From the Chief

The Planning and Research Section, which creates the Toledo Police Annual Report, was heavily involved in the creation of the new Toledo Police Museum during 2010. Because of this, we are presenting a condensed Toledo Police Annual Report for 2010. The Museum, which opened in the early summer of 2011, will be featured in the 2011 Annual Report.

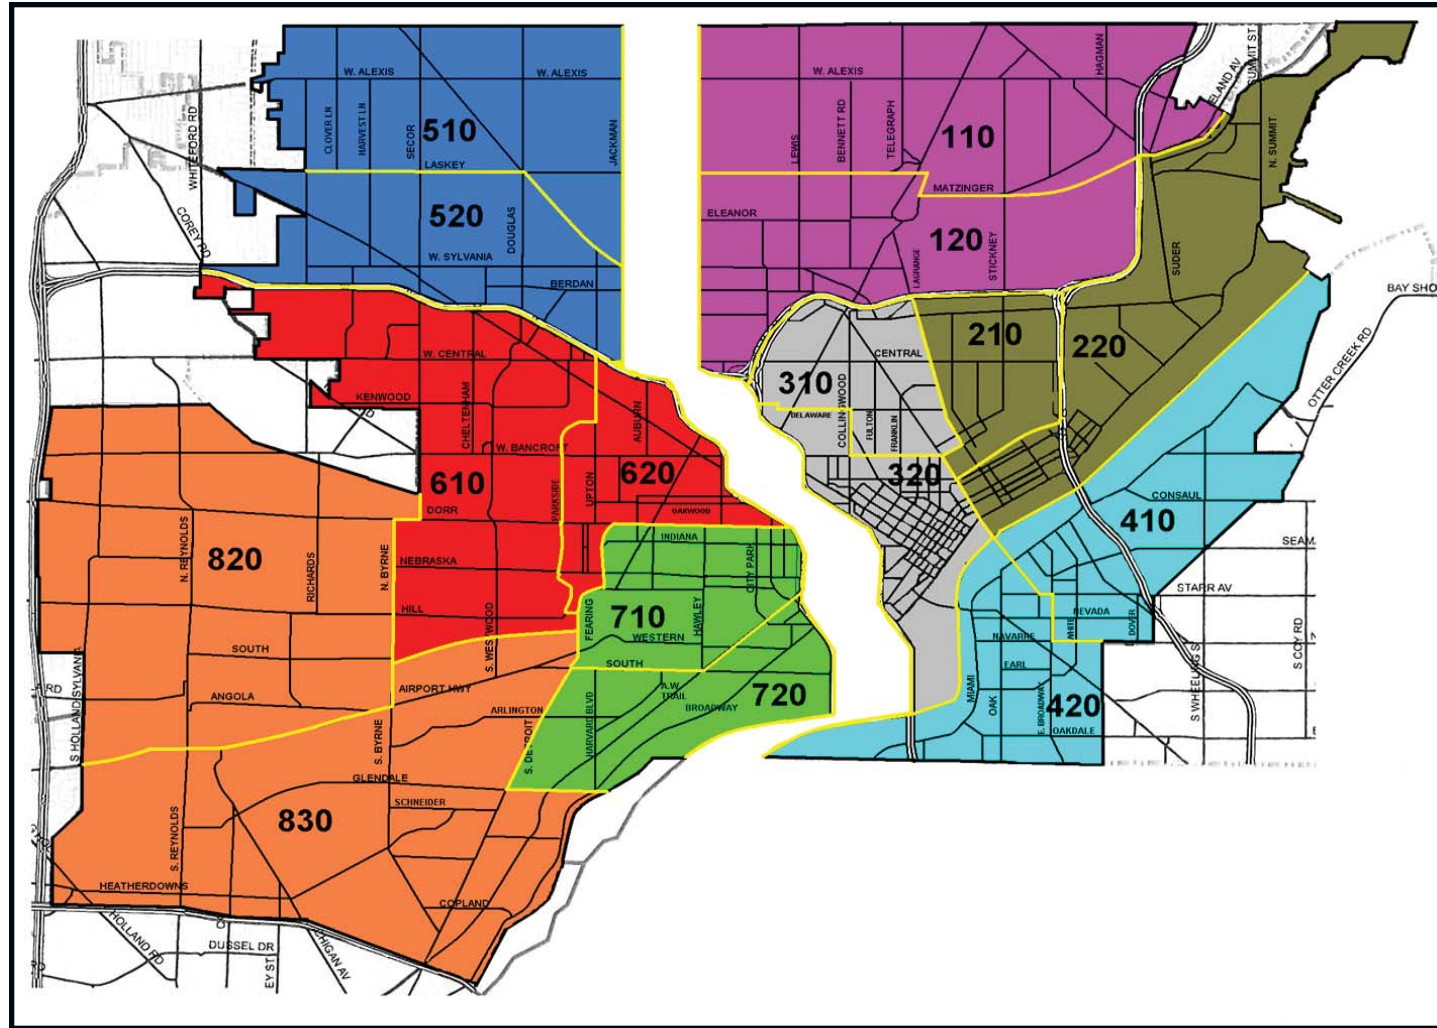

The theme for the 2010 Annual Report is "Critical Junction: A Changing of the Guard." Retirements in 2010 equaled a combined 875 years of experience, with an average employee career spanning 27 years. The impact of this considerable loss of experience and leadership will play out over the next few years, but one fact is undeniable. The Toledo Police Department is experiencing a significant transition.

The year was ushered out with great concern regarding serious local and national financial uncertainty. I am proud of the men and women of the Toledo Police Department who have overcome the many obstacles and challenges of a reduced budget and work force to maintain a high level of police protection and services.

The Toledo Police Museum, located at 2201 Kenwood Boulevard, held a grand opening on June 2, 2011. It opened its doors to the public on June 9, 2011.

Citizen Police Academy

The Toledo Police Citizen Police Academy is an ongoing commitment to excellence from the police department and the City of Toledo. The 25 hour block of instruction, taught over the course of 10 weeks, is designed to give the public a better understanding and knowledge of the functions of the Toledo Police Department. The instruction is comprehensive and each week different topics and areas of the police department are covered. This enables the student a better understanding of the needs and function of their police department and also helps the department better understand the needs of the community. This interaction of the citizens with the police department is essential for maintaining the level of service and professionalism the citizens expect and deserve.

Twenty-six people graduated from the 10th Citizen Police Academy on March 3, 2010. Chief Michael Navarre expressed his gratitude to the group on that night for the sacrifices they made to commit to the program and their enthusiasm throughout the course.

Shoot Don't Shoot

After an unusually high number of officer-involved shootings in 2009, the Toledo Police Department arranged a training session to put the public in an officer's shoes through reality based scenarios. Fourteen people from the media and various community groups accepted an invitation for the one-day training. Real-life confrontations with armed suspects can play out in a split second. Bridget Tharp, a Blade staff writer, wrote in her article in the Blade on Monday, March 1, 2010 "The training . . . forced me to consider the reality of law enforcement. I had a small taste of the stress, anxiety, and sense of responsibility that comes with handling a firearm in a threatening situation."

Exigent Circumstances

In early 2010, Toledo City Council was faced with a projected $48 million deficit and waded into uncharted waters by imposing "exigent circumstances" against five public employee unions. "Exigent circumstances," in relation to labor agreements, first appeared in a 2001 State Employment Relations Board (SERB) decision involving the Toledo Public Schools. SERB, which investigates alleged unfair labor practices, never defined a standard for the term and the concept had never been challenged.

Labor law generally states that one side cannot change the terms of a binding contract in midstream, but the Toledo Police Patrolman's Union (TPPA) and the Toledo Police Command Officers' Association (TPCOA) faced that when City Council invoked "exigent circumstances." The ensuing months brought bitter disagreements, threats and accusations of illegal strikes and forced cuts in pay. An agreement to stop "exigent circumstances" between the City and TPPA was reached on May 17, 2010. The TPCOA would continue to fight until May 18, 2011 when Mayor Michael Bell called off exigent circumstances. Mayor Bell's decision came after SERB issued a 2-1 decision on April 28, 2011 indicating the City did not commit an unfair labor practice when it made changes to the existing bargaining agreements under "exigent circumstances."

Accident Reconstructionist Training

There were two Accident Reconstructionist Refresher Training courses in April of 2010. A total of 21 students attended the classes which included a staged bicycle vs. car accident. Accident investigators spent a week in training on how to use the laser mapping system to plot accident scenes to scale. A laser is used to plot marks on a diagram that is imported into a CAD based drawing program to produce a scale diagram. These scale diagrams are used to determine critical information about accidents, including speed and the at-fault party.

CIT Training

Crisis Intervention Training (CIT) is a national program that was developed in Memphis, Tennessee to assist officers encountering individuals who experience mental illness. CIT training has been proven to decrease officer and subject injury, improve relations between officers and their communities, and reduce litigation and improve risk management.

Individuals who complete the course leave with an increased knowledge and awareness of mental illness and tools for a safer intervention while dealing with mentally ill individuals.

Scholarship

On June 1, 2010, the Owens Community College Foundation hosted a reception celebrating the lives of Officer William A. Miscannon and Detective Keith Dressel. During the reception, organizers from the Keith Dressel Memorial Ride, along with members of the Miscannon and Dressel families, presented the Foundation with a check for $15,500 for the Officer William A. Miscannon Endowed Scholarship fund. Additionally, the first scholarship was presented to Jakob Sigler, an Owens student majoring in criminal justice.

58th Toledo Police Department Academy Class

On November 1, 2010, the Toledo Police Department began its 58th Police Academy class with thirty-one trainees undergoing twenty-four weeks of rigorous instruction. On April 12, 2011, 28 men and two women graduated in front of more than 100 family members and friends at Owens Community College. The class was to have been hired in December of 2008, but was cancelled due to financial difficulties experienced by the city at that time. The class brought the department's total manpower to 597. Chief Mike Navarre acknowledged top graduate Benjamin Woody at the graduation ceremony. Officer Woody is the first officer to receive the Keith Dressel Memorial Award of Excellence. Detective Dressel was killed in the line of duty in 2007.

Olympics

The Ohio Police and Fire Games were held in Toledo from June 10th thru the 15th. The purpose of the games is to support the physical and mental fitness of Ohio's active and retired law enforcement and firefighter personnel (and active and reserve military police and firefighters) by promoting the concept of physical fitness and sport within their respective communities through the development, organization and coordination of sporting events. The results of the 2010 Ohio Police and Fire Games can be found at theohiopolicandfiregames.org.

Shopping with Kids

On December 23, 2010, Toledo Police officers were paired with 20 needy children from our community to go Christmas Shopping. The event is coordinated each year by the Honor Guard and is funded by donations from private citizens and companies.

Each child is provided with breakfast and lunch, a picture with Santa, a shirt for the event, and a $100.00 gift card to the Meijer on Alexis Road. The children are referred by Lucas County Children Services and are considered to be the most at risk of not receiving a Christmas gift. This is done in conjunction with a 501c3 group called "Feet on the Street." If anyone is interested in volunteering, contact the Toledo Police Honor Guard.

Noteworthy

- The Gang Task Force arrested 1,359 persons in 2010. They confiscated $44,595.00 in cocaine and $12,065 in marijuana and recovered 31 guns. They were also able to utilize two vehicles equipped with Automatic License Plate Recognition Systems. These were purchased through the Northern Ohio Violent Crime Consortium (NOVCC) Grant. These cameras take a "snapshot" of the license plate and, within seconds, advise officers if the plate is listed in the data base as stolen or wanted. The system is also able to identify the exact location of a vehicle through GPS. With the aid of the Automatic License Plate Recognition System, the Gang Task Force was able to stop over thirty stolen autos with apprehensions.

- Emergency Services participated in a response to weapons of mass destruction during a ricin scare on Wednesday, October 27, 2010. Some parts of the Safety Building were under quarantine as several police officers underwent decontamination by HAZMAT crews. It began as a domestic violence call to the 4700 block of Douglas. Responding officers found some highly toxic chemicals inside the home. Officers seized mushrooms and a cultivation of castor beans, used to make the chemical ricin. As a precaution, the half dozen officers exposed to the chemical underwent a decontamination process. None exhibited any signs of abnormalities. Emergency Services coordinated with the FBI and Ohio Homeland Security.

- Detective George Barber of The Property Investigations Section, spearheaded a large scale investigation into the theft of semi trailer wind panel kits. As a result of his investigation, 41 of the 48 stolen kits were recovered and the suspects were apprehended. The stolen wind kits had a value of $140,000.

- The Property Management Unit logged in 17,369 items in 2010. Of those items, 2,576 were returned to owners and 11,234 items were destroyed. Of those destroyed, 582 were guns and 4,807 were drugs. There were four drug burns and 11 trash hauls throughout the year.

- The Video Unit handled a total of 970 cases in 2010 and were called out to the scene of a crime 32 times. Their work included 270 reports of breaking and entering, 85 felonious assaults, 83 burglaries, 76 robberies, 51 homicides (from cold case requests to current), 43 aggravated robberies and 362 other investigations.

- The Special Victims Unit had three high profile cases resulting in arrests in 2010, two of the cases involving dangerous serial rapists who were apprehended and prosecuted. The Domestic Violence Office received an American Recovery and Reinvestment Act: Violence Against Women Act Grant. They also were busy filing 80 felony-5 charges for women who were assaulted while they were pregnant, in keeping with new Ohio Revised Code Section 2919.25 (5).

“Short of being killed in the line of duty, we went through probably the worst imaginable experience in that line of work. It creates a lifelong bond. When you’re in the worst situation that you can be in, you can walk into battle beside him.”
-Officer Helppie

Toledo Police Sergeant Keith Miller died suddenly of natural causes on June 28, 2010, one day before his 53rd birthday. He joined the department in July, 1982. He was promoted to sergeant in July, 1990, and was on the SWAT team from January 1995, until he returned to road patrol in January 2008.

Keith was a highly decorated veteran officer who had been commended for his actions in three fatal shooting incidents, including one in 1984 in which he was seriously injured. He was the recipient of several professional awards, exceptional performance reports, and letters of appreciation throughout his 28-year career.

Sergeant Miller always exhibited “unbelievable superhuman courage.” His patience and gentle demeanor allowed him to serve people from all walks of life.

2 Police Officers Shot, Man Killed In Toledo Home

THU MAR 8 1984

Disturbance Call Brought Pair To Scene

By WILLIAM FERGUSON
Staff Writer

Two Toledo police officers were wounded and another man was killed after the policemen responded to a domestic disturbance call at 720 Ewing St. about 9:40 last night, police said. Details of the shootings were still unclear this morning. Police said both officers were hospitalized with serious, multiple injuries.

Keith Miller, 25, a two-year veteran of the police division, was admitted to St. Vincent Medical Center with at least three bullet wounds in his neck and chest. He was listed in serious condition late this morning.

Bruce Helppie, 29, a rookie police officer, was wounded in the head, left arm and left leg, police said. He underwent surgery at Mercy Hospital and was listed in serious condition. The incident brought to four the number of officers who have been shot since Thanksgiving, Police Chief John Mason said.

The dead man was identified as James Burkes, 46, of the Ewing Street address. Police said he lived there with his wife, Gwendolyn, and four children.

Bled To Death, Coroner Says
Dr. Harry Mignerey, county coroner, said Mr. Burkes likely bled to death because it appeared a bullet had struck the femoral artery in his leg. The only visible wounds on the man were two bullet wounds in the left leg. Joseph Inman, coroner's investigator, said an autopsy was being performed this morning.

The Ewing Street house is in an inner-city residential area containing modest, frame homes. It lies between Dorr Street and Nebraska Avenue. Backup officers arrived in answer to a call for help from the first unit at the scene. They heard gunshots inside the house.

The backup officers said that, a short time after they arrived, Mr. Burkes came to the door carrying a handgun. He was told to drop the gun, they said, but instead turned as if to go back into

WOUNDED
Keith Miller

“He never tarnished our badge. He always did the right thing. He was more than a cop. He was a good guy. He was a man who could talk to anybody. He related to everybody. He didn’t look down on anyone - he could talk to gang members as well as senior citizens and get his point across.” - Sgt. Mike McGee

Law Enforcement Code Of Ethics

As a Law Enforcement Officer, my fundamental duty is to service mankind; to safeguard lives and property; to protect the innocent against deception, the weak against oppression or intimidation, and the peaceful against violence or disorder; and to respect the constitutional rights of all men to liberty, equality and justice.

I will keep my private life unsullied as an example to all; maintain courageous calm in the face of danger, scorn, or ridicule; develop self-restraint; and be constantly mindful of the welfare of others. Honest in thought and deed in both my personal and official life, I will be exemplary in obeying the laws of the land and the regulations of my department. Whatever I see or hear of a confidential nature or that is confided in me in my official capacity will be kept secret unless the revelation is necessary in the performance of my duty.

I will never act officiously or permit personal feelings, prejudices, animosities, or friendships to influence my decisions. With no compromise for crime and with relentless prosecution of criminals, I will enforce the law courteously and appropriately without fear or favor, malice or ill will, never employing unnecessary force or violence and never accepting gratuities.

I recognize the badge of my office as a symbol of public faith, and I accept it as a public trust to be held so long as I am true to the ethics of police service. I will constantly strive to achieve these objectives and ideals, dedicating myself before God to my chosen profession . . . law enforcement.
