issued.

After the raid, Inspector Tomlinson issued this statement:

"The banking department, Superintendent Hall said," has taken simultaneous action against all the bucket shops, which, so far as it knows are operating in Ohio.

Evidence against these concerns has been gathered by Arthur T. Stewart, inspector in the blue sky division of the state banking department. He has had a wide experience in the security business and has made a special study of the bucket shop evils. Our purpose has been at one stroke to drive this evil beyond the state's borders and to serve notice—which we have reason to think will be effectual—to the promoters of a conspiracy which reaches from the Atlantic sea-board as far west as the Missouri river. Ohio has struck the first, and we trust the only blow needed to halt a widespread raid that has been prepared in the last few weeks from behind the scenes.

"We have acted under two laws, the blue sky act and the bucket shop act. The dealers we are proceeding against come under the blue sky act because they sell stocks under a state license. They come under the bucket shop act, because their transactions constitute the offense defined in the judicial interpretation of that act, which is 'keeping a place wherein is conducted or permitted the pretended buying and selling of stocks, on margin or otherwise without intention on the part of the operator of the bucket shop of doing a bona fide business.'

To Protect Legitimate Dealers.

"The banking department has used its agencies in this matter, among other reasons, because it conceived it as a duty under the blue sky act, to protect the legitimate securities dealers whose license fees provide the funds for administering the blue act. These men, like the public at large, will benefit from the extermination of a class of dealers whose transactions caricature the calling of the stock-broker while they victimize the public.

LARRY BURSTS FORTH WITH A 'SPRING SONG'

Detective Larry Nachtrab, admitted to be the literary light of the police department, says he composed this parody on Harry Lampert's famous "O, It's Nice To Get Up in the Mornin'", while walking to work on Thursday. Here it is:

"O, it's nice to walk down in the mornin',
When the sun begins to show—
At six or seven or eight o'clock,
Or any possible time,
But when the rain is fallin',
And you hear the thunder stappin',
O, it's nice to walk down in the mornin',
Not it's better to hang on a strap—
"It's th' truth, an' everyone in town knows it's th' truth," said Nachtrab.

ALLEGED AUTO THIEVES RETURNED FROM CHICAGO

Three young men charged with stealing an auto were brought from Chicago Wednesday afternoon.

They are Louis Stephan, 18 Raymond Street, of 1913 Detroit avenue, and Ed Weaver, 15, of 1117 Norwood avenue.

Detectives Nachtrab and Carroll brought them here.

They are said to have stolen the auto of Martin Anderson, of the Scottwood apartments, on July 7 from Madison avenue and Huron street.

Quick, Watson, the needle. The police have reported that Charlie Gause is dead again.

According to the report given to the new reporter at the police station, Charlie was killed when a H. & O. train struck a stolen Overland car he was driving at "Dutch" crossing, near Perrysburg.

The new reporter "discovered" that the car was owned by Luke McGuire of Findlay.

The reporter "discovered," too, that the body of Gause was turned over to E. M. Balmer, the popular undertaker, and that Gause's companions were John Ryebuck and Willie Cataw. But read! Here's the story, an old one framed by police for new reporters:

"Charlie Gause was killed and Ralph Wick fatally injured when a stolen auto they were driving was struck by a Baltimore & Ohio train at 'Dutch' crossing, near Perrysburg, early on Tuesday morning. Wick was taken to the Perrysburg hospital. It is said he will not recover. Both his legs were broken.

"The machine was an Overland car, owned by Luke McGuire of Findlay. The men stole the car and were driving to Toledo, police say. Nothing is known by police concerning the men. The body of Gause was turned over to Undertaker E. M. Balmer by the Perrys-burg coroner. Other occupants of the car were John Ryebuck and Willie Cataw."

POLICE GET QUICK ACTION

Stolen Auto Is Recovered While Owner Is Making Complaint.

While Joseph Cedoz was telling Detective Nachtrab Friday about the theft of his auto, the detective got a phone call from Detroit.

The message said the Detroit police had found the machine and arrested two men who said they were James Arba and William White. Cedoz aware of a warrant charging grand larceny.

His report Thursday night that the auto had been taken from the Crown theatre, Summit street near Jackson, had been sent to Detroit. Cedoz lives on the Woodville road.

CANTON STREET SCENE OF VICIOUS ASSAULT

Read this twice:

"Captain of the detective bureau: Sir—Detective Gauthier and myself went to 1304 Canton street at 8 p. m. Wednesday and found J. M. Bretha lying in the alley with four ribs broken. His side was cut with a knife. He said he was assaulted by A. Stormo. We were unable to locate Stormo but obtained information that he got wind of our search and blew east. His hair from Indiana and drifted into Toledo early Wednesday. Respectfully submitted, J. Gauthier and H. Smith, detectives."

the resolutions adopted supporting the mayor. Some are said to have signed the papers.

CALLS IN PRESIDENT.

Among those called in was Jay Gilday, president of the organization, who was a top sergeant in one of the Toledo batteries. Gilday refused to sign the statement. After his interview with O'Dwyer, Gilday told his friends in the organization what had occurred in O'Dwyer's office.

"O'Dwyer met one of my relatives with whom he has been friendly and asked him to have me call at his office. I went and was shown the paper. I told O'Dwyer that my relatives had no influence over me in this matter.

"I have never been interested in politics, and am not particularly so now, as far as parties go. I don't think that many of the soldiers are.

TO WORK FOR SCHREIBER.

"I told O'Dwyer I was going to do my best for Schreiber because I thought that every returned soldier owed him something for the way he has watched over the interests of the boys who were gone. It is an interest in the young fellows of the city.

"I told O'Dwyer that while we were in France we heard what Schreiber was doing for the folks we left behind and for the boys in the A. B. I. And he was working quietly, doing little things here and there that didn't seem like much, but it brought a great satisfaction to us to know that we had a friend back home on whom we could depend.

"This information came to us that winter. Many times we discussed the situation and relations with him.

"SCHREIBER NEEDS US."

"Now we are back and he needs us. I think it is time to show our appreciation.

"I told O'Dwyer that the soldiers had learned to think for themselves and believed that party lines were wiped out.

"He asked me if I had heard that he, O'Dwyer, was the leader in one of the Red Cross drives. I told him that I had heard so and appreciated it, but thought that he owed that to the country as a patriotic duty. If he had been asked to lead the drive and refused, I would have thought for that particular work just as much as the boys were for service in the army in my opinion and I told him so.

DOES OWN THINKING.

"O'Dwyer told me that one of my relatives was a Democrat and was afraid of something back in 1918. He was not that way now. He was on the I. O. O. F. and was a Democrat and a Republican and I intend to change American and I intend to vote as I think and do my own thinking.

Gilday said that he knew of a number of fellows who were called in and told various things in order to get their signatures to the O'Dwyer paper.

WILL HELP SCHREIBER.

"I don't understand how a man who shows signs that want to do a thing can be influenced to write a statement like that. If I did so, I would never actually signed that. I had not been a trained soldier. I think this will have the effect of showing up more soldiers. The boys that are signing that they will help Schreiber, some of them, I know. They were never trained. My relatives are prepared to give a sense of attitude to the boys who are signing that and who I will do the same.

CHILD FALLS FROM BANK INTO CREEK

of Home Acres Youngster,
Aged 3.

Lee Francis Abair, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Abair, 4414 Firlane, was rescued from death by drowning, after he had fallen into Westbrook creek in Home Acres Wednesday.

Leo Nachrab, 12, son of L. L. Nachrab, 2338 Westbrook drive, jumped into the water and carried the boy to safety. Leo is a Boy Scout.

Spring had lured a group of children to the creek bank where they were playing with sticks and stones. The water is about three feet deep at the point where the Abair boy fell in.

A current was carrying him away from the bank when Leo noticed his plight.

CHILD CAUGHT IN QUICKSAND IS RESCUED

Lad of 3 Being Dragged to Death After Falling Into Sibley Creek

Leo Nachtrah is only a 12-year-old tenderfoot Boy Scout, but he displayed coolness and heroism Wednesday that would have done credit to any high ranking Eagle scout.

From the cold, swift waters of Sibley creek in the Home Acres addition, Leo rescued 3-year-old "Buddy" Abair as the treacherous quicksand which bottoms the creek, pulled the child further into the water.

"Buddy," whose name is Leo Francis Abair and who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Abair, 4414 Fir lane, was playing with his sister, Jacqueline, 7, and five other children on the bank of the creek. They skipped rocks over the surface of the water and hunted for frogs.

ANSWERS CALL FOR HELP.

Further down the creek, Leo, the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Nachtrah, 2324 Westbrook drive, attired in his Boy Scout uniform, also sought frogs.

Suddenly he heard a cry.
"Buddy's in the creek!"

The call for help was pitched in the high treble of a childish voice and Leo realized danger precipitated the appeal.

He ran up the creek. Then, struggling in the two and a half feet of water, was "Buddy," too frightened to cry out. Along the bank stood "Buddy's" playmates, panic-stricken.

Leo started to leap into the water, then changed his mind as he recalled the quicksand at the bottom of the creek. He put one foot into the water, keeping the other on the shore.

Leaning forward as far as possible, he seized "Buddy" by the hair.

He pulled fiercely to offset the power of the quicksand. Finally "Buddy's" feet were disengaged and Leo was able to lift the child and pull him ashore.

SEES FROG, THEN FALLS IN.

He caught the boy in the Abair home and delivered him into the arms of his mother, who had known nothing of the incident.

"Buddy's" playmates said the boy had seen a frog in the water and, leaning forward as a child's at-

REAL ADVENTURE
 BUDDY HAS ONE

—RESCUED

Leo Nachtrah, shown above, is a 12-year-old tenderfoot of Boy Scout Troop 86 of the Blessed Sacrament church, and he upheld the fine traditions of scoutcraft Wednesday when he rescued "Buddy" Abahr, 3, from the waters of Sibley creek.

Falling in Creek Falls To Dampen Ardor; Scout
 Averts Tragedy

When a fellow is three years old and falls in a creek where there is quicksand and deep water, it's quite an exciting adventure.

Leo Francis Abahr—plain "Buddy" to his friends—son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Abahr, 4414 Fir lane, had that experience Wednesday afternoon when he was rescued from a possible death thro' the bravery of a Boy Scout tenderfoot.

Buddy, with his sister, Jacqueline, 7, and several other children, were looking for frogs in Sibley creek, 120 feet from the Abahr home.

Buddy sighted a frog and went after it. In his haste to make the catch, he tumbled from the bank into the creek. His playmates heard the splash as Buddy fell.

"Buddy's" in the creek" one of them shouted.

Leo Nachtrah, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Nachtrah, 2333 Westbrook drive, a tenderfoot Boy Scout, was hunting for frogs farther down the creek. When he heard the cry for help, he ran to aid. He saw the lad struggling to free himself from quicksand which bottoms the creek and which was dragging "Buddy" deeper into the water.

Leaving over the bank, the scout seized "Buddy" and pulled him to safety. He carried the boy home and placed him in the arms of his mother, who had been unaware of the occurrence.

An hour later Buddy was playing outside, fresh from a bath and a hot lunch.

Leo is a member of Scout Troop No. 86 of Blessed Sacrament church. Neighbors regard the creek as a public nuisance. In the summer it breeds mosquitoes, they say, and in the winter the thin crust of ice that forms over its surface lures children to danger.

Other neighborhood children have fallen into the creek, it was said.

"Buddy" Abahr's real name is Leo Francis, but he's such a regular fellow all the boys call him "Buddy." When "Buddy" lusted too far over the surface of Sibley creek for an elusive frog, Wednesday, he fell into the creek and the treacherous quicksand tried to pull him under. But he was saved by Leo Nachtrah. An hour later "Buddy" was at play again.

they said Wednesday, and in winter its thin ice lures the children to danger. Other children have fallen into the creek, it was said.

A hot bath, change of clothing and a steaming hot bowl of porridge put "Buddy" back into shape and Wednesday afternoon he was playing happily in the front yard of his home.

Leo's father is general manager of the Nachtrah Motor Sales Co., 1112 Sylvania avenue. Leo is a member of Troop 86 at the Blessed Sacrament church.

Scout Awarded Bravery Medal

Leo Nachtrah, Jr., 2334 Westbrook drive, Boy Scout who rescued Leo Francis Abahr, 3, of 4414 Fir lane, when he fell in Sibley creek April 4, was awarded the West Toledo Chamber of Commerce medal for bravery Friday night at a meeting in I. O. O. F. hall, Sylvania avenue.

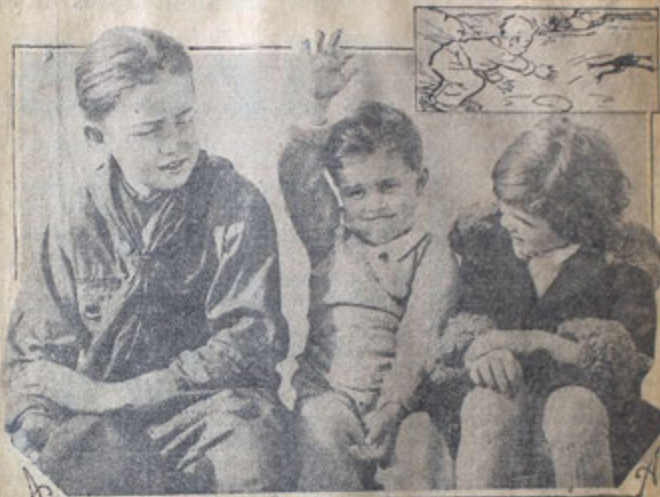

The presentation was made by Bob Thompson. Following Leo's acceptance of the medal, the members of the club voted $15 to the Blind Veterans relief fund.

Fred Willys, city sewer engineer, explained the proposed West Toledo sewerage project from a complete set of plans.

Eight Toledoans Given Safety Council Medals

Three Toledoans were awarded service medals for accident prevention and five were given resuscitation medals for successfully saving persons from smoke and drowning at the meeting of the award committee of the Toledo Safety council, Friday morning, at the Chamber of Commerce.

Dorman Richardson is chairman of the group.

The service medals awarded were as follows:

John E. McGee, 23, who then lived at 714 Superior street and was employed as a shipping clerk, rescued from drowning Mrs. Carolyn Rose, 812 Lagrange street, after she had plunged over the dock at the foot of Adams street on January 13.

Mrs. Emma Dingwall, 1848 Clinton street, rescued Mrs. Carrie Evans, 184 1/2 Clinton street, whose clothing had caught on fire from an explosion of gasoline fumes while she was cleaning fabrics on Feb. 22.

Leo Nachtrab, Jr., 12, who lives at 2338 Westbrook drive, rescued Lee Francis "Buddy" Abair, 3, of 4414

Fir lane, from quagmire in Sibley creek on April 4.

For the resuscitation of Mrs. Alice Fox, 1928 Spitzdale avenue, overcome by smoke when her home burned on April 2, District Chief A. E. Garza, Tony Buzsowski, Capt. A. Flynn and Herbert Wilcox, all of No. 14 Fire station, were awarded the special resuscitation medal. Patrolman John H. Millhouse, 214 Lawrence avenue, of the city police force, subsequently resuscitated Mrs. Fox after she had been brought back the river by McGee.

A letter of commendation was also sent to Fred Winkler, driver for the American Railway Express Co., for leaving his truck and escorting the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Kinsey, Jr., from the middle of Collingwood avenue to safety on the sidewalk, where he remained with the boy until the mother arrived.

McGee's medal will be mailed to him at Deerfield, Mass., where he is now living, but the others will be presented at the Tuesday noon luncheon meeting of Community Chest workers at the Chamber of Commerce.

Leo Nachman, 11, a Tenderfoot, Boy Scout, was on an expedition with his mother and brother on the morning of April 3, when he saved a 3-year-old child from drowning in Sibley Creek. The boy, who is known as 'Buddy' Abair, was sitting on a tricycle in the water, reaching for a frog. Leo saw the boy and immediately jumped in to help him.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Abair, was standing on the bank of the creek, watching her child. She did not know that her child was in danger until Leo called out to her. She then ran to the water's edge and pulled her child out.

Leo's mother, Mrs. Nachman, was very proud of her son's bravery. She said that she had never before seen her child do such a good deed. She also said that she was very grateful to Leo for saving her child's life.

The incident occurred in Sibley Creek, which is a popular spot for fishing and other outdoor activities. It is a well-known fact that the water in the creek is very shallow and can be very dangerous for children.

Lawrence I. Nachtrab, manager of the Hudson-Esex agency that bears his name, is being introduced this week for the "Did You Know," column.

"Larry" was too busy writing orders for the new models of his extensive line to take the time to furnish us much information for this week.

He was a former member of Toledo's detective force and made a fine record in that capacity in assisting the city in hunting criminals.

Nachtrab entered business in West Toledo in 1926 and has become one of our most progressive business men, building up a good trade in Hudson and Essex cars.

He was born on Phillips avenue, on the present site of the Thron's Building. He is a lifelong resident of Toledo. Before entering business for himself he was associated with the Willys Overland Company for ten years. He is an active member of the West Toledo Commerce Club and is vice president of that organization.

New Signal Lights Being Used

Parents and Teachers Club Favors Retaining Traffic Officer At Whittier School

New signal lights have been installed by the city at the corner of Berdan avenue and Willys Parkway, and on Lewis avenue in front of Whittier School.

Numerous complaints of speeding motorists, and reports that the lives of the people are being endangered by driving on Berdan avenue, particularly west of Willys Parkway and there, caused the matter to be up by our Commerce Club.

The matter was referred to the safety committee of which Leo is chairman, who took the matter up with the city's safety division with good results.

Wylls Parkway has been designated a one-way street. This will be the means of avoiding accidents in the future.

To better protect the children and pedestrians at the corner of Martin street, in front of Whittier School, new lights have been installed.

On account of the fact that Martin street ends at the intersection of Lewis avenue at this corner, the lights have not been properly placed, according to reports we have received.

At a recent meeting of the Parents and Teachers' Club at Whittier School, the club favors the retention of a traffic officer on Lewis avenue while the children are going to and from school.

Arranging For Santa's Visit

Exchange Club to Distribute Christmas Baskets and Cheer This Christmas

A real Santa Claus will visit West Toledo during the coming holiday season, and will distribute Christmas baskets, clothing, toys and other articles to some of our worthy children and to a number of the families of this section who have met with misfortunes, during the past season.

Santa's work will be done by the members of the Exchange Club of West Toledo, as the club at a meeting held at St. Paul's Church last Wednesday evening decided to play Santa Claus here this year. The usual amount of "red tape" and official duties that are so prevalent in organized charity will be dispensed with as Santa gets busy.

his is a worthy cause and will be means of doing a lot of good in the entire section.

A large number of the members were at the meeting, and all enjoyed fine supper that was served by ladies of St. Paul's Church.

Several musical numbers that were presented by Henry and Henry, two youngsters of Chicago, Ill., was a feature of the entertaining program. The program was arranged by Messrs. Frankton and Harold Hays, of the club's entertainment committee.

A report on the recent national convention of the Exchange clubs that was held at San Francisco, Cal., was given by Mr. Neal.

A talk of "Good Fellowship" was given by Dr. L. E. Stubbins. The week-end premium was won by Mr. Blanche.

For the coming winter and spring was given by Lawrence Nachtrab, of the Hudson and Essex agency.

He gave assurance that no business session losses at this time. He reviewed the activities of some of the automobile companies and the demands for steel; these would indicate at business is on a firm basis. The outlook for good business in the future and next spring was good, he reported.

New Hudson and Essex Models

New Custom Hudsons Being Shown

Large crowds of people have been admiring the models of the Hudson and Essex cars that are now on display at the Nachtrab Motor Sales Company, 1110 Sylvania Avenue.

The new lines of cars represent a high mark of accomplishment for the Hudson organization according to Larry Nachtrab, the West Toledo representative of the Hudson and Essex cars. Under the company's present plan, the new lines cover a wide range of prices, choice of models and features.

Prices announced on the Essex bring the four-door sedan to $755.00, so that the company is presenting to the public the only six-cylinder car of this type listed below the $800.00 mark.

The well known Essex coach, with ample room and equipped with many notable refinements of construction and convenience, is continued at $735.00; and a larger coupe, with the popular rumble seat, is announced at $775.00.

Continued by being made in the higher and more slender radiator; the new and heavier chrome fenders, new type headlamps and saddle lamps and numerous other additions to the smart appearance of the Essex line. The vertical radiator shutter, built-in, also commands the approval of the public.

Color finish is handsoomer than ever, with some new shades available, and in combinations of distinction. The immense body plant of the company has evidently been brought to a high degree of precision in production.

Considerable interest is also shown in the new custom models of the Hudson line which are really beautiful cars. Victoria, Sedan and Limited Sedan have been added to the line, in a series of super-finish and appearance.

FINDS PLENTY TO PRAISE

WE HEAR so much knocking and I notice most of the contributors to this department have got a grudge on, so why not turn over a new leaf and boost other folks once in a while?

I noticed that little item about the they doozed that saved a little tad from drowning. It is just fine that he is to be cited for his bravery and I am sure his parents must be mightily proud of him.

There are a good many men without that much heroism to their credit. I don't know why it is, but we all seem to pick out the things that are wrong and pay too little attention to the good things people are doing.

I picked up my News-Free tonight, and here are some of the things I got out of it. I omit the stories of crime and divorces and accidents and troubles. Just read this list over and then decide whether this is a pretty good old world.

Children at the Friendly Center—that must be a cheerful place—are preparing Easter songs; two little girls, beloved best, are found safe next door; a brave young man returns his girl companion bride; four hardy Community Chest workers are meeting; another war loan is given, recognized; Henry Ford has happy nine workers because he pays them good wages; the baseball park is "much improved" with its rebuilt stands.

Now I submit that there is plenty of good news of that sort. It's only because we don't think twice that we dwell on the bad happenings. And perhaps that is why we are so prone to think ill of other folks, while all the time the chances are that they have something good in store if only we will find it.

So I suggest to the other followers of this department that we make occasionally or at least look on the cheerful side of things—Mrs. Opinions.

For saving persons from smoke and drowning and for prevention of several accidents, Toledo Safety Council medals will be presented to eight Toledoans, it was announced Saturday.

Decision to make the awards was made Friday at a meeting of the council award committee of which Dorman Richardson is chairman.

The medals will be presented Tuesday in the Chamber of Commerce at the meeting of the Community Chest workers. John L. McGee, 23, formerly of 714 Superior street, will receive an accident prevention service medal for rescuing Mrs. Carolyn Noe, 818 Lagrange street after she had leaped into the river at the foot of Adams street on Jan. 11. His medal will be forwarded to Dorchester, Mass., where he now is living.

Service medals also will be presented to Mrs. Emma Dingwall, 1848 Clinton street, and Leo Nachtrab Jr., 12, of 2328 Westwood drive. Mrs. Dingwall rescued a neighbor whose clothing had been ignited as she cleaned them with gasoline Feb. 22, and Leo pulled "Buddy" Ahair, 2, from the Sibley creek quicksands Wednesday.

Special resuscitation medals are to be awarded District Chief A. E. Gartz, Capt. A. Flynn, Tony Buczkowski and Herbert Wilson, all of No. 16 fire station. The firemen resuscitated Mrs. Alice Fox, 1920 Parkdale avenue, Monday after she had been overcome by smoke when her home burned.

Patrolman John Millhorse, 2113 Lawrence avenue, will receive a similar reward for reviving Mrs. Noe after McGee had rescued her.

Fred Winked, a driver for the American Haulway Express Co., was sent a letter of commendation by the award committee for leaving his truck and escorting from the middle of Collingwood avenue, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Kinsey Jr.

Civic Club Honors Scout For Bravery

Leo Nachtrab Jr., boy scout who rescued a 3 year old child from quicksands in Sibley creek several weeks ago, was awarded the West Toledo Chamber of Commerce Medal for Bravery at a meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall Friday night.

Bert Thompson, former head of the Toledo workhouse, made the presentation on behalf of the club.

Following young Nachtrab's acceptance of the medal, the members of the club voted that $25 be donated to the widow of Physician George Zentars who was shot by machine gun bullets several days ago.

Fred Willys, city sewer engineer, placed before the members of the club a set of plans for the complete sewerage of West Toledo. Connected with the entire city sewer system, Willys gave an illuminating explanation of the proposed West Toledo project. Bert Brewster, president of the club said:

Before President Brewster adjourned the meeting, a motion was made to send a letter of praise to the city council for its action in condemning property which was said to be obstructing the construction of the Detroit avenue bridge.

Mid-Week Slack and False
Feeling of Success

Toledo's annual Community Chest campaign for $640,000 virtually was at the halfway mark Wednesday noon, when the 3000 workers reported their contributions to the Chamber of Commerce.

Announcement of special gifts of $47,450 at the luncheon brought the total already subscribed to $381,920, which is just $38,080 below the halfway mark. Reports from other groups were expected to boost the grand total above the halfway goal of $420,000.

The determined army that is pressing toward the $640,000 goal was confronted Wednesday with two perennial bogbears of a charity campaign—the inevitable midweek slack that comes in every drive, and the false feeling of ultimate success of the campaign that prevents many persons from contributing.

The 3000 workers started out Wednesday morning with $204,470 pledged to the welfare of Toledo's needy in 1928. This total was reached Thursday when the campaigners reported additional pledges of $183,500 at their second report luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce.

The first report luncheon, held Monday, revealed the preliminary skinning had brought $161,160 into the chest coffers.

The partial report Tuesday was:

RESCUER—

REAL ADVENTURE

—RESCUED

Leo Nachtrab, shown above, is a 12-year-old tenderfoot of Boy Scout Troop 63 of the Blessed Sacrament church, and he upheld the finest traditions of scoutcraft Wednesday when he rescued "Buddy" Abair, 3, from the waters of Sibley creek.

Falling in Creek Fails To Dampen Ardor; Scout Averts Tragedy

When a fellow is three years old and falls in a creek where there is quicksand and deep water, it's quite an exciting adventure.

Lee Francis Abair—son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Abair, 4414 Fir lane, had that experience Wednesday afternoon when he was rescued from possible death thru the bravery of a Boy Scout tenderfoot.

Buddy, with his sister, Jacqueline, 7, and several other children, were looking for frogs in Sibley creek, 120 feet from the Abair home.

Buddy sighted a frog and went after it. In his haste to make the catch, he toppled from the bank into the creek. His playmates heard the splash as Buddy fell.

"Buddy's in the creek!" one of them shouted.

Leo Nachtrab, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Nachtrab, 2338 Westbrook drive, a tenderfoot Boy Scout, was hunting for frogs farther down the creek. When he heard the cry for help, he ran to aid. He saw the lad struggling to free himself from quicksand which bottoms the creek and which was dragging "Buddy" deeper into the water.

Leaping over the bank, the scout seized "Buddy" and pulled him to safety. He carried the boy home and placed him in the arms of his mother, who had been unaware of the occurrence.

An hour later Buddy was playing outside, fresh from a bath and a hot lunch.

Leo is a member of Scout Troop No. 88 of Blessed Sacrament church.

Neighbors regard the creek as a public nuisance. In the summer it breeds mosquitoes, they say, and in the winter the thin crust of ice that forms over its surface lures children to danger.

Other neighborhood children have fallen into the creek, it was said.

"Buddy" Abair's real name is Lee Francis, but he's such a regular fellow all the boys call him "Buddy." When "Buddy" leaped too far over the surface of Sibley creek for an elusive frog, Wednesday, he fell into the creek and the treacherous quicksand tried to pull him under. But he was saved by Leo Nachtrab. An hour later "Buddy" was at play again.

A hot bath, change of clothing and a steaming hot bowl of porridge put "Buddy" back into shape and Wednesday afternoon he was playing happily in the front yard of his home.

SCOUT SAVES TOLEDO BOY FROM DEATH

Buddy Abair, Aged Three, Jumps Into Creek to Snare Frog and Has Close Call.

Leo Francis Abair, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Abair, 4414 Fir lane, had a great story to tell his little playmates in Home Acres Thursday.

It was all about a big frog, a tumble into Sibley creek, bedded with quicksand, and his rescue by a big, brave Boy Scout.

The warm spring weather of Wednesday whispered a mysterious message to the adventurous spirit of Leo Francis, more often called Buddy. He started on an exploration trip along the stream, but not alone.

Sister on Trail.

Her sister, Jacqueline, 7, was an usual case on his trail, keeping a watchful eye upon him.

All of a sudden up jumped a big frog. The biggest frog in the world, according to Buddy, the kind of a frog a young boy ought to catch.

Buddy immediately took after the frog. The frog sought refuge in the creek. One last grab and Buddy found himself in three feet of water, his feet entangled in quicksand. His sister screamed and Leo Nachtrab, Jr., 12, a tenderfoot Boy Scout who lives at 2138 Westbrook drive, who had been playing a short distance away, came running to the rescue.

Leo knew of the quicksand and took no chance of wading into the water. He grasped a willow, leaned out over the stream, and grabbed Buddy by the hair, slowly drawing the bank.

No Ill Effects.

The scout took Buddy and his sister home and went about his serious business of delivering papers on his route.

The young boy suffered no ill effects from his experience and was out playing again after a change of clothing.

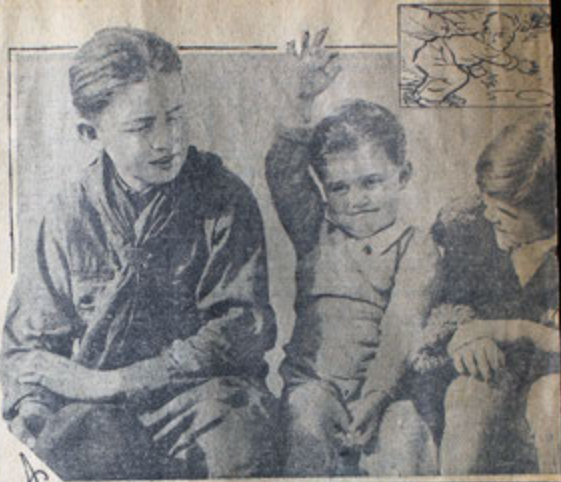

The scout who effected the rescue is the son of Leo Nachtrab, owner of the Nachtrab Motor Sales Co., 1110 Sylvania avenue. Mr. Nachtrab was a candidate for reelection in the Eleventh ward last fall.

Leo will be cited for bravery at the next meeting of the Maumee Valley council's court of honor, 11 E. Leffler, scout executive, announced Thursday. This will be the third citation of a Toledo boy scout this year.

Youth Aiding Sheriff Candidate

JAY GILDAY, JR.

Eight Year Old Boy Is Zimmerman Campaigner

The campaign of Councilman Joseph Zimmerman for the Republican nomination for sheriff is being actively sponsored by one of the city's youngest political workers. It was in-pher snapped Thursday when a photographer snapped the accompanying picture of Jay Gilday, Jr., eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilday, 4339
 Vermaas avenue.

The youngster Gilday is competing with his father, who is chairman of West Toledo Zimmerman-for-sheriff club, is getting votes in the West Toledo district for Zimmerman, whom he contends is "the right man for sheriff." The youngster, who reports that it is his ambition to be sheriff when he grows up, makes a daily campaign in behalf of Zimmerman's candidacy.

With his wagon loaded with Zimmerman literature, he starts out each day and distributes it by making personal visits to the various houses in the district.

The youth reports that he already has made more than three hundred personal calls in behalf of his candidate, and that he intends to "carry on" until he has visited every house in West Toledo.

IMPROVEMENT DRIVE OPENS IN WEST END

Crusade is Launched by Club to Clear Way for Wideningsylvania Avenue.

A crusade against obstacles in the way of wideningsylvania avenue and other streets in Toledo's major street program, and against a building being erected by Sam Harris atsylvania and Upton avenues, has been launched by the West Toledo Commerce club.

The crusade was opened Tuesday night at the first meeting of the year of the limited to twelve in ten, it enables them, with Joseph Taper chairman now resident, taking a lead part in the movement.

Legislation is Urged

The club approved a motion urging the city council to follow legislation providing for the widening ofsylvania avenue from Jackson road to the city limits. In other motions it urged the widening of Upton avenue from Pennsylvania road south.

A third message passed was a resolution urging Charles E. Barndt, newly-appointed, vice-mayor from the Democrat ward, to remove such legislation. It said the Harris building was contrary to the interests of the city and to the welfare of the West End.

It was further stated in the resolution that, if the city allowed the structure to be built, it would cost three times as much to purchase an equal height immediately. All other buildings onsylvania avenue have been set back beyond the proposed limits of the widened thoroughfare. It was pointed out.

Will Solicit Support

Members of the club will visit other Toledo civic and legislative organizations to solicit their support and that of their mutual representatives in passing the desired legislation.

The case of 25 Upton avenue property owners, who protest that the Harris building violates building regulations, will also be supported financially and legally by the club.

The purpose of Harold Upton, 4023 Upton avenue, will be made the subject of a brief note against Harris.

The Commerce club declares that the stated subject, Harris, is not appropriate in the widening ofsylvania and Upton avenues.

Taper Leads Club

Joseph Taper, 4208 Euclid avenue, vice president, who heads the movement, has been in the West End since 1908. He has served in every year as a director of the club. He is a member of the law firm of Miller, Deady & Taper.

Another object of the new administration announced by Mr. Taper is the sending to leading city officials of letters asking their cooperation for the club's 1923 program. The letter will be sent to members of other West End organizations.

Other officers chosen at the meeting were: George Bush, first vice president; Roy C. Bush, second vice president; Chris Babin, third vice president; Fred Cava, treasurer; Alton Mack, secretary; Financial secretary, Edward J. Whelan, jr.

Other visitors included were Lee Stoddard and Herbert Murray, vice-president; G. B. Lewis, Harold MacDonald, David A. Spangenberg, LeRoy Pfeiffer, and Harry Fox. All business was closed at the last 100th meeting of the club. It was decided that the regular meeting nights of the club would be second and fourth Tuesdays of the month.

Charles Hoover Elected Vice-Mayor Over Devine Marshall Bill Defeated in Ohio is Report

William T. Jackson, contractor and former service director, was elected mayor of Toledo by a plurality of over 5,800 votes.

Returns from 321 precincts out of 347 precincts that had reported on Wednesday morning gave him a total of 59,610 votes.

Unofficial returns that had been tabulated by the election board indicated that he would be elected by about 6,800 votes, if the ratio of increase is maintained in the precincts that had not yet reported.

William B. Guittean, service director, was second, with Grant F. Northrup running third.

The strength displayed by Jackson in some of the wards was a surprise to many of the politicians. He drew support from all sections of the city, running strong in the Tenth and Eleventh in the West End, as well as in the Nineteenth and Twentieth wards in East Toledo.

The vote for mayor in the 321 precincts was: Jackson 30,610; Guittean 24,732, and Northrup 17,941.

For vice-mayor Hoover, of the Twelfth ward, had 32,775 against 20,474 for Thomas Devine, and 7,855 for Albert H. Ensch.

Although the mayoralty campaign was one of the most hotly contested for many years, and charges of fraudulent registrations were made before the election, the day passed without disorder, the police have reported.

People were greatly interested in the election, many voting before they had eaten any breakfast, but it was all in a friendly spirit and without

for Busy StreetsDependents Need Help of Prisoners, In ReportStrikes at Present Prison System
By J. I. Sherwood

Among the vital needs of West Toledo as pointed out by L. Nachtrab and recently filed with the Commerce Club, of West Toledo, relates to the traffic problem and methods to protect the school children in crossing certain streets.

He suggests the building of subways at some of the main crossings that would be built at a small outlay of money in case labor from the prison-farm be employed.

In detailing these improvements and making the subways, Nachtrab suggests that labor from the Welfare Farm could be used to good advantage saving a great amount of labor costs.

The plan is to use the labor from the farm that strikes at our present very expensive system of punishment for certain ones who are sent to the work house for violating the laws.

In fact the whole system of punitive methods of the punishment and correction of crime should be changed and improved.

Our present system does not give the desired results, nor is it a preventive against crime.

It is a great waste of time and money to send a person to prison and have him live away from his family and his dependents whether he is in or out of prison.

The man should be given some work to do, and the results of his labor should be apportioned to his family or dependents, if he has any. A good working plan that would be equitable for the dependents, prisoners and the City should be worked out. If the present system of laws does not provide for a good working plan to help the dependents of those in prison, the laws should be changed.

Whether or not some desire to be sent to the welfare farm to earn an easy money-making expense of the tax payer's work at, and at the same time furnish some satisfaction to the dependents, would have a tendency to greatly reduce the number at the work house.

At certain points where a large number of school children cross the busy streets, the subway is about the only way to protect the lives of children at all hours, unless traffic officers are stationed at the crossings. That will be more noticeable in the future, perhaps, when more and more streets are paved with concrete.

A recent survey shows that from 1200 to 1800 school children cross at the corners on Myrtle street at the intersection of Myrtle and Main streets.

West Toledoans Name Nachtraf

L. I. Nachtraf, sales manager of the Deak Motor Co., was elected president of the West Toledo Education and Trade Union night in Deak's Elizabethan school.

Other officers chosen were: Attorney Joseph A. Taylor, first vice president; William Glendon, second vice president; Dr. J. E. Ponder, third vice president; Edward W. Austin, secretary; and William A. Inger, treasurer.

It suggests the building of subways at West Toledo, similar to the best of the school children in crossing certain streets.

In fact the whole system of punitive methods of crime should be recharged and improved.

Our present system does not give the desired results, nor is it preventive against crime.

It is a cruel waste of time and resources to send a person to prison and have him idle away the hours. If he has dependents they will need his assistance whether he is in or out of prison.

The man should be given some work to do, and the results of his labor should be apportioned to his family or dependents, if he has any. A good working plan that would be applicable for the dependents, prisoner and the City should be worked out. If the present system of lease does not provide for a good working plan to help the dependents of those in prison, the laws should be changed.

Whether or not some desire to be sent to the welfare farm to have an easy working system of the land worked at, and at the same time furnish some maintenance to the dependents, would have a tendency to greatly reduce the number at the workhouses.

At certain points where a large number of school children cross the streets, the subway is about the only way to protect the lives of children at all hours, unless traffic officers are stationed in the future, perhaps.

A recent survey shows that from 1200 to 1800 children cross at the corners on Myrtle avenue where the traffic is heavy and many people cross the streets daily.

Lights at corners where there are only two streets crossing, the signal lights work rather successfully, and the pedestrians are protected to a certain degree from accidents. At corners where three streets meet, the pedestrians are not fully protected from danger from being injured when answering signal was given.

Nachtraf's suggestions on the subject of the habitual beggarism from the city farm are good ones, and are suggestive of other needs for West Toledo as follows:

First. In a survey made this month there is about 1800 school children and 1200 children crossing at Parkland and Myrtle avenue.

"Although there is a policeman and traffic lights at these corners, there have been several accidents to children, and I believe it would be a wonderful thing for the Common Council to sponsor the advisability of the city to build subways at these corners before the great casualty happens."

"The approximate cost of these subways would be about $1,000 each, let by contract, or if built by city, about $1,500 for materials. The much unexpended according to newspaper reports and those of the 'New World' could at least be used to carry them here."

Second. Something should be done to eliminate the congested problem

Baden and Herkimer streets.

"By extending Baden avenue two miles west of the boulevard station, which would approximate the width of a new Myrtle over Ten Mile Creek, this should be built wide enough to take care of traffic for at least 20 years."

Third. The widening of Myrtle avenue and Jackson road, west of Parkland.

"Fourth. Elimination of obstructions and all other open ditches existing in West Toledo."

Regarding that the above are the most vital improvements, I beg to insist.

CLUB OPPOSES HARRIS BUILDING

West Toledo Organization To Ask Council Condemn
It Now

A move to obtain the widening of Sylvania and Upton avenues and the condemnation of a building being erected by Sam Harris at the intersection of those streets, was insisted Tuesday night by the West Toledo Commerce club.

A motion was adopted urging city council to pass legislation to provide for the widening of Sylvania avenue, from Jackson road to the city limits and of Upton avenue, from Tremaineville road south.

A third resolution was passed instructing Councilman Charles Barefoot of the 11th ward to introduce a resolution in council condemning the Harris building. It was said in discussion of the measure that the building, if completed, will cost the city three times as much as it would if purchased immediately.

Support will be admitted from other Toledo civic organizations for the help of their council members in obtaining the passage of the desired legislation.

The movement is headed by Joseph Wager, 4226 Berwick avenue, who was elected president Tuesday night. Other officers chosen were Homer Huse, first vice-president; Roy C. Smart, second vice-president; Charles Galbraith, third vice-president; Fred Olson, treasurer; Albert Merka, re-elected financial secretary, and Clint Walzaker, re-elected general assembly secretary.

Leo Nachtrab, Ruben Murray, O. S. Lewis, Harold Pfister, David Spitzman, E. C. MacDonald and Harry Fox were installed as trustees.

Automatic Oil Burner Exploded

Hudson and Essex Building Shook
When Heater Failed to Work.

Damage To Building Is Slight.

When an oil burner exploded in the basement of the Hudson-Exsex building at 1110 Sylvania avenue on Saturday morning at eleven the brick building was jarred as if an earthquake had struck.

The two outer walls of the furnace were blown out, and soot was scattered all over the heating room by the force of the explosion.

The joist and floor boards had been covered with asbestos, greatly retarding the flames. Most of the damage was confined to the heating room and heating plant. The heating plant was put out of commission. What caused the explosion is not known, but it is thought escaping gas from the oil was the cause.

The fire was extinguished by employees of the Nachtrab Motor Sales Company, who occupy a large part of the first floor of the building. The firemen from No. 18 engine house responded to the alarm. The damage was mostly confined to the heater.

New Catholic Boys Group Remodeling Club House

Program Planned for Parents; Officers Elected

Officers and members of the newly organized Catholic Boys' club are engaged daily in their initial work of remodeling the old Knights of Columbus club house, Sixteenth street and Jefferson avenue, which will be used as the club's headquarters.

Members are working after school and Saturdays. An open house program for parents of Toledo Catholic boys is planned by the club when the quarters are put in shape. Bernard Menke, of Central Catholic high school, has been elected president of the club to serve until January. Other officers are William Kenay, of St. John's high school, vice president; Jack Yasin, of Central, secretary, and Benedict Malaska, of Woodward high school, treasurer. Trustees are George Curley, Thomas Scheller and Leo Nachtrab. Robert Miller is inside guard and John Rosler, outside guard.

The new club is sponsored by the Knights of Columbus boys' work committee and Bishop Karl J. Alter. The Rev. M. J. Doyle, an ardent worker on the K. of C. boys' committee, was formally appointed chaplain of the club by Bishop Alter.

A contest, in which prizes will be awarded, is being conducted to select a name for the club. Those in charge of the contest specify that the names be brief, expressive and symbolic of the aims and purposes of the club. All Catholic boys of the city are invited to present from now to five names.

Athletic equipment, furniture and a piano are still needed for the new quarters, according to officers.

More than 70 charter members, two delegated and elected by each Catholic parish of the city, attended the organizing meeting at which the charter was agreed upon and officers elected.
