ARREST TWO IN CHURCH THEFTS

Youths Captured; One Admits Robbery

With the arrest of two youths by Detectives Cummings and Dreyer on Sunday night, police believe they have the persons responsible for a series of thefts of clothing and valuables from church cloak rooms during services.

Cloak rooms in three churches in the West End were prowled on Sunday morning and evening. Six overcoats were stolen. One of the youths under arrest has confessed, police say, stealing one of the coats but denies knowledge of other thefts.

The suspects under arrest are Tim Russell, 20, of Erie, Pa., and Robert Bassett, 23, of 730 Elm-st. They were taken in custody in the vicinity of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Collingwood-av and Virginia-st. on Sunday evening, after the detectives trailed their auto from in front of the church. A pencil belonging to Julius Blair, 3306 Machen-st, was found in Bassett's pocket. Blair's overcoat had been stolen from the church cloak room a few minutes before the youths were captured. They are said to have admitted the theft.

Thieves visited the cloak room of First Baptist Church, Collingwood and Central avenues, on Sunday morning and carried away overcoats belonging to F. G. Tucker, 3914 Berkley drive, and S. W. Spiller, 203 Hollywood-av.

On Sunday evening thieves visited the cloak room of Ashland Avenue Baptist Church, Ashland-av and coats belonging to Wm H. Rhoades, 127 Prescott-st; Robert Kelley, 3261 Parkwood-av, and H. W. Vincent Jr., 324 Kentlworth-av
