

SEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT
OF
Board of Police Commissioners, OF THE
CITY OF TOLEDO, FOR THE
Ten Months Ending January 1, 1875.

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Toledo, Ohio :

GENTLEMEN :—In pursuance of law requiring Departmental Reports to be made on the first day of January instead of March, as heretofore, we respectfully herewith submit to your Honorable Body, for consideration, our Seventh Annual Report of the transactions and condition of the Police Department of the City of Toledo for the ten months ending January 1, 1875.

It affords us much pleasure to be enabled to say that, since our last Report, our City has enjoyed peace and prosperity, notwithstanding the dull times generally prevalent throughout the country. This depression in business has, without doubt, produced its effects upon this City, causing a large influx of men seeking employment, many of whom were successful in obtaining the same, yet the great majority have been disappointed ; and, coming to the City, as is generally the case, without money to pay their expenses for any length of time, those of an honest disposition became a charge upon the Police Department, which furnishes them food and lodging until they are provided with employment or leave the City. Others, again, finding their condition becoming desperate, will resort to crime for the purpose of relieving the demands of nature. Add to this the large number of emigrating, professional thieves who infest the country, and who, aware of the non-existence of a Work-house in this City, or provisions for other more rigorous punishment to deter them from their lawless career, and the inadequacy of our Police force to protect a territory of about seventeen square miles, with a population of at least 55,000 inhabitants, accounts for the numerous burglaries and house-breaking that have been perpetrated in our midst during the year.

Considering the disadvantages under which this Department labors, and that no system of protection, however perfect, can prevent violations of criminal law, it is not to be wondered at, if our City has, to a great extent, suffered from the criminals above referred to.

Until the 25th day of September last, when eight additional Patrolmen were appointed, the available force for patrol-duty consisted of 28 men, eight of whom were detailed for day and twenty men for night-duty. With this small number, which is barely sufficient to properly patrol the business portion of the City, we cannot suppose any sane person to expect such protection to inhabitants living along hundreds of miles of streets as will totally prevent the commission of crime and the depreations of burglars and thieves.

While we regret this condition of affairs, it is gratifying to know that, in nearly every instance, the latter class of offenders have been brought to justice, and the property, in most cases, recovered and returned to its owners. These burglaries were, with few exceptions, confined to the taking of property to the value of about one hundred dollars and less. Crime of a more aggravated nature, such as homicide, has been comparatively few.

The Police Law, under which this City is governed has been found, in many respects, unsuited to our wants. At the time it was enacted we were a City of 25,000 inhabitants; now it is more than double that number. We have outgrown it. So well-convinced had members of the Board become of this fact, that they unanimously adopted a report memorializing the General Assembly to repeal the present law and substitute that contained in the Municipal Code. As yet, the General Assembly has taken no action upon it.

Every one who has given intelligent thought to the administration of our Police Laws, must have been impressed with the defects which exist in relation to the detection of crime. A detective system is universally employed, the members of which are known to every one in the City, and to none better than the criminally-disposed. The consequence is that, when a criminal migrates from another city, he makes it his first business to learn who and what kind of a man performs the duty of a detective. This is especially the case with the worst class of criminals, such as burglars, highwaymen, and those who deliberately plan these crimes in advance and shape their means to the accomplishment of the purposes in which they are embarked. A system such as that adopted here and elsewhere, by which the officers are well-known, cannot be effective in the detection of crimes of this kind without other aid. We do not wish to be considered as condemning the present detective system, which has its uses in tracing out the threads of circumstances which go to make up the evidence which finally brings the offender to justice, and also, by their knowledge of thieves, enabling them to "spot," so to speak, the individual who may be guilty of crime. The daring burglar or highwayman, who sometimes takes the life of the citizen while committing his crimes, is of a stamp that generally eludes the keenest penetration, and other means must be resorted to if we would find him out. This means consists in engaging secret service. Very few crimes are committed which are not known to more than one person besides the criminal himself, and generally the information necessary to convict can be obtained, provided the informant can be assured that he will not be known or questioned before the public so as to be implicated as the informant. Very small and comparatively insignificant sums of money are often adequate to draw out this secret service. Generally, the parties are unworthy of having any police powers, and it is unnecessary that they should have any.

We are convinced that if a special fund, consisting of five or ten per cent. of the fines collected by our Police Court, were set apart and discreetly used for this purpose, under the authority of the Mayor, it would accomplish more in the detection of crime than most other agencies which now exist.

We are aware that much prejudice exists against the employment of such agencies and the payment of money for service which, in the hands of corrupt and unprincipled men, may be the cause of much mischief; but these are among the abuses which only bad men would be guilty of.

The Board, also, recognizes the importance of the introduction into the Department of a "Rogues' Gallery," as an effective aid in the detection of crime, with authority to compel criminals to allow their photographs to be taken. Other Cities have not only used these means with good effect, and made them one of the leading objects of their Police Departments, to a certain extent, to prevent crime and make it uncomfortable and unsafe for wicked men, but have gone further and caused persons of bad character and evil designs, when known, to be interviewed and brought to public notice by friendly introductions at Headquarters, and, when opportunity offered, taking and preserving copies of their features, without waiting until crime was committed. There is no doubt but by this means and a system of exchanges with other Cities, we would be better able to prevent the commission of crime and more readily detect parties guilty of it.

The expense of such a Gallery, when introduced, would have to be provided for, but would be inconsiderable, in comparison with the assistance thus afforded in aiding officers in tracing up criminals and securing their punishment.

The health of the Force has been good. Of 294 days time lost through illness, at least one-half was due to injuries received while making arrests.

We would, also, call your attention to the condition of the Police Fund, which is now overdrawn $9,199 83 ; add to this $40,000, the estimated expense of the Department for salaries, equipments, stationery, etc., for the ensuing year, gives a total of $49,199 83. To meet this expenditure, $34,949 72 have been levied upon the tax duplicate, which, when collected, still leaves a deficit in the Fund of $14,250 11, which ought to be provided for, either by an appropriation or a greater levy on the duplicate for the present year.

SPECIAL POLICE.

On request, Special Police powers, without pay, are conferred upon persons in the employ of business firms and corporations, when recommended for the same, and found to be fit persons to assume the responsibilities thereof. They are governed by the Rules and Regulations of the Board, so far as applicable, and are required to report in writing once a week to the Captain of Police.

The system, so far as experience proves, has worked well. It not only gives protection to the particular localities for which they are employed, but also materially aids the Police Department in detecting and delivering criminals to justice, and this without cost to the City. The following have been appointed since our last report :

LODGERS.

Five thousand and ninety-two (5,092) lodgers, of whom 4,981 were male and 111 female, were accommodated at the Station House during the ten months ending January 1, 1875, being an average of about 510 per month, against 3,767 the previous year, averaging 314 per month. This is a large increase, and is without doubt owing to the scarcity of labor throughout the country, bringing men to this city seeking employment, and, as is usually the case, without sufficient means to pay expenses, are compelled to seek such shelter as is provided by the city. Food is not furnished lodgers unless in cases of extreme necessity, and the amount expended for the same since our last report is comparatively small, being about $120. The following tables represent the age, nationality, and trades or occupations of these lodgers.
